The entertainment given yesterday afternoon and evening by the Girls' Friendly Society, in the Sunday school house of St. Andrew's cathedral, assisted by the girls of St. Andrew's Priory and the boys and girls of St. Peter's church choir, was greatly enjoyed by the many who attended. All the parts were well rendered, the two flower marches being respectively executed in a most pleasing manner. The singing of many of the girls was simply splendid, and particularly those by the Chinese girls, which were sweetly rendered and responded to several encores. Queen Liliuokalani, Bishop and Mrs. Restarick and others were present in the evening. Miss Mathilde Walker was musical directress and Mrs. James K. Kaulia the pianoist. It was a perfect treat to those who were fortunate to attend. All credit is due to the untiring efforts of Deaconess Drant in organizing and building up this childrens' society of Church workers among us.

THE MAN TO LEAD DEMOCRATS.

(Special Correspondence of THE INDEPENDENT, by Charles A. Edwards.)

(In this letter from THE INDEPENDENT'S special correspondent at Washington, the second part of which will appear tomorrow, Mr Edwards gives a forecast as to whom the next Democratic candidate for the Presidency will be. He reviews the cases of all conspicuous possibilities in an interesting manner, and seems to establish good reasons for his conclusions. The letter is one of special interest in that it is based upon the opinions of leading men of the party, and is worth reading.—Ed)

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 20:

The recent return from Europe of the Hon Arthur P Gorman, of Maryland, the recent speech before the Georgia Bar Association by Judge Alton B Parker, of New York, the recent birth of a boy in the home of the Hon Grover Cleveland, the recent boom for Senator Francis Marion Cockrell, of Missouri, the recent marriage of the Hon William Randolph Hearst, and the recent speeches of the Hon William Jennings Bryan and the Hon Tom L Johnson, of Ohio, have revived the talk in the national capital of democratic presidential possibilities and probabilities. I have therefore, made it my business to see nearly every democratic member of Congress and every democratic politician who has visited the national capital for the past few weeks and to get as nearly as possible the consensus of opinion concerning these men as the presidential candidate of the democratic party in the next campaign for the purposes of this correspondence.

If I were to tell all the things that I have heard it would make exceedingly interesting reading for the good people of the country. The national correspondent does not tell everything he knows and hears, however, for the reason that he not only would be put pown as a liar by his readers, but he could not go back to the same sources of information and get another story when he needed it. I will then give, as succinctly as possible, the result of these interviews with public men concerning the possibilities of the above named gentlemen, being the democratic standard bearer in the campaign of 1904.

So far as Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Bryan are concerned, we may as well eliminate them to begin with. Each of these gentlemen has many admirers among the public men who visit the national capital. Many men who have always been ardent admirers of Mr. Cleveland since his first election as President, and who left the party with him in 1896, and supported the Republicans on the money question, have told me that he is out of the running as candidate next year on account of the prejudice against the third term for any man. Many men who loyally supported Mr. Bryan in 1896 and 1900 agree that he cannot possibly be called a candidate again. They still admire him for his manhood, his brilliance of intellect, his oratory, his steadfastness to principle and devotion to the cause of the people, but they admit that he cannot again be a candidate.

They realize that the issues will not be the same next year and that the people have put the seal of their condemnation on some of the issues on which he twice led the party to defeat. They appear to realize that the chief issue next year will be one with which Mr. Bryan has not been sufficiently identified — the trust

BERGER'S DOINGS.

The practice of docking members of the band, by Prof Berger, has been kept up for years. For sickness or other cause salaries have been chopped off. Just what has become of the shavings it is impossible to say for certain, but circumstances point in the direction of one purse. In the past it has been the practice of the Legislature to appropriate a lump sum for the band, trusting to the honesty of the bandmaster to promptly and properly distribute it in the way of salaries. Prof Berger used his powers in such a way, however, as to cause the last Legislature to look into the matter. And the inquiry was instituted none too soon. Surprising details were brought out. From the facts gleaned in the investigations the Legislature saw the importance of a change in the system. In place of a lump sum, salaries were prescribed and specified.

On the 31st of July, the bandmaster began his old tactics with the male members of the band. Immediately there was a roar. The facts found their way into the public prints and Berger immediately took steps to compromise. An agreement between him and the bandsmen was reached, and the latter were coerced into signing a statement to the effect that they had been properly paid.

In August the bandmaster engaged three extra singing girls, although no provision for them had been made. At the end of the month he attempted to deduct $12.50 from the $50 salaries of the two girls already in service, leaving them only $37 50 each. The singers demurred, refusing to accept less than the sum of $50 prescribed for them by the Legislature. It was then that Berger offered to compromise for $45 each, and demanded that the girls sign receipts for those amounts. From that point the matter went to Governor Dole and has by him been referred to the Attorney General.

The last case is but one of a long series of oppressive acts, and some of them are worse than that. If all accounts are to be relied on, one of the first doings of the next grand jury should be to thoroughly investigate the bandmaster's office. It will find there things that will be a surprise and should see the light of day.

There are many reasons for the conclusion that Honolulu is desperately in need of a new bandmaster. Berger is far behind the times; and his "bumpty, bumpty, bum" of the early '70s has long ago played out. The band struggles along well with its work, but the selections are leading more and more in the direction of pickings from the musical trash heap. Berger has had charge of the band so long that he feels that he owns it—horns, men, bodies, souls and drums. And he apparently does, judging by the way he handles his people and their salaries. It is high time for a change.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Berrey's Commercial Report states that the mortgage indebtedness of Honolulu decreased in the month of August $486,015 25. That is a very large amount, and indicates a healthy condition in financial circles.

The site proposed for the new insane asylum, on Kapiolani Estate tract near Diamond Head, is doubtless all that is claimed for it. There can surely be no objection to the site. It is an ideal piece of land and in an ideal place. The only thing that may in the future militate against it is the encroachment of residences and noisy enterprises upon it. If this danger can be safely warded the last point against the site will have been removed.

As for the extension of the saloon limits, it would seem that they have been "extended" from time to time as applications from personal friends of Governor Dole have come in. The Alexander Young hotel, which is outside of the limits, is a case in point. There can be no objection to a license being granted by the Governor to this hotel, but are there not others whose claims, by general rights and priority, are equally good?

The only extension of the saloon limits that, to our mind, should be made is a general one to all parts of the city, save what are designated as purely residence districts, with a uniform license everywhere of $500. The preference in the localities outside of the present limits should, as far as possible, be given to present holders of beer licenses. Crowding of saloons in a single locality has proved a bad thing for all parties. The beer license system has also proved not all that was expected for it, inasmuch as it has resulted in the establishment of a number of cheap and hurtful joints. Full license saloons on Alakea street, Kakaako and other localities would prove healthful, because, on account of the higher license fee, a better quality of proprietors would be assured and the "joint" of today would be crowded down and out.

The organization of a society, with Consul Miki Saito at its head, the object of which is to encourage Japanese to remain on the plantations and to induce, if possible, other Japanese of the city to go there, is a move in the right direction. The Japanese are needed on the plantations and they can make good money there. Their endeavor to compete with citizens in the trades of the cities and the towns can only lead to trouble, and the Japanese will eventually get the fag end of the bargain. Mr Saito displays good judgment in advising his countrymen to accept the natural and only work for them in these Islands.

The citizens discharged from the Inter Island Steam Navigation Co, by direction of President Kennedy, to make room for Chinese, should be supported by every steamship man at work and by every other citizen workingman in the country. "In union there is strength." This may seem a hard fight for the supremacy of the citizen laborer over Chinese, backed by a powerful corporation, but we can assure all those concerned that if the start already made is kept up the task will be easy. After the plans for Monday are carried out, a long, strong pull together will bring Mr Kennedy to realize that this is America and not China.

It is not our business or purpose to dabble in Republican squabbles, having troubles of our own. But it does seem to us that the protest of Dr Cooper and others against the election of delegates in the sixth precinct of the Fourth last Saturday night is not well taken. The rules of the party make a man eligible as a delegate to a primary convention from a precinct in which he lives, even though he be not registered in that precinct. Is it to be presumed that a contrary rule of the bare executive committee can override this law? It would be something out of the ordinary if it did. It turns out that all of the men elected are bona fide residents of the precinct, while the defeated candidates are, with one exception, residents of other precincts. A little home rule doctrine would seem to be not inapplicable to this phase of the case.

America Keeps Challenge Cup.

In the final race for the America cup off New York today the Shamrock was badly defeated by the competitor, the Reliance. The lead of the victor today at the end was about four miles. This gives the cup to the United States for another year.

It is believed that the failure of Shamrock III to capture the trophy will put an end to English competition for the prize. Sir Thomas Lipton has already declared that if defeated he will not try again, and there is no one else yet in sight, willing to tackle the job. It was that very thing that many had feared, and it was the cause of a hope that Lipton would be successful.

The Board of Health went out yesterday to examine the proposed site for the new insane asylum near Diamond Head. The members were accompanied by Architect F W Beardslee and Surveyer O L Sorenson.

Wants Rehearing.

Former Judge George A. Davis, who was disbarred three weeks ago by the Supreme Court, has moved for a new hearing of his case. His petition first represents:

"That he did not have time to properly prepare for his defence on the hearing in this matter.

"That several necessary and material witnesses were absent from Honolulu at the time of this matter by this court."

He next attacks the jurisdiction of the court, and follows this with an allegation that the proceedings were irregular. Then he declares that his acts in the Sumner case were ratified by all the parties interested and could therefore not constitute a cause for disbarment. It is claimed that one of the Justices was disqualified to hear the case, and then an attack is made upon the strength and validity of the evidence. The petitioner concludes as follows:

"That the court had no power to revoke the license of your petitioner to practice in the District Court of Honolulu as your petitioner was at the time said order was made third District Magistrate of Honolulu and was the presiding magistrate of said District Court on the day the order of disbarment was made and the petitioner respectfully represents and alleges that this Supreme Court exceeded its powers in making such order."

Joe Millett to Fight.

Joe Millett, champion light heavyweight of the Hawaiian Islands, is negotiating for two big battles in California, both with men high up in the profession. One is Hart, a man of national reputation, and the other is "Kid" Carter, at present the most promising candidate in the United States for the championship. It is expected that the fights will be pulled off to big purses in October and December.

Millet wrote to his old friend, Paddy Ryan. He says his hand, which was badly used up in the fight with Billy Woods, is not yet quite well and he has been taking things easy at his country home near San Francisco, going into town occasionally to witness sparring matches. He sends his aloha to all Honolulu friends.

The two singing girls in the band today received their full pay.

The Man to Lead Democrats.

issue—to make him an available candidate even if he had not been brought under the ban of the displeasure of thousands of men who will next year support the Democratic ticket on that very issue. Therefore, they discard him as a possibility in the next race.

Senator Arthur P. Gorman has many friends among the men who come to Washington on official business and many of them have named him as the most available man for the Democrats to nominate next year. They say that when he returned to the Senate last March after an absence of four years he was quickly and gladly given his old place as floor leader of the Democratic forces in the Senate, which proves conclusively that his powers as a leader have not been dimmed by his absence from the Senate, that it is recognized by his colleagues, which fact gives him prestige all over the country.

They mention his service to the country in the memorable force bill fight in 1889, his adroitness as a leader, his long record as a Democrat, his knowledge of the public men of the country and his signal ability as an organizer, having, as chairman of the Democratic National Committee in 1884 brought victory to the party. They claim that he will be very strong in the eastern states, where the party needs votes in order to win next year. They claim that Senator Gorman was regular in the campaigns of 1896 and 1900, and supported the ticket loyally, yet he would make a very acceptable candidate to the conservative business interests of the East.

THE MAN TO LEAD DEMOCRATS.

(Synopsis: In the section of this letter printed yesterday Mr Edwards began the discussion of Democratic possibilities for the Presidency, his forecasts being based upon the opinions of leading party men at Washington. The chances of Gorman, Cleveland, Bryan and Johnson were discussed. The letter then proceeds as below.)

The boom for Judge Alton B Parker, of New York, seems to have been frost-bitten by being planted too early. The judge, himself, has lately taken a stand that practically eliminates him from the race as a candidate. Still, he has some warm admirers and friends among the democrats who visit the national capital and who claim for him that he is the most available man to lead the democratic forces next year. They have not much to say of him concerning his record, as that is confined almost solely to the judicial bench, but they say he is a most amiable and learned man. Those who prefer some other candidate, in discussing Judge Parker, say that he is tied up with David B Hill, and would be controlled by him and they distrust Hill. Judge Parker's name may go before the convention, but it is not likely that the State of New York will present him as the candidate of that state. Everything now indicates a trend away from Judge Parker.

The recent boom started for Senator Francis Marion Cockrell, of Missouri, is not taken seriously here. Leaders of the party who have discussed it with me look upon it as a move of the Dockery crowd in Missouri to get Senator Cockrell out of the race for the senatorship next time and allow Dockery to have a clear field. They believe, however, that the wily and venerable senator from Missouri will not be caught by any such diaphanous trick as that. They think that Senator Cockrell has no desire to enter the lists as a candidate for the presidency, but that he prefers to round out his life as a member of the Senate, where he has served the party and the people so long and so faithful. If it were not for his age there is no doubt that Senator Cockrell would make a most available man for the democratic nomination, and a man who would rally all factions of the party, at least that is the expressed opinion of many to whom I have talked on this subject. His state may give him a complimentary vote in the convention, but it is believed that is as far as his candidacy will go.

Since it is practically certain that the Hon. Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, Ohio, will be the Democratic nominee for governor of Ohio this fall, there are a number of men who have lately been here who are seriously discussing him as a presidential possibility in case he should be elected or materially cut down the Republican majority or defeat Mark Hanna for re-election to the Senate. In either case he would certainly become a factor to be reckoned with in the next convention.

There have lately turned up here many friends of the Hon. William Randolph Hearst. They seem to be the most enthusiastic bunch among all the politicians who have discussed this thing of the next Democratic candidate with me. They all seem to be saturated with the idea that Mr. Hearst is the only man who can win and they are willing to give a reason for the faith that is in them.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

It has been reported to us that Herr (not Shee) Berger has said that THE INDEPENDENT's attack on him is in the light of a persecution of him. If he thinks so, he is welcome to it. For be it from us to persecute him falsely, for whatever we have said of him has been absolutely the truth, which can be verified, if there is any occasion for it.

Holding the balance of power in the County elections, the Democrats occupy a unique but important position. Will they flock alone, scatter, or direct their influence in one of the two remaining directions? It seems to us that the "waiting" policy adopted by the party is a wise one. It will enable the "unterrified" to get before them all the data of the campaign prior to any final action.

Mr Edwards, THE INDEPENDENT's correspondent at Washington, predicts that W R Hearst will be the Democratic standard bearer next year. Mr Hearst has the confidence of both wings of the Democratic party. He also has the unqualified support of the labor organizations. It would, therefore, appear that the prognostigation of Mr Edwards is reasonable and that Mr Hearst is fairly safe for the nomination.

As we understand it, the Builders and Traders Exchange stands for citizen labor, but demands that there be eight hours work for eight hours pay. That is precisely as it should be. There is no room anywhere for a drone, or the man who sits down when the boss is not looking. No claim is made for such people. There must be faithful and full measure work for the money, otherwise the employer will eventually look around for cheap labor. That follows as a most natural sequence. In this labor proposition there must be cooperation between employer and employee, the former giving good wages for good work. The Builders and Traders Exchange is to be congratulated upon its condemnation of Asiatic labor in the trades.

Since the woes of the lady vocalists have been made public by our more ponderous contemporaries, Mr Berger should feel satisfied that the plaint was not made through a Home Rule (?) source, but that it came through Republican channels. We give elsewhere in this issue more of the facts in connection with his latest grafting attempt. It is about time that he should take a tumble to himself and see "the error of his ways" and then "go and sin no more."

Should the Canadians decide to challenge for the America cup there is very apt to be something doing in yachting circles. The men of the North would start in on more even ground with the champions than the English have ever been able to do. In the first place their boat, built on the American side and not having to cross the Atlantic, could be made lighter, and greater attention could be paid to the fine points in building. Again, if there is anything in the claim that American crews have been hardier and more experienced than those sent across, it is not improbable that Canada will beable to supply equally as good if not better.

We do not agree with Brother Westervelt that there are too many saloons—that is, saloons of the better class. There may be too many beer resorts, for their own good and for the good of the community. It is unfortunate, however, that the full license saloons are crowded up in one locality. If they were scattered to take in a portion of Alakea street, Queen street, Kakaako, Iwilei and perhaps other localities it would have the effect of closing the blind gin mills that have become notorious in those quarters. At the same time, under such an extension of the limits, we would not favor an increase in the number of licenses, believing that there are already quite a plenty in existence.

Harvey Sutherland, the mosquito expert, who states that brackish water is favorable to the propagation of mosquitoes, is probably not far wrong. If the pest breeds amid the cigar stumps and pipe scrapings of a cuspidor, as has been found out by Dr Cofer, it is not likely that a little salt would render a pool and undesirable cradle. In turpentine countries the boxes, in which water collects and stands, are favored breeding places for mosquitoes. Of course virgin trees are not referred to, but in the cases of older ones, there must be an immense proportion of turpentine in the water. If such places as these hold no terrors for Mrs Mosquito, what is to be expected of a salty jilly pond?

In sending a commission to Honolulu to again investigate Pearl harbor the Navy Department is simply working a dodge to get out of doing anything there for another year. It is an old trick, and is intended merely to keep the people hopeful and in good humor. Pearl harbor has been "investigated" until it should be about worn threadbare. By this time the Washington government should know just how many drops of water it contains, how many fish in its depths and how many grains of sand on its shore. We venture to say that if all the official data on Pearl harbor sent to the capital were turned out it would fill a big dray. This additional "investigating" commission business is merely another attempt to fool the people.

The two main obstacles to tourist travel are the passenger tariff from and to San Francisco, and the scareheads in the Advertiser about dengue fever, mosquitoes, etc. If our wealthy citizens are really in earnest in their tourist campaign, why do they not take steps to remedy both evils? The quickest and most effective way of reducing the passenger tariff is to charter a big steamer to ply rapidly between here and San Francisco, fixing the first class rate at $25, which would cover expenses. Having everything in their own hands, the promoters would be able to command cargoes [up to the deck-rail if they desired] on every trip, which would soon pay for the ship. Within a year every steamer calling at this port would have been brought to terms.

What is Wanted.

In its letter to Prince Kuhio the Builders and Traders Exchange has asked the delegate to work in Congress for the following appropriations:

1. An appropriation of $100,000 for the dredging of the channel and harbor of Honolulu, it being a pressing fundamental duty of the United States in view of the requirements of Trans-Pacific Commerce.

2. Providing the Hawaiian Islands with suitable Light houses corresponding to the importance of Trans-Pacific commerce.

3. Securing an appropriation of not less than $800,000 for the beginning of a Breakwater to protect Hilo, Hawaii, harbor.

4. Securing an appropriation of $1,000,000 for a Federal Building at Honolulu.

5. Securing an appropriation of $100,000 for a Federal Building at Hilo.

The Honolulu Free Kindergarten Training School opens Monday, September 7th. This course offers special advantages for the young women of Hawaii and it is hoped a large class will be formed. Any information about the work may be had from Miss Frances Lawrence at the Chinese church on Fort street, between 9 and 10 a. m., Monday, September 7.

HAWAIIAN BAND NOTES.

Some Insight into the Recent Doings of the Czarish Bandmaster.

When the Bulletin and Star the other evening mentioned about the treatment the two lady vocalists (Mrs Alapai and Miss Julia Keliiaa) of the Hawaiian Band received from Bandmaster Beger, THE INDEPENDENT was already aware of the facts. This paper has repeatedly called public attention to such treatment, not of girls especially, but of the band as a whole. Only the other day, it called attention that pay day was near, and as sure as there is day and night, Herr (not Shee) Berger was as usual up to his old tricks of docking members and of cutting down pay from what the Legislature had specifically appropriated.

Monday last, being the end of the month, was pay day in the circles of the Government employees. It seemed that the Herr had already drawn the money to pay those under him from the Treasury by warrant from the Auditor. Mrs Alapai was the first of the lady vocalists he called up and wanted her to sign the pay roll list for $50, her pay as appropriated by the Legislature, but he only offered her $42, upon which she flatly refused to sign for less than what she was entitled to receive. Miss Keliiaa followed suit and did likewise. He then told them that if he paid them $50, the boys would get augered and not sing with them.

Mr Berger was not aware that Representative Kumalae was there, who immediately spoke up that he was not doing right, for the pay was made specific by the Legislature and therefore they were entitled to the same. And furthermore, he was not above the Legislature who passed upon the salary, and of which he was a member, and of course, knew whereof he was speaking. For reply he was told by the Herr (not the She, nor the He or Him) that never mind what the Legislature did, he in himself was now the Legislature and knew what they were worth. Kumalae then said that if he did not pay them as made by the Legislature, he would take the matter to a higher authority, and that was to the Governor, his superior in authority. Kumalae, in native, asked the boys whether they would do as has been said by their Bandmaster and a few of them reluctantly answered—No!

After this, Berger told the young women to call the next morning (Tuesday) and arrange matters, but they were to come by themselves without Kumalae and without an attorney. They called as requested and Berger then offered them $45, but they remained obdurate. That afternoon, in company with Kumalae as their sponsor and a brother of Miss Keliiaa, called upon the Governor, but failed to meet him. The next (Wednesday) afternoon, they made another call upon the Governor and met him. Then it was that Kumalae spoke and laid their complaint before him. It seemed that Herr had previously got the Governor's ear and had told the Governor that he offered to pay them part in cash and the balance to be by him deposited in their names in the bank of Bishop & Co., the Governor stating, so we are informed, that Berger meant to do what was right and good for them, and that further, it was merely a matter of agreement between the employer and employee with regard to pay, regardless of what the Legislature had passed upon the matter.

The offer of Berger to pay part cash and part in a bank deposit was denied by Kumalae and the girls, Kumalae reiterating that he was present on the first day and did not hear Herr (not Himm) make any such proposition. After their interview, the Governor told them that he would look into the matter, which is publicly known to have been turned over to the Attorney-General with the result that they were yesterday paid in full. At the previous pay day (for July) in August last, Berger got these same girls to sign the pay roll for $50, but paid them only $37.50. But when THE INDEPENDENT came out with what he had then done, he immediately on the day following deposited the difference in their names at the bank of Bishop & Co.

The latest break made by the Herr (not the Shee) to the lady vocalists is, that in the future, they were to attend and look after their own music and songs to sing, and for them to arrange with the boys to help them out in the singing. This looks, on the face of it, that he is about to shirk his responsibility of an innovation with the band concerts that he himself introduced and is being paid a handsome and princely salary of $235 a month. He may as well dismiss them from service and then take up with the three new recruits.

It is reported that Berger was called before the Attorney-General yesterday, and we are informed by one who saw him come out of that office that his face did not at all look pleasant and that he was very much ruffled.

Other than the new singing girl recruits, it is inferred that he also has extra hands in among the bandsmen. Although the Appropriation Bill says "27 bandsmen," which includes the Bandmaster, it is said that if carefully scrutinized, there are over 30 members in the band. In this instance he provides pay for them by dockages on others, and in some cases, paying them less than what has been appropriated.

Because certain leading members have been paid as passed by the Legislature, they are selfish enough to think that they have been fairly well treated. But of the others, they care not to raise a voice in their behalf, for fear of dismissal. And these dare not say that their soul is their own.

The bandsmen are now enlisted members of the military organization and no man can be summarily discharged from service without court-martial for cause. If they know themselves, the situation is in their own hands, and instead of Berger making it unpleasant for them, they can make it uncomfortable for him.

The Man to Lead Democrats.

In the first place they say that Mr. Hearst is the only proprietor of a great daily newspaper in the North who loyally supported the ticket in 1896 and 1900, and who fought as hard for the ticket as any man on the ticket. They claim that any man nominated in 1904 who did not loyally support the ticket, or who, even, was lukewarm, will be defeated next year for the reason that the loyal Democrats in the states of New York, Connecticut and New Jersey will vote the Socialist labor ticket which will give those states, absolutely essential to Democratic success, to the Republicans. They claim that Mr. Hearst, who has endeared himself to the laboring people of the country by fighting their battles at all times, can carry every center of industrial activity in the country, thus assuring Democratic success in the states of Connecticut, New York and New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Illinois and California, which means Democratic victory in the nation, and they say that victory is what they are after. They say that a man who has the business interests at stake as those possessed by Mr. Hearst, whose payroll amounts to over $4,000,000 a year, and who has never had a controversy with a single man ever on that payroll, cannot help being a satisfactory candidate to the thousands of conservative business men of the country who did not support the ticket in the campaigns of 1896 and 1900.

They advance the claim that he is the very apotheosis of anti-trust, the only man in the country who has ever gone after the trusts with his own money and made them tremble, and that the trust question will be uppermost in the next campaign, hence, their man is a Democratic platform in himself. That he is the very embodiment of Jeffersonian and Jacksonian democracy. That he is a man who can hold all the vote that Bryan got and add to it the vote of labor regardless of past political affiliation, also the vote of thousands of men who are in business and whose business is jeopardized by the cormorant trusts of the country. That he is absolutely independent of the trusts and the money interests of the country, and that he possesses the money personally to give the party the greatest campaign ever waged in the nation and can duplicate every dollar of fat fried out of the trusts by the Republican campaign managers. That he is young, an able executive, a philanthropist, a humanitarian, an honest lover of justice to the people. In short, they claim he can win if nominated.

That he is about a fair consensus of opinion of Democratic politicians who have lately visited the National Capital and talked to me concerning the next presidential campaign from the standpoint of a Democratic candidate for president.

CLEVELAND BOOM IN THE EAST.

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 22:

I have just returned from a week's visit to the state of New Jersey. I visited many points in the state and talked with a number of the leading democrats. I talked with men who were true to the ticket in the years of 1896 and 1900 and with democrats of the old Cleveland regime. In this way I came very near getting a correct consensus of opinion and a clear estimate of political conditions in that state. I found out some things not generally known to the public, and some things that the democrats of the country ought to know. In the first place I ascertained beyond the peradventure of a doubt, that there is a Grover Cleveland propaganda actively at work all over the East. I learned it from the lips of a man high up in the councils of that propoganda, a man who declares that Cleveland is the only man who can carry the East, that he is a candidate and that this game is being played for the purpose of again placing the name of Cleveland at the head of the democratic ticket. This man, my informant, formerly was in the United State Senate. He does not prefer Cleveland personally. He does not like him. He prefers another man, but he says that Cleveland is the only man who can carry the states of the East that we must have in order to win. He says that Cleveland has built up a certain class of voters in the East, an independent class, the "commuter" class who live in the small towns of Jersey and all of whom have money and are the pharisees, the holier-than-thou of politics, and who will not vote for any man who is identified with any political organization, and that those are men who are clamoring for the renomination of Mr Cleveland, and that he will see the entire East on fire for Mr Cleveland before the next convention meets. All this may be so and it may not. I found very little of this sentiment among some of the other so-called "reorganizers" to whom I talked during my trip in the state of Jersey. These men were divided among several whose names have been mention as the most available man for the democratic leader in the campaign of 1904, all of them acceptable to the element which left the party in those years when the party needed them so badly, but hardly a man acceptable to the men who remained staunch and true to the party, the great bulk of the democratic voters in those states. I did find, however, when I visited the city of New York, that the statement made to me by the distinguished gentleman concerning the Cleveland propaganda and its activity was absolutely correct. I found that William C. Whitney was one of the men actively engaged in fostering the thing, that the Civic Federation, with Mark Hanna at its head and Ralph Easley as Secretary, was another of the forces that was pushing this "good thing" along. They are now at work employing men to boom and boost the Cleveland game. One of those men is my personal friend and I saw and talked to him, and he admitted the whole thing Now then, whether this is "on the level" and that they are really in earnest concerning Cleveland and so blinded by the glamour of money that they cannot see the utter futility of again trying to place his name on a Democratic ticket, or whether, as I suggested some time ago, this is

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

To the Maui News: THE INDEPENDENT won. You may send us down a "small farm" in lieu of cash.

In other words, J W Girvin hopes somebody will not get up and nominate him for the office of County Clerk, as he might feel it his duty to accept.

Admiral Terry has given satisfactory assurance that so long as he is head of naval affairs in Hawaii only citizen labor will be employed on Federal works. Persons not citizens or eligible to become such, will not be tolerated under direct or sub contracts. Good for Admiral Terry! He is an American after our own heart.

When men on a crowded street car threaten to kill each other, the matter becomes one of public concern. As a rule the fellow who swells up and would have people believe he is "very bad" is the most harmless creature on earth; but if that person happens to be a crank there is no telling what he may do. It seems to us that the participants in Thursday night's affair on the Punahou car should be disarmed and placed under bonds to keep the peace.

The other day we remarked that if one wanted to hear the G O P elephant snort, all he had to do was to say "W R Hearst." In yesterday's issue our Washington correspondent discussed Mr Hearst as a Presidential possibility. Sure enough, this morning the Advertiser humped up and showed its tusks. It is a significant fact that Republican papers look pleased when Gorman or Cleveland are mentioned, but with a hint of Hearst they become ugly and say bad things. The only conclusion to be drawn is that the Republican press regards Mr Hearst as the most dangerous candidate Mr Roosevelt could possibly run up against.

Volcano Marshall is already out of journalism in Shanghai. He was too swift for the snails of the Far East, so the latter cut off his base of supplies. But Marshall is not a man to be so easily outdone. Wherever he goes two things must happen: The Flag must wave, to the tune of the Eagle's screams, or Marshall goes to jail. The effete East, if it still refuses to be Americanized, had, therefore, best keep up its picket lines so long as Marshall is on the home side of its horizon.

If Turkey is throwing 400,000 troops into Macedonia, it is safe to say that the objective is something bigger than the camp of the insurgents. One tenth that number of men should and could put down the disturbance, and the only conclusion to be drawn from the despatch of so many to the rebellious district is that outside interference is believed to be imminent. Turkey probably sees ahead a struggle with Bulgaria and Servia, but may be fearful of more powerful antagonists.

According to an item in the morning Oracle, it is stated that "Berger's trouble with the band boys and the vocalists is reported to have been satisfactorily adjusted." But how was it adjusted? By the interposition of certain parties including the evening press. Had it not been publicly exposed, he would still be lording it over all of them with dockings and reductions, as has been his custom for years back, and none would have been any the wiser today. It may be, in a measure, a sort of grafting propensity with him which has never been looked into in the past.

Mr Rosenburg's address before the Trades and Labor Council last evening was full of valuable information and carried a fund of excellent advice. It is hoped that while here the leader will straighten out the laboring men and set them on the right track. Some scheme for hitting good and hard at business houses and government officials employing Asiatics should be put into effect. Strikes should be encouraged, and a permanent arrangement for arbitration of disputes devised. Once everything is running in a settled, give and-take groove, differences can be easily settled.

The general object of the Republican party of Oahu is to have a clean county ticket. If, through compromises, inconvicted embezziers or other undesirable men are nominated, the party will consider it a duty and a privilege to scratch their names. This is not a year for harmony at the expense of principle, but for a union of honest men for honest purposes. Republicans have no wish to win a victory for candidates who have used or who naturally would use official position to bring the party name into disrepute. There is nothing in a victory that means bad government on your responsibility. Better defeat than that.—Advertiser.

Everybody wishes to see good county officials and good government. The easiest and safest route to both is, however, a question upon which opinions honestly differ. We do not believe that the most satisfactory officials are to be found among the wealthy, particularly among the men represented by the morning press. For the best material both Republican and Home Rule parties should look to the middle classes—to men who will appreciate the office sufficiently to work hard for the public weal. We neither want men so wealthy that they care nothing for the salary nor so poor that they care everything for it.

Pubuc Lands Question.

Governor Dole has received the following letter from Secretary Hitchcock in regard to public lands:

Department of the Interior, Washington, August 22, 1903.

The Governor of Hawaii.

Sir:—Your letter of recent date has been received, stating that the question whether the lands received in exchange under conveyance to the United States would be under the control of and disposal by the Governor of the Territory, is yet undetermined, and inquiry whether such question should be submitted to Congress with the view to securing proper legislation.

In response thereto, I transmit herewith for your information a copy of the opinion rendered by the Assistant Attorney General for this Department under date of the 5th instant, wherein it is held, in connection with the exchange of lands in the Territory, that if the title be taken by the United States the land becomes public land, subject to the same laws and rules as apply to other public lands acquired by the United States under the cession of July 7, 1898 (30 Stats, 3750), and that further legislation by Congress is not necessary, in which I concur.

Very respectfully,
E A HITCHCOCK.
Secretary.

Rosenburg Speaks.

Mr. Rosenburg, the labor leader who arrived here a few days ago from a tour of Japan and China, addressed the Trades' and Labor Council at its quarters last evening on the subject of conditions in the East. He also urged the importance of complete organization and paid his respects in strong terms to those concerns that have recently given employment to Asiatics in preference to citizens. A very large audience heard and thoroughly enjoyed the lecture.

The Secret of Health

The health of the whole body depends upon the blood and nerves. Therefore the medicine that expels impurities from the blood and supplies the necessary materials for rapidly rebuilding wasted nerve tissues, reaches the root of many serious diseases. It is these virtues that have given their wonderful power to conquer disease, and caused the miraculous cures that have startled the scientific world. Thousands of cases have demonstrated that this remedy is an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

Frank Tucker, is a prominent farmer, of Versailles, Indiana. His daughter, Lucy, is now fifteen years old; three years ago she began silling. The rosy color in her cheeks gave way to a paleness, and she became rapidly thin. As she grew weaker she became the victim of nervous prostration. Most of the time she was confined to the bed and was almost on the verge of going into St. Vitus' dance.

"Finally the doctor told us to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Said he was treating a similar case with them and they were curing the patient. We began giving the pills at once, and the next day we could see a change for the better in her. The doctor told us to keep giving her the medicine. We gave her one pill after each meal until she was well. We began giving her the medicine last August, and she took the last dose in October, having used eight boxes. She is now entirely well and has not been sick a day since. We think the cure almost miraculous."
FRANK TUCKER, Mrs. FRANK TUCKER.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 28th day of April, 1903.
HUGH JOHNSON, Justice of the Peace.

From the Republican, Versailles, Ind.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, 6 boxes, $2.50.

Cleveland Boom in the East.

simply an attempt to conjure with the name of Cleveland until the rank and file of the party, the true Democrats of the country, in disgust and desperation cry out to the gilded leaders of the East, "Give us anybody but Cleveland," and they then present to them the real choice of this element, cannot definitely be decided at this time. My own opinion, from all I have seen, inclines me strongly to believe in the latter proposition. for I cannot understand how sane Democrats or men calling themselves Democrats can believe that the name of Grover Cleveland can again sway a Democratic national convention.

"We Wreathe a Maile Lei."

[Composed by Philip Henry Dodge for the Grils' Friendly Society of Honolulu.]

O where grows the sweet scented leaf that I love?
It breathes a perfume on the air.
The plant that we treasure all others above,
A message of peace it will bear.
We search in the valleys and find it for you,
All wet with the sparkle of fresh morning dew.
Maile, maile, wa wreathe a maile lei.

The maile is fragrant, the maile is green,
It speaks of the good and the true;
It calls from our childhood each dear island scene,
And bids all their pleasures renew.
The scent of the maile is precious to me,
The emblam of life in these isles of the sea.
Maile, maile, we wreathe a maile lei.

We garland with maile the friends that are dear,
They bear of its treasure away:
To love ones returning it gives a new cheer,
It graces each festival day;
It blends with the flowers that are brightest in here,
And binds with affection our garlands for you.
Maile, maile, we wreathe a maile lei.

Let us like the maile in fragrance abound
That life all the sweeter may be.
With thoughts that are noble our actions surround
From sorrow and evil to free.
Let love of the maile be love of the right
To show in the world as a joy and delight.
Maile, maile, we wreathe a maile lei.

CLEVELAND BOOM IN THE EAST.

That is one side of this picture. Here is the other: I met men all over that state who are as good democrats as ever walked in shoe leather. They are sterling, true, patriotic democrats and men of the people. They are intellectual equals of any set of men I ever met; they are hard students of political economy and can give a reason for the faith that is in them with any man in the country; they are the bone and sinew of the party in that state and the men who for years kept the state in the democratic column and who fought like tigers for the ticket in 1896 and 1900. They are democrats from principle and are not held to the party by the cohesive power of public plunder. These men were overwhelmed by the avalanche of commercialism in the years of 1896 and 1900 and had the immortal ichor hammered out of them by the followers of the Cleveland fetish. It was enough to discourage any set of men on the face of the earth who were in politics for pelf and not for principle. Nothing daunted, these men are again on the firing line with their faces to the foe they say they will fight to a finish, and I am certain they will do so. It has cost these men something to be democrats in New Jersey and I take my hat off to them. They are twanging a very different string on the democratic harp. They say they will have none of the reactionary, reorganizing, assistant republican crowd who threw down the party in 1896 and 1900; that rather than vote for Grover Cleveland or any man who left the party or who, ever, was lukewarm in those years when democratic workers were at a premium, they will go fishing on election day; that they do not intend to swap a devil for a witch or barter their principles for a barren victory. They say they have canvassed the entire field of of democratic possibilities for the year 1904, and of the entire number of men mentioned in that connection, the name of William Randolph Hearst, of New York, is the only one who was absolutely true to the ticket when democrats were needed, the only man who fought savagely for the ticket, the only man who is not in some way tied up to the Wall street gang, the trusts or the cormorant corporations of the country.

This then, makes the line of demarcation in the state of perenial politics.

One side is lined up with Grover Cleveland and the other with William Randolph Hearst. One side panders to the trusts and illegal corporations of the country in order to obtain the wherewithal to fill the campaign coffers, while the other stands pat with the people and in a fight to a finish to crush the criminal trusts of the country.

This, as nearly as I can get it, is an absolutely correct estimate of the conditions that exist in the state of New Jersey today, a state, by the way, that the democrats must carry in 1904 in order to win at the polls. The democrats of the country are entitled to this information. If the fight all over the country is to be along the lines as exemplified by the conditions that obtain in New Jersey, they may draw their own conclusions and line up, according to their desires and their predilections as democrats.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

I scurrying for expenses of his pro-Chinese petition to Congress, friend J W Girvin ought to call on the president of the Inter Island Steam Navigation Company. That gentleman is just now furthering the interests of Chinese coolies in this Territory.

People on upper Judd street are again complaining about the condition of their road. After every shower (which means nearly every day) mud is ankle deep, and travelling is hard and exasperating. The people up there are not wise. They should deed to Superintendent Cooper a building lot at the head of the street, and it is dollars to land crabs that they would have a macadamized boulevard in less than six months.

If Chris Willis really wants the office of county surveyor, the Republican party could not do a better thing for itself than to nominate him. Mr. Willis is a young Hawaiian of marked ability in his line. He has not dabbled in politics and would, therefore, as a Republican nominee, not be offensive to either the Home Rulers or Democrats. In other words, he is a young man upon whom the friends of good government would feel safe in centering their efforts.

C. J. Austin discovered from the summit of Haleakala last Tuesday—nearly a week ago—that Mokuaweoweo, on the top of Mauna Loa, had again become active. Since then steamers have arrived from both sides of Hawaii and Hilo papers of Thursday and Saturday have come in; but none know anything of the important phenomenon. Mr. Austin should change his brand. Stuff that will rig up active volcanoes would seem to be worse than the snake and centipede kind.

Promising political office for support at the polls is as clearly bribery as promising money for the same service; and Sheriff Andrews, of Hawaii, in adopting such tactics, has dragged his skirts deep in the sludge, to say the least. Had a Home Rule candidate attempted such thing, and the facts had become known, the Advertiser would have been first to condemn; but as the guilty party happens to be one of her own pets, old Grandma promptly gets busy with the brush and white-wash.

Now that Honolulu has regained the visits of the Army transports it is to be hoped that every effort will be made to retain them. First of all, the merchants must live up to their agreement to supply coal in ample quantities and at the lowest possible price. It would not be a bad proposition to sell it at cost, dividing the strain between the various dealers, inasmuch as the merchants will be the chief beneficiaries from the business of the transports. If reasonable figures were placed upon other supplies, Honolulu might eventually become an important compradore to the Government. It cannot be done on one to five hundred per cent. profit, though.

The Star says that Prof. Berger has hit upon a scheme to get even with the vocalists of the band, who have stood out for the full amount of $50 per month, appropriated for them by the Legislature. His plan is to employ four ladies, and have each pair sing a half month, respectively, paying them for a half month in each case. The appropriation bill fixes the pay of the vocalists at $50 and distinctly prescribes the number to be employed—two. Nothing can be plainer than the intentions of the law-making body in the matter; and if Prof. Berger attempts any such chicanery he will certainly be brought up with a round turn by the Attorney General.

This is Labor Day; but save for the closing of Government offices and a few business houses, there are no surface indications. On the Mainland the day was without doubt one of parades and unusual demonstration. Why not the same here? We will pass the question up to the wealthy missionaries, who, by giving their work to Japanese, have crowded the white mechanic out of the country and the native to the wall. At the same time what little they have saved in the way of wages has been more than offset by the losses in the trade of the mechanics. They have reaped that that they had sown, and have a healthy crop of rattoons coming. Every position in the trades given to Asiatics means so many days more of hard times.

Immediately following the Republican primaries in East Hawaii, the mosquito campaign at Hilo lost its bottom. Why? Can it be that the mosquito patriots were all Andrews men? It looks that way. In Honolulu the mosquito campaign has been a political ruse from its inception. It had for its object from the start the safe-keeping of a number of Republican wardheelers for service in the County elections. The fact was patent, even to this over-credulous community; and that is the first reason strings have remained taut on money bags. The gear people cannot be hoodwinked all the time.

It is well that the scheme to consolidate four of the largest plantations under one head, with a combined capital of $12,000,000, failed. Combinations of wealth bring plutocracy, and a consequent "pinching" of the masses. There is an intense and growing prejudice in the world against combinations of the character proposed by P. C. Jones, and their days "under the liberal laws of New Jersey," are numbered. Stockholders of Hawaiian Commercial, Honomu, Onomea and Wailuku had better rock along as they are. The companies are big enough already for all legitimate business purposes.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Some Curious Doings Made by the Maui Police Authorities.

ED. THE INDEPENDENT:

Curious doings! did I say; and would answer—yes. It is only a few weeks ago when police officer or jailor Kahuakai Ezera, of Lahaina, Maui, was charged before the District Court of Lahaina with assault and battery on the person of L M Vetlesen. Although he was found not guilty and discharged, yet Sheriff L M Baldwin had the officer suspended since.

Now it seems curious to the residents of the district of Makawao and can't understand why police Captain Henry Iwiena has not been suspended or discharged by right as he was found guilty in the District Court of Makawao on the 18th day of August last for being drunk. Now why should such an officer be retained on the force as he is at present as if he had nothing against his character.

Are the police officers in the district of Makawao going to be allowed to get drunk and create lots of trouble with civilians as police Captain Henry Iwiena did on the 16th day of August last? It looks to your correspondent to be the case as Captain H Iwiena has not even been suspended since the verdict against him for being drunk was rendered. Hoping to see that those in authority will see to it,

I remain, yours,
MAU LOA.

Official Notice Received.

The Bishop of Zeugma has received official notice of the election of the new Pope, a translation of which, made by Father Valentine, is as follows:

From the office of the Secretary of the Holy Congregation of the Propaganda.

Rome, August 5, 1903.

Very Noble and Reverend Lordship.

As it is my painful duty to notify your Lordship of the death of Pope Leo XIII. of holy memory, it is now also with pleasure I announce you, that on the 4th day of the current month, the Cardinals of the Holy Roman Church, assembled in conclave as customary have elected to the office of Sovereign Pontiff his Eminence and Very Reverend Cardinal Joseph Sarto, Patriarch of Pius X.

You are requested to order each and every priest, under your jurisdiction, to recite for three days, during the mass, the prayer "For Grace" and also, that all Christians thank God publicly for the great benefit bestowed on the church.

In the meantime I pray God to keep you in safety.

Your devoted servant,
FR JEROME M. CARDINAL GOTTI,
Prefect.
Aloysius Viccia, secretary.

Street Accidents.

As an electric car turned into Liliha street from King last Saturday evening and going along down the incline, a Japanese pressed the button and at once jumped out. The fall was tremendous and he was picked up stunned. And yesterday forenoon, another Jap with a child passed a station he wanted, he was made to wait and get off at Vineyard street, but before the car had stopped in its downward course, he had jumped off with the child in his arms. He was tripped over, but manfully held the child up and out of harms way. The conductor helped him to his feet.

Saturday's Baseball.

The game between the Kamehamehas and Mcilles Saturday afternoon proved closer than had been expected, the score closing at four to two in favor of the former. A notable improvement showed itself in the playing of the Mailes, due, it is said, to the playing of the new men enlisted by Captain Bob White. In the Punahou-Elks game the latter played well and had the advantage almost to the end. They lost their heads, however, and the school-boys won to the tune of ten to two.

Eagles Screamed At Peninsula.

The local eyrie of Eagles had a glorious time at the Peninsula last evening and entertained their friends in royal style. Something like 700 people attended the reception and dance, and today only the very highest words of praise are heard from all. From the beginning, early in the evening, until the affair broke up at 12:40 this morning there was not a hitch anywhere and absolutely nothing occurred to mar the continuity of pleasure.

A number of officials and others went down by early trains. The excursion train carried nine cars, seven of which were filled with Eagles, their families and friends. At the Peninsular the pavillion was found to be handsomely decorated with the flags of different nations. Among the number most conspicuously displayed were the American, Hawaiian and Irish colors. In one corner of the pavillion was a booth from which light refreshments, salads and delicacies were served free of charge, and in a convenient nook in the rear foaming schooners were to be had by those preferring toners of that order.

The evening was spent in social diversion and dancing. Great credit is due the committees for their work. The members were here, there and everywhere, looking after the comfort and pleasure of all. Everything went off like clockwork. So well was the business of the committees organized that not a person in the large assemblage was neglected. The best of feeling prevailed and the affair ended in the small hours in a veritable "blaze of glory."

The return trip to the city was made in a train of eleven cars. On the train Hiram's orchestra, which had supplied music for the dance, struck up some lively tunes which taken up by the happy excursionists. The singing spread from car to car until finally the whole train was a flying thing of melody, attracting the people all along the route to their doors and windows. At the city depot, which was reached about 1:20, electric cars were in waiting After final "tigers" for the Eagles and "good-nights" the cars were boarded for all parts of the town, Waikiki, Kalihi and the valleys.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 8, 1903.

SPEECH THAT FAILED.

A Republican politician went to the Kalihi camp luau yesterday afternoon with the determination to make the greatest grand stand play of his life. For days there has been a county-office bee in his turban. He has neglected business to talk it over with his friends, and Cunha has correspondingly made money. His debut was to be made at Kalihi Camp. He would make a speech there that would paralyze the terriers of the hoodlum Seventh and draw them up in a long line behind him. To make the thing complete a double-barrelled interpreter was engaged. A speech, prepared by another man, had been carefull memorized.

The luau started. The would-be candidate anxiously awaited his opportunity. His pent-up thunder fairly rattled against his ribs. "Wait a little; they are eating now and will not listen," cautioned the interpreter. But the interpreter reckoned without the—beer When the luau was over everybody was "hilarious." This was followed by a kind of good-natured but itchy pandemonium. Our friend waited and hoped, but had, finally, to give it up. At 7 o'clock he and the interpreter quietly stole through a side window, walked all the way down to the car line and returned to town, the one sure that he had been fleeced of the opportunity of his life and the other looking for a Salvation Army sign and a temperance pledge awaiting signatures. Who were the men? The guess is easy.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

With High Sheriff Brown reporting to the Governor that drunkenness is on the decline, and Rev. O. P. Emerson telling the Ministerial Association that drinking is waning in many localities, Brother Westervelt should cheer up a little. As a matter of fact, temperance is gaining ground along solid lines and in a sensible way. This is invariably the result when cranky women and addle-brained hypocrites of the other sex draw off their battle flags.

Authentic reports from Hawaii prove the rumor of an outbreak on Mauna Loa to have been the veriest canard. Just why such stories crop up at almost regular periods it is impossible to determine. So many fake reports have been palmed off by pursers of Island steamers and published as authentic by the morning paper and the Star that people have come to regard them as jokes. At the same time they are usually expensive and annoying to travelers and tourist agents.

Turning Pacific Heights over to a Buddhist Temple and Japanese life may prove a good thing for Mr. Desky's little railroad, but it seems hardly fair to the decent people who have paid enormous prices for property up there and to the town, which has taken some pride in the place as a comely suburb. Once the gate is left unlocked, Pacific Heights will be a Jap town. The Japanese are already invading Makiki and every other desirable locality in which they can get a foothold. Mr. Desky owes it to his clients and to the public to see that they do not despoil Pacific Heights.

Judge Robinson appointed J. W. Jones, M. T. Simonton and C. K. Quinn to appraise the value of the property of the late Mrs. Margaret V. Carter at Makao. Leaving out the fact that neither of the men know any more about property valuations than a cat, we would like to ask if it is usual or proper for a judge to appoint officers of his own court to appraise property in a case to come up in that court? Answering the question ourselves, we would say most positively "No". Officers of the court are well enough paid now and stand in no need of outside junkets for additional pay. Besides, the detailing of one's own understudies on a mission of this kind looks too much like monopoly. Had the same thing happened in Judge Gear's court it is safe to say that the Advertiser would have promptly gone into convulsions.

Supt. Pratt of the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co., was instrumental last evening in saving the life of a Chinese boy.—Advertiser.

Yes; how? Eye witnesses tell quite a different story. The little boy, Ah Chong, got on the fender near the baseball park and was securely and safely perched there when seen by Mr. Pratt. At the time, the car was in motion. Pratt, in a very angry tone, ordered the child to jump off. The little fellow, thoroughly frightened, attempted to obey and got a foot entangled in the slats of the fender. In that position he was dragged several yards before the car was stopped. Mr. Pratt was the first to reach the boy for the principal reason that he was closest to him. In place of saving the life of the youngster, Pratt caused the accident. Any man with a head of normal size would have quietly stopped the car and then safely extricated the child from his apparently dangerous position. But, of course, the Advertiser has to make out a case for Rapid Transit officials.

Fire Last Night.

A bad fire was narrowly averted by the work of two soldiers, Corporal Riley and Private Galb, in Lam Kau's restaurant on King street below Nuuanu last evening. Lam Kau was giving a moving-picture show in his restaurant and the place was filled with Chinese. Two native boys, D P Opuu and D H Kanamoku, tried to get in without paying the fee of ten cents. A scuffle with the proprietor ensued and in the melee the picture machine was overturned and the acetylene gas took fire. There was a considerable explosion, and in a moment the flames had enveloped the paper on the dividing wall, had lodged in the tobacco and cigar boxes and had started in on the shelving and ceiling. The Chinamen were characteristically dismayed and crowded upon the street in a howling mob.

At this juncture the soldiers appeared. Rushing into the place they tore off the burning wall paper and hurled the fired boxes into the street. One of them pulled off his coat and had almost smothered the fire in the shelving and walls when the engines arrived. A little work by the chemical machine finished up the job. Had it not been for the prompt and effective work of the artillerymen the building and, mayhap, the whole block would have gone. The loss was about $1,200, including the cost of the picture machine, $1,000.

Courts Open.

The September term of the Circuit Court opened regularly this morning and got in shape to begin business. Judge De Bolt announced that he would open court each day at 9:30, hold to 12, recess to 1:30 and close at 4. Judges Gear and Robinson stated that they would begin sessions at 10 o'clock. The latter two will divide criminal business equally between them. Judge De Bolt will handle the civil calendar. The court room was crowded this morning for the opening. This afternoon the jury list is being called.

At 10 o'clock tomorrow morning Judge Gear will charge the grand jury.

Maru's Box Lost.

The following cablegram was received from Midway Island, yesterday: "The America Maru passed close last night going West. She signalled to us. She was going to throw a box overboard. We could see the box with our telescope but a heavy squall came up and prevented our getting outside the reef. This morning the box is gone."

During the nineteenth century London grew from a city of 800,000 people to one of 6,500,000—that is, increased eight-fold. New York increased from 60,000 to 3,500,000—nearly sixty fold. London is now increasing 17 per cent in a decade and New York 35 per cent, or twice as fast. If this rate should hold good for fifty years more New York would have over 15,000,000 population and be 1,000,000 ahead of London.

A Democratic Meeting.

At last night's meeting of the Democratic Central Committee, Col C J McCarthy resigned from the office of chairman and the same was accepted. Prince David Kawananakoa was nominated to succeed McCarthy, but, after some discussion, the election was postponed to another meeting. The office of Vice Chairman was created and Fred Turrill was elected to fill it. A unanimous standing vote of thanks was extended to the retiring chairman. Col McCarthy will remain a member of the Committee.

E A McInerny declined to accept a position on the committee to fill a vacancy, so that a vacancy is still left and will be filled later.

At last night's meeting nothing whatever was said in regard to fusion with the Home Rulers or combinations of any sort.

Settle Differences.

The war in the Republican ranks of the Sixth precinct, Fourth District, has been amicably settled by the withdrawal of the protest of Dr Cooper's faction to the election. This action was taken at a meeting of the District Committee last evening. It leave Lorrin Andrews and his colleagues in the swim.

The protest of Carlo Long and J J Belser to the election in the eight precinct of the Fourth, where 61 votes were thrown out, was overruled.

In the second of the Fourth, the following candidates were endorsed: J W Pratt, assessor; A M Brown, high sheriff; W T Rawlins, county attorney; H E Murray, county clerk. No action was taken in regard to the other offices.

Entertained His Friends.

Ernest Grune, bartender at the Hoffman (Larry Dee's) saloon, gave a reception to a large party of friends last evening in honor of his 25th birth anniversary. The affair took place at the home of Mr and Mrs C Schoelkopf, on Beretania street opposite the Lutheran church. Roast pig, lager and all the other incidentials required for a celebration in typical German style were served in plenty. The music was led by Prof Joe Rosen, with Mr Grune as accompanist. It was 2:30 this morning when the good friends of the host began to wish him their final "happy returns," and reluctantly depart for home.

Korea Arrives.

The big liner Korea, from San Francisco, was sighted about 5 o'clock this morning and came into port two hours later. She is at Naval wharf No. 1. Following are her passengers:

F H Armstrong, E Borden and wife, W E Brown, wife and two children, Miss R Beatty, O R Comins, Miss A L Dow, Miss M B Fanning, Mrs G H Gere, Miss B G Hall, T S Hall, J H Hibler, Mrs T W Hobron and 2 children, Mrs V L Hopper, Victor Hurd, Miss G B Jones, Miss Alice D Jones, Mrs F J Lindeman, Miss F Lynch, Miss E D Lavino, R E Mist, Mrs J Mist, Miss E F Mist, Mrs Z K Meyers, Mrs F M Macfarlane, Guy Macfarlane, Miss L M McKillian, W J MacNeil and wife, H H Moore, Mrs H G Noonan, F E Nichols, M Philips, wife and child, Mrs P M Price, H P Roth, G M Rolph, wife and child, M K Saber, wife and daughter, C T Sutton, Mrs S I Shaw, Mrs E D Tenney, two children and maid, Mrs J Watt, J W Waldron, L A Wills and Miss Mabel Lampton.

A Democratic Meeting.

At last night's meeting of the Democratic Central Committee, Col C J McCarthy resigned from the office of chairman and the same was accepted. Prince David Kawananakoa was nominated to succeed McCarthy, but, after some discussion, the election was postponed to another meeting. The office of Vice Chairman was created and Fred Turrill was elected to fill it. A unanimous standing vote of thanks was extended to the retiring chairman. Col McCarthy will remain a member of the Committee.

E A McInerny declined to accept a position on the committee to fill a vacancy, so that a vacancy is still left and will be filled later.

At last night's meeting nothing whatever was said in regard to fusion with the Home Rulers or combinations of any sort.

Settle Differences.

The war in the Republican ranks of the Sixth precinct, Fourth District, has been amicably settled by the withdrawal of the protest of Dr Cooper's faction to the election. This action was taken at a meeting of the District Committee last evening. It leave Lorrin Andrews and his colleagues in the swim.

The protest of Carlo Long and J J Belser to the election in the eight precinct of the Fourth, where 61 votes were thrown out, was overruled.

In the second of the Fourth, the following candidates were endorsed: J W Pratt, assessor; A M Brown, high sheriff; W T Rawlins, county attorney; H E Murray, county clerk. No action was taken in regard to the other offices.

Entertained His Friends.

Ernest Grune, bartender at the Hoffman (Larry Dee's) saloon, gave a reception to a large party of friends last evening in honor of his 25th birth anniversary. The affair took place at the home of Mr and Mrs C Schoelkopf, on Beretania street opposite the Lutheran church. Roast pig, lager and all the other incidentials required for a celebration in typical German style were served in plenty. The music was led by Prof Joe Rosen, with Mr Grune as accompanist. It was 2:30 this morning when the good friends of the host began to wish him their final "happy returns," and reluctantly depart for home.

Korea Arrives.

The big liner Korea, from San Francisco, was sighted about 5 o'clock this morning and came into port two hours later. She is at Naval wharf No. 1. Following are her passengers:

F H Armstrong, E Borden and wife, W E Brown, wife and two children, Miss R Beatty, O R Comins, Miss A L Dow, Miss M B Fanning, Mrs G H Gere, Miss B G Hall, T S Hall, J H Hibler, Mrs T W Hobron and 2 children, Mrs V L Hopper, Victor Hurd, Miss G B Jones, Miss Alice D Jones, Mrs F J Lindeman, Miss F Lynch, Miss E D Lavino, R E Mist, Mrs J Mist, Miss E F Mist, Mrs Z K Meyers, Mrs F M Macfarlane, Guy Macfarlane, Miss L M McKillian, W J MacNeil and wife, H H Moore, Mrs H G Noonan, F E Nichols, M Philips, wife and child, Mrs P M Price, H P Roth, G M Rolph, wife and child, M K Saber, wife and daughter, C T Sutton, Mrs S I Shaw, Mrs E D Tenney, two children and maid, Mrs J Watt, J W Waldron, L A Wills and Miss Mabel Lampton.

Walter Adamthwaite, native of England, aged 37, died at the Young hotel at 9:30 last night of lung trouble. The funeral will take place under the auspices of the Odd Fellows next Sunday.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

What has become of Berger's new singing recruits? Has he already tired of them and relegated them to Limbo or as ornaments for Gus Murphy's decorative art studio in the Palace basement? We wonder what has become of them, and where, oh, where have they flown to?

It is a street argument that inasmuch as Judge Davis' disbarment case is pending on appeal, and he is allowed to continue the practice of law in the meanwhile, he is still the second district magistrate of Honolulu. To set the matter right it needs only to be recalled that Judge Davis formally resigned from his position in the district court on the day of the order disbarring him and that the resignation was accepted by Governor Dole.

Captain Berger is said to have cautioned those in Government employ and serving under him in the Band not to say anything about any happenings between him and them to THE INDEPENDENT. We wonder whether it is so, yet we at the same time believe it to be so. But why this caution? Does he dread the exposures that we have made against him? This much can be said that whatever we have said are facts and are absolutely the truth, and are not trumped up yarns of what might and might not have been. But we warn this musical czar that THE INDEPENDENT is in direct telepathic communication with his headquarters and whatever unholy treatment he accords those under him will surely be made known to us. Now, therefore, beware! "A stitch in time saves nine."

And now then we have F M Hatch an attorney dependent upon citizens for most of his business, having repairs made and walks laid at Sans Souci by Japanese, shutting out white and native citizens from desireable employment. It is true that Mr Hatch did not directly employ the Japanese, but he let the contract to a man who did and is therefore equally culpable with the immediate sinner. We will have something more to say about this Sans Souci affair.

It does look now that "Shee" Berger intends to dispense with the two lady vocalists. They sang last Sunday afternoon at the Palace grounds, but have not done so since then. Singing is the most popular feature of the band concerts and Mr Berger himself is responsible for introducing it. Because, probably, the two ladies show an independent disposition to demand their rights, it does not suit his narrow instinct (if he has any) and he is very likely to make away with them. The people should now watch this Czar's antics and capers.

It is not the milkmen that disturb rest in the early hours of the morning, but the noisy wagons they drive. They come down a macadamized street like three or four fire engines, halt for a time and then start up again with a bang and a receding rattling and thunder. Most of the blame is to be laid at the door of the wheel tires. The new Board of Supervisors should, first thing after their oaths are taken, pass an ordinance prescribing that milk wagons, bread wagons and other vehicles getting around in the best sleeping hours of the early morning be equipped with rubber tires.

It is perfectly natural, and even proper, for the St Louis exposition officials to urge a special building for Hawaii at the big show. Each new building elaborates the exposition so much, and that is what the officials are looking out for. But Hawaii has only $30,000 available for the entire exhibit. If $22,000 are to be expended on a building, where on earth will the display come off? It will take all of the $8,000 to pay the expenses of getting the exhibit together here. We still hold to the view that the Hawaiian exhibit should be made as elaborate as possible and should go in one of the Government buildings.

The Advertiser has received an interesting letter from a resident of Honolulu complaining of the course of the local press in publishing to the world the facts about the mosquito and other Hawaiian minor pests, but putting the situation as plainly and with so little reference to the success of the preventive and other measures now being used, that this paper feels that it cannot, in justice to the higher interests of the community, make the communication public.—Advertiser.

There are more than a few people who believe honestly that an unfortunate mistake has been made by the papers in proclaiming the presence of the dengue fever in the Islands. The published reports created little alarm locally, people having full knowledge that the ailment was not dangerous to life. But on the Coast, where nothing was known of the disease, those reports must have had the effect of frightening travellers away from the Islands. The mosquito agitation was but a second chapter of the same thing. Sensational reports in the papers have stamped Honolulu a mosquito ridden place, and that is not the fact. Honolulu is as free of mosquitoes as hundreds of other resorts. We think ourselves that the papers have seriously erred in publishing the exaggerated accounts of mosquito ravages here, and that a new and more sensible tack should be taken.

Superintendent Cooper has taken J W Springston, the man who was given the contract to construct a road in Ewa and allowed Japanese to do the work, on the grill. The public does not care a rap who employed the coolies nor who was, or is, responsible for their being there. Their mere presence on the road in the work makes it mandatory, under the spirit of the Legislature's resolution, for the Superintendent of Public Works to refuse to pay the bill. This "sub-contract" dodge has been worked many times too often, resulting always in the substitution of Asiatic for citizen labor, and it is to be hoped that Superintendent Cooper will make an example of Springston in this case.

The cable from San Francisco to the effect that Governor Dole will retire next May and will likely be succeeded by Secretary George R Carter comes, of course, from the latter's news bureau. Carter is making a strenuous fight for the place and is seizing every opportunity of keeping his name before the President. His present trip to the main land, made at the expense of the public for the purpose, ostensibly, of negotiating for the sale of the new loan bonds, is patently a trip to Washington in the interest of his gubernatorial aspirations. Mr Carter is working hard for it and stands a good show of being selected as governor; but he will not be with the approbation of the people of Hawaii.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Heroism of Pratt.

EDITOR THE INDEPENDENT:

Seeing an article in the morning Advertiser concering the heroic life saving act of Mr Patt, Superintendent of the H R T & L Co, I being an eye witness of the same would like to make a correction of said article.

In the first place the boy did not fall himself but was struck by Mr. Pratt, while he was tending on the rear fender. The car was crowded and on the fender were standing several people including three or four small boys.

Mr Pratt came to the rear of the car and seeing the boys, grabbed one by the arm and threw him about six feet. Luckily he was uninjured. Another one of the boys was struck by the same hero, Mr Pratt, and he fell on the fender; at the same moment the car started and the boy's foot caught, dragging him along on his face. Seeing what had happened Mr Pratt started after the car on the run and threw himself forward and grabbed the unfortunate boy's leg from out of the fender, leaving him lie on his face in the middle of the track. Another gentleman who was a witness to the whole, ran forward and lifted the boy's head while two or three more took off their hats and fanned him, trying to revive him. Mr Chillingworth, who came later, telephoned for the patrol wagon and the lad was taken to town. Being a witness to this, I fail to see where Mr Pratt acted in the proper way by chucking the boy off the car the way he did, and then having an article printed, which was untrue about the heroic rescue he made.

Hoping others who know the truth about the matter will verify this statement. I remain, respectfully.

A WITNESS.

GOOD LEGISLATION IS IMPROBABLE.

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 28:

Prominent republican and democratic senators and representatives and well-informed students of financial subjects agree that the prospects of important and beneficial financial legislation at the next session of Congress, viewed from the present outlook, is extremely doubtful. It is freely predicted that the republican senators cannot be made as unanimous for the Aldrich bill again as they were at the close of the last session of Congress, when the bill was defeated merely because there was not sufficient time to allow a few of the opposition senators to give their views. Not only is there less unanimity of republican sentiment for what was known as the Aldrich ideas, but the democrats promise to oppose these ideas, although declaring that they will welcome financial legislation that will be of real benefit to the country.

The democrats will not oppose any legislation of a financial nature for which there is united demand by the business interests of the country, but they realize that there is a wide difference of opinion as to the Aldrich bill and they will attack that measure or its principles embodied in any other measure.

A principal feature of the Aldrich bill was the provision that state, municipal and railroad bonds of approved classes might be accepted by the Secretary of the Treasury as security for the deposit of the public moneys. The democrats are attacking this feature on several grounds. Their first objection to it is that it encourages the continuation of a surplus in the Treasury, when the tariff laws ought to be amended so as to brevent such a surplus; second, that if the people were relieved of tariff burdens to the extent of $30,000,000 or $4,000,000 a year that amount would not have to be placed in the hands of national banks for their benefit; third, that in making such deposits the banks are being allowed to use the government money without interest.

The leading feature of the Democratic position, however, is that the government is every day accumulating money that it cannot use, and that to prevent a financial crash by reason of the accumulation of this sum outside of trade channels, the Treasury Department is compelled to do something with it; that one of the ways of putting the money back into circulation is to deposit it in national banks. Another contention is that the placing of this money in banks encourages over-speculation and the putting out of endless stocks of all kinds. It will be claimed by the Democrats that if the banks are not burdened with money they will not make loans on anything except legitimate business, but that if they have a plethora of funds, including those of the government, they will lend on stocks that are not gilt-edged, and thereby encourage over-speculation and dangers that might menace the business of the country.

To sum it up briefly, the Democrats will say that to get rid of this state of affairs, instead of providing for easier methods of putting out government money, the reformation of the tariff and the reduction of the income would be the best and safest plan, the position being that there is plenty of money in the country.

The Republicans are all tangled

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

It is now argued that General Leonard Wood cannot be appointed governor of the Philippines for the reason that the office is a civil one. Well, that is a very simple problem. Wood is known to be a better "bull-puncher" than a soldier, and should be able to get in easily on that score.

Judge P L Weaver of the Torrens land court, who went to Boston to study facts with which he was supposed to be already familiar, will return in the Alameda tomorrow. It is to hoped that he learned something, but it may be well to stay judgment and comment until his big bill for expenses is submitted.

The mosquito committee has $55 a month in sight for expenses. That should be enough to keep one dissatisfied Republican in good humor until after election. Oh; we'll tell you: Give it to George Markham. He might be induced to shin up telephone poles again and make Republican speeches for that amount.

Californians of Honolulu observed Admission Day at the Young hotel last evening in the good old way. There was the usual flow of wit and soul, with frequent outbursts of patriotic impulses. Sons of the Empire State of the West are and have a right to be proud of their great commonwealth. From a sparsely settled waste of sixty years ago it has grown into one of the wealthiest and mightiest States of the Union. It has become the center of many things, among them education—the fore wheels of Progress. With its mines, its wheatfields, its fruit-orchards, its vineyards, its mineral springs, its grand scenery and its noble people California is destined to become at no distant date the gaiant of the nation.

"Find out what your enemy wants you to do and then don't do it." Just now the Republican papers are sounding the praises of Cleveland and Gorman, but at every turn they let the pig out of the bag. Nothing would please them more than to see one of these men nominated. What the Democratic party requires, however, is a man not quite so popular with the Republican newspapers.

It is now believed that Dole will be succeeded by George R Carter, Secretary of the Territory, who has proved himself an excellent man in the position he now holds, and would doubtless make an equally good Governor.—Call.

And then you say George R Carter is not working over-time for the Governorship! The above is a part of a letter sent out from Carter's office here to the Call and was written by C R Buckland, Mr Carter's assistant. How's that?

So our genial friend J M Riggs has bobbed up serenely again, this time as a jury commissioner. For sometime he has held the record as an applicant for office, but now he seems to be about neck-and-neck with Mr Poobah Cooper for getting and holding them for a short time. For several years he has kicked around from post to post until he has had a try at about everything on the middle rungs of the official ladder. What next?

In their memorial to Delegate Kubio the members of the Trades and Labor Council hit the labor question nail on the head several times. It was eminently proper and timely to call special attention to the employment of Asiatics for Government dredging and for work on Quarantine Island. These things have been public outrages and a possibility of a recurrence of them makes such a protest necessary. The matter will now reach Washington through the most promising channel.

As a mere matter of justice we think that the Home Rule party, having a majority of the votes, shou'd have been represented on the jury commission. That party is the principal opponents of the Republicans in the group and should have been recognized, and if the commission must consist of two men only, then one of them should have been a Home Ruler. However, if Colonel McCarthy is presumed to represent both the Home Rule and Democratic parties, the injustice may not really be so great as it appears.

The Sunday Advertiser had a facsimile of Treasurer A N Kepoikai's signature, boldly headed "official signature on new bond issue." Under it is this legend: "After much practicing, Treasurer Kepoikai has hit on this form of signature for the new Hawaiian bonds." Oh, wow; as if it was a new signature, for it is the same old thing and we are very familiar with the "physiog" of the man himself. But, by gosh, if the Advertiser wants to see similar signatures, go and overhaul the records of the late Fire Claims Commission and it will there find over 6700 similar ones. And further, we of THE INDEPENDENT know the similarity by familiarity. We don't believe that there was much effort for the Treasurer to sign that signature and that there was not "much practicing" either, for it is the every day routine work of his office as well as of his private life while in correspondence or otherwise.

Another Reply To Delegate.

The Honolulu Trades and Labor Council today submitted its recommendations to Delegate Kubio. The document is too lengthy for publication in full, but following is the gist of the points made:

1st. We believe that to develop any territory you must encourage citizens that are in the territory, or those that may come later—as is the case in new possessions—by extending to them inducements in the matter of allowing them the privilege over non-citizens, or at least equal privileges; which at the present time is not done, not alone by the merchants of the city, but by the United States Government at the Naval Wharf, where they are dredging with Asiatic help; also the work at Pearl Harbor which is being performed by the same parties that have the contract for the Naval Slip.

2nd: As there are numerous contracts to be let in Washington, for the Territory, at Pearl Harbor and other places, we ask that you use your influence to have it stipulated in the contracts so let; "That citizen labor be employed, or those eligible to become such, upon all Government work."

3rd: We also recommend that if it is possible in the construction of any Federal buildings that Hawaiian granite be used, in preference to imported granite.

4th: We also recommend that you use your endeavors to perpetuate the Chinese Exclusion Act, as we believe there is no scarcity of plantation labor in the Islands.

5th: We also ask that you use your best endeavors to have the United States Transports call at this port.

6th: We also wish to call your attention to the fact that the Marine Hospital on Quarantine Island is employing Asiatics in preference to citizens.

7th: We also recommend that you use your influence with those who have the power of improving this Territory; that inducements be made to the small farmers who are here, and to those who may come, to take up the growing of coffee.

Home Rule Meeting.

The Home Rule Central Committee held its usual weekly meeting this forenoon at headquarterr, R W Wilcox, presiding.

It was decided to reconsider the date of holding the Oahu County Convention, which was formerly set for the 30th inst, and it was agreed to hold it earlier, and the 21st inst, was the day set.

James A Davis, of Koolau, formerly a Republican, has joined the Home Rule ranks. He was present at the meeting and, on account of the continued absence of one of its old members, D W Kamaliikane, he was elected in his stead and was sworn in as such.

Another member, H Huks, of Kalihi Camp, who has been elected as a Republican delegate to the County Convention, was stricken from the rolls and expelled as a recalcitrant Home Ruler. He was present and said in defense that his body was Republican, but his heart was still Home Rule. But that was thought to be a very lame excuse and did not save him from expulsion.

Coffee and Transports.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held yesterday afternoon the memorial asking Congress for a bounty of five cents a pound on coffee was read and adopted.

C M Cooke and E D Tenney were appointed a committee to get the lowest possible figures at which coal may be supplied to the army transports.

Delegate Kubio replied to the memorial addressed to him, stating that he will work diligently in Congress for all the objects mentioned.

T H Davies & Co. sent in a letter denying that the Vancouver line of steamers had discouraged tourists from stopping here.

New by-laws were considered and adopted.

Dangerous Example.

Hawaii has determined that as far as manner is concerned she intends to adopt the voting system now in legal vogue in California. While this decision is an unquestioned compliment to us, simple justice compels us to warn the Island Territory that she must not follow too closely our ideals expressed in the choice of men we sometimes elect to public office.—Call.

Coming Tomorrow.

The following persons will arrive in the Alameda tomorrow from San Francisco:

It gives the democracy the best possible opportunity of giving the country an object lesson on the blessings of tariff reduction as a means of keeping all this surplus in the pockets of the people, instead of fighting over plans for getting it back to the people after taking it away from them for the behoof of the trusts and monopolies of the country.

Reforms at Hilo.

The Board of Health yesterday afternoon adopted the following recommendations as to reforms at Hilo:

1. That the government physician at Hilo be sent a copy of Dr. Pratt's recommendations for making the Serrao market sanitary, with instructions to have them carried out.

2 That the president see the Superintendent of Public Works about necessary repairs to the hospital.

3. That the pest house be furnished so as to accommodate four patients.

4 That the resignation of Veterinarian Jones be requested.

5. That the wailing in of the ditch through the Asiatic quarters be referred to the Superintendent of Public Works for abatement of the nuisance.

ROOSEVELT AND HIS OPINIONS.

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 28:

Since Mr Roosevelt became President of the United States and has been in the limelight, the people of the country who want to keep up with the times and keep themselves posted on all the things that can be said for and against a man in public life, have been reading the many books that have been written by the fecund pen of the man who now occupies the highest office in the nation. Some of the students of this city have found that a peculiarity of Roosevelt's writings is that he has had very few kind words to say of any man who ever occupied a high place in this country; that on the contrary he has lambasted the life out of most of them. Take for instance, his opinion of Thomas Jefferson, expressed in his "Naval War of 1812." In volume xi, page 198, of that work from the pen of Theodore Roosevelt, he was intemperate enough to say that Mr Jefferson "was perhaps the most incapable Executive that ever filled the Presidential chair." That seems to be pretty tough on the author of the Declaration of Independence, the man who acquired the Louisiana territory who was twice President of the United States, both times elected by ballots and not by bullets, who was the founder of the University of Virginia, and whose teachings have ever been the bulwark of popular government in this country as against the mandates of the classes. Mr Roosevelt seems not only to be an iconoclast, but of late years he seems to have become a painfully pragamatic preacher. He defends and proclaims the axiomatic at the slightest provocation. He is showing a reprehensible tendency to lecture the public on self-evident propositions, and to do it with a suspicion of sensational purpose, as, notably, in his warning against race-suicide and his recent sermon on decent living. The people of this country, if I am any judge of every-day human nature, do not like to be lectured. They think they know what they want and how to get it when they want it. That is one of the reasons why Grover Cleveland lost popularity while in the White House. If Mr Roosevelt will continue in his present course he will very aptly illustrate the point of "Tom" Reed's sarcastic saying: "What I like about Roosevelt is his enthusiasm over his own discovery of the Ten Commandments."

There is some rather severe criticism of the President here in political circles in the national capital on account of the recent naval review. That review ordered by the President to be held practically in his back yard at Oyster Bay, partook very much of the autocratic methods of the Czar or the Kaiser. No previous president ever ordered the ships of the American Navy to come to his home in order to review them and make a war-like speech to the officers and men of the Navy. That review, for which there was no need or warrant, except to make a hoodlum holiday for the inhabitants of Oyster Bay and vicinity, cost the taxpayers of the country not less than fifty thousand dollars for powder burned in salutes to the Commander-in-Chief of the American Navy. He may next take a notion that he wants to review the American Army. If he does it will cost the people not less than a half million dollars to concentrate the troops for the review. The people

FRIDAY, SEPT. 11, 1903.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Judge Lindsay's suggestion of a whipping post may be a good one, and we rather kokua the idea. But it would seem proper that the Judge try it first to see how it works.

A headline in the Advertiser this morning says "Japanese are glad to go back home again." We can assure the little, brown cut-worms that Honolulu is equally glad to see them "go back home again."

The mosquito committee wants ten times $55 for its campaign. Figuring upon that basis we should say that the Republican Central Committee has discovered ten Republicans of some influence among voters out of a job.

As elsewhere recited, we cannot for a moment believe that Governor Dole or the Attorney General suggested the idea to Prof Berger of suspending the lady vocalists from singing at band concerts. But what we do believe is, that it originated in the ever fertile brain of the Kappelmeister himself. Since the vocalists took their complaint to the above officials, he has not relished their going so far and is now, probably, concocting a scheme of letting them out by substituting others in their places. We are on to him!

Prof Berger should take into account the hint of the Advertiser the other day and his himself and the band too, for that matter, providing he can induce the bandsmen to follow him, to other climes. He may then make a successful tour of the mainland and there show to the American people how well he can bull-doss "canibals" into submission and make musicians out of them. No doubt he'll make a great hit and thereby make a good drawing card, which is likely to make a favorable impression to his good and give him a lift whereby he may be enabled to earn money easier than drudging in this country on a Government pittance. We doubt whether he can do as much if he went back home to his "faderland."

In a clipping from a San Francisco paper, published elsewhere, it is stated that Secretary Carter has placed the contract for printing the county election blanks with a California house. It is to be noted in the same connection that the Advertiser is mum on the subject. What would have happened had some official not in the favor of the morning press let a similar contract in a similar way? Grandma would forthwith have had a fit of the worst kind, and the offending official would have been hounded and abused almost to death. But as the guilty party happens to be one of the Advertiser's own clique, "fits" absent themselves and the mouth of calumny is closed.

The transport Thomas, which sailed this morning for Manila, carried about the worst lot of hoodlums that ever struck Honolulu in a single body. Outrages to Japanese and Chinese in the Magoon block and the fight started in Camara's liquor store were but a couple of a series of rowdy acts. The marines kept the people of Kakaako and Chinatown terrorized most of the time they were here. Ninety per cent of them, approximately, had no money but manage to keep full of liquor while in port. Liquor was obtained by threats, osjolery and ofttimes by selling clothing. Honolulu welcomes soldiers and sailors, but has no love for toughs.

The lady vocalists in the Band are not Kumalae's choice, but they are the choice of Prof Berger himself, the Advertiser to the contrary notwithstanding. Kumalae's choice went to raise their pay by legislative sanction and is a condition that Berger is left without a "choice" other than to "pay, pay, pay." The money is not his but the people's. Yet Berger may have the choice to let them go and try two others, still he must pay them as enacted, if the "two others" should insist on being so paid, otherwise he will be left without any others upon whom to try his usual methods of docking and cutting down pay other than what has been enacted. We know him from "way back" and have a tale to relate some of these fine days.

If it will be necessary to fight in Congress at every session for a renewal of the bounty on coffee, no real good can can come out of the proposition. A coffee planter canno', under the very best of circumstances, hope to realize anything from his business in less than from four to six years. To give him a bounty for the first year, with the possibility of its being cut off the second year, would be no inducement to him to start a farm, and the industry would fall as flat right there as it is now. It was our opinion that Congress could provide in one act a bounty for, say, ten years, which could not be changed by any succeeding Congress. In this event the farmer, at the end of about four or five years, would begin to reap some of the benefits and have the assistance he requires for five years more. If such an arrangement is not possible, the whole proposition is not worth the time it would take to think about it.

Japs at Sans Souci.

In reply to a query we will say that both the large and the small cottage at Sans Souci were erected by Japanese. Mr Hatch let the contract to a Mr Maerthew, and knew at the time that the contractor intended employing Japanese carpenters. While the work was being carried on Mr Hatch was a regular caller at the place, once or twice every day; saw the Japanese at work, and, in fact, would frequently give them instructions in small points of their duties.

Last week, tile flooring was to be put in the the two large bath-rooms. Japanese labor was engaged to do the work, although there was plenty of citizen labor available in the city. Throughout, the point was to save money in wages. Mr Hatch is a lawyer in the city and depends upon citizens for the best part of his business.

Blanks on the Coast.

An order has been received by a San Francisco house dealing in election supplies from the officials of the Hawaiian Territorial Government, which indicates that Hawaii will conduct its first county elections under the California plan in all its details. The Hawaiian officials have considered the county government law, which is new, and have come to the conclusion that while the law does not expressly authorize the employment of a system of voting that is new in Hawaii, at the same time it does not forbid the employment of the California system of registration, voting, etc.

There are five counties in Hawaii under the new law. Supervisors, County Clerks and other county officers are to be elected on November 3. Then the new order of things in Hawaii will be fairly inaugurated so far as local government is concerned.

Secretary Carter of Hawaii was instrumental in bringing about the change in the system of conducting elections. The proposition was introduced in a business way by a representative of the California firm that has secured the order for the first county election supplies and was officially adopted.

Millet and Johnson.

San Francisco papers report that Joe Millet, the pugulist, who defeated everything in sight here, is matched to fight Harry Johnson, the heavyweight, colored slugger, in California. Local friends of Millet fear that a mistake has been made, as Johnson has defeated George Gardiner and is in line for a fight with Champion Jim Jeffries. Should Millet win, however, an immense stir would be created in boxing circles. It would bring him to the top notch of the light heavyweight class and he could, in a short time claim a go with Jeffries.

Marines Make Trouble.

Taree marines entered the store of Camara & Co, wholesale liquor dealers, on Alakea street yesterday afternoon and proceeded to take charge. For a few minutes they ran things, but when their thievish motives were understood they were forcibly ejected. In the scuffle Major Camara was struck in the face and quite badly hurt.

The right wheel of a loaded garbage cart caved in this morning about 10 o'clock on Hotel street, between Nuuanu and Konia, and it leaned near the electric track so that cars could not pass. Car passengers had to be transferred from one to the other without interference to traffic till the obstruction was later on removed.

HAWAIIAN BAND NOTES.

More About the Czar, the Singing Girls and the Chorus Plan.

Ever since THE INDEPENDENT first took up and exposed the treatment accorded the Bandsmen by Captain Herr Berger, including the two well-known native lady vocalists, the public is learning more and more of the high-handed methods employed by the one who is always ready and quick to say (at his tongue's end) of how much he loved the Hawaiians, and is ever ready to say in pidgin Hawaiian—"wau nuinui aloha kanaka," and translated would mean "I greatly love the native." No doubt the lady vocalists have since gained a most unenviable notoriety by the notice and prominence given them by the press in writing them up It is not for us to say whether they ought to be proud or not with the notoriety gained, yet one thing we do say they have stirred up a hornet's nest within camp and the grafting czar, who, at the expense of others receiving less pay, is at last exposed to public gaze.

Last Saturday the Star said that the two singing girls were lording it over the boys. It is known for a fact that with one exception, none of the boys begrudge the girls for receiving $50 a month as specifically appropriated by the Legislature. The Star must have received its inspiration from "Himm" and from none other. Of course, the girls are pleased with the increase in their pay and wherein they have a right to be happy. And who would not be so?

Monday last they were sent for by 'Himm." "Hee" informed them that by direction of the Governor and Attorney General, their services would not be required during the week and that the vocalization at band concerts would be undertaken by the boys. At the same time a request was made to them to look for other recruits and to include male voices for solos and choruses as well.

This was the first step to dispense with singing at band concerts after being in vogue these many years. The "Herr" attempted to use the boys for that purpose at the Emma Square concert that evening but they declined. People who attended came away disappointed. And the same thing has happened at every other concert since.

It was expected that the Advertiser would be inspired by "Himm" and sure enough it came out next morning with the statement "that the usual singing by the ladies, with the assistance of the whole band, will be omitted this week because they have nothing new or striking to present and several good singers are sick." This statement seems peculiar, because they have been singing nothing but the old and antiquated Hawaiian songs of a decade or so ago, now and then interspersed with a few new "imported" coon songs.

Since their suspension, it is reported that "Shee" Berger, after inducing certain of the boys to sing, attempted through a few of them to get the words of the Hawaiian songs from the girls. The reason of this is because the boys only know the choruses and not the solos. It is inferred that this attempt has not been successful.

Now, the latest is that Kumalae has spoiled, so says Berger vide Bulletin and Star yesterday, his plans for the establishing of a singing chorus. The Bulletin has it that "Berger states that he and Governor Dole had discussed a chorus of perhaps a dozen Hawaiian girls to sing with the band on Sundays. The Governor was enthusiastic over the idea and approved Berger's plans. Berger, however, is not abandoning the chorus idea and expects that ways and means will present themselves." But from where does "Hee" expect to have the ways and means for the carrying out of such an idea? Not from the Appropriation Bill, nor has "Shee" the right to apportion or divert any funds appropriated for the pay of Bandsmen in other channels than for the specific purposes intended.

Previous to the making public of the above plan, it had been hinted that Berger might engage two other girls and then have them sing one half the time and the other two the other half and then divide up the pay among them. That looks feasible enough and may be all right as far as it looks, but surely it is an attempt to defeat the intent of the Legislature in the matter, should it be ever carried into effect.

The Post Office Department investigation seems to have petered out completely. If anything is doing at the big pile on Pennsylvania Avenue no man can find it out. Since the statute of limitations let out so many who ought to be wearing stripes, it seems to have paralyzed the energies of the investigators.

Although the Grand Jury in Brooklyn indicted George W. Beavers for complicity in the frauds and peculations in the Post Office Department, no attempt has ever been made to apprehend him and bring him to the bar of justice. It is believed here that the reason for this apathy on the part of the government officials is that Beavers is another one of those "Temple pullers," and the powers that be are not hunting for that kind of game. It is a safe wager that the last has been heard of sensational developments in the Post Office investigation. It looks as though the Interior Department would now become the center of activity in the scalawag hunting line, but nothing will ever be done there until there is a change of administration and a change of the brand of politics.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Since when has THE INDEPENDENT become and been known as "the assistant organ of the Home Rule party?" The Star seems to know all about it.

Judge Estee has too much sense to be drawn into the trap of causing a grand jury to follow up incidental memoranda of the Legislature on the plea of the Advertiser that such miscellany are "vouchers." The head of the Federal court is quite apt at discerning the dingy outline of unholy politics beneath the snowy veneer of honesty of purpose. And don't you forget it.

The thing the people of East Hawaii are most interested in at present is the selection of a county sheriff. A good man, Captain Wm M Keolanui of the Hilo police force, has been put up by the Home Rulers. Should Andrews be nominated by the Republicans, the Home Ruler will have a walk over; but in case of a more popular man being put up there might be a lively scrimmage At any rate, anybody should be preferrable to the Czar.

Local friends of J W Erwin, the Postoffice Inspector, who has been indicted at San Francisco for fraud in connection with the purchase of letter boxes, have already sprung to his defense. Every man indicted for complicity in this almost unprecedent scandal has had his friends and they have worked hard. In each case, however, surprise and disgust have followed the uncovering of the facts. Rascality permeates every branch of the postal service on the mainland. The few men caught form a mere corporal's guard to the army that has been shrewd enough to escape apprehension. What is needed is a complete cleansing of the Augean stables, and the Democrats are the only people that will do it thoroughly.

A regiment of regular soldiers and company of marines stationed at Honolulu would be a great thing for the merchants, meaning some $25,000 a month in trade to them; and if there is a chance to get this large number of men, no effort should be spared to that end. There is poor encouragement, however, for soldiers to come here when Chief Justice Frear and others throw them into jail for larking with ladies cast-off underskirts in unoccupied, mountain cabins.

The baseball league next year should consist of only four teams. The players for more are not here. What is demanded is good baseball. That is the only thing the people will go to see and pay for. Honolulu is today paying for the mistake of having five teams. Had there been only four teams, the best players of the fifth being distributed among the other teams, there would have been better ball It is to behoped that the error will not be repeated next season.

The Star wants H Huks, whose "body is Republican and heart is Home Rule" fired out of the Republican party. Huka is a delegate to the Republican convention, which meets Monday evening. Just for luck, we would like to see Huka read out of the g. o. p. He is the right bower of C L Crabbe, Chairman of the Republican Central Committee, in political work on the waterfront, and is the native head of Republican activity at Kalihi camp. To be rendered a dead beaver by his own friends would bring up something worth watching.

The Advertiser publishes a cablegram from Washington stating that Honolulu has been made a port of call for transports. It is assumed that a definite order has been issued requiring all transports to and from the Philippines to call here. Next comes the duty of the merchants. They must see to it that coal is supplied in any quantities and at the lowest possible figures. Reasonable prices must also be set upon other supplies. The War Department has shown a disposition to meet Honolulu half way and perfect faith should, by all means, be kept at this end of the line.

It is now plain that the Isthmian canal will figure conspicuously in the coming session of Congress. The rejection of the treaty by the Colombian congress will, in the opinion of many well informed men, open up the entire canal question for general discussion It is understood that Senator Morgan will insist upon changing the route and adopting the Nicaraguan line. It will be remembered by many that it was freely predicted by Senator Morgan and others who favored the Nicaraguan route that the adoption of the Panama route would result in failure and that it was also charged by some that the Panama route was advocated by a number of men who were really anxious to destroy the canal proposition altogether. There is no mistaking Senator Morgan's determination to push the Nicaraguan plan and it may not be doubted that he will be able to justify his position in a very substantial way.

Many of the signers of the stevedores' membership roll are neglecting to pay their initiation fees and dues, giving as a reason that the charter has not yet arrived and they should not be expected to pay until it is here. This an improper way to look at and treat the matter. The most important assurance of success in the venture is to be found in the presence of a healthy fund at the start. Every member should pay up and stick to it if the best results are to be attained. There must be no ready-to-halt business about it. Once on its feet the organization will be able to accomplish great things. The treasurer has consented to be at the hall between 4 and 5 this afternoon to receive and receipt for dues.

The ejectment case of the Kapiolani Estate vs. L A Thurston, et al, will come up for hearing in Judge Robinson's court at 2 p m Monday.

The Girl of To-day

will be the woman of to-morrow. She does not know it, perhaps her mother does not fully understand it, but between the "to-day" when she is a girl and the "to-morrow" when she will be a woman, her life's happiness and health are in the balance. If she is to be a full-breasted, strong, healthy woman she must develop rightly now. She is at a crisis. She needs more strength, more blood to tide it over. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the one medicine that will give her the strength and make the new blood.

Our new book, PLAIN TALKS TO WOMEN, explains why these pills are of special benefit to growing girls. A copy will be sent to any address, FREE on request.

Miss Frankie Hathaway, of Sixteenth Street, Holland, Mich, said: "I am 21 years old, at 16 I was pale and weak and did not gain under the doctor's care. Other treatment brought no better result and by the time I was nineteen years old I was so weak I could not walk across the floor. I was terribly emaciated and my skin had a set all color. The doctor pronounced the disease anaemia. One of my friends advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I bought a box and before I had taken all of the pills I found that they were doing me good. Appetite increased and the healthy color began to show in my cheeks and lips. I continued to use the pills until I had taken fifteen boxes and found myself permanently cured. Since then I have had no return of my old trouble and cannot remember when I was so strong and healthy as now. I know that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People saved my life, and I believe that no other medicine could have done it." — FRANKIE HATHAWAY. — Ottawa Times, Holland, Mich.

Look for the full name on the package. At druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. 50c. per box. 6 boxes $2.50.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

At San Francisco Collector Stackable has succeeded in having the rule, requiring the baggage of through passengers by steamers to be examined at Honolulu, rescinded. There has been a great deal of kicking on account of the regulation.

J W Erwin, who has been indicted by the grand jury of San Francisco for frauds in the Postoffice Department, is well known here. His stereopticon lectures on the grounds of the Hawaiian hotel some two years ago will be well remembered.

A large plate glass window in the second story of the Lewers & Cooke building was broken by a transom chain, that had suddenly parted, last evening, fell, crashed through the glass of the awning and was shattered on the sidewalk below. No one was hurt.

The following passengers arrived at Hilo by the steamer Enterprise Monday afternoon from San Francisco: Mrs J Mocine and daughter, Mrs Alice McKenzie and daughter, Mrs L Lyman and daughter, Mrs Tracy, Miss McCord, Dollie Sumner, Miss Stornier, Miss Esther Lyman, Miss Josephine Deyo, Miss Dillon, Miss M J Potter.

Gave the Wrong Date.

A copy of a pamphlet containing the "rules and regulations for administering oaths and holding elections" has been received from the office of the Secretary of the Territory. In glancing through it, a mistake is noticed in the certificate of the secretary, in that it states that "An Act to provide a government for the Territory of Hawaii" was "approved the 31st day of August, A. D, 1903. It should have been "approved the 30th day of April, A. D., 1900." But the mistake is not such as will invalidate the "rules and regulations," as they are the same as those used at the last general election.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

It is worthy of not that the class of persons that howled down the idea of licensing opium here some years ago now favor the same scheme in the Philippines.

We have information from Maui that Treasurer Kepoikai has taken the stump to save his party on his home island. That's what we call "offensive partizanship," Judge. Pehea kou manao?

Excellent Chinese music is made by a phonograph and megaphone from an upper window of the big store at Hotel and Smith streets. Hadn't Prof Berger better slash the salaries of the singing girls again and get this machine?

It is to be noted that a large majority of the Republican nominees on Kauai are white men, which would seem to indicate that the g. o. p. of that island have no use for the native Hawaiians. Perhaps, however, they will need them on election day and will find them turn up missing.

The complaint of the Trades and Labor Council to Delegate Kuhio against the employment of Asiatics on Quarantine Island seems to have justified by the facts and to have been timely. We have hesitated to give publicity to the matter, in the belief that Dr Cofer was a man in sympathy with the cause of citizen labor, and that there must have been a mistake somewhere. It turns out, however, that eight Japanese are employed directly by Dr Cofer on the island to do general lawn and other work. They are being paid $20 a month, with room and board. The work is light and would be a boon to many native and white citizens of the Islands.

Mr Testa knows too much about Maui to accept the Maui News' proposition to cultivate a farm there. The request was made that the farm, won in the bet in regard to Barger, be sent down to Honolulu, the calculation being that it could be turned into several crops of ballast for deep water ships.

The Republicans are figuring without their hosts in the Fourth District. They are banking a great deal on the vote of the mechanic, but as a matter of fact the mechanic has been frozen out and is not here. It would be comparatively an easy matter for the Home Rulers to pock ed the Fourth District if they so desired.

The robbery of John Walsh in the middle of Queen street opposite the Magoon block Saturday brings up again the horrible character of that neighborhood. It is purely and simply a nest of hoodlums and thugs of the worst type, and the police could not do better than to clean it out. It is a notorious fact that no man with a few dollars in his pockets is safe in the district. If the police do not clear up the thing some shooting may be resorted to.

It is understood that High Sheriff Brown is levying an assessment of $10 a piece on members of the police force for the Republican campaign fund. Surely the Republican mint has not been doing good work this year. But, how's that anyhow for politics? It is seldom that an official boldly squeezes his moderately paid employes for a campaign fund in his own behalf. The thing is hard on the men, is unfair and it smells bad.

The cut of the Pacific Mail Company on the freight schedule between San Francisco and the Orient shows what competition will do. Honolulu merchants have it in their power to cut the passenger rate between the Coast and the Islands. All that is needed is a chartered steamer to ply rapidly between the ports, with passenger fates fixed at $25 and $15, which would cover all expenses. Having the freight part in their own hands the vessel would have full cargoes both ways. By such an arrangement a reduction in passenger rates would be forced.

From Washington comes the announcement through a semi-official channel that Mr Roosevelt has no sympathy whatever with the Nicaraguan idea and that he has no intention of having recourse to that route. Walter Wellman, the Washington correspondent for the Chicago Record-Herald, who, by the way, has the habit of speaking for Mr Roosevelt, says that if the pending treaty finally and completely fails, Mr Roosevelt will look about for other means of acquiring the necessary rights at Panama. Mr Wellman says that a number of the president's advisers urge him bluntly "to take what we need." Mr Wellman says that probably there is not another first class nation in the world that would hesitate for a moment to seize the isthmus for the purpose of conferring upon it and the world the boon of a great ship canal connecting the two principal oceans of the world; and this Washington correspondent explains that "only mawkish sentiment and fine spun moral considerations stand in the way of the United States, and these obstacles are likely to be swept away if the little band of boodlers at Bogota continue to block the path of progress."

The announcement from the Japan Times that 5,165,000 yen, or nearly $3,000,000, had been sent from Hawaii to Japan in a year is particularly interesting reading at this time. Are the fearfully hard times to be wondered at when this little country is being bled to death in this way? Nothing else can be looked for. With Washington on one side sucking out $2,000,000 and Japan on the other drawing $3,000,000, every year, it would seem to be only a question of time when Hawaii will be on the "lifts" properly. And yet W F Dillingham, F M Hatch and other wealthy men go on employing Japanese to do their work, adding constantly to the volume of money that is being strained out of the Islands.

Upon leaving the place he started up Queen street toward town. When near South he was struck a terrible blow on the back of the right shoulder which knocked him down. Governor Dole gave another hearing yesterday afternoon to the applicants for the water in Kohala. After a somewhat heated discussion between the warring factions it was practically concluded that the following should be the terms upon which the leases there should be put up:

1. A term of fifty years, with intervening rests for readjusting of rental.

2. A rental consisting of a certain percentage of gross receipts, but not to be less than $2500 a year, for the first part of the term.

3. License to give rights only over public lands.

4. No tunnels to be allowed which would drain mountain swamps and thus endanger forest growth in dry seasons.

5. Right of ditching not to extend above the 4500 foot line, except where diversions might be necessary to the enterprise as technical surveys made apparent.

6. Protection of homesteaders and all others entitled to water from the mountains against deprivation of water rights and partiality of distribution.

7. Work to begin in one year, and bona fide delivery of water in four years.

8. An expenditure of, say, $500,000 within four years.

The barkentine Kaiulani arrived in port shortly after sundown last night, fifteen days from San Francisco.

The steamer Whittier got away yesterday afternoon for San Francisco with the Santa Paulo and the Fullerton in tow.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 15, 1903.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight, no doubt, at the Republican County Convention.

The cry of "home rule for territories," now being raised by the missionary press, would likely strike a responsive chord were it not for the fact the thstory is put forward purely and solely in the interest of George R Carter for governor.

It was like a "sweat-box" the room where the Republican Convention held forth last night. But the eager candidates for offices did not provide comforts for those who attended. Each of them might have hired rooms close by where refreshments might have been dispensed freely. How's that? Too-too!

It need not be a surprise if there is a bolt from the Republican party tonight. Feeling between the factions is very strong. The Fourth District claims the right of way on the strength of a majority of votes, while Fifth demands proper recognition. Although compromises are not improbable a bolt and two tickets are not outside the bounds of possibility.

The Home Rulers have the chance of their lives in the Oahu county election. A large section of the Republican party appreciates strongly the wisdom of eliminating party lines in favor of good men. This feeling is strong in the rank and file. The leaders of the party are divided, and the spirit of animosity is of such strength as to preclude harmony and united effort. The Democrats, as we understand it, will have no ticket but will support the best men put up by the other parties. It should, therefore, be the one aim of the Home Rulers in the convention next Monday evening to select good men. The material can be found. Let it be found.

Certain Republicans were inquiring last night why the Home Rulers did not hold their convention ahead of theirs in order that they might endorse certain nomigees of the majority party in case such should be deemed advisable. The answer is not hard to find. In the contest between factions of the Republican party feeling is running so high as to preclude the endorsement of any persons not in that party.

The morning press opines that "a missionary is as good as anybody else so long as he behaves himself." Granted-depending somewhat, however, on what our contemporary considers behaving himself to mean. If it means to unceremoniously hog it all, as in the past, we will feel obliged to differ. As a matter of fact it is impossible to conceive of a missionary "as good as anybody else" for the reason that he has not and can not "behave himself."

A friend of F M Hatch states that the Japanese employed to build that gentleman's cottages at Santa Soucl and to lay the tile floors were not under contract but were only employed by the day. The explanation is made by way of apology. It is then, something like the question of whether the rabbit jumped over the fence or merely hopped over it. The results to the citizen workingman looks, however, about the same.

Kauai Republicans have adopted a high flown memorial endorsing the administration of Governor Dole. The resolutions compose the best powder-and-ball imaginable for the Home Rule Democrats of the Garden Isle, if it is properly used. It was not a anticipated that the Republicans would be fool enough to make Dole an issue in the County elections; but it seems that on at least one island they have the back-bone to do it, and the bluff should not go uncalled for a single moment.

The Advertiser compares prices received for milk, butter, eggs and chickens here with figures for the same products in the East, and outlines that as an inducement for small farmers to come and settle here in the same line. Our contemporary does not reckon, however, on the great cost of land, as compared with the East; the ravages of tuberculosis among cattle, and the devastating diseases in the fowl yards. When owned up the dairyman and poultryman in Hawaii is at a notable disadvantage.

Senator Achi's point of order raised at last night's meeting of the Republican County Convention, we are of the opinion was well taken. Senator Crabbe, chairman of the Territorial Central Committee, paid no heed to the point raised and virtually ruled it out of order. The point raised was that the duties of Chairman Crabbe was only to call the meeting to order and then elect the temporary officers, upon whom would devolve the duty of proceeding to perfect the organization. But it was not so last night. Instead of this proceeding, Mr Crabbe began to be the dictator and autocrat of the convention by shielding himself behind the Central Committee. The County Convention is a distinct body in itself, free of dictation from the Territorial body.

There can be no possible objection to an increase in the member-

Republican Prognostications.

A certain gentleman of the legal fraternity and who claimed to represent the War Cry at last night's Republican county convention, who was seated at the press table, makes the following prognostications of the forthcoming nominations for county offices:

For Supervisors: M P Robinson, Jack Lucas, C Hustace, jr, Jno Ouderkirk, Jno C Lane, Jas H Boyd and E C Winston.

McClellan's Report.

Major John McClellan has reported favorably to Washington on the appearance and discipline of the National Guard of Hawaii. He recommends, however, that the old Springfield rifles be called in and that the new magazine arm be supplied the companies. Of Companies D and F special mention is made as follows:

Company D—This company made a very creditable showing at review and drill, marching steadily and showing a readiness to learn drill and improve. The captain is a German who evidently understands something about discipline, and will, if the opportunity affords, make a good company of this one. But he states that owing to the frequent rains and to the fact that they have no armory, or proper drill shed, at Hilo, he has but few opportunities for much drill or inspection. What is reported as a drill shed, he states, is a hall where they have meetings, but have not room for much drill.

Company F—This company is extremely well drilled in company drill, and presents a neat and soldierly appearance. This is the best and largest company in the regiment and marches extremely well.

Its discipline is shown by its only having six absentees from inspection.

This is one of the best drilled companies of national guard that I have ever seen anywhere.

Concert of Haydn Quartett.

Lovers of good, classical music had quite a treat last night, listening to a concert given by the newly organized Haydn Quartett. There were no brass instruments, no drums—only four simple string instruments—but the way they were handled made the audience forget all bands of the country. Selections composed by old masters as Haydn, Schubert and Beethoven were played and rendered in first class manner. The leader of the Quartett, Prof Joe Rosen deserves, certainly, loud praise for his effort, to organize the institution.

The concert was given in the home of Mr and Mrs Schoellkopf in Beretania street, and the applause after each selection was enthusiatic and well deserved.

The Quartett consisted of Prof Joe Rosen (1st violin), F C Freitas (2nd violin), F St Anna (viola) and S G St Anna (violin cello) Success to the Haydn Quartett.

REPUBLICANS IN CONVENTION.

In the Republican County Convention last night the following permanent officers were elected: A G M Robertson, chairman; Judge Hookano, vice chairman; B P Zablan, secretary; J A Gilman, treasurer; Isaac Cockett, sergeant-at-arms.

After the adoption of rules and platform the following nominations were made, other nominations being left over to 7:30 this evening: A M Brown, Sheriff; Harry Murray, Clerk; Isaac Sherwood, Auditor. Following is the platform adopted by the party:

The Republican party of the County of Oahu in convention assembled hereby makes the following declaration of principles to the support of which we and our candidates are pledged:

1. We proclaim our unswerving fealty to the traditions, policies and principles of the Republican party as promulgated in its National Platform, and in the platform of the Republican party of the Territory of Hawaii.

2. We endorse the strenuous and rugged honesty of President Roosevelt in his capable administration of public affairs, and his remark that "this Territory be developed along traditional American lines" meets with our hearty approval.

3. We recognize in Governor S B Dole an official of sterling worth and integrity, and we heartily endorse his administration of Territorial affairs.

4. We uphold the right of every lawful American citizen to cast one free vote, and to be eligible for any office in the gift of the people without regard to race, color or previous condition of servitude.

5. We favor a just and equitable taxation and a judicious expenditure of public monies.

6. We favor, as far as is practicable, the expending of all taxes collected in each district, upon public improvements within such district.

7. We favor a tariff and realize the necessity of such measures as will stimulate the condition of productive industry and business in our county, and we urge upon Supervisors the advisability of opening up new industries for the development of the county of Oahu.

8. We oppose all trusts, monopolies and corporation lobbies that would interfere with Republican policy or try to control prices or supply and demand.

9. We favor the policy of the Territorial administration in their efforts to secure from the National Congress appropriations for the improvement of our harbors, erection of public buildings and for other public needs.

10. We favor the policy of the Territorial administration in the efforts to secure Statehood.

11. We favor only qualified voters and those eligible to become such being employed on all public works.

12. The division of the Territory into Counties brings the administration of public affairs close to the citizens and in inaugurating the new system it must be the aim of the Republican party to give to all the people a thoroughly business administration, fitness being the only true criterion of political availability and Republicanism must mean capacity and honesty.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Now we suppose it will be in order for Sheriff Andrews to dock the salaries of the police of East Hawaii to pay the expenses of his campaign.

Sheriff Andrews, by some shaded, shady fluke, obtained the Republican nomination at Hilo for County Sheriff. It is well. It means that the Czar will end pretty sudden under a heap of political lava from which he will never emerge.

The Republican County Convention has gone on record as endorsing the Dole administration and we cannot see how it can fail to down a resolution condemning George R Carter, the latter being Dole personified. In endorsing Dole and Carter the Republican convention is playing directly into the hands of the people. Keep up the good work, gentlemen.

If a single boodler appears on the Republican County ticket it will be useless to ask the wealthy members of the party to put up a dollar for campaign expenses.—Advertiser.

The above translated into good English, reads as follows: "If a single person not belonging to the family compact appears on the Republican County ticket it will be useless to ask the wealthy missionary members of the party to put up a dollar for campaign expenses."

In its platform adopted last evening in Progress hall the Republican party formally endorsed the Dole administration. How many Republicans of this island fully coincide with the endorsement? We venture to say that a majority of the voters of the party do. The Dole administration has been a "comedy of errors," or, rather, a combination and embodiment of dimphoolery and dishonesty. If we are not greatly mistaken the Republican convention will find the Republican voter shying off the road from this plank in the platform.

If THE INDEPENDENT is anti-American, then the Advertiser is justly and highly famed as the organ of the anti-Hawaiian party. Yet we are not ashamed to be known as the organ of any party or of anybody as long as we are satisfied that we are making a good fight for a just cause.

And now it is to be known that THE INDEPENDENT is "the organ of the anti-American party." Since when, pray? Be it known that this paper is not "pledged to any party, sect or faction," as "it upholds the right and is fearless against all comers," and that, further, "its expressions are outspoken, without fear or favor."

There was some rascality in the success of Lorrin Andrews in securing nomination for county sheriff at Hilo. We are without details, at this time, to present the facts; but will have them and will then show just how the thing was done. In the meanwhile there is joy in the camp of the Home Rulers over the nomination of Andrews. They see in it the safe landing of their nominee, with votes to spare.

The Advertiser thinks THE INDEPENDENT is anti-American. As a matter of fact this paper is the only out-and-out American journal published in the English language in this city. It is fair and fearless, and under no circumstances does it lend itself to the money power nor to the selfish ends of any political party or faction. It condemns wrong and defends the right—leaving the "chips to fall where they may." Can anything be more American? The Advertiser is not able to toe such a mark.

The congestion of the schools brings out anew the fact that not enough money is appropriated for educational purposes. Nothing is more important in a community that aspires to be anything at all—than its public school system. Here in Hawaii, with the impediment of mixed languages, educational work is difficult and expensive. But with money every obstacle can be surmounted. A straight million dollars should be appropriated for educational work alone, with extra money for school houses, repairs, etc.

The Independent complains that eight Japanese are employed on Quarantine Island to do lawn and other work and adds: "They are being paid $20 a month, with room and board. The work is light and would be a boon to many native and white citizens of the Islands." If there is any native or white citizen who would take a yardboy job of the kind noted, and the Independent will hand in his name, the Advertiser will give his wants the benefit of free publicity. We have never yet seen a white yardboy and can scarcely remember to have seen a native one.—Advertiser.

Just what good "free publicity" would do a white or native voter out of employment and seeking work of the kind now being given by Dr Cofer to Japanese on Quarantine Island, is not hard to figure out. It means nothing. In its proposition THE INDEPENDENT is honest, earnest and game. If the Advertiser will contract to secure employment for Island (in place of the Japanese now working there) at $20 a month, room and board, we will agree to produce the men within twenty-four hours Now, come up.

The county attorney, whoever he may be and from whatever party he may come, should unquestionably be the strongest man it is possible to get. Upon his shoulders will devolve the important duty of steering the county ship clear of legal obstacles and ridding it of difficulties that are bound to come in the way. The man must be learned in the law, active and possessed of a determination that knows no such thing as failure. At the same time the county attorney should be a man thoroughly familiar with the country and the people. He should first of all understand the Hawaiian as well as the English language. No man having a knowledge of one of the languages alone could make himself wholly acceptable. The county attorney should either have been born here or be a kamaaina to fill the bill.

In attempting to set up that land in Hawaii is cheap; that tuberculosis in cattle is not more prevalent here than on the mainland, and that diseases among chickens of Honolulu are not more common and fatal than elsewhere in the United States, the Advertiser advances a proposition that is an interesting surprise to all old timers. It is a notorious fact that improved land can be purchased in any State of the Union, away from the big cities, for much less than must be paid for uncleared and untille land in Hawaii. Tuberculosis is a rarity, especially among stall-fed, or milk-giving cows. Hundreds upon hundreds of people have sent good money after bad in the effort to raise chickens and have invariably been obliged to give up on account of the diseases that prevail here. These facts may be corroborated at almost any hand.

Schools Overcrowded.

Schools of Honolulu are crowded to the very doors with pupils and a large number of children in the city are unable to get accommodations at all. The like of the rush was never known before and is really a little hard to account for. Of course the lack of the usual accommodations at the Royal school has something to do with it; but there seems to have been a tremendous increase during the year of children within the school age. Every first-class school in the city has had to turn away pupils.

BY AUTHORITY.

Notes of the Convention.

A motion by Achi to table the report of the minority, on being put to the test, was declared by Chairman Robertson that "the noes have it," yet their acclamation appeared to be very weak. The decision created lots of laughter.

Lorrin Andrews, the Territorial Attorney General, as a spieler, is no doubt a man after the hearts of many. He can "jaw" it, too, and none need forget it either.

Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, was noticed to be in the convention in the person of Delegate Geo F Renton, and may likely represent "the strenuous and rugged honesty" attributed to the principal. And then Rooseveltian Renton is capable of administering a large plantation and would be a candidate for county supervisor in the interest, mayhap, of such an institution.

S F Chillingworth made a cracker-jack of a temporary chairman. He did not know enough that a motion had been made nor when to put it, and at times took it for granted that it had been passed, as in the case of appointing a committee or tellers to collect ballots, and would appoint them, although a motion to that effect had been made and not put by him. And further, he is full of freaks and streaks, and that's Irish for anyone with a vengeance, and a mighty one at that, too.

Delegate and "Boss" Achi attempted to run a sharp practice. He moved that the clerk cast the vote for a permanent chairman, there being only one nominee (Judge Hookano) in the field, who had signed the oath according to the rules. But he was laughed out of all sorts by the others, for Alex Robertson's friends were not to be so easily caught napping, and it was found that Alex had also done the same thing. And the Senator subsided temporarily under such a strain.

Outsiders did more to down a motion by loud acclamations. This was more noticeable when a motion to take a recess without making nominations was made. Those for answered loudly, and those against did the same, yet the latter did not come from among the delegates, but rather from those in the back seats. If chairman Aleck had looked towards Johnny Walker and all those in the back row of chairs, he could easily have discerned them. Better check and rule them tonight—they are a nuisance!

Fujii Morita Brooks, the noted attorney, has called off the "prognostications" as published herein yesterday. He says that they are not exactly "on tap"

An Important Verdict.

The jury hearing the case of W W Ahana vs the Insurance Company of North America (which writes the New York policy), for insurance on a building burned by the Board of Health during the plague fires of 1900, returned a verdict late yesterday that will have an important bearing on a large number of cases of a similar nature. The jury's decision, which is self explanatory, is as follows:

"We, the jury in the above entitled cause, find for the defendant in view of the facts presented by counsel, more particularly the fact that the records of the Board of Health of the 10th of January, 1900, show that the resolution authorizing the destruction of block 9 was duly passed by a quorum of the Board of Health there assembled."

Hilo Candidates.

NOMINATIONS BY REPUBLICANS.

The Republican Convention held its third session last evening and, after considerable jockeying, elected a ticket to go before the people in November. As everything had been cut, dried, packed, sealed and delivered by the bosses in the afternoon the elections were merely a matter of form. There was one surprise, however—the election of Rawlins over Cathcart in the race for county attorney. In the afternoon the election of Cathcart was conceded by his opponents, but in the election Rawlins walked away from him handily. The vote stood: Rawlins, 65; Cathcart, 57; Sereno Bishop, 1. It is said that at the last moment the missionaries curdled on Cathcart because they found that he took "hard stuff" occasionally with his soda and sometimes went out with "the boys."

Chairman Robertson was in his place. Secretary Zablan officiated during the first part of the evening and Henry Peters the second half. Following is the ticket complete, as it will go to the voters in November:

Sheriff, A M Brown; Clerk and Recorder, Harry E Murray; Auditor, Isaac Sherwood; Attorney, W T Rawlins; Tax Assessor and Collector, J W Pratt; Treasurer, S E Damon; Surveyor, R N Boyd, Supervisors at Large: Geo F Renton, Mark P Robinson, John Lucas.

Fourth District Supervisors—J A Gilman, A Hocking.

Fifth District Supervisors—Frank Pahia, S C Dwight.

Maui Republicans.

The Republicans of Maui made the following nominations for county offices:

Supervisors—T T Meyers of Molokai, A N Haycelden of Lahaina, W H King of Wailuku, W F Pogue of Makawao, J K Iosepa of Hana.

Sheriff—L M Baldwin of Wailuku.

County Assessor—W T Robinson of Wailuku.

County Treasurer—F C Wittrock of Hana.

County Attorney—N W Aluli of Wailuku.

County Clerk—David Morton of Waiakos.

County Auditor—W A McKay of Wailuku.

County Surveyor—Hugh Howell of Hana.

The following were chosen as the Republican County Committee:

Second Precinct, D H Kahaulelio; Third, G H Dunn; Fourth, A T Searle; Fifth, selection to be made; Sixth, S Keliinoi; Seventh, H P Baldwin; Eight, J A Akona; Ninth, George Copp: Tenth, H E Kalama; Eleventh, W E K Kaai; Twelfth, W F Pogue; Thirteenth, M H Reuter: Fourteenth, J K Katoi; Fifteenth, Dr J H Raymond.

A resolution was adopted calling on President Roosevelt to appoint a resident of the Territory when appointing a successor to Governor Dole.

Hilo Candidates.

At Hilo yesterday East Hawaii county confirmed the nomination of Lorrin A Andrews for sheriff. Other officers were nominated, as follows: Supervisors: W H Lambert, E N Holmes, S G Walker, J Vierra and Stephen L Desha; Auditor, N C Willfong; Assessor, Geo H Williams; Treasurer, C A Stobie; Clerk, Norman Lyman; Surveyor, Tom Cooke; Attorney, W H Smith.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

If the members of the Republican Convention had lain awake of nights for a month on the proposition they probably could not have picked out a worse ticket than the one completed in the meeting in Progress hall last evening. In the ranks of the Home Rulers and Democrats the ticket seems to be regarded as a kind of joke or a half-sore for the full swing of a cartoon artist. With the Republicans, however, the matter seems to be taken more seriously, as the reality of the thing emerges from the clouds. How and why it was done, however, seems still to be a mystery, even among the more faithful, and their opinions find expression chiefly in dumb, latteral motions of the head.

"Swallow that ticket? Why, I'd rather swallow a box of rat poison," averred one leader of the g. o. p. And this sentiment seems to be general. The objections, however, are not the same, which should be encouraging in that it indicates some support to every name on the ticket. Some object to one name or one class on the ticket while others are to be found to fill the gap. As a rule, however, there is no general endorsement of the list, each Republican seeming to pick out a few of his friends, only to discard the remainder as no good.

It is not necessary to discuss the ticket in detail. All a man has to do is to read the names, and if he can digest them all, or even a fair proportion of them, he can cut out doctors, trained nurses and mineral waters will be our purpose to discuss the candidates of the Republican party in future issues. In the meanwhile it may be well for the voter to keep clear of the "policy" list.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Several times in the Republican primary campaign John C Lane side stepped from his followers and rubbed noses with W C Achi in a corner. That was the principal cause of the defeat of the young, political Napoleon, and he got it precisely where it belonged.

"Roosevelt" Renton, of Ewa, had better get the endorsement of the men working under him before attempting a rough-rider charge on the popular vote. At last accounts the men whom he seems to own body and soul were not overjoyed at his political aspirations.

The Advertiser bundles Dr Raymond, Garee, Taylor and Westbrook into a combination to exploit island beef and wonders if the project may not mean a reduction in prices. Nay, brother; the eleven hundred per cent profit must be paid until such time as Dr Raymond makes a dicker with another Wailuku Chinaman.

It is now up to the Home Rulers. All that is required is a ticket of the very best men obtainable. It will not be hard to select a list of men more worthy of the people's confidence than a majority of the Republican nominees. In this campaign the best man is going to win, and everything will depend upon the personnel of tickets.

The public could charitably forgive some of the asinine propositions of the Republican convention at Hilo were it not for the fact that the ticket put forward by that body is headed by Czar Andrews. If Hilo wants to go to a place that is spelled almost like it, we supposed that Oahu should have no kick coming But there is something queer about this Andrews bubble—something deuced queer.

The Hawaiian Star, which now seems to be the official organ of the Home Rule party, publishes the following list list of candidates to be put forward by that party: Sheriff, R W Wilcox; Clerk, D Kalauokalani, Jr; Attorney, Edgar Caypless; Tax Assessor, F J Testa; Treasurer, probable endorsement of S E Damon; Surveyor, R N Boyd, M D Monsarrat; Supervisors, J P Makainai, Curtis P Iaukea, J O Carter.

If the St Louis exposition officials and the central government have not the courtesy and decency to allow Hawaii a suitable place in which to make her exhibit, the Islands should decline altogether to take any part in the affair. It has been known by President Francis and his assistants for some months that the Hawaiian Legislature appropriated only $30,000 for the exhibit of this Territory. There was ample time and opportunity to arrange for the display in one of the Government buildings. But, no; States with votes in the Electoral College next year desired space, so Hawaii was crowded out. The only dignified and respectable course for the Territory to pursue is to demand space, and if it is not given to withdraw from the affair altogether.

In Cuba Candidate Gomez gets of one supervisor could undo the work and will of the other six. Among the questions to come before the supervisors will be that of saloon licenses and privileges. In the list of Republican nominees for supervisorship is the name of A Hocking, head of the Honolulu brewery and a man doing business with most of the saloons in town. His election would mean that the entire liquor business of Honolulu would fall into the hands of the Honolulu brewery. Hocking would be in position to give or to take away. He could command absolutely the beer business of every dealer. We do not say he would do so, but he could, and that's enough. Even if he did not, the suspicion that he had would be cropping up frequently enough to annoy even a man with an iron skin and an armored conscience.

Kissing the Babies.

Election time is comin' round,
And candidates are mincin'
They're stirrin' up the barrel o
Fer argyments convincin'
Some think they've got a winnin' crop
By plantin' little seedlets
Of spacious talk consarnin' how They'll work for public needlets.
But I'm convinced the man who gets
The ballots of the nations
Is he who sedulous devotes
Himself to osceriation!
You must buss 'em, and must muss
'em, and must toss 'em in the air;
You must smile upon their dear mammas and must seek 'em everywhere;
In your election deestrick, if you wish no point to miss,
Just gather up the dirty kids in one
tumulchus kiss!
There is ten mouths named Kahuane and seven O'Donohue;
The Ephsum Whites, five coral buds
in mugs of ebon hue;
Herr Blitzen, he will trot out something like "Drei oop" of kinder, too;
And "Maccaroni Mike" with joyous pride will show up twenty-two.
There'll be babies of all sizes—from Niihau to Punaluu;
And on their mugs be many things from ground soil up to glue.
But shut your eyes and kiss 'em all
if you are out for votes;
Kiss children, dogs and kittens, and shudder not at shoats,
For the man who does most kissin'
and does it with a grin
Is the gent who in November will find that he is in.

Notes of the Convention.

Chairman Robertson called attention last evening, after calling the convention to order, to those who were not members to sit clear of the places assigned for the delegates and to take up their seats in the rear. This shows that THE INDEPENDENT'S suggestion last evening was timely. It was plain from our notes of last evening that many took the hint and kept clear of the delegates, many sitting well back in the rear.

On being elected the previous evening, Secretary Zablan said that he was a man of few words and that he would do less talking but more work. Last evening showed that he was such, but his voice was not loud enough, yet he got there all the same.

After the convention, some bad blood was shown among some of the candidates who ran for offices and got left by relegation to private life. It is claimed by some that the goods were delivered and by others that they were not. The results showed that either were correct. But a tale may be yet told after the election is over, or may be, prior thereto.

Instead of a hot time being on, it was as cool as a cucumber. But the evenings have been close and sultry of late and the place was hot, but was much better than the sweatbox of the first evening.

Delegate Kalauinuaole has been a regular attendant at the meetings of the convention, taking great interest in the nominations.

Many of the candidates were on pins, knowing not whether they were [illegible]nominated. One of these was Senator Hocking, and when he received the nomination, he treated [illegible] to his Primo beer.

Those of the Fifth now know how easily they were duped by the fourth and vice versa, and more particularly by the haoles in both. Ross Achi scored a great success with Renton, his dark horse of the fourth hour. He also carried his ticket for Pahia and Dwight. The question is will they win out?

Lane and Boyd have been dumped and that by their supposed friends for Robinson and Renton. Two popular Hawaiians are done away with and this may cost the Republican party many Hawaiian votes. The tale will be told in a later edition how 'twas done.

Davis Withdraws.

The term summons in the suit of George A Davis, vs Hawaiian Gazette Company, Limited, claiming $5,000 damages for libel, came back to the office of the Circuit Court yesterday afternoon bearing the following endorsement:

"By instructions of plaintiff in the within entitled case, I hereby return the within summons on this 16th day of September, A D 1903, unserved on the Hawaiian Gazette Co, defendant herein.

CHAS F. CHILLINGWORTH,
"Deputy Sheriff.
"Honolulu, Oahu, Sept 16, 1903."

Now, This Is Sense.

The money spent on a Hawaiian exhibit at the Omaha fair was wasted.

The money spent for the same purpose on the Buffalo fair was more than wasted.

The money spent on transferring certain Hawaiian exhibits from Buffalo to Charleston was thrown away.

The money spent on a Hawaiian display at the Paris exposition might better have been used to buy cigars.

The money spent on an island exhibit at Osaki did not earn a dollar for the Territory.

Any little feature like an Hawaiian grocery display is lost amidst the vast aggregation of marvels at a world's fair. You see it as you see the surplus tumbler in a three ring circus, merely as a passing bit of motion in the midst of a great whirl of spectacular excitement.

When will Hawaii learn that a world's fair is the poorest possible place in which to display a little thing. The advertisement for Hawaii that tells is one which reaches a man where and when he has not a thousand other things to distract him, and lead him away from it.—Advertiser.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Now that the Turks have destroyed Kastoria we suppose the children will not cry for it any more.

If young Brewster really slandered his old uncle, it probably shows chiefly that he is getting used to the Honolulu climate.

The split-up in the British cabinet, which occurred yesterday, probably means a return of the Liberals to powers and a continuation of the policy of free trade on the most sweeping lines.

Democrats seem to fall into clover when they enter the Republic party. S C Dwight, Republican candidate for supervisor, was read out of the Democratic Central Committee only about two weeks ago.

The Republican Central Committee had better begin sharpening its bleeding tools. We charge nothing for the information that it will need all the loose money lying around in the County campaign.

The woods is becoming thicker and thicker with candidates. Of course all expect to get elected, but back of it all is a tale. The demand for cracked ice and digitalis the morning after election may tell it.

The election candidates for supervisors in the Republican convention Wednesday evening showed that the delegates were playing for a campaign fund in place of popular or fit men. Some of the nominees are notoriously unfit and, with possibly one exception, all are unpopular. They will rely upon their dollars to take them over the line and the Republican party hopes that this money influence will carry other candidates over But will the voter and tax-payer, who is earnestly seeking honest and competent government, be swayed by any such power?

It is reported that some of the missionaries are sore over the work of J A Gilman in the Republican convention. They say that he was pledged to boost Hustace and then went back on him. Can it be possible

A prominent Republican on Wednesday evening gave this somewhat remarkable reason for supporting A Hocking for the office of supervisor: "You see, if he is nominated the campaign committee will get all the beer it wants free of charge, which will be a big item." Well, well, well! Booze vs. business capacity; beer vs. brains.

The propective Home Rule ticket, published in another column, carries some strong names. It is to be noted that party lines have been crossed and several Democrats proposed. Sizing them up man after man it will be observed that all the citizens of integrity and that all have hosts of friends that will work like beavers for them.

A man may not possess the business capabilities of a dead pit jellyfish, but if he stands in with the Dole "family compact" the road to office is always open to him. The office of surveyor to the Torrens land court is a most important one and should be filled by a thorough, up to date man. But any old moss-back suits Dole, so long as he belongs to the ring.

John Ouderkirk, one of the best men suggested by the Republicans for supervisor, was deliberately thrown down in the convention. Being one of the most prominent contractors of Honolulu and a thorough business man in every respect his presence on the Board of Supervisors would have added immense strength to it. But, no; what the convention was after was men that could be held up for campaign expenses. The voter, however, may prove a little more exacting.

The Home Rulers are quietly prosecuting the most vigorous campaign in the history of the party, as the report elsewhere of meetings held this week will show. All of the meetings have been largely attended and enthusiasm has invariably run high. With the combination between them and the Democrats, which now seems practically assured, success is next to certain. This week's tremendous strokes for the good will be followed by greater ones next week, to be kept up until after the election.

The Republicans unquestionably slipped up in their choice of a candidate for County Attorney. When the new system goes into effect legal tangles of many kinds will have to be straightened out and vexatious questions will arise at every hand. The County Attorney will be the buffer during this critical period, and it stands to reason that there should be in the position the very strongest lawyer available. The personality of the Republican nominee is not objected to. He simply has not ability, born of education, training and experience to fit him for the place.

Home Rule Meetings.

Meetings have been held by the Home Rulers in different precincts of this county during the past few evenings. On Tuesday the meeting was at the residence of J W Bipikane on Kuakini road. Among those who spoke there were: Col C P Iaukea, J H Wise, J M Poepoe, Edgar Caypless, R W Wilcox and J W Bipikane. The meeting was most enthusiastic.

At Kalihi Camp on Wednesday evening, where nearly the same speakers addressed those assembled, the same show of enthusiasm was manifested and prevailed throughout the whole time occupied by the meeting.

Last evening, at the residence of L W P Kanealii in Kakaako, quite a gathering of the Fourth District delegates met in an open meeting. Speeches were delivered by Col C P Iaukea, Jno H Wise, C Wilcox, D Kalauokalani, jr, and others and were enthusiastically received. It is understood that they have endorsed the following as their candidates to present to the forthcoming convention, which was to come together next Monday, but has been postponed till called by the President:

Supervisors-at-large: J O Carter, J H Boyd, D Kawananakoa and C W Booth.

Supervisors: C J McCarthy and J O Carter jr.

Auditor, C Wilcox; Sheriff, R W Wilcox; Assessor, C P Iaukea; Clerk, D Kalauokalani jr; Attorney, Edgar Caypless.

To Register Warrants.

On account of the lowness of moneis of money in the Treasury, the Treasurer has decided to have all warrants issued registered, the same to bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum. This afternoon, the following notice was sent by Treasurer Kepoikai to the different banks:

"I beg to call your attention that I am now registering the Government Warrants, under Section 26, Act 39 of the Session Laws of 1898, which bears interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum from the date of registration, under the provisions of said law; and which would be called in for payment not latter than November 20th next. And further that the same would be received in payment of taxes."

Republicans Alarmed.

There is genuine alarm in the ranks of the Republicans today over the County election prospects. The most enthusiastic of them have begun to view the situation with anxiety, and in some quarters there is all but dismay. A principal cause of it all is dissatisfaction in the ranks over the ticket put forward. Almost every Republican objects to some part of it and many object to nearly all of it.

Of the candidates from the Fifth district it is now almost conceded that Renton cannot be elected. He will poll heavy with the plantation people in the Fourth district, but that and kindred facts will kill him with the average voter. It is believed that he will be snowed under in the Fifth district. Sam Dwight is not believed to be popular enough to create much of a ripple, and Frank Pahia could be beaten by a good man.

Mark Robinson is admittedly the strongest nominee from the Fourth, and will be hard to defeat. Gilman is not in touch with the masses and it has developed, from general street gossip, that he is actually unpopular among his own people. A fairly good man against him would make his candidacy look like 30 cents. Hocking hardly has the ghost of a show. The more the voters think of his candidacy the more are they disgusted with it. The opposition to him, which was stubborn and determined from the first, is growing hourly and promises to sweep a few things before it.

Talk of an understanding between the Home Rulers and Democrats, which may be reached between now and Tuesday, increases the alarm among the Republicans. There is also a threatening prospect of a citizens bolt from the g. o. p. ranks.

Baker Was Ousted.

The men sent up to Kona by the Board of Education to oust David K Baker from land claimed by the department succeeded in their mission. They went to the house under arms about 9 o'clock at night and ordered him out. He consented to leave the next morning, so was allowed to remain until then. Baker came to Honolulu this morning to take steps for the protection of his interests.

Captain Rodman will be expected back from San Francisco by one of the steamers arriving next week.

A caucus of the Seventh precinct delegates, Fifth District, will be held tomorrow noon at Home Rule headquarters.

Charles Wilcox, formerly a Republican, has become a Home Ruler. He took the oath of party fealty yesterday afternoon.

Treasurer Kepoikai returned by the Mauna Loa this morning, after doing partisan politics and attending to private business on Maui.

ANOTHER SCANDAL AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 5:

It will be remembered that at the beginning of the Postoffice Department investigation the Postmaster General, Mr Payne, said with a lofty air that there was "nothing in it," and dismissed all the charges of ex-Cashier Tulloch with disdain. Well, the general public now knows how much there was in it, and the deeper they dug into the muck heap the nastier it got. The Postoffice Department investigation is now nearing the end and the report of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow will soon be ready for the public, but the chances are that the general public will soon forget all about the Postoffice matter because it will be entertained with another investigation that is now about to be pulled off, the noise of which will reverberate from Tadmor-in-the-wilderness to Yuba Dam. It is now up to the Interior Department to take a turn at the investigation grindstone, and the storm center of this investigation will be in the Indian Territory. Mr Hitchcock, the Secretary of the Interior, had no idea, when he summarily dismissed from office without a hearing Mr Clarence B Douglas, a clerk in the land department of the Indian Agent's office at Muskogee, that the situation down there was loaded with dynamite. I have known Clarence Douglas ever since we were barefooted boys together in 1875, and there is no man of higher character or cleaner manhood in the Indian Territory or anywhere else. He is not the man to rest under an imputation against his honor, and he has proceeded to get busy. He demanded a hearing, and a recitation of the reasons for his dismissal. He cared nothing for the measley job, but he wanted justice. He has got nothing, and now there are whole gobs of trouble pestering the Secretary of the Interior. The dismissal of Douglas was the signal gun that started the ruous. Douglas is a fighter from the headwaters of Bitter Creek, and is camping on the trail of the man who is at the bottom of a whole lot of the nastiness in the Indian Territory, like a hungry coyote camping on the trail of a corpulunt jack rabbit. He is now in Washington, where he is well known, and stands high among the newspaper men, in the fraternity of which he is an honored member, and he has been cutting loose a lot of facts anent the Indian Territory situation that has blown the cap off the crater and let daylight into some corners that some people hoped never would be uncovered. The newspaper boys are printing what Douglas says because they know he knows what he is talking about, and they also know that he will not lie. He has been interviewed not only by the local papers here but by the correspondents of papers in St Louis, Kansas City, and nearly all the big New York dailies. I saw Douglas and talked this matter over with him. What he said to me about it is substantially as follows: "It is only just to say that Mr. Hitchcock is honest and that he is doing what he believes to be for the best interests of the people of the Territory. The trouble is that he is afflicted with a serious case of too much J George Wright, and it is a question if any satisfactory results will ever be attained by the Interior Department in the management of Territory affairs so long as Mr Wright officiates as the white Czar, defacto governor and personal poobah of

AN ANTI-AMERICAN PAPER.

The Advertiser is an anti-American paper, if there is such a thing anywhere in the land over which the flag of the United States floats. Ever and anon it raises its eyes to heaven, like a dying calf, and solemnly avers its Americanism, and the next morning knifes the American workingman in the back in the interest of the Japanese coolie. It bays to the public for purity in politics, and presses down with its heel upon the men that make politics pure. It proclaims far and wide an invitation to the small farmer to come, and encourages social conditions in Hawaii that will make the life of the honest tiller of the soil intolerable. On the Fourth of July it shouts itself hoarse for the flag, and on the fifth resumes a policy that will eventually leave Old Glory to float over a few wealthy planters, a remnant of Hawaiians that have been crushed to earth and a seething mass of Japanese coolies. Referring to the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last evening, which was attended by nearly a thousand native and white citizens and voters to voice a reasonable protest against the inroads of Japanese coolies, it says:

Hawaii has a distinct interest in this matter as we have among us a Russian walking delegate—living luxuriously at the best hotel and representing the "American" Federation of Labor—who says that his organization will stop the coming of Japanese field hands here and compel the Territorial planters either to employ white men — who refuse to do plantation work — or negroes, who would visit us with the danger-

This brings the prevailing issue to a local head and shows us the kind of provocation which is ranging American citizens on the Mainland into ranks of self defense.

This is a distinct and direct slap in the face to every citizen workingman in this Territory, and a warning to any others that may have it in mind to come. The Advertiser plainly charges that the citizen laborer is an agitator, a trouble-maker and is no good, and endeavors to prejudice the public against him. The hoodlum negroes brought down here by the Advertiser crowd from the crap joints of Southern cities are used as a means with which to discredit the honest and industrious citizen workingmen of the city. In the same breath the anti American paper takes occasion to urge the necessity for having more Japanese.

The devil in the thicket is brought to view. The Advertiser is working to make this country one purely of master and servant. Its policy followed out will in a very few years lead to just that. In fact it has already driven seventy-five per cent of the skilled labor of the Islands from the country, and others are leaving as fast as they can get away. Continuing in the same manner it will be only a question of time when the sugar barons in their mansions will be lords supreme and beneath them will be their hordes of Japanese to do their bidding. The native will have been crushed into a corner and down forever. Americanism will have departed. The Advertiser,the organ of the sugar kings and the Japanese coolies, will have triumphed.

It seems to us that in the fight for the Americanization of the Islands, as against Asiatics, the start should be made upon the serpent head of anti-Americanism — the morning press.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The anti-mosquito measures are working well in many parts of the town. A marked decrease in the volume of the mosquito nuisance is noticed by the night workers in the Advertiser office. Formerly when most down-town lights went out,the insects rallied in swarms about those burning in the editorial and composing rooms of this paper. Now only a few stragglers come.—Advertiser.

A better theory is that even the mosquitoes have become disgusted with the Advertiser's political policy.

Any person doubting the determination of the citizen working man to oppose the encroachment of coolies upon the standard trades should have been present at the great meeting in the hall of the Trades and Labor Council last evening. In that assembly were hundreds of natives and whites, men skilled in almost very trade and mechanical pursuit. Enthusiasm ran at the highest point all through, but especially during the splendid address of Edward Rosenburg. Every time the speaker ventured encouragement to the citizen workmen in the present life-and-death struggle against the Asiatic,the applause was tumultuous fairly shaking the building. Mr Rosenburg's address fell upon good ground, and will bear fruit. The citizen workingmen are together and they must and will stand together.

Public attention was recently attracted to an imposing incident that took place at Ocean Bay. The combined squadrons of the United States navy were assembled in order, as the Washington correspondent for the New York World puts it, "to make a holiday for President Roosevelt, his family, and a few invited friends." The World correspondent says that the bringing of the ships to the President's summer home involved the expenditure of a large amount of public money amounting almost to a quarter of a million dollars and all for the purposes of providing a holiday for the President,the members of his family and his guests. The World correspondent says: "Naval officers are especially critical and point out that Oyster Bay meeting resulted not only in valuable loss of time to the squadron, which was interrupted for one whole week in the summer manoeuvre, but also in serious damage to several of the ships and small craft. During the review 2,304 shots were fired from the six-pounders. The cost of the saluting charge of a six-pounder is 40 cents."—The Commoner.

REGATTA EVENTS IN THE HARBOR.

Honolulu's population has crowded the boat houses, wharves and deck of ships in port to witness the regatta events of today. A general holiday is being observed so that almost everybody was able to turn out in the forenoon. The band played in the Pacific Mail wharf during the morning, and this afternoon will serenade from the deck of the tug Eleu. Both the Myrtle and Healani boat clubs have kept open house to their friends. Dancing, refreshments and the other incidentals of a jolly, good time have been the order. The aquatic sports began at 9:30 and will conclude about 5 o'clock. Better weather than has thus far prevailed could not be desired.

In the six-oared gig race Prince Cupid's boat was an easy victor in 24 minutes.

The prettiest race of the morning was the senior barge, won by the Healanis by a distance variously figured from three feet to half a length. The boats held well together from the start, though the Healanis rounded the buoy slightly ahead. On the home run it was a neck and neck race. Time, 13:10 1-5.

In the Freshmen barge race the Myrtl s had decidedly the best of it, maintaining the lead throughout and finishing in 11:47 4-5 to the Healanis 11:49 2-5.

In the tug-of-war contest sampans 2 and 4 won in 3:44.

The yacht races started on time. At noon La Paloma was ahead in the first class event. The boats will begin to return about 2 o'clock.

Nervous Debility

is often one of the most distressing after-effects of the Grip. It may also be caused by overwork, worry, mental strain or excesses of almost any nature. Whatever the cause, a debilitated nervous system means that the nerves lack nutrition. Feed the nerves and life will renew its joys for you.

The best nerve food, and the most valuable tonic (because it both builds up the blood and strengthens the nerves) is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Hundreds of worn-out, depressed men and women have been made strong-nerved, ambitious, energetic and healthful by this remedy.

Among the well-known men of the newspaper profession is F. J. Lawrence, of 455 Fourth Avenue, Detroit, Mich., who for the past eleven years has been at his desk every day. He says:

"At one time I was in such a condition that my physician said I would have nervous prostration; that I would have to stop newspaper work or I would go to pieces if I persisted in doing it, as I was destroying what nerve force I had left. I lost flesh and had a complication of ailments which baffled skillful physicians. An associate recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and I gave them a trial. I can't say that I received any benefit from the first box, but derived very good results from the second. They gave me strength and helped my shattered nerves so that I could get a full night's rest.

"A great deal of pain in the small of the back I attributed to a derangement of the kidneys. For this complaint Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People worked wonders. Soon after I began taking them regularly, the pain ceased, and I felt like a new man.

"I am greatly encouraged from the results of using a few boxes and am confident that the pills will work a complete restoration of my former condition."—From Evening News, Detroit, Mich.

Tomorrow afternoon's concert by the band will be at the Palace grounds.

The Mohican and Amelia arrived yesterday from San Francisco and Eureka, respectively. Both have cargoes of lumber.

Sung Lung by his attorney, J Alfred Magoon, has discontinued his action for fire loss against the Insurance Company of North America.

Two Japanese who arrived here on the Peking and were rejected on account of physical disabilities were returned to their homes by the Gaelic.

Judge Robinson allows the defendant in the damage suit of Robert Fuller vs Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co ten days more wherein to file its bill of exceptions.

Prof Alexander, Ed Towse and others addressed the Hawaiian Historical Society at the meeting held last evening. S M Ballou and Dr C E Camp were elected to membership.

The slander suit of Francis Brewster against his nephew, J W Brewster, was compromised and settled out of court yesterday. It is said that the financial consideration was not large.

Miss Melaine Afong, youngest daughter of Mrs Julia Afong, and J W W Brewster, of New York, were quietly married yesterday afternoon and sailed by the Gaelic at 5 o'clock for the Orient.

Charles F Paterson, commissioner in the foreclosure suit of Lunalilo Estate Trustees against H W Schmidt, has made his report of sale. Including a balance of $83.50 on rent account he returns a balance of $23,961.25.

Castle & Cooke and Brewer & Co have already chartered thirteen vessels for carrying sugar around the Horn next year. Altogether the sailing ships under charter have a capacity for 44,000 tons of sugar. They are as follows: Luzon, 2100; A G Ropes, 4000: S P Hitchcock, 3400; Hawaiian Isles, 3700; Nuuanu, 1700; John Ena, 4800; Tillie E Starbuck, 3200; Fort George, 3000; C S Bement, 3200; Foohng Suey, 1800; I F Chapman, 3400; Wilscott, 3800; Aryan, 3500; Helen Brewer, 2800. Total, 44,000.

Special Registration.

In the Fairchild case on Kauai, Judge Hardy has ordered the registration board to sit, as shown by the following wireless message:

Nawiliwili, Kauai, Sept 18—Judge Jacob Hardy of the Fifth circuit court has granted the writ of mandamus prayed for by George Fairchild, to compel W G Smith, Charles A Rice and W G Sheldon, members of the board of registration, to sit for the purpose of registering voters for the county elections who were not registered at the sessions of the board held prior to the Territorial elections of 1902.

The petition for the writ was originally addressed to Chief Justice Frear, who declined jurisdiction and remitted the matter to Judge Hardy early this week. If not appealed, or if appealed and sustained by the Supreme Court, Judge Hardy's decision will no doubt start the registration ball rolling throughout the Territory.

Claimant Wins.

In the fire insurance suit of Kwong Lee Yuen Co, vs Manchester Fire Insurance Co, being one of the Chinatown fire cases, the jury yesterday afternoon rendered the following verdict:

"We, the jury in the above entitled cause, find for the plaintiff in the sum of seven hundred and fifty dollars with interest at the rate of 6 per cent from March 21, 1900, to date, $157.25 (one hundred and fifty-seven and 25-100), making a total of $907.25 (nine hundred and seven and 25-100 dollars)."

TO ENTER THE FIELD.

The Democratic Party Decides to Make Contest for Supervisors.

A meeting of the Democratic Central Committee was held last night at Waverley hall, the attendance being large, either in person or by proxy. Resignations from E B McClanahan and Charles Creighton were received, read and accepted.

Vice-Chairman Turrill, who presided, on being requested, stated the object for which the meeting was called, that is, whether the party will take an active part in the coming county elections or not. An expression of opinion was asked from all those present, the concensus of which was that the Democratic party should go into the contest with regard only to putting in a ticket in the field for supervisors. It was shown that the Home Rulers had shown a disposition to concede a certain proportion of supervisors to the Democrats, and it was also further shown that there was a possibility of a chance to elect one or more, but the nominations must be made by Democrats and to be endorsed by Home Rulers later.

The final outcome was the decision of confining their efforts solely to the supervisors. Col McCarthy is likely to be one of the candidates for the Fourth. J O Carter Jr, has been mentioned as one, but it is understood that he will not consent. For the purpose of ratifying the committee's action, it was also decided to call a Democratic mass meeting for Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, at Waverley hall, and if the recommendation of the committee is acceptable, then nominations for supervisors will be in order.

Vacancies in the committee, three in number, have been laid over to some future time. So was also with the election of a chairman. The meeting lasted over two hours when it adjourned over to Monday evening next.

Rosenburg Entertained.

Edward Rosenburg, the labor leader now here, was tendered a reception by the workingmen of Honolulu last evening in the large hall of the Trades and Labor Council on Alakea street. Every seat in the big place was filled by native and white mechanics and scores more stood at the rear of the hall. The formal part of the reception was entered upon about 7:30 and had continuance until after 10, when informal discussion and interchange of opinions on labor matters began. The evening's program abounded in features of the most interesting character, and from the valuable data in regard to labor conditions here and elsewhere was gleaned by all. During the evening sandwiches and refreshments were served throughout the big audience, and these essentials to such occasions were followed by cigars and cigarettes.

The principal event of the evening was the address of Mr. Rosenburg, in whose honor the reception was given. In a running speech of perhaps an hour's duration he reviewed labor conditions on the mainland, in the Philippines and in the far East, and contrasted those conditions with the local situation. In an interesting and accurate manner the speaker summed up conditions on the Hawaiian plantations, as he had formed them, and also detailed to his audience the facts of the competition of Asiatics in the trades. He urged a united front against the coolie in all mechanical pursuits, and pointed out that reliable plantation negroes could be obtained to supplant the Japanese in the cane fields. He told where and how they could be obtained, and also showed that on account of their superior working qualities, they would prove a far more profitable class to the planters than Asiatics.

The address was listened to with intense interest. Applause was frequent and spirited.

After the talk the audience gathered around Mr Rosenburg to thank him for his instruction and to wish him success in his future work for the laboring classes.

the administration in that country. As the official iceman for a north pole supply company, Inspector Wright would be a frozen success, his presence alone being sufficient to prevent loss to stock by a rising temperature. He has administered misinformation to the Secretary in large alopathic doses, and the Secretary acting on this, has made himself very ridiculous at times. Until there is a radical change in the management of affairs there will be no relief for the six hundred thousand people in the Indian Territory from the deplorable conditions existing at this time. From information received since I have been in this city my opinion is a radical change is imminent and that the pulse of the people of the Territory will no longer be taken from the wrist hitherto used for this purpose. With almost a thousand appointees placed by the Secretary on the recommendation of the House and Senate members having in charge all Indian legislation, it can readily be seen what opposition a Territory man must encounter in his effort to secure congressional action, for any change means that some pet of a congressman loses a job, and that is the milk in the cocoanut. The remedy for the present situation is an act of Congress providing for a delegate from the Indian Territory elected by the people to legislate for the people, and the complete abolition of the carpeting regime."

TURKISH AFFAIR A ROOSEVELT GRAFT.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 5:

Chairman James M Griggs, of the Democratic Congressional Committee, was in this city and the last and the first question he asked on his arrival here was: "Has the President left for Turkey yet?" That seems to be the question uppermost in the minds of nearly everybody since the action of the President in sending our warships to Turkish waters on the strength of a cablegram, which afterwards proved to be incorrect, that our vice-consul had been assassinated. He has acted with his customary head-long, head-strong precipitancy which may involve the country in endless trouble and expense. There is no man who tries to defend the "unspeakable" Turk and his methods, but the business interests of the country are entitled to some consideration from the man who occupies the highest position in the nation, and to those interests he gives no thought at all. He is looking for the limelight, and he wants to stand in it at all times or else he is not happy. Things have not been happening fast enough to suit him lately, and he intends to make them happen in order to attract the attention of the general public to himself and his personality. He knows that he does not stand well with a certain coterie of United States Senators; he has already surrendered to the so called "standpatters" on the tariff question after all his brag and his bluster about how he will demolish the trusts by reducing certain schedules; he has antagonized the Grand Army of the Republic by his treatment of General Miles; he has acquired the enmity of all the officers of the army by his boosting of General Leonard Wood over the ir heads, and he has been put to it to find something that would relieve him and again place him before the public in something like a decent attitude and attract the plaudits of the people. In these straits, he has gladly seized on this Turkish matter as something that would rehabilitate his fallen fortunes and place him once more enrapport with the people. There is no telling how far he will go with this thing, nor what will be its outcome. If the people knew the man as we do here in Washington, they would not be surprised at any action on his part. There are some things you can't say about a man because he is the President of the United States, but some day the truth will be told. Look out for business snags.

A good many of the warm administration organs have, with great frankness, been discussing the possibility and propriety of seizing the strip of land through which it is proposed to build the Panama Canal. They argue that if Colombia will not grant the concession that the United States cannot afford to be balked from the great enterprise by the

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

So former Democrat J. C. Quinn may be made chairman of the Republican county committee. Verily politics make strange bedfellows!

Eight hours is considered a day's labor by all decent workingmen and all fair-minded employers. One hour or one minute over that time is more than a day. If Peter High does not know that, the sooner he learns it the better for him.

In the convention to be held this evening the Democratic party will have an important duty to perform. First of all, the nominees should be Democrats of the purest, truest stripe. Their loyalty to party and party principles should be absolutely unquestioned. Next, the candidates should be pledged on the labor proposition. They should be made to pledge their efforts in every possible way against Asiatic labor and in favor of the citizen workingman. That platform is proper and will prove a winner.

In big "caps" the Sunday Advertiser flourishes the small farmer as a valuable acquisition to Hawaii. All of that is admitted. The small farmer is a good thing wherever he goes or is, provided he is able to succeed in his vocation. Can he succeed here? Our answer is "No". Is it, then, fair, honest and right to men of a newspaper to encourage him to come and risk his hard-earned savings upon a proposition that is ten to one against him? For more than fifty years experiments have been made in the Islands in small farming. Save for a little green corn and a few raxor-backed shoats in Kula, Maui, a crop of watermelons, stringy okra, cucumbers and cut-worms at Waihiawa, some coffee (at a loss) and cabbages at Waimea, no success has ever been made out of the numerous experiments. It is a delightful banquet table (?), indeed, to which the Advertiser invites the small farmer!

Huka, the ousted Home Rule executive committeeman, is not the only wayward one that had a seat in the late Republican convention. There was another, Geo. K. Kala by name, beside many others. And there were Democrats, too, probably a score or more of them who composed that body.

Sheriff Andrews seems to have received the unanimous endorsement of the Hilo Republicans in the face of the fight which a portion of the Honolulu and Hilo press made against him.—Advertiser.

And how? People of East Hawaii tell a story of this affair that does not savor well for the Czar. In other words, the nomination of Andrews was made possible by intimidation and fraud. The voters are yet to be heard from.

Citizen workingmen of Honolulu should not for one moment forget the fight that is being made by the Advertiser and the ruling men of the Republican party against them, and in favor of Japanese labor. At the coming county election it is the manifest duty of every mechanic to oppose by his influence and ballot any nominee supported by the morning press. This must be a country of native and white citizen workingmen, or a country of coolies. The Advertiser is working for the latter. What is YOUR choice?

Did you see Commodore Henry E. Cooper in his "private yacht" last Saturday? Well, it was a corker. To explain, the tug Eleu was ostensibly loaned by the Government to the Regatta Committee for the day. When she was ready for duty Cooper appeared, at the head of a procession of ladies whom he desired to treat to a ride. They took charge, and Cooper played the gallant for the next several hours. All were loud in their praises of the hospitality of the Commodore—at Government expense. "Ray for Cooper!"

Dr. Mays hits the nail on the head when he says that the insane asylum—if there is to be a new one—should be located away from peopled localities. Excitement is the worst thing imaginable to a disordered mind, and the bustle of life is invariably the cause of excitement. It is quite true that asylums have been maintained in a satisfactory way in cities of America and Europe; but as a rule the best results have come from quietude and environment devoid of all things calculated to arouse the nerves. The site in Waialua, and perhaps the one at the head of Palolo valley, may meet the requirements in this important regard.

Chairman Crabbe's letter to the different Republican conventions of the counties, urging the passage of a resolution endorsing George R. Carter for the Governorship, fell upon unresponsive ground. Only in West Hawaii, the smallest of the counties, was the resolution adopted and there its passage was purely the result of intimidation by the bosses. East Hawaii, Maui and Kauai failed to entertain the resolution, while in Oahu county, which contains nearly one-half of the voters of the Islands, the sponsors of the resolution got cold feet and did not introduce it at all. The result summed up should be satisfactory to the people. It was plainly shown that Carter has not enough friends, even in his own party, to secure for him as small a thing as a complimentary endorsement.

For the edification of the Maui News: The Independent cheerfully admits that Maui lands are all that could be desired for the cultivation of sugar. That, however, does not affect the proposition of small farming, save in a negative way. What is desired from Maui is proof that anyone has ever made a success in small farming. We are perfectly aware of the raising of Portuguese beans, potatoes, nubbins and pigs in Kula and of some success by Mr. Starkey in battling with the cut-worm and Japanese beetle at Kaupo. But we want something that can at least pass for a success.

James B. Castle, George P. Castle and officials of the Rapid Transit Company were instrumental in having the trees moved from the Castle premises, next to the beach home of the late Charles L. Carter, in Waikiki, to the residence site of J. B. Castle beyond Sans Souci. The work was done by Japanese under the supervision of Carl Willing, the expert gardener, but upon direction of George P. and James B. Castle. On the property there is being erected an aquarium, supposed to be a semi-public institution. All the work heretofore has been done by Japanese and the work there is still being done by Japanese. The public may draw its own conclusions.

Card of Thanks.

The relatives and friends of the late Mrs Margaret Fehlbehr desire to express their thanks to those who extended sympathy and floral tributes to them in their recent bereavement.

The railway depot is to be moved back near King street and train shed 45 feet wide and 400 feet long will be erected on the site of the present station. Work will begin in a few days.

In Saturday's baseball games the Elks won from the Mailes by a score of 9 to 7. The Kamehamehas made 4 to 3 over the H A C's, leaving the former almost certain champion of the season.

The funeral of the late Mrs Margaret Fehlbehr took place from the undertaking parlors of H H Williams at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

In the suit of Kapiolani Estate vs W R Castle, et al, Judge Robinson has signed a decree giving plaintiff immediate possession of the property in question. The original suit was one in ejectment.

Members of the Government and the Board of Health went down the railroad yesterday to examine about 1000 acres of public land beyond Waialua thought to be good for a site for the new insane asylum.

The Myrtle and Healani boat clubs had a dance and general good time in the roof garden of the Young hotel Saturday evening. Prior to the dance the Myrtles had a banquet in the main dining hall.

James Dougherty, who will wed Miss Sara Robertson on Wednesday evening was given a farewell-to-bachelordom dinner at the Young hotel Saturday evening. Robert Shingle was toastmaster and there were about twenty-one hosts in the merry little party.

Company F returned to Honolulu by the steamer Maui about 6 o'clock Sunday morning and made a fine appearance as they marched up Alakea and King streets, at trail arms and right shoulder, to the drill shed. The Company missed the big reception at Wailuku on account of not knowing of the good time prepared there, and stopped off only at Lahaina.

Superintendent Cooper's young son was kidnapped from Oahu college this morning by three armed white men but escaped from his captors after being taken near to the summit of round-top. He arrived home about 11 o'clock terribly scratched up by lantana. Superintendent Cooper, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth, went out at noon to investigate the matter.

Home Rule and Democratic Program.

Caucuses are being held by the different precinct clubs of the Home Rule party. The fourth of the Fourth held their meeting last Friday evening and endorsed their candidates. So did the seventh of the Fifth yesterday noon at headquarters.

The Home Rule Central Committee held an open meeting this forenoon at headquarters. Much discussion was indulged in on the most probable and likely candidates for the coming county campaign, but nothing definite has been as yet decided.

A general caucus of the delegates of the Fourth and Fifth Districts will be held tomorrow, either at Waverley hall or the Opheum.

Col J H Boyd and Representative Jonah Kumalae last Saturday defected from the Republican party and have joined the Home Rule forces. They took the oath of party fealty at an open Central Committee meeting that day. D H Kahaulelio and C W Booth did the same today.

The Home Rule County Convention will likely be held on Wednesday. On the same day the Wailuku convention will also be held.

Among the Democrats, Col C J McCarthy and Capt Campbell are being spoken of as probable candidates for the Fourth. In the Fifth it will either be Abr. Fernandez and F R Harvey, or either of them at large with either E A Mcinerny or F J Testa.

Home Rulers want to name certain Democrats for supervisors, and it is said that they at the same time demand their taking the oath of party fealty and that they desert their party. But certain stanch Hawaiian Democrats do not see it that way. They prefer to remain so and to receive a nomination from their party with a Home Rule endorsement, for they have no reason to defect.

Home Rule precinct meetings are to be held tonight, at headquarters and another at Kanealii's residence at Kakaako. Tomorrow evening will be at Kamoiliili.

A rousing Home Rule rally and ratification meeting is being planned for next Saturday evening, after the Convention has made the nominations, at Emma Square.

Last of the Races.

In the yacht races Saturday the Gladys won over La Paloma by a narrow margin in the first class event. In the third class the Defiance came in ahead and the Malolo won the fourth class event.

The first race in the afternoon was the intermidiate six-oared between the Myrtles and the Healanis, the former winning handily.

In the second whale boat contest between the Kuhio and Harris crews the former again proved victorious.

Democrats to Meet.

A mass meeting of Democrats will be held in Waverley hall this evening for the purpose of deciding upon a ticket for County officers. Only known Democrats will be allowed to speak or vote. It seems to be the present intention of the Democrats to put up only a ticket for supervisors, leaving the other county officers to be named by the Home Rulers.

constitutional obstacles that the Colombians say are in the way of the ratification of the treaty. Others of these republican newspapers favor the fomenting of a rebellion in the state of Panama against the Colombian government and then landing a force of marines to make it successful. This bald way of stating that the United States should exercise its undoubted physical ability to coerce a weaker state is on a par with other imperialistic ideas that have been rampant under the present regime. But these vicious public advisers forget the term of the congressional enactment which authorized the building of an interoceanic canal, that if the Colombian government would not ratify the treaty the President of the United States was authorized to open negotiations with Nicaragua and Costa Rica and build the canal by the Nicaragua route. That is the duty of President Roosevelt, and to shuffle and palter and attempt to coerce Colombia to ratify a treaty that the Congress of that country does not approve would be playing into the hands of the transcontinental railroads who have so far been able to defeat the building of the canal. There is very good reason to believe that the Nicaragua route would have been adopted if the railroad influence led by Senator Hanna had not been omnipotent in the Senate.

This whole question may be fought over again at the next session of Congress, and it may become one of the issues in the next presidential campaign, for the democratic nominee may be a man who has persistently advocated the Nicaragua route.

CANDIDATES OF THE DEMOCRATS.

Supervisor at Large,
F. J. TESTA.
Supervisor Fourth District,
CHAS J. McCARTHY.
Supervisor Fifth District,
FRANK R. HARVEY.

The above are the candidates placed in the field by the Democratic party last evening for supervisors. After considerable argument it was decided that that should be the limit of the ticket, it being felt that success would be made more certain by concentrating effort on only three men. The meeting was a large, representative and enthusiastic one. Everything went off smoothly and the results seemed to meet with general satisfaction.

Fred Turrell, vice chairman of the Territorial Central Committee, was elected permanent chairman of the Convention and Edmund Hart was elected permanent secretary. Mr Turrell recited the objects of the meeting and stated that the Central Committee had decided it to be the best policy to put up only three candidates for supervisors and to break the ticket there. C W Ashford moved for four, but on a ballot being taken the recommendation of the Central Committee carried by a large majority.

Dr Noblitt moved for a committee of five on platform To expedite matters Mr McGonagle moved that the last platform be adopted. There was strong objection to this on the ground that the last platform carried a clause endorsing the Home Rule party, so the last mover withdrew and Noblitt's motion prevailed. Dr W S Noblitt, Richard H Trent, W C Wilder, J H Flynn and Col C J McCarthy were appointed and a recess was taken for fifteen minutes. Upon returning the committee presented and read the following platform:

Whereas, the Democratic party has always been the party of the people, which stands for good government, national, state and county government of the people, for the people and by the people, and

Whereas, In the Territory of Hawaii, county government is now about to be introduced for the first time, and it is important that it be started on only the best principles, with a view of promoting the greatest good of the greatest number:

Now, therefore, the Democratic party of the Territory of Hawaii in mass meeting assembled, declares in favor of an honest and capable administration of county affairs, and pledges itself to promote and perpetuate the great principles so successfully championed by its noble founders.

The Democratic party of Hawaii believes that the patronage of the government should be bestowed only on citizens of the Territory, or those eligible to become such, and we pledge ourselves to support citi-

SOME OF THE CANDIDATES.

The Democratic party did itself immensely "proud" last evening in its nominations for supervisors. We refer not alone to the choice of candidates but also to the conclusion to concentrate force and money upon a few men in place of dividing it between a full ticket. Acting alone the party could not hope to elect a full ticket of Supervisors and probably would not be able to land a single man in the other county offices. By concentrating strength upon a few, however, the chances are good. Moreover, the appearance of only a few candidates for the party in the field will conserve the disaffected vote from the other parties, concentrating outside ballots upon the nominees and leaving little chance for a division.

The Democrats have certainly put up a strong ticket, and there is every reason to believe that the nominees will be elected. Already the Republican ticket has been weighed in the balances and found woefully wanting. There is not in their whole list of candidates for the office of Supervisor a popular man, and most of them are notoriously unpopular. Mark Robinson comes nearer to the point than any man named by the Republicans, and he is only popular with the money power and the few who personally know of his business integrity. Although a native Hawaiian he is not popular with the sons of the soil for the reason that he has invariably drawn away from them and chose to flock only with the wealthy people of the land. He has never manifested any regard for the ordinary run of Hawaiians and none for the white citizen not heavily interested in his railroad or his sugar plantations. At the same time, his honesty and ability are unquestioned—even though he has for years employed Japanese on the Oahu railway in place of citizens.

George F. Renton, another Republican candidate for Supervisor, is a sugar planters' man, pure and simple. He is wrapped up soul and body in that industry and is tied irrevocably to the interests of the sugar men. His one thought in the Board of Supervisors would be of the plantations. He would see that Ewa Mill and the other large estates of Oahu got all the roads they required for their business purposes and right there his work and influence would cease. He is in no sense in touch with the people, and knows no more of their requirements and wishes than a jack rabbit.

The nomination of "Jack" Lucas for Supervisor is regarded more as a joke than anything else, by a majority. It is understood that the persons instrumental in putting him up calculated that he would be able to swing a considerable labor vote. That preposterous supposition, however, only intensifies the comical features of the case.

In the Fourth District it is about a stand-off between J. A. Gilman and A. Hocking—both are extremely unpopular. Neither one can be regarded as being in touch with the people. Gilman is a Renton over again. He is wrapped up in the sugar business, and to elect him as a Supervisor would be practically the same as electing the Sugar Planters' Association. Mr. Hocking is unfit for the office of Supervisor for many reasons, but there is also the spirit of a legal impediment. As a Supervisor he would have under his thumb the liquor business of Oahu. Being at the head of the Honolulu brewery, and an aspirant for a monopoly of the beer business of the Islands, Mr. Hocking should be objectionable to both the saloon interests and the people who disfavor business grafts and monopolies.

In the Fifth District the Republicans have put up S. C. Dwight, a man who was more or less gently ousted from the Democratic party only about three weeks ago, and Frank Pahia, an obscure henchman of High Sheriff Brown and the sugar planters, in Koolau. Both have been before the people at divers times in the past as candidates and both have been as many times defeated for reasons well known to the voters of the Fifth District. On two important occasions Frank Pahia turned tail on his own people. S. C. Dwight is running at the behest of his boss, Mark Robinson, which, however, seems to be the principal point in his favor.

Turning from this uncomely lay-out, we will see what the Democrats have to offer. Frank Harvey, from the Fifth, stands a leader among the native Hawaiians and has the respect, confidence and esteem of the haoles. He is recognized as an honest and successful business man. In politics he has always stood for principle, even when that stand meant absolutely certain defeat. Colonel McCarthy is too well known to leave room for comment. There is probably no white man on Oahu that commands more aloha from the natives than he, and by the whites he is universally esteemed, irrespective of political affiliations. Mr. Testa, the candidate for Supervisor-at-Large, is known to everybody.

Summing up, the Democratic ticket is all that could be desired. It is the manifest duty of all Democrats, and all others in favor of good government, to back it up with their influence and their votes.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Did Cooper's young hopeful play hookey or has he been reading the adventures of Diamond Dick? Which is it, pray?

As Henry E. Cooper is also a candidate after the gubernatorial plum, the sort of notoriety sprung forth by his hopeful yesterday may likely help him out in reaching that plum, of course, with the assistance of Bob and Theresa. Sure kela, Mike.

For very cheap advertising young Cooper should soon be able to set up a store in clever hair-breadth adventures and escapes of the Dime Detective Series or the Sleuth Series of stories. His pater should now set him up in business by making the chap write his latest and somewhat "incredulous" yarn.

It is passing strange that the morning press should give so much space to men in whom it professes to have lost confidence. The truth of the matter is that the Advertiser, having failed to use Iaukea, Kumalae, Boyd and others to do its bidding, now resorts to the practice of biting at their heels. Another sore point in Grandma's heart comes of the knowledge that these men will carry into the Home Rule party a large number of their followers.

Home Rulers have, so far as now known, more confidence in defective Republicans and Democrats than for those who are well-known as staunch, staid and true men. As soon as these "turncoats" are sworn in, they are immediately taken into confidence and become as of their council. And those who will not defect, they have no use for. It is passing strange how easily they become to believe in those who were their political enemies. But it is probably the same the world over.

Political Notes.

The Home Rule County Convention will be held tomorrow morning, at the Orpheum, at 10 o'clock.

A report is current among Home Rulers that C W Booth, of Pauoa water fame, is their likely candidate for County Treasurer.

It is being currently spoken of among Home Rule circles that the nominees of the Democratic party for supervisors will not be endorsed by them as originally intended. No Republican nominee either will be endorsed by them, as they feel sure that they have enough and more capable candidates than offices to be filled.

Theresa is said to be in favor of endorsing Joe Gilman as one of the Home Rule supervisors. It is also said that she has no further use for Col McCarthy and that he will be dumped. And still another claim is that "Holy Joe" has seen the "dear princess" and has got her promise that she will fix things all right for him. Sure Moike!

One reason why Home Rulers will not endorse Col McCarthy is said to be because of his known attitute and avowed candidacy of A M Brown for County Sheriff. And for that reason, they cannot have any use for him.

The Home Rulers are demanding of the nominees of the National parties, that in order to receive their endorsement, they must take the oath of party fealty. Such a course is repugnant to those who think better of themselves and are disposed to be true to their party.

Dr E C Shorey, chemist of the U S Experiment Station will give a paper on "Recent work in Agricultural Chemistry." Mr J T Crawley, Manager of the Hawaiian Fertilizer Works, will lead the discussion on this paper. D L Van Dine will give an illustrated talk on, "Insects Injurious and Beneficial to the Farmer."

Members of the Institute, desiring to attend this meeting, should consult with the Secretary at once, providing they have not already made arrangements for transportation and entertainment.

SIMPLY WASTE OF GOOD MONEY.

J W Girvin has sent the following letter to the Advertiser, which we reproduce for the sake of the good sense it contains:

Probably every intelligent citizen of this Territory would feel proud either to see a fine Hawaiian building at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, or to know that Hawaii was eminently represented there by such a structure. Even if Hawaii merely had a handful of kiawe beans to exhibit, which, as compared to the products and manufactures of almost every other State or Territory would be a fair comparison, still we would feel proud of our building and the patriotism of our citizens which inspired the erection of the structure. The question however is as to the expediency; as to whether we can afford to expend $30,000.00 for a building there commensurate with our pride and patriotism.

If the government has the means and it is not imperatively needed at home it might be advisable to erect the building both to gratify our pride and as an advertisement for the Territory.

If the parents, the head of homes on the Islands, were consulted it is more than likely they would unanimously state that the multiplying of school facilities at home is infinitely more imperative than the spending of such a sum abroad. Were they consulted they would tell of the fearfully inadequate capacity of our schools for the number of children desiring to obtain an education. Of the turning away of many for lack of school room; of the congestion in many of the rooms, where in many instances more scholars are admitted than the seating capacity warrants; of there being in some instances eighty scholars under one teacher to the detriment of both scholars and teacher, etc., $30,000.00 would pay fifty teachers for one year, or it would erect a large school building which would relieve the congestion and be a useful and ornamental building for fifty years to come.

There are other public utilities in which if $30,000.00 could be expended at present it would tend to lasting benefit to the populace. For instance, it is stated that the drinking water of the city of Honolulu is the cause of much sickness and if that sum could be expended towards a filtering plant it would go far to improve the health of the city. Any of your readers can mention other more profitable local ways of spending $30,000.00.

I would not like to be set down as a "knocker," in fact personally would like to see Hawaii represented at this grand Exposition by a building grander than the Alexander Young Building, and which contained attractive exhibits of all our products and manufactures.

At present I believe it would be unwise and suicidal to expend so large a sum abroad.

If our promoters and planters feel that they can do this thing from their private fortunes we will honor them, but I am certain the wise citizens of the Territory would prefer that this large sum of money be only expended abroad when we can afford to do so. Charity should begin at home.

GOOD, BUT NOT WANTED.

We have it upon reliable report that at a Kalihi Camp meeting last night (we being not apprised of such a meeting and therefore not present), where the Home Rule county delegates were formally announced prior to the Convention in session today; that R W Wilcox, at the conclusion of his harangue, made allusion to the Hawaiian nominees of the Democratic party, with the statement that they were good men, but they should have gone to them (Home Rulers) after their nomination and asked them for their support, which they have not done. THE INDEPENDENT, on their behalf, will state that this statement is in part true, i. e., that part referring to their not seeking them out.

Being true men, and we are not saying too much for them, they felt certain and expected it of right that they would receive endorsement from their compatriots in the Home Rule ranks, and that without the seeking and the asking. Having been nominated by their own party, although weak and in the minority, they were in duty bound to stay by their party and not look for nomination elsewhere other than their expected endorsement, and if they fail to receive it, we feel safe in saying that they will be perfectly willing to stay down and remain out. They did not seek nor ask any favors of them, but this much can be said that they were sought for and asked to become possible and probable candidates.

And furthermore, be it said in their behalf, that since making their choice of party, they are perfectly content to remain such and not be like will o'-the-wisps. Having made such choice, they consider party fealty much more important than to appear in the roles of sycophants, place hunters, turncoats and traitors. They have no place in such ranks, nor will they take oath to support another by breaking away from their own in order to receive a nomination and thereby be hoisted to place, and, mayhap, power. They are not made of such easy and soft cheese cloth. Although one of them is "the whole cheese," yet he is not such soft cheese as others would like to make it appear so. Not by a long-shot, nor will they easily submit to be ruled by any "trailer" who is out for boodle and for what there is to be made out of the shuffle.

They are not like unto the recently made Home Rulers. They have always remained true to the cause of their own people from the beginning and not a flotsam one day and a jetsam the next. They belong to a party of national repute with a record, by choice. They are not looking for power and pelf, but for the good only of their native land and their kin. And lastly, they are willing to submit to the inevitable, should such be their case, and accept Fate as their goddess and remain inactive, passive and quiescent, looking forward only to the future for their just reward from their ungrateful kith and ken.

Home Rulers sought out Mr Harvey as a probable and possible candidate and he presented himself yesterday afternoon at their headquarters and declined to take the oath. Mr Testa has been mentioned by them as a candidate for either treasurer, assessor or auditor, and he also declined to be such a public-spirited man for either of those positions, yet he was willing to be one of the supervisors-at-large.

This leader (?) for Home Rule, who aspires to ultimately become a Democrat and to be one of the Democratic delegates to the National Convention next year, whose best friends while at Congress he acknowledges were Democrats, cannot for one moment presume that Democrats, although in the minority, should seek him and his party out, but that rather he and they should seek them in grateful return for the show of friendship he received from Democrats at the National capital as well as at home.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

A good place for Miss Maggie Place would seem to be a cool place in the Girls Reformatory school.

The difference between the Theodore Cooper abduction and the Cudaby abduction was that there were real men and no dime novels in the latter.

Ruffians must have had in mind the time Mr Cooper came to the rescue with his personal check to start the water works moving.—Bulletin.

Yes; both incidents were grandstand plays intended to keep our superintendent of everything before the public.

The Bulletin would have Republicans support the ticket, no matter who or what is on it. That is pretty good for the candidates, but is risky business on the side of the people. Are the voters to blindly follow a ticket, made up by devious influences a few hours before nominations are made, by a few men? If so we want nothing of Republic political methods.

Hawaii should by all means be advertised. There is no great chance of losing and much to be gained in the way of tourist travel. There should, however, be no long bows stretched in regard to the possibilities for small farmers. The truth in this matter will hold good but the opposite will certainly form a boomerang.

Summed up, the situation between Peter High and the laboring men of Honolulu would seem to be that the contractor, while not actively and viciously in opposition to the latter, carries a chip on his shoulder for them. Citizen laborers object to working with Japanese coolies, and their objection will be sustained generally.

Young Theodore Cooper's abduction experiences are coming rather swift for ordinary mortals and conditions. The whole thing has seemed top-heavy from the time the young man was locked in a clothes closet—or claimed he was locked in a clothes closet—in June. The question before the community is whether Henry E Cooper is trying to keep his name before the public, or his boy has a mania for seeing his name in print. If the latter the boy's reading matter should be carefully scrutinized and he should be heartily spanked. If the former—well, the same.

C W Ashford's point against the legality of the County Act is sound and should the courts follow the strict letter of the law the supervisor matters would undoubtedly be quite seriously complicated. For the purposes of the County Act, Oahu is divided into Honolulu, Ewa, Waianae, Waialua, Koolaulos and Koolaupoko. In the law providing for supervisors, it is stated that there shall be two such officers from the "Fourth District" and two from the "Fifth District." Of course the Fourth and Fifth Representative districts are meant but it is not so stated. In fact the plain Fourth and Fifth districts if taken as mentioned in the law are Koolaulos and Koolaupoko.

J W Girvin's suggestion that the appeopriation, $80,000, made for the St Louis Exposition be held over and used for some good local purpose is eminently sound. Knowing full well that the Hawaiian Legislature appropriated only $30,000 for the Territorial exhibit, the exposition officials neglected to reserve space for it in the regular buildings and now insist that Hawaii have a building of her own. A building to look respectable would cost between $20,000 and $30,000, leaving a mere pittance for the exhibit itself. It has been suggested that the sum of $10,000 be raised to be added to the exposition balance. There is hardly a possibility that such a large amount could be gotten together; but, even if success were possible, this community, in these dull times, is not in position to afford it. After the rebuff of the exposition officials, and under all the circumstances, the only graceful and business-like thing to do is to draw off and, as Mr Girvin says, apply the money to some worthy local object.

It is not thought by those familiar with these facts that he reached the harbor front before 1 or 2 a m.

Speaks of Smith.

The Adjutant of Captain Paul Smith's battallion in the Filipino war was a passenger in the steamer last Saturday for Peking, where he has been sent as one of the secretaries of the United States legation. While here he took occasion to speak in the highest terms of the efficiency and bravery of Captain Smith in the arduous and dangerous campaign in the Philippines, and said that he was a commander in whom the leading officers of the regiment reposed the greatest of confidence.

Home Rule Convention Meets

The convention was called to order promptly on time (10 a m) by President Kalauokalani and was opened with prayer by S K Kamakaia. After which, the president delivered an opening address as to the purpose for which the assembly was called and the duties of the delegates thereto.

Roll call was made, the president of every precinct reporting the delegates, 95 in all. Finally 88 answered their names and 7 absent. And on motion, a committee on credentials was appointed, consisting of Iaukea, Wise and Kaohi. A recess of twenty minutes was taken, and on reassembling, the committee reported that it had found all credentials in due form with the exception of S H Meekapu, his precinct being only entitled to six and his credential was not signed by the proper official. The report was adopted. Then all the delegates present were sworn in due Home Rule form and fashion.

On a motion by Wise, committees on rules and platform were appointed. On rules, Wise, Mahoe and Prendergast. And on platform, Iaukea, Kalauokalani Jr. and Markham.

And on motion of Iaukea, who moved adjournment to 2 p m, but the chair changed it to 7 p m, and adjournment was taken a little before noon.

Notes of the Convention.

When S H Meekapu arose to state that he had seconded a motion by E W Palau to substitute alternates for absent delegates from among residents of the precincts represented by such absentees present in the audience, someone from among his fellow delegates cried out—"You are a Republican!"

A roaring "Bull" from Basan almost got loose. He roared until he finally subsided without any damage being done.

Our "princess" was present there. When the "Bull" roared and was assisted by one Palau, she frowned at the latter and shaking her head at the press table, while fanning her fan briskly at the time. On recess being taken, she got down and after those incipient disturbers. She seemed, on this occasion as well as on former occasions, to be the lady boss and the whole cheese.

Meekapu attempted to get a seat as one of the delegates, but his credential was found out by the special committee to be not in due form. He has, therefore, been ruled out of order.

Prominent visitors noticed in the audience were Delegate Kalanianaole, Senator Crabe, A V Gear and others.

No women delegates were noticed, which is somewhat unusual. But there were three women there in the audience, Mrs Wilcox and two others.

Political Notes.

It now turns out that C W Booth, of Pauoa water springs notoriety, does not want the Home Rule nomination for county treasurer, but it is said that he wants to be one of the supervisors. As water will always find its level, so will those water springs find their level in him providing he gets there.

Our "Deacon" Testa was today tinctured and is likely to be punctured tonight by the Home Rule convention, and the Advertiser will then be satisfied.

Mrs R W Wilcox has personally denied to us that she ever spoke to any Star man the remarks attributed to her yesterday with reference to Testa. She says that she would like to see him as candidate for either treasurer, auditor or assessor.

Chas Notley, assisted by Geo Markham and abetted by the recruits, is the leading stickler for pledging everyone to the Home Rule cause.

So far, we have not found any disgruntled Democrat as claimed by the Star, unless it be the Star man himself.

It is being noised about that Home Rulers may likely nominate Chas Notley, J P Makainai, Abr Fernandez, C P Iaukea, or J H Boyd for supervisors-at-large. Fernandez and Makainai for the Fifth, and Boyd and Kumalae for the Fourth. Democratic nominees have no show of being endorsed nor of even receiving a mention.

Frank R Harvey was sent for and appeared at Home Rule headquarters yesterday afternoon and there he received a severe grilling for declining to take the pledge, although he was willing to support them in everything.

HOME RULE CONVENTION.

The storm being in progress during the hours of meeting, the attendance upon the Home Rule Convention in the Orpheum last night was far lighter than had been expected. Before the call to order and until the end of the session rain poured down in torrents and the streets were flooded. All of the delegates were in attendance, however, and there were in the neighborhood of two hundred spectators.

Senator Kalauokalani presided. With him were R W Wilcox, Representative Kupihea, John Wise, J K Prendergast, Col C P Iaukea and others. The first business was the election of the County Committee, which was done by precincts. Next came the rules and then the platform, both of which were adopted.

The first nominee was R W Wilcox for sheriff. He was named by Kaohi. John Wise made a volcanic speech in favor of the former delegate. In stating his acceptance Mr Wilcox promised to do his best if elected to office. The nomination was unanimous, as were all except one that came after it.

In accepting the nomination for county attorney Edgar Caypless stated that the county law was a Home Rule proposition. Although it was adopted by a Republican legislature, the Home Rulers were the ones that forced it through.

Chris Willis was unable to be present for a good reason, but his nomination was also unanimous.

In accepting the nomination for auditor Charles Wilcox said he was now fighting for his own people and would continue to do so.

D Kalauokalani, Jr, received the nomination for clerk. To the surprise of some Moses K Nakuina was not nominated. There are those who claim that nominations were arbitrarily closed too soon. At any rate the vote on the nominee was light.

For the office of Assessor, Col C P Iaukea was opposed by J P Makainai. After several ballots Iaukea was selected by a big majority. In accepting the nomination the Colonel made a long, earnest and eloquent speech in which he outlined the duty of nominees to the party, of the party to the nominees and of all to themselves.

Adjournment was thereupon taken to 10 a m this morning.

Campfire of G. A. R.

The storm prevented a large attendance upon the annual reunion of the G A R in Elks' hall last evening, but what was lacking in numbers was made up in entertainment and pleasure. Commander W L Eaton presided, while Comrade W Williams saw that every one enjoyed the spread. Music was led by Comrade and Mrs Cook. Walter G Smith responded interestingly to "The Army" and Captain U S G White to "The Navy." W R Farrington responded to "The Press" and Attorney General Andrews to "The President."

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Marston Campbell did a lot of "investigating" while back east. It is to be hoped that his bill for expenses will not be so much per "investigation."

The best lesson that could be taught the Home Rulers would come from the defeat of R W Wilcox for the office of sheriff. If the Democrats as a unit fail to support him, the thing will be done. Why not make it that way?

If "moura" is really the word to suit the Advertiser, and not "satisfy," if Mr Testa is defeated, then let it mourn now to be followed by melancholia—otherwise it will miss the only chance of mourning or of getting satisfaction.

The slate of Wilcox and Kalaukalani was arbitrarily forced through the Home Rule Convention last night. In most instances the nominees had a sort of general endorsement but some further nominations were arbitrarily cut off.

Boyd is up again by being in the Home Rule ranks, he being resurrected by that party today, and this in spite of the Advertiser who had thought that it had done him up. If he is well buoyed, he may likely outrun his former friends to victory.

We have in Honolulu the Police department approving beer licenses by wholesale on the ground that they drive out swipe joints. At the settlement on Molokai the Superintendent is working day and night to check swipe selling, and on top of it [illegible] refuses to issue a beer license on the ground that it objects to intoxicants at Kalawao and Kalaupapa. Where do you locate consistency in the two propositions?

George Markham worked hard for the slate prepared by Boss Wilcox, and a part of it has already gone through. Wonder what he will be working for the afternoon before election. Will he be up another telephone pole making Republican speeches?

Lieutenant Harry Newton, of Camp McKinley, has been detailed to inspect the National Guard Companies again next month. It is to be hoped that, in the interest of discipline and better results, he will leave his stock of cuss words under the pillow of his bunk on the respective occasions.

The endowment of $2,000 made by Mr Dreier and Mrs August Dreier to the Maternity Home in memory of their late daughter, Jusnita Dreier, will be sufficient to fit up and maintain an apartment permanently. The object is a worthy one and the act merits emulation by other wealthy citizens.

We understand that the Home Rulers intend turning down Colonel Charles J McCarthy this afternoon because that nominee of the Democratic party is opposed to R W Wilcox for the office of sheriff, preferring A M Brown, and perhaps Frank Harvey because he will not take the Home Rule pledge. If these are really the grounds, all we have to say is "go ahead." We will then see how many Democratic votes Wilcox will get. Order up the soup!

News of the coming of the North Pacific squadron, United States Navy, to Honolulu should be a matter of general interest. There will almost certainly be five or six vessels in the fleet and there may be more. As the vessels will doubtless remain several days there should be lively business with the shop keepers and along the waterfront for a while. It is not known when the fleet will arrive but it will be expected with the next few weeks.

Four Companies of native Filipino soldiers have been ordered on duty at the St Louis Exposition. Of course this is at Government expense and while in service the men will receive regular pay. Why is it that a Hawaiian Company was not given the same chance? A Company of picked natives under an officer like Captain Sam Johnson would make a big record at St Louis. Perhaps a request to admit such a company would be favorably considered

The more people think about it the more are they opposed to Geo. H Renton for the office of supervisor. The man is new on this island, having only come here from Hawaii after the retirement of Mr Lowrie from Ewa. At the plantation he has all in the world he can well take care of, and would not in the nature of things, have the time to properly attend to the consuming and important work of supervisor. Then, the question has arose in the minds of many: What can actuate Mr Renton in his plan to neglect important work, for which he receives $12,000 a year, to accept a measley political position in town? Can there be an object in it? Is there a Sambo in the woodpile? Is it possible that the plantation agencies, who are behind Renton, are more than interested parties? These are questions that need to be cleared up.

When the corner stone of the new Odd Fellows building is laid, the papers and records of the old building, torn down a few weeks ago, should go into it, together with a statement of what the articles are and mean. The old building only lived a half century and most of the things contained in its corner stone were familiar to all. Fifty or a hundred years from now it will not be so, and it seems to us that the records of the original Odd Fellows building in Hawaii should be passed down the line.

The platform of the Home Rule party, which was put forward last night, contains this plank:

"In the name of the Hawaiian people we do and at all times shall oppose and condemn the raising of race issues."

This authentically and finally places any blame that there may have been for the drawing of the color line just where it belongs. The Advertiser crowd was first, foremost and alone in that business. Misrepresentations in regard to the matter, which were sent abroad for political effect, also emanated from that source. Although a little late it is well that the truth has been shown up.

Robertson-Dougherty.

The wedding of Miss Sara Robertson and James Dougherty took place at St Andrew's cathedral at 7 o'clock last evening, Rev Alex Mackintosh officiating. Miss Edna Shattuck, of Boston, was bridesmaid and Nelson Lansing attended the groom.

Following the ceremonies at the church, Mr and Mrs Dougherty received the congratulations of their friends at the beautiful home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs George H Robertson. A large tent had been erected on the lawn for the reception, but the heavy rain storm which came on made it necessary to retire to the residence. There, however, the reception was carried out in the best possible and most pleasing way.

The happy couple will spend a few days at the Manoa valley residence of Mr Robertson.

Home Rule Convention.

At the opening of the session this morning, a letter from Jonah Kumalae was read wherein he declined to entertain any nomination for any office.

Nominations for supervisors-at-large was the first order of business after the disposal of the usual preliminaries and the letter of Kumalae. The following persons were then put in nomination by different parties: J P Makainai, Abr Fernandez, Jas H Boyd, Starr Kapu, J H Wise, Chas Notley and Frank Harvey.

E W Palau said that Makainai wont run. Makainai himself got up later and declined nomination, saying that after running for one office and got defeated, he felt that he cannot very well be a candidate for another and ask to withdraw his name.

Wise also declined nomination, saying that for reasons of his own, which he will not divulge, he asked to withdraw. There can be only three candidates to his way of thinking, and thought that should be Notley, Boyd and Fernandez.

At the mention of the name of Frank Harvey for a candidate by Geo Markham, Home Rulers quivered. Notley blustered that he had not taken the pledge and therefore could not be nominated, but his objection seemed to have fallen flat, no notice being taken. Prendergast stated that Fernandez did not want to run at large, but desired to be a candidate in the Fifth.

Kupihea moved recess to 1 p m, but was snowed under. Then on motion of Davis, he together with S K Mahoe and Iaukea were appointed as tellers, and this after nominations had been closed. The voting then began by calling the respective precincts and 82 ballots out of 84 present were counted, the result being as follows: Boyd, 80; Notley, 73; Fernandez, 67; Kapu, 11; Harvey, 9. The first three were then declared to be duly elected.

Prendergast again stated that he had just had conversation with Fernandez about his candidacy at large and that he has declined, but would rather be one in the Fifth. On his motion, a committee of three was appointed to see him, consisting of Iaukea, Wise and Mahoe. A recess of 15 minutes was taken while the committee went out, and on their return, order was called. Iaukea, for the committee, stated that they had seen Fernandez, and that after some persuasion, he has consented to stay and accept the nomination. Report adopted.

On motion of Prendergast, for delegates of the Fifth, recess was taken to 3 p m. And the Fourth followed suit.

Home Rule Platform.

At the second sitting of the convention, held in the Orpheum theater last evening, the Home Rulers adopted the following platform:

The Independent Home Rule Party of the County of Oahu, in the Territory of Hawaii, hereby makes, promulgates and pledges its candidates to this its platform:

1. We declare the Home Rule Party to be the party of the people, standing for honest, efficient and economic government of the affairs of the people, by the people and for the people.

2. We recognize and uphold, and, so far as lies in our power as a people, shall protect all citizens of this Territory in the lawful exercise of the right to vote without coercion, direct or indirect, and without intimidation, express or insinuated; and to this end we invoke the earnest and certain co-operation of all citizens irrespective of party or political affiliation or preference.

3. We oppose all trusts and monopolies; and we condemn corporate association and combinations devised for the purpose of evading the provisions of our parent law, the Organic Act, and denounce them as monopolistic defiance of the rights of the people.

4. We pledge ourselves to the employment only of citizens of the Territory, or those eligible to citizenship, on all public works of the county, and we heartily commend similar protection to citizen labor by all persons and corporations in this Territory.

5. We pledge ourselves to just and equitable taxation, and judicious and economic expenditure of public moneys.

6. We favor a policy of "Statehood for Hawaii" and believe that we can best demonstrate our fitness therefor by an honest, capable and economical administration of county affairs for the common good of the whole people.

7. In commending, as we do, the expressed wish of President Roosevelt that this Territory "should be developed along traditional American lines" we deplore a seeming Republican indifference thereto, in this Territory and proclaim a continued adherence and changeless fealty of the Independent Home Rule Party to the actuating principle.

8. In the name of the Hawaiian people we do and at all times shall oppose and condemn the raising of race issues.

The office of THE INDEPENDENT is in the brick building next to the Hawaiian hotel grounds on Beretania street, Waikiki of Alakea. First floor.

Notes of the Convention.

Only one true Democrat received a mention this forenoon in the Home Rule council and that honor goes to Frank Harvey. Tests did not even get a mention. Of two other former Democrats mentioned, one withdrew and the other received a nomination. Both of the latter should be classed as turncoats.

The same three women were again present today. Delegate Kalainanaole as well as the others mentioned yesterday were seen there again today as interested spectators.

Chas Notley said loud enough to be heard that the Democrats threw them down at the last campaign. This is not correct. There must be something wrong with his recollection as to the past. We can show him wherein he is wrong, but we know that he is one hard to convince.

They are now in a quandary for available material for candidates for supervisors in the Fourth and Fifth and it is said that certain Democrats are being considered, But, that pledge!

Notley said that for love of the party, he will disregard the advice of his counsel to stay out of politics, where his interest in an estate valued at about $500,000 is at stake.

It is being said by those on the outside that many of the Home Rule candidates are easy to defeat. But some others on the inside think they are very strong.

Runaway Accident.

Rosenberg, the bottle merchant had a runaway accident on Queen street this morning in which he was thrown out and bruised and his buggy was wrecked opposite Wilder's corner. The horse started near Alakea and was soon beyond control. Rosenberg tore away the awning in the back of the rig and when near Fort street succeeded in jumping out. As is usual in such case he turned several somersaults in the mud and was quite badly bruised, although not seriously damaged. His rig came within a few inches of Mrs S B Rose's buggy and then went to pieces in front of Philips & Co's store.

Millett and Ruhlin.

Joe Millett has been matched to fight Gus Ruhlin. This is what the Call says of the matter:

Big Gus Ruhlin, who had aspirations at one time to wear the heavyweight boxing championship crown, has decided to try for some of the lesser honors of the ring.

The man from Ohio whom Jeffries made quit in five rounds on November 15, 1901, in this city, has agreed to fight Joe Millett, who is just blossoming out as a professional.

The match was made yesterday by Alex Greggains of the San Francisco Athletic Club. The men are to meet in this city on October 23. Ruhlin, whose latest ring engagement was a six-round bout with Kid Carter in Philadelphia, will come West at once.

Millett was an easy-going, good-natured amateur until he went to Honolulu a year ago. Up to that time it was difficult to get him to train. When his lot was cast among strangers he settled down to work and was always in good condition. He won several of his fights so quickly that the spectators raised a cry of "foul."

Ruhlin weighs about 190 pounds. Millett weighed 182 pounds yesterday. Before the match was made Greggains tried out Millett. He first knocked out P Marino and then stopped a sailor in a half a round who thought he was a second Sharkey.

Mr Ross Passes Away.

George J Ross, auditor for Irwin & Co., died at the Queen's hospital about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a long illness. A few days ago he was operated upon for stomach trouble, but weakness and heart failure made it impossible for him to survive. Four physicians attended him but all they could do toward the last was to temper the intense pain from which their patient was suffering. The funeral will take place from the family residence on Beretania near Alapai streets at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Rev Alex Mackintosh will officiate.

Mr Ross was born May 17, 1838, at Picton, Ontario, of Scotch parents. He received an education in his home town and followed surveying until 1866 when he set sail from Vancouver for China. Arriving in Honolulu he became so pleased with the place that he decided to remain. On December 30, 1872, deceased married Henrietta, daughter of the late Judge and Mrs J H Smith, and four children survive this union, viz: George C, Ernest A R, Donald M and Rideau G.

Upon arriving here Mr Ross went into the business of ranching, and in 1869 entered the employ of C Brewer & Co. as confidential clerk. In that position he remained eighteen years, finally resigning to accept the post of Auditor-General under the Government, which he held for six years but was finally obliged to give up on account of impaired health. Shortly after that he entered the employ of Irwin & Co. and remained with that concern as auditor until the collapse of his health a few weeks ago.

Mr Ross was a man of very quiet disposition and in consequence had few intimates. Those close to him in a social or business way, however, esteemed him highly.

Three Men Drowned.

The oil ship Marion Chilcott arrived in port about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon with a terrible story of storm and disaster shortly after leaving California. Three men were washed overboard to their death and three others, including Captain Williams, were injured. Sails were torn away and the ship badly battered up.

The gale was encountered off the California coast early Friday morning, September 11. At 4:30 a m, while hauling on the port fore brace, S E Rasmussen, Antone P D Shose and Gustaf A H Zreve were washed away. The first two were Danes and the other a German. At the time, the sea was running so high that it was impossible to lower a boat. The ship was flying before the wind at a tremendous clip, so that the men had to be abandoned to their doom. Following is a portion of the Captain's log concerning the storm:

Friday, Sept 11, 1903—Gale continued to blow, ship running before sea and wind hauling more northerly. At 4:30 a m, while hauling on port fore brace three men were washed overboard and lost in Lat. 35 deg. 20m. N., Long. 123 deg. 45m. W. Same time No. 3 boat which was lashed on top main hatch was smashed to pieces; hatch bars broken and tarpaulin washed off. Ship rolling heavy, taking much water fore and aft. It was impossible to save the unfortunate men that washed overboard on account of the heavy gale and sea that was running. At daylight began pouring oil over the side. Towards night wind moderating.

ACTIONS SPEAK LOUDEST.

Upon speeches being called from candidates nominated, after the completion of the Home Rule nominations last afternoon, our personal and intimate friend Charles Notley, on being called up on the stage, blustered and blurted out that a man may be known by what he does. You are dead right. "Actions speak louder then words" every time. Now, show up.

It is true that a man may be known by what he does. It is also very true that a man may be known too by what he has done and what he has not done. And again, a man is known by what he does and has done, and that the past is likely to be called up. Should his past be what it should be, then all is well; but should it not be what it should have been, then all is not well with him. And thereby hangs many a tale, some of which may be pleasant and some unpleasant in the telling. That is another story.

To recite and recount the past of a man is a most unpleasant duty, especially when it is unsavory; but when one courts it, then it is that "those who live in glass houses should not throw stones," as they may land where it is least expected. Since he has courted such a standard for himself and the rest of his party's nominees, fault should not be found with us if we ever attempt to unfathom the depths and unravel some of their past actions, and may likely expose some of the closeted skeletons and probably air a little dirty linen.

Of course, we have to expect like treatment, but we have no fear coming. Our past public record has gone beyond recall, and we are not afraid to expose such a record to public gaze and scrutiny. We believe our past will speak for us as against many of our political opponents, many of whom are personally our own friends. If a man is to be known by what he does or has done nor have done, we are perfectly willing that such should be the standard by which a'l may be weighed, and no doubt few will be chosen, as many will then be found very much wanting.

And finally, "let him who is without sin among you cast the first stone."

NO DOUBLE DEALING.

Just prior to the close of the Home Rule Convention last evening, R W Wilcox was called upon for a speech, to which he responded. And in his remarks, he made reference to Messrs Harvey and Testa, the Democratic Hawaiian nominees, claiming that they were two of them, of whom he had no cause to find fault and who were good men, but because they stayed by their principle of Democracy, he said they were counted out and not considered in the shuffle for places. He saw no reasons why they were Democrats, for none are known here, but only on the Mainland, where they were to be found. And then he made the most astounding allusion, which known Democrats here would do well to remember him by, wherein he declared himself to be a Democrat and that he was such while on the mainland, but here he was a Home Ruler and the party of the people of the country.

As far as we are concerned, it is well that we now know where he is at and on what dangerous ground he is hanging and dangling. He claims that one foot is Democratic, the same one that was Republican at one time, at the time (which is well to be now remembered) he first went to Congress and he hied himself hurriedly and surreptitiously home and caused his party to attach a "Republican" tail piece, which they did not keep long, but eventually threw it off again. And the foot is Home Rule. This, we consider, consistant with his usual flip-flop policy, wherein he lacks the consistency, also the principle of one to be trusted and depended upon.

He is of the opinion that these two Hawaiian Democrats, not to the manner born, but by choice, who have the principle and the manhood to remain pat with their choice of party as well as with their convictions as to what is right and just for them to do in the matter, by flopping all over themselves like what he has been himself all these years since his return from Italy in 1898. He wishes them to do like what he says he is, one foot a Home Ruler and the other a Democrat, but these cannot see it for themselves in the same light as he does for himself.

They are purblind to such treachery and childishness and would rather remain true as steel in their adamantine steadfastness to principle, unmindful of their being now in the minority and of certain defeat staring them in the face, and even if they are doomed to go down, they will surely be found with their colors nailed fast to the masthead. They are not to be traitors to themselves and the cause of their country and people by forswearing from the fealty they have chosen for themselves and be like some of them who have gone over to the great mass seeking honor and place.

They cannot accept the polygamous doctrine of belonging to more than one party at a time, like unto a colleague who recently joined the majority for the purpose of being honored, and this is none other than their friend Abr Fernandez, since nominated a candidate for supervisor-at-large, and who believes in the same manner as Wilcox does, in being a member of two parties at one and the same time, and maybap of more, if permitted. This friend assured the writer not long ago that he believed a man capable of belonging to more than one party, the same as he has done himself, like a man who becomes a member of more than one secret lodge at the same time. For ourselves, he is entirely welcome to such belief, but for these two Hawaiian Democrats, they will none of it, because they believe that a man cannot become a member of two opposite denominations at one and the same time. And further, they are content to remain as they are.

Believing as we and they do, Wilcox is perfectly welcome to his own estimation of himself. The two will remain unhampered and unadulterated, although they have a leaning toward his way on account of race.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Home Rulers have no use for those who do not take to their pledge. And has Chris Willis done so? He's a Democrat, and if he has, then we are mistaken in him.

Chief Justice Frear is getting about as great a reputation for being robbed as Theodore Cooper for getting himself abducted. Has the learned jurist been reading dime novels also?

Prayers and politics do not mix well, but Home Rulers seem to think that otherwise is the case. It is similar to water and oil, they will not mix. How is it possible, we utterly fail to see, for prayers and politics to mix?

The political brotherhood now existing between Democrat Booth and Charles Notley may be accounted for by the fact that the former has a water scheme to sell and the latter a watered claim in an estate looking for any old taker.

Marston Campbell found dense ignorance in the East concerning Hawaii, but it is to be supposed that before he left even the ragamuffins in the alleys knew all about the country Campbell has been here two years and is, of course thoroughly posted (?) on conditions.

Pearl harbor has been "investigated" and reported on so often that the report of the next investigating commission might well be boiled down to something like this: "The harbor is still here. It contains the usual amount of water and is bounded by the same land described in the hundred and eleven preceding reports on file in your office."

When running for the office of delegate, R W Wilcox was opposed by a Hawaiian both times. In the race for sheriff, however, he will be opposed by a white man. That that may considerably alter the situation can hardly be doubted. High Sheriff Brown has a large number of native supporters in both districts, but has he enough to offset the big lead of Mr Wilcox?

Hawaii has nine companies of National Guardsmen, which, under the military law approved January 21, 1903, are as much a part of the Army of the United States as are the troops at Camp McKinley, the only difference being that the former are not on active duty and are not under pay. President Roosevelt has authority under the law to order one company, two companies or the entire regiment to St Louis if he should so desire.

Opinions of Fight.

Sports of Honolulu are greatly worked up over the fight between Joe Millett and big Gus Ruhlin. Paddy Ryan, Millett's old friend and manager, feels confident that the young man will win. "I believe Millett will defeat Ruhlin," said Mr Ryan. "There is one thing certain: If he ever hits him a good blow it will be all off, and I believe Millett will be able to do that. Ruhlin is not only six years older than Millett but he has led a rough life of late which will probably show its effects However, Ruhlin is big game in the prize ring and Millett will have all he can do to handle him."

Jack Weday holds just the opposite view. He thinks Millett is still too sappy to run up against a tough slugger like Ruhlin. He says the Ohioan is not only clever and quick, but is as tough as leather and hits a terrific blow. "I am glad, however," says Weday, "that Millett has got a match with Ruhlin. Should he win, it will place him at once in the front rank of fighters and he will have more challenges than he will know what to do with. I would like to have the chance of a try at Ruhlin myself."

Billy Woods is surprised that Ruhlin will fight Millett, but thinks the Californian will make it more interesting for the Ohio giant than the latter now thinks.

There is no money up in Honolulu yet on the fight but as reports of training begin to come in there will likely be plenty of it.

Supervisors Chosen.

The Home Rulers yesterday nominated their candidates for Fourth and Fifth district supervisors and for county treasurer. J K Kealoha and S K Mahoe (the man with that Molokai reputation) were selected to represent the Fifth. In the Fourth there were several nominees and consequently balloting had to be resorted to. The nominees were: David Notley, Sam Kamakaia, C J McCarthy, John Wise, A Hocking and J A Gilman. The latter two were ruled not eligible to run, both being Republican nominees.

For treasurer C W Booth and S E Damon were nominated, but the latter was ruled out on the same ground as was Hocking and Gilman. Booth was declared elected. There was quite a little feeling between factions in the convention, Mrs Wilcox making a fight from her perch in one of the loges for Gilman, Hocking and Damon.

When all business was finished, late in the afternoon, "Hawaii Ponoi" was sung and the benediction was pronounced by Rev Olli.

AT SEA AS TO LEGISLATION.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 12:

The republican leaders are all at sea and absolutely unable to agree on what legislation is necessary by the coming Congress. President Roosevelt demands that the Cuban reciprocity treaty must first be attended to, and says he will call an extra session of Congress for that purpose. The republican leaders in the Senate are all opposed to reciprocity legislation, and Senators Aldrich, Platt, Depew, Hanna, Quay and Spooner have all advised him not to call an extra session this fall, and they all opposed to his policy. There is a like division of sentiment on the necessity for financial legislation, and even those who desire a change in the law are hopelessly divided on the scope of the alterations that should be made. On the trust question the President has declared for publicity, but he is powerful slow in putting it into operation, and a majority of the republican leaders are letting well enough alone, so anti-trust legislation will be at a standstill. There are a respectable minority of the party in power who believe in some sort of tariff changes, and who are being pressed by their constituents to that end, but they will not meet with any success, unless they work in harmony with the Democrats, which they will not do, and the most of them are talking only to fool the voters of the country. The republican politicians are also at loggerheads over the Panama canal question. Many of the leaders are controlled by the transcontinental railroads of the country, and really do not want any canal, while others favor the Nicaragua route, and in consequence there has been nothing done, and won't be during the next session.

One thing they always unite upon, and that is "the old flag and an appropriation," official graft and plenty of loot for themselves and their political strikers.

The Republican leaders pretend to be unanimous for the nomination of Roosevelt, yet more than half of them are opposed to him. The cohesive power of public plunder holds them together, but long-headed men like Root and Quay know that the end is near and are leaving the rat-infested ship. There is a universal unrest, and even the chief of the prophets, if in the flesh, could not predict what the present Republican president or the coming Republican congress will do. The Democratic troubles are infinitesimal compared to the Republican factional disagreements.

Every Democrat is united upon opposition to trusts, upon tariff reform, upon equal taxation and upon equal rights to all and special privileges to none, and that is the winning platform.

It has been the opinion of the majority of mankind that there was very little difference between tweedledum and tweedledee, but it seems there is considerable difference so far as this Republican administration is concerned. For instance: Several months ago divers military and naval officers stationed in Porto Rico were charged with smuggling—not only charged with it, but caught "with the goods," to use the slang of the day. The officers themselves did not deny it. The United States district attorney of Porto Rico, at the request of the collector of customs, instituted prosecutions against the official smugglers. The case was perfectly plain and the re-

STAY AND FIGHT.

Taking the present political status into consideration, the outlook seems brighter, to our conception, for the Democratic party to wedge in. THE INDEPENDENT is of the opinion that the party ought not to recede one step backwards, providing it sees a clear way, from its present attitude of taking part in the arena of our county politics, particularly with regard to this island of Oahu.

There is no mistaking the position of the Democratic party—that it holds the balance of power. It is also a well-known fact that it is at the present time in the minority, and being in that position, it rightly earns the above distinction claimed by us. It further has in its ranks men of well-known probity and integrity in all the different walks of life and it can produce good material from which to make choices for places. But before making any undue haste, it must weigh well the proposition that we are about to take before making any rash movement of active participation; yet we would advise to "take time by the forelock" with regard to the ways and means of going into the field. And when it has so weighed the proposition well, then it will be time to "strike the iron while it is hot."

Since the more stronger parties have both nominated full tickets and that much dissatisfaction has appeared over the horizon in consequence, we think there is yet some chance left with the minority to enter the battle field and make a fight. When the Republicans made their nominations, many of the rank and file became disgruntled over the nominees. Then hope was centered in the Hawaiian party that it would do better, either by affiliation with or endorsement of nominees of the Democratic party; but this hope has been forever blasted and thrown to the winds by is taking up with flunked recruits from either of the National parties and it still remains today a nondescript, mongrel nonentity, a monstrosity and a preposterous misfit. The majority of the Home Rule nominees are incompetents, although they are of our own people, none of whom can command the assistance of any self respecting elector. Democrats can and do command the respect and confidence of a large section of the people, be they Home Rulers or Republicans, and it is up to them to consider the demands of having good and competent men rule the future destiny of this county, i. e., men tried and true, and are moreover capable and trustworthy.

Now to our proposition, which is, that we propose and suggest to the Democratic party to make a decided stand for political preferment. The opportunity has been thrown at them, which is one in its existence here, and it is for it to grasp at such an opportunity. It is well known that there is no probable chance for it to gain the victory, but a posibility may occur by some "hook or crook" which may give it the full victory or partially. There is no telling what may happen, provided good material is put forward. The rumbling from those who are disgruntled indicates such a probable occurrence, leading towards such a possible victory. No harm will be done if an attempt is made.

Having now made our proposition and given the main reason why the suggestion should be received and, if need be, adopted, we are more than confident that not one Democrat will be returned, and it is well for them to count defeat as being already assured as a foregone conclusion; but there is a likelihood, aye, a possibility as well as a probability of gaining one or more of the new elective offices. Why? Because Democrats have the material.

We may not be taken seriously, but we are nevertheless earnest in the suggestion. An attempt should be made, if it is only an attempt,—and then finally—make a fight for it.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

What has become of Immigration Commissioner Lansing? If he don't get around and have a few boom articles published in the Advertiser, a la E M Boyd, we will be forced to surmise that he is doing his work properly.

The despatches have it that Captain Richmond P Hobson contemplates running for Congress in his native State. Has he not had enough? He sunk the Merrimac, which was all right; but when he begins to show designs on the Alabama it is about time for the police whistles to blow.

If Joe Millet wins over Rublin in the big fight at San Francisco on October 22 he will be the second pugilist to get his start in Honolulu. Tom Sharkey was an unknown until he cleaned up Rough Thompson and everything else here. When he got to the Coast, however, the gates to the ring were ajar to him. It has been much the same with Millett, although Millett is a more promising man than Sharkey ever aspired, with any good reason, to be.

The Star was mistaken in its report that the Democrats would meet Monday evening for the purpose of requesting their candidates to retire from the field. In the first place, there will be no meeting of Democrats at the time stated, and in the second place, it is the intention of the candidates to remain in the field. It is also the intention, as far as we can gather, of the party to back them up to the limit.

It appears after all that the Geo. R Carter resolution was before the Republican Convention on Kauai but encountered a death-dealing blizzard at the very outset. And Kauai probably the banner missionary county, too! The miserable failure of this Gubernatorial revolution in all the counties save wee West Hawaii is certainly not a cause for jubilation in the Carter camp. In fact the summary squelching of so small a thing as a complimentary endorsement should convince the Republicans of the Islands that Mr Carter is not a popular man.

Secretary Carter's cablegram, published elsewhere, indicates that money is not as easy in the east as had been represented. However, when it is known that only about half of the bonds are to be issued in the next few months, competition of a useful sort may spring up. If the bonds are to be issued at all, no effort should be spared to place them away from home, and despite the dull times, New York and the other big cities in that locality present the most promising field of which we are acquainted. No great trouble should be encountered in placing the first issue at 98 or more, if Mr Carter will let go on football and boat-racing long enough to attend to the business.

Do Your Joints Pain You?

A slight indefinite pain in the joints is the first sign of Rheumatism. Then come the aching pains and tenderness, the agonizing cramps, the fever and restlessness that characterize this disease.

When you feel the first slight pain, begin to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and the progress of the disease will be arrested. Neglect this and you will regret it.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a Positive and Permanent Cure for Rheumatism.

This remedy expels impurities from the blood, and supplies the material for rapidly rebuilding wasted nerve tissues. It has performed hundreds of almost miraculous cures in severe cases of Rheumatism, many times after doctors had given up hope. Read this sworn statement:

"In 1890 I was taken with rheumatism, which began in my hips and gradually spread throughout my body. For two years and a half I was confined to my bed; employed nine of the best physicians in Albany, and two specialists from New York city. They all declared my case hopeless, and finally told me that I had but six weeks to live. I told them to take their medicine away; that if I were to die I should take no more of the stuff.

My niece, who through her friends knew of the good results attending the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People, strongly recommended them. She procured the pills and by the time I had used the first box I felt hungry. Having had no appetite for a long time, I knew that the pills were doing me good. I continued their use, and after taking several boxes was able to leave my bed and go about with the use of crutches. I weighed but 130 pounds. As my normal weight is about 240 pounds, you can see how run down I had become during my sickness. After taking thirteen boxes of the pills I was weighed again, and although less than a year had passed I weighed 207 pounds. I continued the use of the pills and finally was able to abandon the crutches altogether, and am now as well as ever." MAT TANNER, 211 Hamilton St., Albany, N.Y.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 17th day of September, 1898.
NEILS F. TOWNER, Notary Public, Albany Co., N.Y.

The genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold only in packages, the wrapper always bearing the full name. At all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y. 50c. per box.

Carter Asks Instructions.

Treasurer Kepoikai this morning received the following cablegram from Secretary George R Carter, dated Rochester, N Y, today:

"Market critical, fear delay. Does not Act Forty-Two prevent private sale? Answer, New Willard, Washington."

To this Treasurer Kepoikai replied as follows, the advertisement for tenders being published under the head of a By-Authority elsewhere:

"Tenders for bonds advertised to open here 12 o'clock noon October 19, 1903. Insert following tenders in such papers as deemed advisable," etc.

"Sealed tenders will be received by the Treasurer of the Territory until 12 o'clock noon Monday, Oct 19, 1903, for the sale of Territorial five per cent bonds issued under provisions of Act 42, Session Laws of 1903, to the amount of $750,000.00. Strike at Honolulu.

The strike of Japanese at Honolulu plantation yesterday was due to a refusal of the management to accede to a demand for the guarantee of a flat wage of $20 a month. It seems that the men had been working on a profit-sharing plan, but their returns had proved greatly less than they had expected. When Manager Low refused to sanction the guarantee about 500 men quit work, and these tried to get the salary men to do likewise but without success. In the afternoon mounted police were despatched to the scene to prevent disorder. Subsequently the Japanese vice consul arrived and a conference, to which the case was referred for arbitration, was formed. The matter is now being sifted by this council.

Republican Plans.

At a meeting of the Republican Central Committee held last evening it was decided to begin the County campaign at once in great earnest. sult would have been in no doubt had the case gone to trial. It did not go to trial, however. Peremptory orders came from the Department of Justice at Washington to discontinue the prosecution, and when the federal judge at San Juan undertook to appoint a special prosecutor to take charge of the cases he too was warned off and told it would be better for his official scalp not to get too busy. The whole affair was dropped. But things seem to be different over in our Philippine possessions. At least, the cable brings the intelligence that Captain Henry B Chamberlain has been tried by the court of customs and sentenced to pay a fine of $5000 for smuggling, though the articles smuggled were addressed to "prominent military officers and their families," resident at Manila. There was no bulsbaloo at Washington. No orders went out to "smother" the case against Captain Chamberlain. He takes his medicine.

It would be interesting to know why this difference 'twixt Porto Rican tweedledum and Philippine tweedledee. At a venture it might be surmised that there are no senatorial sons-in-law in the smuggling business at Manila.

WARM TARIFF DEBATE COMING.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 12:

The intention of the republicans to force the "rubber and dark-lantern currency" issue in the Senate next winter is going to precipitate the warmest tariff debate that has been heard in the halls of the Congress since the days of the Mills bill, back in 1888. The republican leaders in the Senate are going to have their matches in that body when the debate is opened, and they will come from the younger element in that body. Of all the young Murats of debate in the Senate the state of Texas stands at the head as the best equipped state in the Union in that regard. It is undoubtedly, from the the standpoint of democracy, the ablest represented state in the entire country in the persons of the Hon Charles A Culberson and the Hon Joseph W Bailey. They are both under forty five years of age, and both have achieved notable distinction in the political arena. Both have had remarkable careers. They have attained their present positions through the sheer force of intellect and equisite fitness for the position, and not through the power of money as have the majority of the men on the republican side of the Senate. Those two men will take commanding positions in the coming debate for the reasons that their democracy is on straight and they have the brains to back up their reputations as democrats.

The so called leader of the Senate Mr Gorman, will not shine in this debate, for the very good reason that his tariff coat has rents and holes in it that will become plainly visible to the naked eye when such men as Aldrich and Spooner get on his trail. His tariff record has blow holes in it and he will be compelled to take a back seat. The real leaders in the next session of the Senate will be Culberson and Bailey, of Texas; Carmack, of Tennessee; Patterson, of Colorado; and Money, of Mississippi. There is no better equipped man in the Senate than Culberson. He is essentially a lawyer, and it is the questions of the law and the Constitution that he prefers, but he is perfectly at home in a tariff debate. This is his first experience as a legislator, and he has not been as ready to jump into the arena of debate as has his distinquished and brilliant colleague Mr Bailey, who had ten years' experience in the house before he came to the Senate. Senator Culberson's past experience in public life has been confined to the executive department of governmental affairs as the Attorney-General, and twice nominated and elected Governor, and elected, without opposition, to the United States Senate as a tribute to his brilliant record in the former offices he had held. As Attorney-General of his state he defended the state's rights in a suit before the United States Supreme Court, involving the validity to the title to Greer County, Texas, and his speech in the case before the Supreme Court was so brilliant that it called forth the encomiums of the most distinguished men of the bar in the country. Chief Justice Fuller told Col D B Culberson the father of the brilliant young Attorney-General, that it was the finest argument he had ever listened to in all his experience at the bar, and praise from "Sir Hubert" was praise indeed. His two terms as Governor of Texas reached the high-

HOW HUNGRY, POOR FELLOW?

"Pololi," said Caypless, the Home Rule candidate for County Attorney at Emma Square Saturday night, at the conclusion of one of his early sentences, and a voice on his left answered a refrain "hungry." He then immediately took this refrain up and harped upon it, thereby extending his speech to the length of about half an hour, although he said at the conclusion of the meeting that he did not intend to speak more than five minutes. That refrain gave him a subject, the fertility of which was admittedly shown by the way he immediately took it up, making admissions that his party as well as the other he was opposing were always "hungry." But his interpreter failed to take notice of the word, as he was always wont to do during his principal's whole speech and, in fact, made a speech of his own from the speaker's remarks and thought.

It was well-known to any intelligent Hawaiian present that it was only a slip of the tongue, for he no doubt intended to say "pololei" (correct or right) But the "hungry" candidate emphatically denied after the meeting that he ever said it, as he had no occasion to use it, and attributed the mistake to the defective ear trumpets of the one who made use of the refrain, who was none other than Mr Testa, and without any show of disrepect. We think his denial is in poor form, for many of those present will bear us out that he did use the word, and further, it shows his memory to be weak and very defective. Mr Testa has no reason to say "hungry," but equivalent in the vernacular, he himself then gave the occasion for the refrain and in which he received new impetus.

It is not our intention to make it appear that a man said something that he did not say. Our hearing trumpets are in as good order as they ever were and do not care to make Mr Caypless appear "hungry" after office other than what is a fact, and above all, the truth. Mr Cayples might be more manly to admit that he did say it and not try to "crawfish" out of it. On our part, there is no occasion to take issue with him on this matter other than to show that we were not mistaken.

It is well for a white man speaking to a Hawaiian audience through an interpreter, who do not understand the language, to abstain from using any of it, or else a break will surely occur as was the case with Mr Caypless on this occasion. Had he kept to his own lingo, no one would have given him a "refrain," because he was "pololei," and not "pololi."

WHO THREW THEM DOWN?

At most Home Rule meetings, whenever a mention is made of any one who is a Democrat as well as of the Democratic party, Charlie Notley always rises on his haunches, in the same manner as he did at the convention last Thursday, and says: "Damn the Democrats, they threw the party (Home Rule) down in the last campaign." We think him to be an evil genius at the time he entered the Home Rule party and is borne out by his vicious attitude of the present day.

While the 1902 campaign was on, when fusion of the two parties was being talked of and in the air, Senator Kalauokalani and himself strongly opposed it and the proposition, which came from their side, fell through. Then the Home Rule convention came on and nominated two Democrats as candidates for Representatives in the Fourth District, which the Democrats accepted, endorsing most of their candidates with Frank Harvey, instead of a Chinaman in the Fifth District, and excepting Mr Notley from the Senatorial ticket.

To this half-hearted and partial proposition, the Home Rulers ran away with the impression that there was fusion, when in fact there was nothing of the kind. Later on in the game, Prince David Kawananakoa, the sole Democratic nominee for Senator withdrew out of the race at the eleventh hour, without even giving his party a chance to fill the vacancy. Then it was that Notley expected a Democratic endorsement, which was not given, his defeat at the polls following. Since then, he has been most bitter, his viciousness knowing no bounds.

As is generally the case, the Home Rulers were without funds, and in this they sought assistance from their Democratic allies. Then it was that the Democrats came forward and offered them the help of fellowship by advancing the deposit for ten of their island candidates upon the last day. And not only that, but during the whole campaign, the Democrats coughed over to them something in the aggregate of over $1,200 for defraying expenses, which, in a measure, was legitimate.

"damns" the Democrats, unless they come in to the Home Rule party and take the oath. That's gratitude with a vengeance. And then to dictate to a recognized party to go in under an unrecognized monstrosity. This beats all!

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The establishment in Honolulu by the Wahiawa Colony of a distributing depot will enable people to determine the quality and volume of the truck output there. Success is our earnest wish for the enterprise. It will at least supply a practical lesson in small farming and the profits possible therein.

The Advertiser is now after the scalps of C B Wilson, road supervisor, and Charles Clark. The plain intent of that faction of the Republican party represented by the morning press is to force every native Hawaiian out of office. Any old excuse answers for the purposes of the fight. In the county election Hawaiians should heed this momentous handwriting on the wall.

Now that a final settlement between the Rapid Transit Company and Hawaiian Tramways Company has been reached it is to be hoped that the uncomely and dangerous track of the latter on King street, from the Kamehameha schools to the Waikiki turn, will be forthwith removed. This track has long remained without care, and wheels grating along the sides of the rails have eaten away the dirt and left the track high and a menace to vehicles. It is estimated that hundreds of dollars of damage is sustained by wheels weekly from this cause.

It is very seldom that we can possibly find occasion to commend the work of Superintendent Cooper, but if, as Bystander states in Sunday's Advertiser, he is employing men for their ability and ignoring the mandates of the Republican Central Committee, we hasten to doff our hat in the most complimentary fashion. If Mr Cooper is really doing this he is the first official of this niggardly, grab-all administration to comprehend and endeavor to live up to the spirit of the Constitution and the Organic Act. No success can come of permitting political pull to outweigh brains in the competition for preferment, as the Republican party has found out to its sorrow and will more plainly see as time goes on. Cooper is right.

Governor Dole having declared it his intention to retire from public life, the question of who shall be our next governor is one of deep interest and significance. The name of George R Carter has been fairly presented to the people in the Republican convention throughout the Islands, and even his best friends must admit that his appointment would prove at least an unpopular event if not an unwise one. There is today but one man who is preeminently our logical choice for governor to succeed Governor Dole, and the fact that he is a Hawaiian adds to the urgency of the need for his appointment. Our present treasurer, Hon A N Kepoikai is the ideal man for our next governor. Broad and liberal in his views, and wise and able in administrative qualities, he commands the utmost respect and confidence both of whites and Hawaiians, and his appointment as governor would give more universal satisfaction than any other man on water mark of statesmanship and unanimous election to the Senate was a foregone conclusion. He is easily the leader of his state, a state of strong and virile men, and can stay in the Senate as long as he desires, and with little or no opposition.

His colleague, Mr Bailey, easily takes rank as one of the best debaters in the entire Congress of the nation. His specialty is the tariff, having been on the Ways and Means Committee of the House for ten years, and in defending constitutional points. His brilliant fight in the Senate during the long session of the last Congress to compel the President of the Senate, to restore the names of Senator Tillman and McLaurin, of South Carolina, to the rolls of the Senate from which they had been stricken, after their first fight on the floor of the Senate, was the finest personal triumph ever seen in the Senate, and was so designated by Senator Forsker, one of his chief and one of his best opponents Look out for these two young giants in the next Congress.

To Federal Court.

The suit of Mrs Emma Watson against her father, Claus Spreckels, to recover $400,000 of property in Honolulu, has suddenly been switched from the Circuit to the Federal Court on the ground that the plaintiff is a British subject. The claims made in the Circuit Court are renewed, with the following additional points:

"At the time of the commencement of this present action, and for a long time prior thereto, said plaintiff, said Emma Claudina Spreckels Watson, was, and still is, an alien and subject of His Majesty Edward Seventh, King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and Emperor of India; and at the time of the commencement of this present action, and for a long time prior thereto, said plaintiff was, and still is a resident in and at the Manor House, Lower Kingswood, near Reigate in England aforesaid.

"At the time of the commencement of this present action, said defendant, said Claus Spreckels, was, and still is, a citizen of the State of California in the United States of America; and at the time of this present action, and for a long time prior thereto, said defendant was, and still is a resident of the City of San Francisco, in the Northern District of said State of California in the United States of America."

It is then alleged that the action is brought to remove a cloud upon the property of the plaintiff and it is alleged that the matter in dispute herein exceeds the sum of $2000 and that the property involved is of the value of $250,000.

The petition further sets out that the property has long been owned by the plaintiff and then recites practically the same facts as were given in the Circuit Court suit.

Republicans Begin.

Three Republican campaign meetings were held last evening—one in Kakaako, one at Waikiki and the third at Kalihi camp. The meetings were fairly well attended, although the weather was extremely bad. Each of the Republican candidates, except High Sheriff Brown and S E Damon, appeared at two meetings, some of them for the first time. At Kalihi Camp the meeting was small but there was considerable enthusiasm. Busses took the crowd to and from the car line. At High Sheriff Brown's place in Waikiki there was a fair attendance and the spirit of the occasion was enlivened by a liberal distribution of refreshments.

The principal meeting in Kakaako was presided over by W H Kalilimai, with Captain Nahora Hipa as interpreter. The speakers were E K Lilikalani, Chas Lake, J A Gilman, J W Pratt, J Lucas, A Hocking, Paulo Hokii, R N Boyd, H P Haiola, M P Robinson and I H Sherwood.

Bazaar Changes.

The Maternity Home luau and bazaar next Saturday is attracting much attention. Governor Dole has consented to have the government band play on the grounds both afternoon and evening. Two quintette clubs may also be in attendance during the evening to play for the dancing. Mrs Annis Montague Turner is to sing, as will also J L Kaulukou, Jr, recently of St Mary's College, Oakland.

The dollar tickets are for the afternoon admission, entitling the holders also to partaking of the luau and the foreign lunch. The gates will be open in the afternoon from noon until 5. In the evening the grounds will again be opened up for the dance and bazaar, for which a fee of fifty cents will be charged.

Weather permitting, the band will play on the grounds of the Queen's hospital this afternoon.

A MEED OF PRAISE.

Now that the Baseball season is over, credit must first be given to the Hawaiian Baseball League for giving to the public good, clean sport for the patronage given. The attendance at these games have been unusually large and out of the ordinary from the patronage given in former years. To the directors of the Association who went into the expense of fencing the grounds and of building a large grandstand sufficient to accommodate lovers of the game and the public generally is greatly due the success of this year's undertaking, which has been phenomenal and unprecedented.

Apart from all this laudation, the greatest credit belongs to each of the five teams that played the entire season for the manner in which they respectively entertained the public at large. But our meed of humble praise will fall on barren ground and rocky soil if we fail to mention one particular team, in whom we deem greater credit is due for the clean sport put up by it, and that is the Kamehameha.

In our estimation, the boys of the team as a whole put up good and clean sport; they played good and decent games, and never a kick has been heard as coming from them even when the umpire's decisions were adversely and dead (wrong) against them, they kept on with their playing, not minding the odds against them. They acted as gentlemen and were sporty besides. And further, we are more than proud because every one of them is a Hawaiian to the manner born, and moreover, their talent is all home-made and home-spun without any mainland importations, which is all the more to their credit.

It is a well known fact in baseball circles that they are employed in different vocations and their practices together as a team have been few and far between. With all the odds against them, they have manfully stuck to their posts and have conclusively shown the mettle they are composed of besides being very gamey. Their conduct and behavior on the field has made them respected, which is another feather in their cap.

In giving credit to whom credit is due, we are merely voicing the encomiums of their many admirers, friends and well-wishers. When they won the championship pennant of this season, they won it fairly, squarely, honestly and above board. They can wear their laurels unbesmirched for the clean manner in which they put up their games, and that without fear of any insulting innuendoes nor of shame from any source whatsoever.

Ray, ray, ray, Kamehameha! Ka-MEH-A-ME-HA— Ka-meha-ME-HA—!

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Both the Advertiser and Bulletin reported Testa wrongly at the Home Rule ratification rally. He only said "hungry" when Cayless said 'pololi."

There is something about the Promotion Committee's advertisement of Hawaii in The Outlook that makes one feel like a naked baby seated on an ice-berg.

Judging from the reports of refreshments at the various Republican meetings last evening, one is led to surmise that this will be-er gurgling campaign with the g. o. p.

We wonder whether Prof Berger will have the gall and the temerity to dock the wages of the singing girls tomorrow, pay day in Government circles. Watch him, Auditor Fisher.

Can any decent person rely on the politics of such a man as Wilcox? Once a Republican on the Mainland and a Home Ruler here; and now he has declared himself to be a Democrat on the Mainland and a Home Ruler here. Nit!

What ingrates these Home Rule politicians are. They have no use for those who have stood for them and been in their company these many years and now they find comfort in the company of those of their own kind that knew them not in the past. It is no wonder that "politics make strange bedfellows."

Is it not rather singular that two Supreme Court justices should voluntarily absent themselves from the Territory at a time when a determination of the legality of the County Act is of vital importance? In the circumstances, can one be blamed for suspecting a preconcerted scheme to defer judicial action until the successful candidates are known?

If local contractors are willing to take $350,000 of the new loan bonds, in lieu of cash, on public contracts, we say by all mean let them have them and let the work begin. Stagnation has prevailed far too long and it is high time to turn in the cleansing current of work. The matter seems to be up to Superintendent Cooper, and we hope he will find occasion to forthwith put a stop to dilly-dallying in his office and get down to business.

An embarrassing feature of the Republican campaign on Oahu is that most of the candidates feel obliged to relate in detail their past careers, a large majority of voters seeming not to know anything about them. It is fortunate, however, that some of them are enabled to extoll their own virtues, for had the lot fallen to others the stories might have a different ring.

"Pololi" Cayless admittedly said that Home Rulers were hungry for truth, which could not be found in the Republican ranks; and that further, they were hungry for justice, which had been denied them these ten years and more. He further remarked that Home Rulers will have their hunger appeased after November 3rd, when the elections are over and Home Rulers are victorious at the ballot box. Pela paha, in the sweet mahope. We'll see!

If the Auditor could see his way clear to issue warrants directly to each bandsman, he should do so at once. In such an event, the bandmaster would be prevented from handling the money, only his requisition being all that is necessary, and much friction would thereby be prevented. If school teachers could get their warrants directly, their appropriation being in a lump sum, why not the bandsmen whose salaries are more specific by classification?

George F Renton says he has been in the Islands forty years. Yes, and he might stay here forty years more and be known of no more people that now have seats in his select circle. Renton is mind, body and soul a sugar man. He is looked in the business as securely as a dime in a burglar proof safe. He cannot get out and does not want to. He is to the sugar business what J Pierpont Morgan is to his brokerage office. It is a case of make all possible and "the people be damned." If Renton had spent a few of his forty years finding out that there were some other people than himself, the Sugar Planters Association and Japanese coolies on Oahu he might have a fair chance of being elected supervisor. But as it is—fudge!

Jeffersonian Democracy.

John R Dunlap has issued a book entitled "Jeffersonian Democracy" in which he attempts to show to what extent and in what respects the Democratic party has drifted away from the principles of Jefferson and Jackson, and to show how a return may be made to the original ideals and standard. The book is largely historical, but is pointed and convincing in its application of facts. It is unquestionably one of the best publications issued in recent years in the interest of the party.

Mr Dunlap starts out with a chapter on "The Rule of the Millionaires," with searching character sketches of the money kings of the present. The next chapter is entitled "The political machine at work," showing the immense power of Hanna, Morgan, Rockefeller and other rich men in Wall street and in Washington. This is followed by "Outlines of the problems now confronting us." The other subjects are: "The seamy side of our prosperity," "A few pages of patriotic history," Andrew Jackson, Nullification and the Bank monopoly;" "Abraham Lincoln and forgotten history;" "The cause of panics—The money question;" "The tariff as related to trusts;" "The regulation of Inter-State commerce;" "Mine monopoly and land speculation;" "From Julius Caesar to Thomas Jefferson."

The book contains 479 pages and is handsomely bound in paper and cloth. It is published by the Jeffersonian Society, 120 Liberty street, New York, and the price is 50 cents and $1.50 respectively.

Carter Wires Again.

Treasurer Kepoikai yesterday received the following funnygram from Secretary Carter:

"Washington, Sept. 29.

"To Kepoikai, Honolulu:

"Why change original plan contract sell all now, temporary receipt, 250 immediately, 500 January, 250 April, interest accoringly†

"CARTER."

In view of the fact that Carter is supposed to know the law and the plans for disposing of the bonds, Treasurer Kepoikai deemed an answer entirely unnecessary. The Secretary will be allowed to follow his own course, with heads or tails as to which end of the horn he will come out.

Mr Cooper states that he has an offer from a material man to accept $50,000 of bonds for material furnished in order that public work may go on. As contractors have also signified a willingness to accept $350,000, a total of $400,000 of the bonds may be considered as placed at any time.

Exonerates Car Men.

The coroner's jury, empanelled to inquire into the course of death of Pelapela, the old, deaf flower man, who was struck by an electric car on Hotel street Monday, returned the following verdict:

"That the said Pelapela came to his death at Honolulu on September 28, 1903, from hemorrhage of the brain, caused by colliding with a certain electric car of the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Company, to wit, car No. 25.

"We further find that while no blame attaches in this instance, to the motorman and conductor of said car No. 25, that still greater care should be exacted from the employes of the Honolulu Rapid Transit Company than at present is exacted."

More Papers Filed.

The following additional nomications arrived by the Mauna Loa yesterday and were filed with Registrar Buckland:

West Hawaii—Guy F Maydwell, attorney; Dan P Namanu, surveyor; Geo C Hewitt, J H K Keawahaku, John A Maguire and S Lazaro, supervisors.

East Hawaii — L A Andrews, sheriff.

Maui—W T Robinson, assessor and collector.

Will Play October 10.

The Company that has been rehearsing Hawaiian drama with tableaux during the summer, for presentation during the autumn and winter months, will stage its first play, "Kaala," in the Hawaiian Opera House on Saturday evening, October 10.

Stmr Helene, Nelson, from Mahukona and Kawaihae, 10,637 bags sugar, 75 head cattle, 1 case mdse.

CARTER'S MISSION.

Why, the mischief! We thought George R Carter went to New York and Boston to sell the Hawaiian bonds, but it seems that he is hanging around Washington and playing joker to the President. This whole business of Carter's mission smells like a basket of rotten eggs. It is now plain that he went back there for the express and only purpose of "working" Roosevelt for the Governorship. That is what he is now doing. Roosevelt and Carter had luncheon together yesterday, and (if Carter could manage it) Carter and Roosevelt probably had luncheon together today. These crazy cablegrams that are coming in from Carter are mere fool-catchers, flashed off at intervals when he is not chasing up the President, to make the people here think that he is keeping busy on the bond business. Carter knows the law and the arrangements made in regard to the bonds. His senseless cablegrams are merely expedients to gain time, while he lunches with the President and struggles to make an impression.

If Carter went to New York to place the Hawaiian bonds, why the deuce is he not in New York now? What is he doing in Washington? What business for the Hawaiian people has he there? The President has approved the Loan Act, which settles that, and the loan bond business is all that Carter is supposed to have gone on. Does he expect to sell the bonds in Washington? Well, hardly. Our "strenuous" Secretary is there to see our "strenuous" President in regard to his commission next June. He is wasting the people's time and the people's money on his own political aspiration—"only that, and nothing more."

TAKE THE HOME RULE OATH.

When the overthrow came in 1893, the successful revolutionists exacted an ironclad oath from the people, which prevented the majority from participation in the affairs of the day and those then in power gained the desired effect of the minority ruling the majority. Since then, conditions have changed, and now that self-same majority, composed of Home Rulers, is demanding an oath, somewhat copying the style of the former P G patriots. Funny, isn't it, to see how inconsistent our compatriots are. What are they coming to?

The P G oath of revolutionary days abjured one from restoring the Monarchy, and required that he must support its constitution and laws. The Home Rule oath compels one to owe fealty to that party as well as supporting its constitution etc. Both seem to us on a par, and we fail to see wherein the Hawaiian party (of the people) is consistent.

Those insisting on this lay-out were former P G's who since have been found wanting, led by one Charles Notley, who is sowing the seed of discord and dissension, the result of which is bearing fruit among those who formerly stood aghast at oath taking. But now they are exacting the same of others. Many a tale could be told on the leader of this vicious and death dealing policy. The day is not far distant when they will begin to rue it. Such a proposition is bound to react on themselves.

Self-respecting men of known standing cannot for one moment entertain such a preposterous proposition, and only office hunters, soreheads, grafters, traitors, and such like, are willing to graft it for self and pelf. It was this self-same oath or pledge that was attempted, during the first Teritorial campaign in 1900, on Messrs J O Carter and the late E C Macfarlane by George Markham and R N Boyd, and they were righteously declined. And here again it is being used on the Democratic nominees in order to bring them into line as Home Rule candidates, but they have been indignantly told to refrain from making the attempt. Only turncoats bite at such a proposition for the sake of getting into power.

And on top of all this, the Home Rulers, to show their inconsistency, say: "Take that oath or not be favored by us," to be followed by Notley's bluster—"Damn the Democrats." And now the Morning Oracle wants the Hawaiian Democratic party to follow up "behind the Republican ticket" in this election. Pelaka-u, loaa kau! Not if Democrats know it. It is much better to lay down and die of ambition than to be the tail piece of another that has no use for it whatever.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

President Roosevelt cannot slaughter his Hawaiian support in the Republican National Convention with greater despatch than by appointing George R Carter to be Governor of this Territory. Of course the Hawaiian vote amounts to little in one way; but it will be taken to represent Pacific Ocean opinion, and the Republican party is just now most anxious to conciliate that opinion. However, the appointment of Carter might prove a blessing in disguise. It would mean the death knell to the Republican party in these Islands.

A report is current that sugar plantations have been assessed at the rate of 3 cents per ton of sugar manufactured, in order to raise sufficient funds for defraying the expenses of the present county campaign. If the "big" farmers are to bear such a burden towards influencing the votes of the native electorate, how about the "small" farmers? Let not all the Republican organs speak at once, for fear they will all tumble over themselves in the attempt. Go slow, pards.

In the business community the work of the Fire Claims Commission is appreciated, but not so in Home Rule circles, particularly with the two native Hawaiian members whose names are mud to them. Why is this? The reason is, so 'tis hinted, because they will not lend themselves to assist in imposing upon the taxpayers the burden of paying for some of the "bloated" claims engineered by certain inferior lawyers. On the record made by the Commission, the members thereof are content in the feeling that they have done their duty by the people and it has been appreciated by the authorities as well as by the business community at large. These disgruntled ones are only a small minority lacking the courage to make an open opposition.

In his speech at Emma Square last Saturday night, Mr Cayless compared the three platforms. He said that in the Democratic and Home Rule platforms, they assert and reiterate that they are "of the people, for the people and by the people." But in that of the Republican party, this declaration is studiously ignored, because in its platform, it merely declares that "we proclaim our unswerving fealty to the traditions, policies and principles".....as promulgated in its National Platform," etc, but not a word in recognition of the people. "Why is it?" he asked, and in about the same breath he himself answered it by saying—"because they care not for the people." And yet such a party craves for the people's votes and panders to the wealthy class, or, in other words, to the upper crust.

During the absence of Marston Campbell, the immaculate "technical" man of Superintendent Cooper, W E Rowell attended to his duties as consulting engineer at $300 per month. But recently, since his return to the scene of his "technicality," it is related of said Campbell that he has coolly put in a claim for two months pay at $250 each, which his good friend Cooper approved and the same has been allowed by Auditor Fisher in the way of a warrant or warrants for the amount claimed, payable out of no particular salary appropriation, but from roads and bridges, or for dredging Honolulu harbor, when nothing of the kind has been done these few months, or from something else of the kind. How well these schemers disregard the Legislature and get ahead of the people by blinking at them over their noses with their eyes wide open. And then the Advertiser says that Cooper is all right.

It was rumored that the eight were in favor of Metcalf. Upon making its report the jury was taken to supper at the Hawaiian hotel. In the evening the matter was taken up again and considered until nearly midnight. A verdict being found impossible the jury was sent to the Hawaiian hotel for the night. This morning the situation remained about the same, so that the twelve "good and true" were returned once more to the jury room for further deliberation.

Decides for Rowland.

The jury in the case of Metcalf vs. Rowland, et al, came into Court about 6 o'clock last evening and returned a verdict in favor of defendans. This was after having deliberated more than a day. During the afternoon, when it seemed that a verdict could not be reached, Judge De Bolt pointed out an important duty of a jury to be to arrive at some conclusion and end litigation. Counsel for plaintiff noted exceptions and motion for a new trial.

The case involved the property at the Ewa side of Alapai street between Hotel and Beretania, which belonged to the late Frank Metcalf. Thomas Metcalf claimed the property by right of inheritance, he setting up that the deceased owner was his father. This claim was disputed by the defendant, it being declared that the only son of Metcalf died in infancy and was buried in Manoa valley. Frank Metcalf was Mrs Rowland's brother and Mrs Rowland has occupied the premises for many years. The value of the property is variously estimated between $30,000 and $50,000.

Will Have a Building.

"Resolved, That the plan proposed for an Hawaiian exhibit at St. Louis, be carried out with a building to cost not to exceed $5000, and other expenses be kept within the $25,000 remaining from the appropriation."

The above resolution was presented by W O Smith before the Exposition Committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon and passed unanimously. It was the outgrowth of a letter from Secretary Carter recommending such a course. F W Beardslee is to have plans for the building ready by Monday morning.

A Double Wedding.

A double wedding took place at St Clement's chapel last evening. The brides were the Misses Osborn, formerly of Los Angeles. Miss Fannie Osborn and Charles R Frazier were married first; immediately following, Miss Florence Osborn and E Heard Cooke were married. Rev John Ushborne officiated at both ceremonies. After the weddings a reception to friends was held at the parish house. Mr Frazier is manager of the Pioneer Advertising Company and Mr Cooke is an employee in the Customs department.

More Foresters.

The following additional foresters have been appointed by the Board of Agriculture: George Ross, North Hilo district; W R Castle, South Kona; Mr Barkhausen, Lahaina; L von Tempsky, Makawao; L von Tempsky and Dr Raymond, Kula and Kaupo, Maui; J M Lidgate, Koloa, Kauai. The only three districts now without volunteer foresters are Hilo, Hana and Waianae.

Mon War Beat Up.

Ng Mon War, lawyer and erstwhile politician, was set upon at Hotel and Maunakea streets yesterday afternoon by several fellow countrymen and quite badly used up. It is said that brass knuckles were used. As a result of the encounter Mon War is in the hospital with a broken nose and is otherwise severely bruised. His assailants belonged to the Ying Yee Tong, a clan unfriendly to the lawyer's society.

After the meeting of Republicans in Kakaako last night Kumalae mounted the fence and replied to aspersions cast upon him and other recent recruits of the Home Rule party. He was received with ap-

EVASIVE PLATFORMS.

In the matter of political platform making, drafters seem to be generally in the habit of having inserted some certain plank whereby it is expected to catch the people by playing with them. There is a saying that you may be able to "fool all the people some of the time, some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time." We will now undertake to quote a plank from the platforms of both the Republican and Home Rule parties and now say that both cannot fool the people and the people should know it, too. Here goes:

"8. We oppose all trusts, monopolies and corporation lobbies that would interfere with Republican policy or try to control prices or supply and demand."—Republican Platform.

"3. We oppose all trusts and monopolies; and we condemn corporate associations and combinations devised for the purpose of evading the provisions of our parent law, the Organic Act; and denounce them as monopolistic defiance of the rights of the people."—Home Rule Platform.

All these high sounding expressions may sound very nice, but are they sincere? We very much doubt their sincerity, because their past in the last Legislature speaks out against them. All is not yet forgotten when both parties are responsible for the passage of "An Act concerning Corporations," which law is of monopolistic and trust tendencies, and yet both come forward now and say that "we oppose all trusts," etc And this, in the face of what they have done and that not very long ago, only a few months have since ple to weigh them well at the ballot box.

But of the Republicans, how neatly they try to cover up their tracks and make it appear that they are in earnest by the words "that would interfere with Republican policy." We would like to know what may that policy be. It is evasive, uncertain and unintelligible, meaning nothing and caring for nobody.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

It is safe to say that had it been a hack to run over the old, native flower man on Hotel street Monday the driver would have been criminally prosecuted; but as it was the Rapid Transit Company, a wealthy corporation, the case was different.

Despite the whip lash of Republican bosses, the county election will be one in which the man will count and the party will be a second consideration. That is just as it should be. Every candidate on the various tickets is known. "He go and so a good man!" should end will be the question. What his politics are will cut little figure with many voters.

Substituting Democrat Frank Harvey for Charles Notley on the Home Rule ticket materially strenghtens that ticket, but to all appearances it leaves Harvey in an awkward position. He is the regular nominee of the Democratic party for candidate for supervisor from the Fifth District. The Home Rulers nominate him straight for supervisor-at-large. It is true that some have "honors thrust upon them," but it seems that Harvey's honors are of the double-barreled kind.

Life-long Democrat "Clem" Quinn made his debut as a Republican orator in Kakaako last night, and well he did it, too. Bones, the demigod of his native State, Iowa, could not have done better under all the circumstances. After the halo of 16 to 1 had been dispelled from his vicinity by Republican cheers, the silver-tongued bailiff arose to the occasion, a veritable picture of Alexander Hamilton. "Roosevelt" Renton and "Alexander Hamilton" Quinn is a great pair to draw to.

Republican candidates are promising residents of Kakaako and Kewalo that if elected to office they will see that those localities are supplied with ample water and good roads. The question we would like to ask is "why have these improvements not been made before!" The Republicans have been in absolute power for a year and almost complete power for several years. But what has been done? Nothing. These Republican promises are getting pretty well frayed, and the new ones will amount to no more than those that have gone before.

"Do we want a change now?" The foregoing was the question put to the writer by a certain party the other day on the streets, and we of course answered that "we do." This party then said that "we really want a change and badly, too. It is about time that we had it." He then asked us further—"how are we to get it?" Not being ready with an immediate answer, he replied: "Vote the straight Home Rule ticket and it's the only way you can have a change." Mind ye, these words came from the lips of a white man. There's some good, reasonable logic in such an argument, and we would add—Don't forget to vote for the three Democratic nominees for supervisors. By voting for the Republicans, the same old order of things remain as at present without any apparent change. Sure kela, Mike.

If a building is to be erected for Hawaii at St Louis it should typify present day conditions and not those of remote and almost forgotten past. There is enough in present-day architectural schemes to interest and thrill the impulse for novelty, and a modern Hawaiian building would thoroughly fill the bill. There should be nothing about the building to convey a derogatory impression, an impression of conditions that exist only in story and folk-lore.

Republican promises are now cropping out fast and numerous like toadstools, because we are on the eve of an election. The latest one reported comes from Waianae, where the manager of the Waianae Company has promised the natives that if the Republican party's nominees got their votes, fishing would be free to them without any deduction by the plantation for its share. But it is not taken seriously by those whom he intends to dupe unless it is put down in black and white. Right you are, says Moses. Does Jack Dowsett know of it, we wonder? Is Jack in cahoots with his lively and morally hide bound manager?

If it is true as elsewhere reported that the Democratic nominee for supervisor in the Fifth District has given his consent to be a Home Rule candidate for supervisor-at-large, and that without consulting the other nominees and the party, then he is not as staunch a Democrat as he appears to be on the surface. A gentleman should always be one and act as one by treating his colleagues in the same manner as he would have others treat him, unless he has been carried away by seeing the sight of a "gaudy bauble" in front of him and of his being in office for once, anyway, in his life. Probably he is carried away by the importance Home Rulers have placed in him and is a good sign of his future success, and may he enjoy distinction and prominence long, is the sincere wish of his fellow Democrats as well as of THE INDEPENDENT.

Fire this Morning.

Fire at an early hour this morning destroyed the two-story wooden building at the south-west corner of Queen and Richards streets, together with the contents. Over a hundred Asiatics and natives living on the second floor escapad with only their clothing and such valuables as they could hurriedly remove. The Cable Saloon, owned by Sidney Turner, two restaurants, a barber shop, a fruit store and some other smaller establishments went up in smoke.

The fire started about 2 o'clock but was well under way before it was discovered. It seems to have had its beginning back of the restaurant next to the Cable saloon, quickly advancing, however, toward Queen street and also toward the City Mill and Sailors Home. The Central fire station responded promtly but at first had trouble with the water. It was soon quite plain that help would be required, so Palama and Makiki engines were called in.

When water was secured the whole building was in flames. It was too late to save anything. Attention was turned to adjoining property, and by keeping everything flooded the fire was held within the original building. In a half hour everything except portions of the outer walls of the structure was in ashes.

The building belonged to a Chinaman, who is the heaviest loser, and was on land leased from Peter High. Sidney Turner, owner of the Cable saloon, was the next heaviest loser. He carried no insurance and saved absolutely nothing. The other establishments were owned by Asiatics and were very small.

The wind was blowing slightly from the northeast, placing the buildings at the south side of Richards street in great peril. Burning shingles, carried into the air, fell in showers upon the United States naval reservation and in the bay. The entire naval station force turned out to protect the buildings and coal piles. At the same time the U S S Iroquois and tug Fearless got their fire apparatus ready to protect the ship Erskine M Phelps and other vessels in her vicinity.

Jail Deliveries.

Defendants were ordered discharged and their bonds canceled in the following cases by Judge Gear yesterday.

Lim Ah Yong and eighteen other Chinese, appealed from Honolulu District Court on sentence of five to six days' imprisonment and payment of costs, for being present at a place where the gambling game of paikau was being carried on.

Pak Foo, appealed from sentence of three months at hard labor and costs and 22 other Chinese from sentence of three days and costs, for being present where the game of fan tan was being played.

Seu San, appealed from sentence of hard labor four days and costs, for assault and battery on Ah See, a woman.

These cases were all discharged under a plea to the jurisdiction on the ground that the defendants had not been indicted by a grand jury.

Home Rulers Meet.

About 1,500 people attended the Home Rule meeting in Kakaako last evening. The speaker's platform was erected in front of the Kumalae building and the there spell-binders of the party held forth for nearly four hours. Nearly all of the candidates spoke and each was received with applause and enthusiasm. The meeting concluded with the singing

OH, HOW THEY LOVE YOU

"All these people (the Kamaaina Republicans) have to offer you as an excuse for voting for them is the sorry plea 'I was born here.' They come before you and tell you that they were born here, that you and they are brothers and that they love you. If they have lived with you so long and they have loved you so well, how is it they do not even speak your language?"

—Edgar Caypless, to Home Rulers at Kakaako.

Mr Caypless should know that there is a something, perhaps in the climate, that makes the kamaaina whites of Hawaii strangely emotional. The emotions follow each other, too, in what seem to be cycles. For instance in 1895 the war emotion was to the front, and Reuton, Lucas, Robinson, Gilman, Hocking, Brown, Pratt, Damon and others of the Republican candidates were out with their rifles looking for Hawaiian heads and throwing these self-same natives, to whom they now come for votes, into jail. The love emotion or impulse comes on regularly just before elections. It is as regular on deck as the campaigns, and the story it is invariably the same.

It is strange that with each election period some natives are found to believe these honeyed declarations and are misguided into voting for the candidates using them. Surely experience has taught what should be a permanent lesson on the point. Only last year the Republicans came before the native Hawaiians with this same sort of bosh. For several weeks before the offices if they (the Home Rulers) were elected. Good, if they are capable and competent to fill them all, but we doubt if they are. This is a vote catching bait, but the advice is bad.

The best Home Rule speech made last night was that by C W Booth. He spoke very short, about half a minute; was very concise and inaudible, and as far as could be made out, he assured the people that he had enough and more to back him up as county treasurer, should he ever be fortunate enough to be elected.

The fact is now too well assured that Democrat Harvey has accepted the Home Rule request to be at large, for he spoke from their stand last night at Kakaako, giving out the assurance that he had been accepted without losing sight of his party loyalty. He said this while acting alone for himself without consultation or consent of the other Democratic nominees, and this in the face of another being the nominee of his own party for the position he has now usurped by permission and acquiescence, not endorsement, if you please, of the Home Rule party, a party who has damned his party to go to the "demolition bowwows." His staunch partisanship has been put to the crucial test and is found lacking.

Carter Wires Again.

Treasurer Kepoikai received early this morning the following cablegram from Secretary Carter in reply to his message of yesterday:

"Change detriment naturally. Better price with monopoly.

"CARTER"

The Treasurer then answered at once, as follows:

"No objection to tenders for one million. Authority to accept bids and amount of same will be forwarded on receipt of information. Bids are being received here and must be considered. Monopoly depends on nature of all bids. Bonds to issue according to original plan."

The Jap Discharged.

The Jap, employed as a wiper (working nights) at the sewerage pumping station was discharged yesterday morning, after the fact of his being there had been stated in Wednesday's issue of this paper. The history of how this Jap was smuggled into a Government billet and kept there under cover until fear of trouble from exposure brought about his discharge, should make interesting reading for the voters who are being promised work in the event of Republican success in November.

Died Yesterday.

D T Bailey, part owner and manager of the Star Soda Works, died at his home at the corner of Alexander and Dole streets at 7 o'clock last evening of liver trouble and dropsy, aged 57. The funeral will take place from the late residence, under the auspices of Harmony Lodge, Odd Fellows, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Interment will be in Makiki cemetery.

Deceased was born at Peacham, Vermont, and came to the Islands 22 years ago. He was first employed as manager of the Woodlawn Dairy, and some years later purchased the Tahiti Lemonade Works. Still later he effected a combine of small soda manufactories, forming the Consolidated Soda Works of which he was elected manager. A little more than a year ago he, with two others, bought the Star Soda Works and Mr Bailey remained manager of that institution until his death. Deceased was married about ten years ago to Hattie Lewis. The widow and three children survive him.

A civil service examination for the postoffice service will be held tomorrow. Applications will be received by A B Ingalls at the custom house not later than 4 o'clock this afternoon. Answer to Carter.

Treasurer Kepoikai yesterday sent the following reply to Secretary Carter's last cablegram:

"Deemed best to limit amount in New York to $750,000, as considerable has developed here."

Wounded and Robbed.

Fujikawa, a Japanese laborer for Honolulu plantation, was held up at the hill near Damon's dairy yesterday afternoon, shot, slashed, robbed and left on the roadside for dead. His assailant was a Chinaman. The victim is in the plantation hospital at Aiea. A Chinaman named Ah Kit was arrested and is being held for investigation. He is said to have a bad record and to have acted suspiciously when arrested.

THE TRUSTS STILL IN THE SADDLE.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 18:

The trusts are still in the saddle. The anthracite coal trust is advancing the price of coal again, though it is reported to have mined and stored some millions of tons more than can be sold this year, and yet this trust has such a monopoly that it can put up prices as it pleases. The meat trust also files notice that it intends to raise the price of its products to a level more in accord with the times and permissive of the garnering of larger profits. Congress, last winter, when the coal trust was a live issue, appropriated a special fund of $500,000 for the Department of Justice to use to prosecute trusts. Congress also provided for a number of assistant Attorney Generals to prepare cases against the trusts. Many months have elapsed since this money and those attorneys were placed at the disposal of the administration, but no action has been begun. There is on file with the Attorney General more than one case against trusts, prepared by private enterprise, such as the case against the coal trust prepared by William R Hearst, and the case against the tobacco trust has been on file for over two years, but it has reposed in a pigeon-hole in the department, and even the extra money and the extra help have been unable to drag it into court.

There seems to be nothing that can stop this insatiable greed of bloated trusts, except business depression. That with its resultant reduction in the people's purchasing power, will prove the only effective means to bring prices down again to a reasonable limit, so long as the Republican party remains in the saddle. So far as legislatures and courts are concerned, they are apparently, unable or unwilling to do anything to protect the consumers. Anti-trust laws passed by the lawgivers are, as a rule, promptly and neatly knocked out by the judges, who seem to be exceedingly anxious to protect what they consider the constitutional rights of corporations. Did you ever hear of the constitutional rights of an individual? Never in your life. Some months ago, newspapers were full of statements to the effect that the Federal Government wouldn't do a thing to the pernicious, rapacious coal trust after William Randolph Hearst had put it in a hole, soaped the sides and pulled up the ladder. Well, what has been the result? Nothing. The coal trust is still doing business at the old stand and determined to give prices another boost this winter.

Verily, the consumer's is an unhappy lot. He pays double prices for the things he needs, and at the same time looks in vain for redress for grievances innumerable.

He boasts of constitutions which do not protect him, and of courts which consider it great sport to set at naught laws designed to safeguard the rights of the people. Extortion is the watchword all over this broad land of ours. There is none among consumers who can escape its arrogance and tyranny, none who can devise means to bring it to an end. Oh, prosperity, what sins and injustices are committed in thy name! And these will never stop until the Republican party is kicked off the face of the earth, the unholy alliance between that party and the cormorants of the country is pulverized, and the Democratic party alloyed to rip the rocks off the tariff wall that grants special privileges to the favored few. When will the people act?

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

If George R Carter don't leave Washington pretty soon and get down to business it will take a good part of the money realized from the loan bonds to pay for his fool cablegrams.

With 1,300 American soldiers and 300 French sailors in port the last of next week the waterfront should be kept humming for a few days. Both contingents will leave considerable money here, greatly stimulating business.

Clarence H Mackay ought to invest a few thousand dollars in Hawaiian loan bonds. His cable is certainly making big money out of the Territory, through George R Carter, on account of the bonds. "Reciprocity" is in order, Mr Mackay.

The author and the editor of the Sunday Advertiser seem still to be enjoying Colonel Tom Fitch's rambling sketches of Nevada life in the remote and no—longer—interesting days of the Comstock. The public is to be bored with another installment tomorrow morning.

Abuimais, a correspondent with a letter in this issue throws some interesting side lights on the history of several candidates for county office. The writer is a kamasina and knows them all. Facts concerning other candidates will appear later.

The Legislature failed to pass the Sunday baseball law, but Sunday baseball runs along merrily just the same. Tomorrow there will be two furious games at Kapiolani park. So far no harm has come of the diversion, while the games have enabled men who labor on Saturday afternoon to enjoy the sport.

James W Pratt, Republican candidate for tax assessor, has a card out in Hawaiian giving his name as "Kimo Palaka." "Palaka" in Hawaiian means "jumper" or overshirt. Another meaning is "forgotfulness" he both? He might be put in the list with "Roosevelt" Renton as "Forgetful Overshirt," eh?

E M Boyd has placed the contract for printing the advertising folders in San Francisco. Suppose a person not in sympathy with the politics of the Advertiser had done this—what would have happened? For the next 365 days that person would be the victim of all the mean epithets in the vocabulary of the morning press.

The cablegram from Secretary Carter to the effect that the United States government would accept the Hawaiian in exchange for National bonds is the best of good news. At one dash it gives the bonds a national standing and places them in the list of securities that will be jumped at by investors from one side of the country to the other. Mr Carter should now have extremely smooth sailing.

Frank Harvey ought to cultivate the closer acquaintance of Henry E Cooper, the champion office holder of Hawaii, between now and November 3. If the Democrats elect him supervisor of the Fifth District and the Home Rulers put him in as supervisor-at-large he will need all the ingenuity of a Cooper to straighten out his status. Of course such a thing is next to impossible, but, seriously, the principle is terribly awry.

The work of the Moanalua highwayman does not appear like that of a Chinaman. The keener manipulation of a white man shows itself on the surface. In view of the unrestrained use of the pistol, and numerous other circumstances, may it not be probable that the desperado is a white man, painted and dressed for the occasion, and made the more daring by the safety so easy at hand in throwing off his disguise? It looks a good deal that way.

The reports of the inspecting officers of the regular army on the condition of the National Guard in the various States are not such as to promote better feeling between these twin branches of the service. In many States the National Guard regiments are characterized as practically armed mobs. That such comment will wound civilian pride and raise a storm is to be expected. The report of the Camp McKinley officers on the Hawaiian National Guard will be awaited with interest.

The fact that the administration at Washington is taking a live interest in the visit of Edward Rosenburg to Honolulu shows the great figure labor cuts in national affairs. It is well enough for our plutocratic citizens and press to sneer at labor, and it was well enough for the morning paper to belittle Rosenburg and his work here; but people of the mainland have come to look at such matters in a very different way. Citizen labor will not be crushed to earth here any more than it will in California or New York. It has the Government and the American people behind it, and the sooner the employer of the Islands comes to realize the fact, the better for all concerned.

Republican candidates lose no opportunity of assuming native Hawaiians of work in case they are elected. Why do they not show their good faith by starting in before election and at home. For instance, how about the Asiatics working in the bottling department of the Honolulu brewery? Are there not lots of natives in the city that would accept this work? Or does candidate Hocking mean that he will discharge the coolies after his election (provided he gets there) and will then employ the natives whose votes elected him? The best evidence of good faith in such a matter is to refrain from employing coolies before election, after election and between elections.

BY AUTHORITY.

NOTICE TO CANDIDATES FOR ELECTION TO COUNTY OFFICES.

Bloodless Girls

Doctors have given the Greek name Anæmia, meaning "bloodlessness" to a disease which is much more prevalent among young women than is generally believed. In its early stages the disease is not marked by any decided symptoms and often makes considerable advance before its presence is noticed. An unusual feeling of fatigue after slight exercise, breathless and pallor are the first noticeable signs.

In anæmia the blood becomes thin, the heart flabby, the skin pale and waxy. If the disease become chronic (persistent anæmia) it often results fatally. The one successful method of treating this disease is to build up the blood. The best blood builder in the world is

This remedy has cured more cases of anæmia than all others combined.

Miss Cordelia Moore, of Malone, N. Y., until recently, has been a lifelong invalid from palpitation of the heart and weakness of the blood. In speaking of this experience she said:

"I was in a terrible condition. I could not eat. My face was ghastly white, and my hands were almost transparent. I was so weak it was utterly impossible for me to go up stairs.

"I met a friend who spoke of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and advised me to try them. Before the first box was used I began to regain my appetite and felt better generally. I bought six more boxes and took them. I grew strong rapidly and gained in flesh. I became better in every way. I never felt better in my life than now, and consider myself cured. I cannot say too much regarding Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."—From the Gazette, Malone, N. Y.

No discovery of modern times has proved such a blessing to mankind as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions, they restore the strength and health in the exhausted patient when every effort of the physician proves unavailing.

These pills are sold in boxes at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

The Leavings of Some of Our Prominent Countrymen.

By AHUIMAIA.

As county politics are now on, which is something new to the country, it may not be amiss for our writer to give out a few pointers as to all the candidates who are after the county offices.

Where were Isukes, Boyd and Notley in January, 1895, while Testa, Fernandez and others were languishing in prison for no cause other than of principle? They were in the bosoms of their families and friends and were probably out hunting "kanaka" revolutionists, at times.

It is said that Isukes formerly said, when he was a Republican, that Hawaiians were not competent for county government as yet, nor will they ever be. But now he thinks otherwise, since he received a Home Rule nomination, something that he would never have got had he remained in his former party. Some of his former political pals remember his past remarks and are not now impressed with his inconsistency.

The people of this county demand a change of sheriff. Why? Because Brown has been in office too long. Let him step down and out! Should turn-table Wilcox get elected and make an ass of himself in office, the people will have another go to throw him down. But it is doubted whether he knows what honesty is or whether he knows when he and his better half ought to keep their hands clean.

A man of the Pratt stamp does not know what he is himself and he has the gall of a donkey to bray before the people for recognition His past is against him with the Hawaiian people. In 1887, he was with the Honolulu Rifles in that "bloodless" revolution of June 30th, and in 1893, he trained with Royalists and was one of Charlie Wilson's men who stood by his gun under the Station House, and as soon as he saw which way it was going, he deserted that crowd and immediately became one of the first P. G. patriots. The writer of these notes remember him on the night of June 30, 1887, he was one of those on duty at the Pacific Mail wharf guarding for fear that an old and feeble man like Gibson would skip the country, while under the influence of "benzine," he pointed his loaded pistol at him without any just cause or provocation. This recollection has never been obliterated from the writer's memory box. And now he begs for the Hawaiians' support. Go to, thou false friend and double faced impersonator. Let him follow his profession of making telephonic connections. The people are not indebted to him nor has he any claim upon them.

Harry Murray is an island born Irish boy, but is yet a kid without hardly any clerical experience whatever. As a carriage fitter and blacksmith, he may be all right, and that is where he should stay. He has no claim on Hawaiians, for he is as white as they can make him, being a son of the past famous American League organizer who made things hum for a while in P. G. circles.

William Rawlins is another island born boy who is still an inexperienced kid. His main qualification is because his father was a Royalist and was jailed as such in 1895 along with others. But what claim has he to his father's record? Let him first make a record for himself. He is yet young and his chances are many.

Charlie Booth is also another island born boy, but Theresa has no use for him, because he can't read, write nor spell his parental tongue, his tongue being good for some other use. It has been remarked that the alleged pure water of those Pauoa springs controlled by him is not capable of cleansing the past of that dangerous member. If such is really his record, home is his best place. Once a Democratic nominee, and within the past six weeks he was a Republican and then a Home Ruler. What would you call him? A mongrel?

And that other Charlie, whose chief claim is his close relationship to the great patriot (?) who always failed in making a success of himself at anything, from being a Home Ruler and a Republican, and a Democrat and a Home Ruler all at one and the same time. But for Charlie, he cares not to be his brother's keeper, but plays the part of fiddler "to soothe the savage breast." His "honesty" is not doubted, but his "carelessness" is questionable, impeachable and assailable, which is only of recent date. He is above and beyond reproach, and is unapproachable as well. He held office long and what claim has he on the people. And he is their choice, but we fear he has not the confidence of the business community, and, if elected, would make a weak man.

Ikey Sherwood is also pretty much in the same streak of light, a mere clerk without any previous record to commend him outside of attending to the usual routine business, who was about to be let out had not his nomination come about. That Kaiskaua deed which the Supreme Court declared a forgery, wherein he figured as a witness in his father-in-law's favor, is a matter of record not at all to his credit. The choice is a poor one which the business element cannot endorse nor uphold. Electors must reckon with such element, who cannot be held to account for such a choice made, for the people does not know the exact qualification for one to hold the responsible post of county auditor, thinking, as in this case, that his office experience has fitted him for it. But he is doubted.

Another Jap Shot.

Another Japanese, Oda by name, was shot and robbed by the mysterious Chinese highwayman at Puukeekai hill in Moanalua yesterday afternoon. Two shots were fired, both taking effect in the abdomen. The sum of $62 50 was then taken from the pockets of the wounded man. The victim of the outrage is in the Japanese hospital in a very precarious condition. He is being attended by Dr C B Cooper.

The shooting and robbery almost duplicated the incidentof the afternoon before, when Fujikawa was shot and deprived of his money. In both cases the same Chinaman figured. He is described as rather tall with white splotches on his face, caused by some skin disease. He rode a bicycle as before. When he produced the pistol and demanded money of the Japanese there was a brief encounter during which the latter was shot in the abdomen. A second shot was fired, taking effect only a few inches from the first.

All the country police have been turned out in search of the highwayman. Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth and posse are also scouring the neighborhood of Moanalua in quest of the desperado. All of the Chinese special police are enlisted in the chase and it is believed that the outlaw can not long remain at large.

The Supreme Court will meet on Monday with Chief Justice Frear, Justice Galbraith and one of the Circuit Judges on the bench. The matter to come up first will probably be the petition from Kauai for mandamus to compel the Board of Registration to sit.

GETTING CLOSE TO THE THRONE.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 18:

The lightning in the Post Office Department investigation is beginning to strike about in places close to the throne. Beavers, who has given himself up voluntarily after the police seemed to be unable to get him, has had Postmaster General Payne subpoenaed to appear as a witness in his case, and the P M G promptly repudiates the subpoena and refuses to appear. He says he is sick, and must perforce spend a few weeks down at Virginia Hot Springs to recuperate his health. He probably knows too much of the doings of his private secretary, Mr H H Rand, in connection with Beavers and Machen's industry in the grafting game in the Post Office Department, and does not desire to be questioned under oath. In fact, he is doing all in his power to stop the publicity of details of the Post Office Department scandal, and now he gives it out that the end is in sight and that there will be nothing more doing after the first of October.

He knows full well that there are too many members of Congress and Republican leaders mixed up in the matter who must protect the looters, and some of them too much dread an investigation to allow the matter to proceed further. Such a competent machine politician as the P. M. G. knows that the Republican party cannot receive any more such hard knocks as it has received by even a small part of the scandal thus exposed to public view, and survive the treatment. How the Republican party leaders are praying that something will turn up to distract the minds of the public from this nasty mess. See how the Beirut incident was seized upon to take the minds of people from the scandals cropping out in the administration of the affairs of government. The Panama Canal affair is also being used to get the minds of the people from the rottenness of the departments as administered by the Republican party, but all in vain. Those little incidents are but the wonder of an hour, and the minds of the people wander back to their muttons, the scandals in the departments at Washington. Like Banquo's ghost, they will not down, but return with perplexing persistency to plague an administration that is rotten to the core. The people have a specific for this cancer on the body politic if they will go to the polls and administer it. It is up to them.

NOT ON YOUR LIFE.

Certain newly made Home Rulers are of the opinion that the Democratic party, before making its nominations, should have made advances to them before doing so. We utterly fail to see it in the same way as these patriots. The Democratic party is a National institution; it is only a minority as far as our Territorial politics are concerned, but yet it surely holds the balance of power, and that without asserting itself. The Home Rule party is only of local reputation, the party of the Hawaiian people, and therefore, of the majority, we admit, and that without any known standing at National headquarters, and being so, it is unknown, a monstrosity and a mongrel aggregation.

These new patriots feel, and may be rightly, that it is not the place of the majority to seek the minority, but it should be the other way. Democrats do not see it that way, because they are known nationally, and if Home Rulers do not know when to come in out of the rain, they are entitled to think the way that they do. When these self-same patriots were starring in the Republican party, before making their bolt in order to be nominated, they did not think in the same manner as they do now, but since becoming Home Rulers, they think the other way, and they are perfectly entitled to that way of thinking.

Let these recruits ask their ex-delegate who befriended him at Washington? Who fought the charges of imorality brought against him in the House of Representatives on the complaint of our present Circuit Judge Gear? Only one answer he can give, i. e., Democrats. Why? Because, the principles of both were similar and were "of the people, by the people and for the people."

These recruits may not know that their ex-delegate promised prominent Democrats, while in Washington that he would make the Home Rulers become such by fusion or otherwise in order to become and be counted as of the Democratic party, the party fathered by Thomas Jefferson and other fathers of Democracy, and nurtured and fostered by Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln and other leaders. Has he done so? Not as yet. But he says—who are the Democrats here? They are inconsequential nobodies. Yet he boldly declares himself to be a Democrat on the Mainland and a Home Ruler here in the same manner that he once had a Republican tail-piece and failed to catch a whale.

It is not for Democrats to belittle themselves in the way these patriots would like Democrats to place themselves in, although they in the same breath say that they will see to it that the Home Rule party did not become merged into or absorbed by the Democratic party is the only and natural National party for the Home Rule party to ally itself to, and none other.

A little conciliatory spirit may do it, but Democrats have been too conciliating in the past. It is not for them to be so, as they are housed, although in the minority here, but that the proposition should come from the majority who are without shelter. Being in the minority is no disgrace, because they are well able to look after themselves and are perfectly content to remain as they have been.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

We have recently seen two Territorial officials of the Executive taking part in active politics in the present county campaign, the Attorney General as a delegate to the Oahu County Republican Convention and the Treasurer while recently on Maui. If that isn't partisanship, we would like to know what is.

Candidate Arthur Brown for County Sheriff is, so it is reported, using unfair means in his candidacy for the office by sending out police officers in Government pay to catch votes in his behalf. If he cannot employ independent runners, he should refrain from playing politics. The people must and shall rule, and not any of those appointed by a few, and therefore, to oppose the people, a day of retribution will surely come to anyone in such a boat.

It turns out that the endorsement of Hawaiian bonds by the Treasury department was not brought about by George R Carter at all but was the work of the First National Bank of this city. While Carter was acting asiad with the President and incidentally pumping gas into his gubernatorial balloon, W G Cooper cashier of the First National, was corresponding with the Secretary of the Treasury in regard to the bonds and succeeded, at long range and without expense to the people, in getting the much desired proposition through. Carter, being on the ground and seing his chance, snapped up the credit for the achievement. Our strenuous secretary, then, like little Jack Horner, fired a cablegram into the Palace to show Dole and Kepoikai what a good boy he was. Carter rots our shoe-strings!

Assessor-in-Chief Pratt and High Sheriff Brown, both Territorial officials and Republican nominees for county offices, have been permitted, as far as known, by their partisan chiefs (Treasurer and Attorney General) to take active part in politics, on the ground that their positions are now political offices. We beg to differ from these rulings. We hold that their time during office hours, is not their own, but belongs to the Government, and they must look first to their official duties. After such hours, they are at liberty to do as they please and go stumping for themselves. It is neither fair nor proper that they should be paid by the people to oppose the people at the people's expense. Hew to the line, or else, resign.

Bachelors Celebrate.

"John, the cook," leading chef of the Ster restaurant, Mr Grune, Prof Joe Rosen and others entertained a party of some thirty bachelor friends in a cottage on the grounds of the Honolulu hotel last evening. The guests arrived early and stayed late, regretting only that the night was not longer. Rosen's orchestra supplied music, Mr Grune officiating as accompanist on the piano. Besides the instrumental music there were vocal selections and specialties. Refreshments in ample quantities were served, accompanied by an appropriate collation of salads and the like. The affair broke up about 12:30 o'clock.

Among the chief entertainers, outside of the orchestra, was Mike Patton, a new arrival from San Francisco. He showed himself to be a specialist of great merit, one able to score a hit in any Honolulu audience. Bob Ross, of the Progress saloon, also proved himself an entertainer of the first-class both as an elocutionist and singer. Little Malcolm Higgins, the boy nightingale, was present and added greatly to the pleasure of the entertainment by his superb voice. Pete Miller, "John, the cook" and others filled in with specialties that made the evening one long to be remembered by all present.

Arrested on Suspicion.

Three Chinamen are held at the police station for investigation in connection with the shooting and robberies at Moanalua. All were captured in Chinatown of Honolulu, and were taken in upon information supplied by other Chinamen. One of them, captured by Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth this morning, had almost an arsenal on his person and suspicion is very strong against him. The first Japanese shot has been sent for and will arrive from Honolulu plantation this afternoon.

Meetings by Home Rulers.

Home Rulers will hold the following meetings this week: Tonight at Kamoiliili; tomorrow at Muolaulani, Kapalama; Wednesday at River street; Thursday at Relief Camp 2, Vineyard street, and Friday night at Kalihi, on Kamehameha IV road.

Supreme Court Meets.

The Supreme Court met this morning and immediately took up the Kauai registration case. On the bench were Chief Justice Frear, Justice Galbraith and Judge De Bolt. The hearing was resumed this afternoon.

Following the feast a general good time was had. Treasurer Kepoikai proposed a toast to the Delegate and his wife, and Prince Kuhio gracefully proposed the toast "My Queen—Liliuokalani." Music was furnished by Ellis Bros' orchestra.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

Having heard much comment pro and con with my previous contributions to your columns, I feel somewhat called upon to furnish you with more notes bearing upon the life and character of the various candidates for county offices. Some of the notes may be very unpleasant in the telling, as the various candidates are more or less personal and intimate friends of the writer. But to the call of duty, it is nothing more than right that the people should know something of the men they are called upon by the respective parties to cast their votes. But I am endeavoring to treat friend and foe alike, quoting your own words Mr Editor, "without fear or favor," and I hope that you will not take exceptions when I begin on yourself. I do not mean nor intend to besmirch anyone, depending mainly upon facts as I know them, and if I should happen to offend any in the narrative of my facts, I stand ready to be corrected and rectified. More mahope.

As touching Willie Rawlins, I understand that he, in his speeches, has made himself known to Hawaiians as "the son of the soap maker who used to make soap at Laleo." That's a good recommendation, for Hawaiians have a well-known song for that particular locality, which runs as follows:

Aloha kahi makani o Laleo,
Ke pa mai mahauahana,
Kini kii-wilu, wilu, wilu.

The above may be translated to read as follows:

Love to the breeze of Laleo,
When it blows it is warm,
Stink, stink, stink.

This arose from the stench made in the manufacture of soap, and the oppobrium still remains to this day, although the soap works are non est from there. When the works were there, whenever the wind blew inland, the stench was at times unbearable, and it was at this place that Willie Rawlins was born and became a Hawaiian by accident.

Since when has Curtis Iaukea become a good and true Hawaiian? Only a short while ago, when he bolted the Republican party, because he saw there was no chance for him to have an office. When the overthrow came about, he joined forces with the revolutionists and immediately bit the hand that had fed him, made him famous and noted, and was made the valet of Governor Dole on his famous "Maine" trip to the United States. But now he is a big gun with the natives, and as one of them, I hope to see him win over his opponent, for he is, with all his faults of being unprincipled, capable as well as having the capacity for competency which cannot be denied. Yet I doubt that he is a sincere kanaka.

How all the haole candidates of the Republicans love the Hawaiians. Since that they love them so, will any of them ask any kanaka to their homes and give them a place at their tables with their families? Nay! They may do it for effect at this time, but never after, and yet how they love us.

Bobby Boyd was bound to bob up and here he is. From posing as a prince while at school in Italy, his former island schoolmates remember him as a knumb skull. His foreign education has not fitted him for anything worth the speaking and he had to pick what he knows of surveying from a self-taught Hawaiian. One thing his foreign education has done for him, it made him feel that he was molded of better clay than the rest, yet it is known that he has nothing to be proud of his ancestry. He might be a better scullion than he is a surveyor, who knows how to charge enough for poor work.

And there's young Eddie Damon, whose only recommendation is his being the son of "Smiling" Sammy, the banker. On that alone, he managed to forge himself ahead of others in his father's bank, which is a position to be pitied, not envied. One of his boyhood weaknesses was his visiting a certain house one evening and was turned away with the remark—"Go home to your mother, young man." He offered money, but it would not admit him, his youth being against him. Such similar tales can be recounted of many of our missionary broods.

But of Chris Willis, he is after the same office as Bobby Boyd, but on the Home rule ticket. It is said that he is the better man of the two for the place and may he win out. He gained his education right at home here and that is more than what his opponent can say of himself and for himself. Although a Home Ruler by nomination, he is a Democrat at heart.

On the Home Rule ticket appear many former Republicans who have since joined the great majority, in fact, it is made up mostly of them and from among them to the tune of five. Two were Democrats, two everything else, and the balance Home Rulers.

Caypless is an American, a malihini, but is a property owner and taxpayer. He will no doubt make a capable and efficient county attorney, should he be elected. But he is "hungry" for office, for truth and for justice, and if the Home Rulers are earnest and sincere, he'll surely be there. The thing to overcome is, what effect will he have over his opponent, a boy born and bred here, is a matter to be seen.

But the Home Rule nominees for supervisors of the Fourth and Fifth Districts are stoneless peaches alongside of their opponents. They are like a flower which was "born to blush unseen," an I the Home Rulers have had them picked as the cream of intelligence. A most sorry spectacle, to be sure. There's David Notley who may poll a few native votes, a tactless fellow, and Sam Kamakaia, a Kekipi parson, and Clarence Crabbe knows more about him, they being neighbors, and very often supply him with gin, so the yarn goes. And there's Mahoe, a worthless country lawyer with a bad record, and of course that fellow Kealoha, an imported unknown quantity from the Hauula small farmers.

Carter Not the Man.

After reprinting clippings in regard to the failure of the resolution booming George R Carter for the Governorship, the Hilo Tribune aptly remarks:

The story is more than one, telling of the fate of resolutions turned down by the people in County Conventions. It is made plain that the people of Hawaii long to speak on the question of Territorial administration and that they wish to go on record against a policy, which under the administration of Governor Dole has made them almost weary of self-government. The people of Hawaii look upon the possible selection of George R Carter as the next Governor of Hawaii with misgivings. Their misgivings are based both upon their knowledge of the characteristics of Mr Carter and upon the methods and policies of the coterie to which Mr Carter has been allied in all his political and official work.

The people have grown exceedingly weary with the gang, which in this country cannot be so well described as with the word "missionary." The substantial element throughout the Island of Hawaii, will welcome a change but they want the change to be more than a mere change of the name of the man who holds the office of governor. This element wants a change of administration. It does not believe the appointment of Carter would mean such a change.

The people of Hawaii look to the President for a governor who will meet the race and industrial problems of the Territory of Hawaii in a spirit of justice under the law which has become supreme in the land. They look to him for a governor who will combine hard headed sense with political sagacity and who will have no man in office under him, who will not be required to perform his official duties according to twentieth century standards regardless of personal attachment to the Chief Executive.

The ring that has been in the saddle since the overthrow have had their just lease of official tenure and that is the reason why Carter has not the endorsement of the people.

Politics on Maui.

WAILUKU, Oct. 2—The Maui Republican and Home Rule candidates are now all out canvassing for votes. Messrs Kalama (acting for Baldwin who is sick), Robinson, and McKay start out for Pauwela this afternoon on their way to Hana to join Josepa, Howell and Wittrock. The Home Rulers started out for Ulupalakua yesterday morning. Richardson and Kaiue just left this morning and will overtake their party at Honuaula today. Some of the Home Rule candidates are very strong. Lyons it seems to me is sure of an election. The Republicans will have to work hard very hard for the bolters have succeeded in converting quite a few of our followers to the other side.

Republican Pow Wow.

Republicans addressed the voters of Puunui at Wyllie and Liliha streets last evening. About 200 people were present. Speeches were made by most of the candidates. Music was supplied by a native orchestra.

A special meeting was held at the Christian church last evening to hear addresses from missionaries passing through on the steamer China.

The Exposition Association of Hawaii will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 11 o'clock at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. Important business in connection with the final arrangements for the World's Fair will be discussed.

MR. POOBAH'S GAME.

Henry E Cooper's game in the gubernatorial campaign is beginning to ooze out at the bung-holes. For a long time he succeeded, in Cooper fashion, in keeping it well caulked but fermentation succeeded the admission of Home Rule hot air, and the thing begins now to show itself. Cooper is hot foot after Carter in the race. He is not in position to swap jokelets with Roosevelt over the lobster salad and tea, but he is playing a still, deep game, a game that he believes will win.

Cooper's plan is to secure the endorsement of the Home Rulers for the office of Governor. Carter once had some such idea, but it seems that his approaches to Princess Theresa were a trifle balky and failed. Cooper's idea is to run as a Republican. The inference will most naturally be that he has the support of that party. With a Home Rule endorsement the President will undoubtedly conclude that Cooper is acceptable to both of the leading factions and, in the words of Mr Dooley, will say: "Coo-oper; ye ar' my mutton." That is the way Cooper looks at it.

In his campaign Cooper has succeeded in enlisting the important services of R W Wilcox. Wilcox is working quietly, but he is leading up to a point at which a Cooper resolution will be introduced in the Home Rule and a tremendous effort will be made to railroad it through. This resolution showed its head a few mornings ago but was retired when opposition from a powerful quarter appeared on the scene. Since then work has been of the buttonhole variety, but matters are rapidly shaping themselves for the final coup. "'Ray for Cooper!" "'Ray for Theresa!" Sure Moike.

FROM SIRE TO SON.

The Republican candidate for County clerk does not like the allusions of "Ahuimais" to his father's past with regard to the rapid history making epoch of this country in the days that are gone, never more to return, yet his colleague on the same ticket for County Attorney refers with much pride to his father's past record. As far as we know, our correspondent refers to Rawlins for depending on his father's record for being imprisoned in 1895 as an "open sesame" for him to wedge himself in the native's heart as well as to make himself known to them, and is the main recommendation he can make for himself to gain their favor, but Harry Murray does not care to do as much, yet he feels that our correspondent is inconsistent. We don't think so. See what is said down in the second commandment of the Lord: "For I the Lord thy God am a jealous God and visit the sins of the fathers upon the children into the third and fourth generation of them that hate me." Whatever the fathers have done in this country's past will surely follow the sons in the present and future, upon which they must either stand or fall, or else succeed and win out or fail. But we think, young men both of them, they should first make a record for themselves that Hawaiians can look with favor upon them.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Arthur Brown's portraits, particularly the one in the annex of the Favorite saloon, is very much unlike the original because of insufficient brownness. If it was not for the Hawaiian legend on it, no one would be any the wiser that it was the High Sheriff, now the Republican candidate for County Sheriff. The artist, whoever he may be, has probably done his best, but the portrait looks out of all sorts altogether. Our wonder is, did he sit for it?

Most Chinese tongs are organized mobs, banded together for the protection of clans. In carrying out their object few of them hesitate to commit murder. In Honolulu there are at least a dozen of the most dangerous tongs known to Chinese. All sail under the flag of Charity, but beneath the flag may be found the worst lots of cut-throats under the sun. Governor Dole made a mistake in granting a charter to the highbinder See Yups and the police are derelict in their duty in permitting meetings of any of the "Charitable" tongs.

THE INDEPENDENT would like to know whether our Territorial officials other than those whose officers have been made political under the County Act are in the present county political fight? The reason for this is that certain branches of the Government are now showing partisan activity. We last night saw a garbage cart loaded down with chairs and all the necessaries that go to make political stumping place for the Republican spielers turn into Liliha street from King, heading for the hill at the end of the electric car line, marshalled by that "warrior bold" of the Garbage Department and of Company F on his charger. Probably they are, but the sooner it is known, the better. The Garbage Department will fall under the new order of things and this may account for it, but they should not use the people to oppose the people.

Another expedient for getting crowds at meetings has been resorted to by our loathsome friends, the Republicans. Music and beer did not prove sufficient. Street car passes are now being used. Last night there was a liberal distribution of round trip tickets from town to Wyllie street, the purpose being to swell the audience there. A large number of Hawaiians availed themselves of the excursion, but the number actually taking an interest in the meeting is not chronicled.

In a day or two more the newspaper knockers will declare that the bond settlement came about in spite of Carter.—Advertiser.

It has been plainly shown that the support given to the Hawaiian bonds by the Treasury department resulted from the work of W G Cooper, cashier of the First National Bank. Carter happened to be on the ground (at the expense of the people) and seized the opportunity to claim credit for the important achievement. The unfortunate part of the affair for the boomers of Carter was that the facts followed so closely upon the heels of the merry "ha, ha" of Football George.

Those Home Rulers who think they be able, in the event of Democratic success in the Presidential election of next year, to turn their organization into the Democratic party and obtain proper recognition for it, evidently know little of politics. The Democratic party is fully organized here, with its national committeeman and its working officers and committees. It has national recognition, and all business done with or on behalf of it must be done by or through its central committee. In no way could the Home Rule party come into the Democratic party except through its established organism, and if it waits until Democrats have stood the brunt of the fight, and won the victory, to come in it is safe to say that it will be given a seat far back in the rear.

Late Arrivals.

The Kinau had a late passenger today, a white man, who arrived in a Jap hack just as the steamer was about amidship of the dock. He got out of the hack with a Jap clothes basket in hand, ran the whole length of the dock and failed to board her. By the kindness of President Wight and Capt Clarke, men were ordered into a boat and took him out, the steamer in the meantime slowing down, and he boarded her.

Another late arrival was a clerk of an uptown business house about the same time as the other one. He had a letter in his hand and managed to throw it aboard. But, oh Howard! how he did run for dear life and won out.

Miraculous Escape.

A native lineman employed by the Hawaiian Electric Company fell from the tower over the Chinese club house in River street Saturday afternoon, to the ground, a distance of forty feet and two inches. He struck on his right shoulder and head. Lineman Warner was the first to reach the man and found that he had been rendered unconscious. In a half hour, however, he recovered and went home. To the surprise of everyone it was found that no bones were broken and that there were no internal injuries. The escape was regarded as most remarkable.

Reformers Working.

Honolulu will soon be the center of immense activity on the part of the Bow Wongs, or reform party of China. Leong Chi-tso, on whose head there is still a reward of $65,000, is now in San Francisco and will soon reach Honolulu to labor with Dr Sun.

Politicians at Work.

Although light showers fell almost constantly, the meeting of Home Rulers at Queen Liliuokalani's place in Palama last night was a great success. The crowd was large and enthusiastic. R W Wilcox, Caypless and the other candidates spoke.

The Republican meeting at Relief Camp 2 was equally well attended. Judge Kaulukou presided. Speeches were made by all of the candidates except Renton, Gilman and Pahia.

The Republican meeting at the head of Emma street was much of a failure, the attendance being small and unresponsive. It was said that the meeting had not been sufficiently advertised.

A great deal of quiet work is being done by both the Republicans and Home Rulers along the waterfront, in the Fifth district and in native centers of the Fourth district.

The Democrats are "sawing wood."

Slashed his Wife.

John McCabe, teacher in the Catholic school at Kaneohe, terribly slashed his wife with an old razor yesterday while temporarily insane. The woman was cut in the throat and abdomen. McCabe was taken into custody by the deputy sheriff of Koolau and will be brought to Honolulu. He had a spell of the same kind about a year ago when he started in to break up his house.

Frenchman Arrives.

The French cruiser Protet arrived in port yesterday afternoon a day ahead of time. She carries 381 men and is on her way to Tahiti, for which point she will sail next week. Salutes were exchanged with Naval station upon arrival and at 3 o'clock this afternoon the captain of the Protet will formally call upon Admiral Terry.

Democrats to Meet.

The Democratic Central Committee will hold a meeting with party leaders at headquarters tomorrow evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The ticket of the party will be straightened out and the committee filled.

A meeting of the Board of Health will be held this afternoon.

Tennis doubles will begin on the Pacific courts this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Alec Craig has been sent to the reef for a month for striking his wife with an axe.

The schooner Aloha got in yesterday from Port Townsend with a cargo of lumber.

F V Berger has abandoned his suit against E Faxon Bishop on account of the 113 Korean cases.

A special meeting of the Exposition Association was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 11 o'clock this morning.

Representatives of the several football teams of the city will meet in the Y M C A tomorrow evening for the purpose of forming a league

Charles S Desky received a cablegram yesterday announcing the sudden death of his wife in Oakland. The lady has been in bad health several years.

One of the four Chinese desperadoes held by the police is said to have admitted that the quartette were engaged in the business of making bounterfeit nickels.

Bishop & Co. have been given judgment by default against Sing Lung Co. and Lee Chu on a promissory note for $506.20 at 7 per cent, dated February 17, 1903, on which but $50 had been paid. Judge Gear made the order on motion of Thayer & Hemenway.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

In Republican circles they now call Jack Lucas "Bill Nye" Lucas. Whether it is because he is the joker in the pack, or has the billiard-ball summit of the late humorist we do not know.

Judge Kaulukou has dubbed Jackie Lucas "Gladstone" Lucas. "Gladstone" is good. If brains were figured upon as a basis of comparison the Hawaiian politician probably measured Luca's head alongside of Gladstone's little toe.

The French cruiser Protet is doubly welcome. As a rule French sailors are about the most orderly of any coming to this port. A second hold the Protet has upon Honolulu's glad hand, however, is the fact that she is not a stranger, having been here several times in the past few years.

A M Brown, candidate on the Republican ticket for the office of sheriff, was given a special and spirited ovation at Relief Camp 2 last evening. Great strength in that particular audience was disclosed, and if Mr Brown stands as well in other precincts of the Fifth District his chances are better than some people imagine. However, Wilcox is doing a great deal of quiet work and it seems to be telling.

Home Ruler Booth has been giving some telling speeches to Hawaiian audiences in their own tongue and in good, plain language. At last night's meeting at Palama, he got after the Republicans in great shape, for the assertion they make that they have the money, when really the money that they speak of is the people's, contributed by all. Whenever he would allude to any arguments made and then hit at the Republicans, he created laughter and carried the audience with him. His address from first to last was interesting from the way he hit at his opponents and the people's oppressors.

The news from Mauna Loa is startling and interesting. There have been so many fake reports from Hawaii's lava pots of late years, however, that developments alone will settle the public mind as to conditions and the probabilities of the future. If there is really a considerable eruption and a fair lease of life is promised for it, a rush of sight-seekers to the scene is to be expected. Hawaii's volcanoes have one advantage all their own: While putting up one of the greatest of the world's shows, they are absolutely harmless.

J W Pratt, candidate for tax assessor, in an effort to show what great things the Republican party has done and is doing for the people, tells the voters that George R Carter secured the endorsement by the administration of the Hawaiian loan bonds. The endorsement referred to was brought about by W G Cooper, cashier of the First National Bank, by direct correspondence with the Secretary of the Treasury. As Pratt and Carter are both candidates the thing looks like a case of "You tickle me and I'll tickle you," between the brother office seekers.

In his Palama speech last night, Candidate Booth said that Republicans have said that Home Rulers were taro farmers and were therefore not fit to attend to government affairs, and that there was no need of voting for any of them. He then said that he himself was one, a taro planter, and they were the ones who who being squeezed by Republican office holders to pay taxes to keep them in office. "A taro planter has only one fault," he said, "they are in business to prevent hunger." This brought out applause from his hearers.

Republican party organs on the mainland are contending that the Philippine question is settled because the United States has possession of the Islands. Abraham Lincoln once said that no question was settled until it was settled right, and a nation could not exist half bond and half free. The Republicans made great capital of the expression at the time. But if it were true in the sixties it is equally true today. Not only slavery of nations but slavery of the individual exists therein A thief may repent of his sins but he cannot make amends without returning the property stolen.

The Home Rulers last night dubbed Jack Lucas as "Jack, the prickly pear eater." This is on account of utterances made by him on the stump that if natives voted the Home Rule ticket, they would feed on prickly pears and that taxes would grow on their roads with a cacti top dressing. Home Rule speakers are resenting these remarks by dubbing him as above with other bestified platitudes. And Jack assures them that if they vote the Republican ticket, upon which he is running, they will have good macadamized roads. How's that? The money is not only theirs? What rot and gush!

The decision of the Supreme Court in the Kauai registration case, overturning the conclusions and order of Circuit Judge Hardy, removes a most serious snag from the road of the County elections. Had the decision been otherwise the situation would have straightway become so complicated that the validity of the elections and the government set up as a result of them could easily have been questioned. The ruling may go hard with those me who failed to register, but better to have it that way than to lay the county system open to be smashed to pieces

No Registration.

The Supreme court has decided the Kauai registration case against the petitioner, Fairchild. This means that none of the registration boards will meet and that the election will rock along as at first planned.

Mauna Loa Is In Eruption.

Mokuaweoweo, the volcano on the side of Mauna Loa, broke out yesterday afternoon and is now in a state of lively eruption. The British ship Ormsary, which arrived this morning from Newcastle, brought the first news of the occurrence. She passed within sixty miles of the mountain and had a clear view of it. In the afternoon great clouds of smoke arose from the summit and at night a stream of fire was being sent up high into the air. It was the opinion of some on the coal ship that a considerable part of the crater on the west side was blown out.

Upon receipt of this news Richard H Trent sent a wireless telegram to Manager Bidgood of the Volcano house on Hawaii for information. The manager wired back that the story brought by Captain Coath was correct. Mauna Loa had broken out as stated and there was a brilliant glare from the fire all night, which must have been plainly seen in every part of the island.

The first message from Mr Bidgood was as follows:

"Outbreak at Mauna Loa genuine. Big reflection seen all night."

At 1:30 this afternoon Mr Trent received the following message from L S Aungst, manager of the Kona-Kau Telephone Company:

"Summit crater Mokuaweoweo in eruption. Information from Volcano house states it is very active."

The news of the eruption created the greatest interest in the city and has been a leading topic of comment all day. Inquiries poured into the steamship offices in regard to the chances of passage to Hawaii, but unless a special steamer is sent up there will be no certain boat until next Tuesday. Mr Trent stated this afternoon that he was anxiously awaiting more details. If everything is favorable a special steamer will be chartered to leave Honolulu late tomorrow.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

Again I am encroaching upon your good nature, Mr Editor, and posing before your readers as a chronicler of many of the different candidates running for office. I am offending many of your friends, but we are now in the throes of a political strife for supremacy whether the white man or the native people shall rule this country. The decision is up to the Hawaiians themselves.

I will now attempt to rub up the respective candidates for supervisors: Beginning with Renton, since likened to Roosevelt, who got the nomination of his party by being a dark horse put in the field on the last day and he won out over all others. His forte is as a slave driver to increase the dividends of his employers and he should be elected to stay and look after the plantation he is managing. His record as a sugar plantation manager is well established. But I remember that he and I were boys together, went to school together, played together at the old Foundry where his dad was then employed. That was before Reciprocity and before the old man went to cane planting in Kohala. Since then, he does not know nor care to know any of his boyhood kanaka companions, for they are now beneath him, this island born Britisher. He has done nothing to commend him to the native voters, being a rank annexationist for gain, and it is a hard matter to believe that he loves them as well as himself. Fie upon him!

Of Mark Robinson, the sole Hawaiian nominee, a three quarters white, is not one of his people in the sense it should be taken, for he is very much apart from them. He and his sisters give much, in a quiet way, to charity among their people, but he is different from his sisters who are all more or less staunch Royalists, he alone of the family being an annexationist. His father was known among Hawaiians as Kimo Pakaka, who made money out of the Hawaiian chiefs and their people. But this Hawaiian cannot address his people in his mother's tongue, who, although a half-white, she never spoke English, and now the son has to speak to her people through an interpreter. Probably he can speak to them nocturnally and there's the rub in him.

And now of Jackie Lucas, an alleged descendant of the once famous Irish kings who was accidentally born here, who thinks that he knows the native language well enough to speak to a Hawaiian audience. He has told them that if they voted the Home Rule ticket, they would have to live on things prickly. The natives laugh at such silliness and he thinks he has scored a hit with them. He ought to address them in Gaelic, leaving the native to his wife, an island born girl, who I think can do better than he can. But of course Jack is now a great politician and would fain defeat Theresa, if he could, for there's no love between them.

Now, Mr Editor, excuse me, but I cannot help mentioning F J Testa, the lone Democratic nominee for supervisor-at-large, the Cardinal and Deacon of the Advertiser, who has not yet, I believe, gone to Rome nor to Tonga, but is still here with us as large as ever, whom the Home Rulers puncture for his staunch Democracy at the morning paper's suggestion. His well known weakness is his jealousy of being "of the people, by the people and for the people" at all times, and is a fighter as far as I know him, not being afraid to express his opinion freely, openly and above board. But he has the impulsive Latin temper from his father's race, quick to resent an aspersion and is ever ready to stay by what he says. I believe he was not born to be great in the eyes of his people, for he cannot brook to be the tool of anybody of inferior intellect to his own. His fault lies in his nature, that is, he is obdurate, obstinate, hard to convince, but amenable to reason, and knows the difference between right and wrong. If he was more pliable, he'd be a good tool for the use of others, but his own convictions carry him every time without relying on those of others. Another great fault with him is that he does not know for his own personal benefit when to go with the tide, but he stubbornly stays by his own class of people who do not even know when and how to appreciate him and his qualities. He is his own worst enemy, for he will not be led nor will he lead, but is content to remain in statu quo. And another fault, he does not know when to flop, but remains paakiki. But I think that he is one that the people need never be afraid of, for I believe that he knows sufficiently when to temper mercy with justice, and when to treat justice with equity. And still another fault, he is too radical and vindictive, yet he can be reasoned with. He has been dubbed a haole hater because of his jealousy of the rights of his people, and for that he cannot be blamed, because it is a quality and a trait inherent in every race. To sum up his whole thing, he's N. G.

I hope I have not stepped too hard and heavy on the toes of your Testa to gain his disfavor, but I cannot help myself. As to the Home Rule nominees, I need not enlarge on them. All are personal friends of mine and I don't hope to offend them and gain their displeasure. Abr Fernandez is a sworn Home Ruler from the Democratic ranks, so is Frank Harvey, and Col Boyd is a recruit from the Republican ranks. The flops they made are of recent occurrence, and I have no fear that if they should be the people's choice at the polls that they would not harm the Hawaiian people any at all. More of them and others later on.

The office of THE INDEPENDENT is in the brick building next to the Hawaiian hotel grounds on Beretania street, Waikiki of Alakea. First floor.

Two Chinese, alleged to be the assailants of Attorney Ng Mon War in the fracas of last week, were brought over from Koolau last night and locked up in the city prison.

Tickets for the entertainment of the Hawaii Ponoi Dramatic Company in the Hawaiian opera house Saturday evening are being sold by members on the streets. They call for reserved seats at Wall, Nichols Co's store

Political Pot Still A-Boiling.

It was a great few hours for the Republican candidates at the home of Mark P Robinson in Nuuanu valley last evening. They were enabled, by the courtesy of the host of the occasion, to address the largest audience yet assembled in the county campaign. A conservative estimate places the number present at 2,000, including men, women and children. The affair began with a luau, provided by Mr Robinson, in a tent on the lawn. This was laid on several parallel tables and was presided over by a number of ladies. In a semi-cellar beneath the house near by free beer was served and big heads manufactured. Two stringed orchestras supplied music.

R N Boyd presided over the essential political part of the program. He first introduced Mark P Robinson, candidate for supervisor-at-large, who spoke for several minutes in Hawaiian. He was followed by other candidates and a number who are not candidates. The speech-making lasted until about midnight. Showers fell frequently during the evening which was a matter of annoyance to the people on the open lawn, but in other respects the affair was a success and was enjoyed by all in sympathy with its objects.

This evening the Republicans will have a meeting in Iwilei.

About 500 people attended the Home Rule meeting at Relief Camp 2 last evening. The speaking was not in the school house, that place not being regarded as large enough, but was from the veranda outside, the crowd standing on the lawn and in the contiguous roadway. Spell-binding began early and ended late. Nearly all of the candidates were present and spoke. Enthusiasm frequently manifested itself, and each of the candidates came in for spirited applause. The meeting was considered a big success in every way.

During the evening a Home Rule meeting was held at Waialae. Most of the voters of the south end were present and seemed to greatly enjoy the speeches.

Tonight the Democrats will hold a meeting at their headquarters in Waverly hall. A number of outside members of the party have been invited to meet with the central committee to discuss several important matters. As this will be the last meeting before the election, every detail regarding the campaign of the party will be decided upon. One important subject to come up will be the tangle in regard to Frank Harvey. That gentleman was nominated by the Democrats for the office of supervisor from the Fifth district, but was subsequently nominated by the Home Rulers for supervisor-at-large, and he is now running upon the latter ticket. The question will be one of whether his former nomination will be withdrawn and he be endorsed for supervisor-at-large, or he be dropped altogether. Chances seem to be in favor of the latter course. Some of the Democrats outside of the committee have been discussing the advisability of nominating a tax assessor, auditor, county clerk and surveyor on account of the weakness of the other tickets at those points, but that is as far as the matter has gone.

AS TO RAWLINS

At the Mark Robinson luau last evening W T Rawlins, candidate for County Attorney on the Republican ticket, replied to the objection that he is too much of a sapling and too inexperienced for the important office to which he aspires. He pointed to his record as an assistant to the Attorney-General and as counsel in matters of more or less importance as a fit excuse for his aspirations. Leaving the question of whether or not this record affords him a reasonable footstool, we would suggest that no self-blown horns or records that must be fished out of the dust-heaps by their makers are in keeping with present requirements or desires. The office of County Attorney is one of the most important. Upon the shoulders of the attorney must and will rest the responsibility of steering the county ship through the dangerous shoals of legal assaults and complications. It will mean to him a day of eighteen in place of eight hours, and a year of work sufficient to try the soul of a weather hardened legal horse.

The man selected to fill this office should not be one under the necessity of tooting his own horn nor of falling back upon the record of his father as a citizen. He should, first of all, be known to the average voter, and by common repute, as a man of superior legal knowledge, an able counselor, a determined and convincing prosecutor—one not merely a part of but a leader of his profession in this community. It should not be necessary for him to plead to the people that he prosecuted so many cases on Maui or the Attorney General's office here. If these matters are of such importance as to describe a man's fitness for office they should be known by common report, in place of having to be shouted out by the candidate himself over the crowd, the calabashes and beer kegs at a vote catching luau.

Neither of the candidates before the people completely fills the bill; but when it narrows down to a question of education, ability, experience and reputation a comparison between Rawlins and Cayless works itself out into an absurdity. One is a man of legal education and training; the other a boy of very moderate educational privileges and such training as may be obtained from looking up authorities for an attorney in a law office. The one is a man of experience extending over a period of thirty years; the other was born about the time the first man was wrestling with some of his greatest cases One spent most of his years under county government and in the study of county government; the other never saw such a thing except from the window of a railway car. One has already been a county attorney, and in a great State; the other has been a reference marker in the office of an attorney-general in a small Territory.

If Mr Rawlins will reflect upon these facts he will doubtless understand the correctness of Ahuimaia's proposition. Mr Rawlins is a kid without a record and no show of guarantee that he will or can make one. And this is no time for experimenting.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

It is reported that Jack Lucas has said that he has no use for the Portuguese vote, and that they will (the Republican ticket) will get there whether by fair or foul means. Is that so, Gladstone?

With "Molokai" Mahoe hanging to one of his coat-tails and Princess Theresa playing Maypole with the other, R W Wilcox is apt to fly just high enough in the county election to pick out a soft place to fall on.

Perhaps the bees swarming around the Territorial Secretary's office were attracted there by the echoes of the honeyed words that passed between Roosevelt and Geo. R Carter over the tea cups at that dinner.

Natives say that the cooked pig furnished at the Robinson love feast last night was "koskoe," i. e., tasteless or unseasoned. Those who had the preparation of it might have forgotten to put in a little seasoning (salt), and this is held that native voters will be cold towards the giver of the feast and others of the crowd.

Keeping up the bell buoy is a piece of false economy. It has been proven time and time again that the thing is of certain value only in the day time when it can be seen. Within six months two vessels have gone on the reef because the bell failed to give out the warning expected of it. The fact that it is officially charted makes it the guide of mariners approaching the port; and being unreliable makes it a real menace in place of a protection. A stake boat, or even a buoy, with a light [illegible] would cost more in one way but it woul prove reliable and would save a lot of money to shipping.

A Republican candidate is telling the voters of the Fifth District that if the Republican party is kept in power there will soon be a large city at Pearl harbor. This should be refreshing information for the merchants and property owners of Honolulu, who will see their business enterprises ruined and property values depressed as a result of the competition of an adjacent city built upon a superior harbor and having numerous other advantages.

The Advertiser of this morning prints a picture of a candidate for supervisor on Kauai and beneath it appears this legend:

"Geo Fairchild, Republican Candidate for Supervisor of Kauai County.

"Soap Boiler and Mont Blanc."

We can assume that Fairchild knows something of the art of boiling sugar but have never heard of him as a soap boiler. The Advertiser must have been thinking of Willie Rawlins.

The French cruiser Protet is coaling today and will sail next Tuesday for Tahiti. A reception to the public will likely be given by her officers on Sunday. Captain Odigard called upon the Governor yesterday.

Gus Cordes was offered a lead dollar by a Japanese a few days ago. The Japanese said that he got the piece from a Chinaman and it is suspected that the counterfeiters now in custody had something to do with it.

The bark Atlantic arrived in port yesterday after a very long passage from Bremen with a general cargo for Hackfeld & Co. She encountered a storm off Cape Horn and had to put into Valparaiso for two months for repairs.

A Dangerous Corner.

Complaint is made of a bad corner near the McCully tract at Beretania and McCully streets where the car turns toward King. The lot there has upon it a thick growth of young trees, making it impassable for a pedestrian or person in a rig to see a car when about to turn. Between the car line and the corner there is but little space and that brings in the danger. Several times of late vehicles have been caught in this trap and narrowly escaped disaster. If the trees were properly trimmed the evil would be remedied. The lot belongs to Mrs Julia Afong.

Berger's Serenade.

Professor Berger was given a sendoff by the Hawaiian band at the Alameda's wharf yesterday morning. He had given some of the band men a nudge that a little farewell music at the wharf would be highly appreciated. When the hour arrived two Portuguese and a composite man turned up. One had a big drum, one a horn and one a sort of flutio fussiaus. It was a sorry prospect, but the music was such as to bring tears to a shark.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

I must continue my sketches of our county politicians, beginning with the supervisors for the Fourth District. Joe Gilman is an island boy joker, who is claimed to have entered the race towards the end. He may be running only for the sake of his brother-in-law, the High Sheriff, in case he and him are both elected, which I very much doubt from the present outlook of things They may have to use a lot of money to do it, both not being as "holy" as they make 'em in the immaculate "family compact," and still it is doubtful. No one claims that Joe is holy, yet he knows how to play poker, cribbage, seven-up, pedro, whist, euchre, etc., and he's no tyro, either. He knows a good game of baseball, a boat race, a horse race, and so forth. A yarn is not yet forgotten of how a certain bag disappeared suddenly, during business hours, from the safe of a certain concern and the blame was laid to another, by a dismissal, who since turned out to be a defaulter. It was then even hinted that Joe knew more about that bag and the pools he had made on many events than any one else, the other being only made the scapegoat.

Brewery Hocking is his running mate and a nice team they make. When he looks askance at one, he seems to be pleading for votes, as if asking: "Vote for me and for cheap beer." This ex-senator of the P. G. oligarchy is said to be making a personal canvass for himself alone, not even minding his mate, yelling that natives would get all the work if he got elected. Yet he forgets natives in his brawery by employing Orientals instead. Still he is one of those who are in love (?) with the native. Bah! He is known by his past record on Maui and in the P. G. legislature and Hawaiians do not forget things so easily as he and others of his ilk would like it to appear.

Democrat McCarthy I know to be a staunch friend of the native. He was with them through thick and thin. At the end of the memorable long Legislature of 1892, followed by the overthrow early in 1893, he was in charge of the Government building and remained there on duty night and day during those troublous times. Being true to his principles and the cause of the native which he had espoused against his own interest, he entered a plantation career, tending mules. He finally became a popular P. G. soldier and officer, climbing the ranks to colonel, and resigned it in order to become a Democratic candidate in 1900. Today he is still fighting the cause of the people against his own personal interest.

Of the Home Rule candidates, David Notley and Sam Kamakaia, the latter a former cornetist in the Government Band, nothing much further need be said of them, for both are unknown quantities. Both were formerly Republicans, but their worth was weighed and they were found lacking the needed stamina of good and true men.

And now, let us turn to those of the Fifth District. Frank Pahia has always been a staunch Republican from the beginning of politics on American party lines. He is deemed an Arthur Brown henchman, as he is holding office under him. When Kaulukou was Sheriff of Hawaii, Pahia was his deputy; and the same thing happened when his chief became Marshal. But his profession is that of a surveyor. He should have remained such instead of being an underatrapper as a country deputy sheriff under the rule of boys. Yet he is deemed a good and true native of the soil, but he is in the wrong party against his own people, and he cannot expect their suffrage.

Samuel Castle Dwight, a former Democrat, now a Republican, is a half-white son of an American missionary father. His trade is that of a carpenter, but for the last twenty odd years he has been employed as a lumber clerk, and was one of those remembered in the will of his late employer to the tune of $200. He was formerly a member of the Road Board by choice of the people at the election of 1890, if I mistake not. A better man could not have been selected, his sagacity and business integrity being irreproachable; slow to anger, but when angered, stern and severe; conservative in his investments, and his honesty is not doubted; all in all, a good man, but he's gone wrong. Was a staunch Royalist, but has no business following in his father's footsteps, for whom the missionaries had no use on account of his allying with a native family. He is to be pitied, for he is like a lamb led to the slaughter, and that by his mother's people.

The Home Ruler's have a known irresponsible and hypocrite in Mahoe, a former talkative legislator in 1901, who thought he knew too much and uses the church as a cloak for his perfidy. I know him well of old and he is an easy and ready tool as long as the "dough" is placed under his nostrils. His running mate, Keaiaha, is yet in appearance a kid of unknown attainments and experience. Pahia I understand has termed him a "vag," but he was one of the leading Home Rule proof readers of legislative bills in which some grafting was done. I learn that their gawky "saint" has asked them to withdraw in favor of better men, but both declined, Mahoe in particular.

And there're those two Democrats who have flopped over, Fernandez and Harvey, for the sake of office and of being elected. I think both should be read out of the Democratic party for what they have done, although I am glad to see that they think they have a chance of being elected. If they have not been already read out, they should be and that as soon as possible. Examples should be made of them for the guidance of others.

That other Democrat who still remains as such, I mean your quick tempered Testa, who does not know enough to be with a party that will make his election doubly sure. It is his temper that is against him and is one of the greatest faults that some find in him. But still he moves and lives without their finding any other grievous fault of judgment in his standing. Let him patiently await the final day of Judgment.

On and Off Reef.

The schooner Ottillie Fjord which arrived early last evening from the Sound with lumber, ran on the reef near the bell buoy. At the time the tide was low. The Fearless went out and tugged at the vessel but for a long time failed to move her. At 2 o'clock, when the tide was high, however, a heavy pull took her into deep water. The damage sustained by the schooner will not be known until she has discharged her cargo.

The Jury Ruffled.

There was an occurrence in Judge Gear's court this morning that was not on the calendar for the day. It was nothing less than a protest from a jury to an article that appeared in a newspaper, accompanied by a request that the paper be disciplined. The article, which was published in the Advertiser was as follows:

THE COLOR LINE.

"Kamuela was put on trial for assault and battery. Elia Long appeared for defendant. When his challenges had been exercised, only one white man was left on the jury. This was Carl Willing."

The attorney for the accused and jury took this as an insult and for that reason sought the protection of the court. After hearing argument on the matter the court referred it to the Attorney-General for investigation and report.

With the Spell-Binders.

Republicans had a fairly good meeting in Iwilei last night, the crowd being augmented considerably, however, by people from other parts of the city and soldiers. Most of the candidates spoke and the speeches were, as a rule, received with applause. W T Rawlins was greeted enthusiastically, he having been born in an adjoining neighborhood and raised among most of the voters present.

The Home Rulers had a real good meeting in Pauoa valley. It was largely attended and enthusiasm ran at a high pitch.

Footballers Organize.

Members of the football association met last evening and completed organization. W H Babbitt was elected president, Jess Woods vice president and George Lucas secretary. The following schedule of games was decided upon:

Nov 14—H A C vs Artillery.
Nov 21—Punahou vs Mailes.
Nov 26—Mailes vs H A C.
Dec 5—Artillery vs Punahou.
Dec 12—Mailes vs Artillery.
Dec 19—Punahou vs H A C.

Sherman Here.

The transport Sherman arrived from San Francisco yesterday afternoon with troops and supplies for the Philippines. She has on board twelve "peace footing" companies of the Seventh Infantry and two companies of Engineers. Coal will be taken here and the vessel will sail at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Guam and Manila.

Officers aboard the Sherman were entertained at the Hawaiian and Young hotels last evening.

Kid Delile, the soldier scrapper, is trying to get a match with Bill Huihui, the Hawaiian pugilist.

Captain Adigard and officers of the Protet will receive the public aboad ship Sunday afternoon.

Immigration Commissioner Lansing has received news that more Korean laborers are headed this way.

The barkentine Benecia arrived yesterday from Newcastle with a cargo of coal consigned to the I I S N Company.

The damage case against the Erskine M Phelps was argued in Judge Estee's court yesterday afternoon and submitted.

The schooner Otillie Fjord, which went on the reef Wednesday night, is at Bishop's wharf where she will discharge her cargo of lumber.

Joseph Leandro Oliveira by his attorney, A G Correa, makes a general denial of the complaint of Kapiolani Estate, Ltd., in ejectment, and further says he will, among other defenses, rely on the statute of limitations.

FRIDAY, OCT. 9, 1903.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The Advertiser of this morning devotes a few lines to a bare mention of the speeches of the candidates at the Republican meeting in Iwilei last night, and a whole paragraph to the silly vaporings of Birbe, the hoodlum ward heeler of the Rowdy Seventh.

There is a story in the air that the A P A of Honolulu will fight both C J McCarthy and Harry Murray at the polls in November. It is claimed that the serpent head of this organization showed itself in the battle of last year and was the principal cause of the defeat of McCarthy. If these reports are not true, the A P A should, in justice to itself, deny them.

The suggestion that conductors of electric cars call out the names of streets is a good one. It is a matter not only of vital importance to strangers but would prove a great convenience to old timers traveling at night. The start, however, should be made in the arrangement of the staff of conductors. A large number of the conductors are strangers in the country and do not themselves know the streets or their names.

Another "board" is coming to Hawaii from Washington to examine sites for fortifications. This "investigation" business is becoming extremely tiresome. Every few months the government sends down a commission or some official to examine and report on Pearl harbor or this, that or the other. There should by this time be on file in Washington a full discription of every grain of sand on Oahu and every drop of water around it. This constant rushing of "investigating" commissions to the Islands begins to look like a scheme of the administration to make the people, between now and election, believe they are keeping busy while, as a matter of fact, they do not contemplate doing anything at all.

The new county sheriff will have upon his hands the difficult work of transferring the police business from the Territorial to the County system. In the process of the change an experienced guide is demanded by the business and general interests. The office and its duties are vastly too important to warrant the trusting of them in the hands of an inexperienced and doubtful quantity—and his wife! A vote for Wilcox is a vote against the common interest.

The withdrawal this afternoon of Col C J McCarthy from the race for a supervisorship is a matter that will be generally regretted by his friends. He is a strong man and probably had a good show, but the campaign would have been a hard and expensive one for both himself and his party. One thinks of Frank Harvey's action with a gulp, and the least said about it the better. Mr Testa is sufficiently faithful to his party and is bold enough to stand by the original plan and fight it out, and will deserve his spurs should success come to him.

In commuting the sentence of George Ferris ("Kentucky Bill") from death to imprisonment for twenty years, Governor Dole did the correct thing. It was plainly shown that all of the evidence was not before the court at the time of the trial; and the new evidence is of a character to substantiate Ferris' claim that he killed old man Watson in self defense. THE INDEPENDENT has no sympathy for murderers or criminals of any kind; but we do hold that a man is justified in defending himself. One of these years another governor in reviewing this case will pardon the man.

Tomorrow is the day set for the withdrawal of Russia from Manchuria, but on the following day the Czar's troops may be depended upon to have their tents on the same old ground. In a few weeks the Bear will entomb himself within his impenetrable iceberg, and will there be able to defy mankind for more than six months. Russia's most vulnerable point in the meanwhile will be Manchuria and Siberia, but Japan nor any other nation would care to endure the rigors of that climate and would be no match in it for the hardened men of the frozen north.

The Longshoremen's Union has been formally disbanded and its members will now operate with the new Stevedore's Union, which has a charter and a national standing. Now is the time for the latter to brace up and get to work. If the Japanese are to be driven from the waterfront, to make way for the citizen workingmen and voters, it will be the result of the hardest kind of endeavor. There must be a united effort, determination and persistency. Dues should be promptly paid and kept up, and meetings should be attended regularly. Will the boys do that? If so, success is certain; if not, failure is certain.

If a military company is to be sent to St Louis it should be a solid native aggregation, with the possible exception of the captain, and that merely on account of the peculiar fitness of Sam Johnson for that duty. Every man from the first lieutenant down should be a Hawaiian. The Philippines and Porto Rico will send native companies. That is what the people at St Louis want and expect to see. They will not care for born Americans, bow-legged recruits from the north of Europe and Portuguese, for they have plenty of them at home. They will turn out to see something new, a company of native Hawaiians, and unless such is sent there will be disappointment at both ends of the line.

The U S S Iroquois is to convey Governor Dole to Kauai to visit his friend Wilcox. On the waterfront the American flagship in Hawaiian waters is sometimes designated as Dole's private yacht. And it really seems to be just that. Dole orders her to go whithersoever he wills, even using her as a kind of despatch boat to carry his messages or to satisfy his whims. Only a short time ago he sent his "yacht" to Maui to bring over a man whom he desired to appoint to office. But after all Dole is not so much to blame. His example is set by President Roosevelt who has a weakness for making private yachts out of United States war ships.

Representative W W Harris addressed the Life Problem Club at the Y M C A last night on the subject—"The Young Man in Politics."

Bishop & Co by their attorneys, Thayer & Hemenway, acknowledge full satisfaction of judgment from Sing Lung Co and Lee Chu by the payment of $533.

Owing to incorrect reports given out by members of the central committee, a number of Democrats gathered at headquarters last evening to find the meeting one only of the committee.

French Consul Albert Raas and wife have issued invitations to a reception and dance in honor of the officers of the French cruiser Protet at the Young hotel tomorrow evening, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

The minor children of the late Yee Chew Fan by their guardian, Tong Tack, have brought a suit against Yee Chin, Lum Hong and Chew Mon, administrators of the estate of deceased, to recover $300. This is the proceeds of a sale of real estate collected by Chew Mon, who absconded with the money to China.

Alfred Willis by his attorney in fact, Henry Smith, has rendered his final account as guardian of Henry Hart, a minor now come of age. He charges himself with $107 06 and asks to be allowed $23.63, leaving a balance of $83.43 to pay the ward. The guardian is the former Bishop of Honolulu, now Bishop of Tonga.

Mauna Loa Not So Active Now.

The steamer Mauna Loa which arrived from Hawaii this morning reported that Mokuaweoweo was considerably less active than on Tuesday afternoon and evening. There is still smoke and some glare at night but the general indications are of a gradual disappearance of the eruption. No one knows anything positive about a lava flow, the report seeming to have been mere guess work. L S Aungst and other passengers from West Hawaii reported the display on Tuesday night as something grand. Purser Conkling's statement of the outbreak is gathered from a good of the mountain at several points and from the accounts of people at various ports. It is as follows:

"At 1:30 on Tuesday afternoon the volcano of Mokuaweoweo burst forth in a great column of smoke. In the night three fountains of flame could be plainly seen. The largest was the main crater, the two lesser being on the Kona side. It was reported that lava was flowing toward Kahuku ranch and Honomalus, but nothing definite as to a flow could be seen or learned. On Wednesday night the fires were not near so bright as on Tuesday."

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

In my last, in alluding to Democrat McCarthy, I forgot to mention that he was a National Reform Noble in the Legislature of 1890 and clerk of the same body in 1892. He is a friend of your Testa, and I understand that he was the first kanaka he became acquainted with when he arrived in this country over twenty years ago, both being employed in the same place, and they have remained friends since then, one a born Democrat and the other made so by force of circumstances.

I also forgot to mention a little of Frank Harvey's past. A cowboy, an expert hula singer, and an all-round jolly fellow. Once in his life, he worked at Waimanalo plantation when John Cummins was manager. As regards his education, that was much neglected, but he got the best obtainable in those days, for he cared more for the horse and the hula with all the concomitants thrown in. His cowboy propensities is so imbedded in his make up that he still remains as such to this day. As a patriotic Hawaiian, he's as good as they make 'em anywhere round about this whole country, or else, I am badly mistaken. But as a Democrat, I have somewhat lost my faith in him, because of his acceptance of a Home Rule nomination against the will and choice of his party.

When mentioning Harry Murray the other day, I grievously erred in stating that he was island born. Since then, I have learned otherwise, that he's a California born boy, came here while yet in his mother's arms. He attended the California banquet last month tonight, to celebrate Admission Day, with the avowed purpose, so I am told, of bidding for the support of Californians in his candidacy for the county clerkship. One thing I must say in his favor, he does not depend on his father's record to make a name for himself, but is willing to rely on his own merit for his laurels. When his father was a rank P. G. partisan, he made his sons do what he told them to do and they did it too, but of course they were then in their minority and did not have their own minds. He's Irish, to be sure, Mike, and Irish will always be out for the Latin there is in him. I think he ought to be a Democrat instead of Republican, and therein, I say, he's gone wrong, begorra, by gosh.

The Republicans have not made much choice in the intelligence and the capabilities of some of their nominees. Now, there's Ikey Sherwood, who can't speak one sentence of English correctly; Murray's brogue is agin him, but he has an American polish. Jim Pratt is surly and gruff, who lacks the stuff to be a gentleman, although he tries to, but it illy becomes his nature and temperament. But the peach of them all is Arthur Brown, who is in the pink of perfection as to shape and heighth, when in his tight fitting official togs and bestrides his charger, who likes to show off his haunches and to be admired by all, the gentler sex in particular. And Willie Rawlins only wants to make an experiment as county attorney, not depending on his father's record, which is not anything great.

Young Kalaukalani, Murray's Home Rule opponent, is a native to the manner born. Finished his education in Punahou, was secretary to Delegate Wilcox, studied law by self application and admitted to practice in our inferior courts. I don't think he is quite up to the mark as a county clerk, but by application he will be and is perfectly capable of holding his own as against his competitor, a white lad. My choice is the kanaka every time, for he knows what love is for his own people instead of a haole.

Nakuina for county clerk is the peer, to my knowledge, of both his opponents, being experienced, capable and honest. I may be mistaken in him, still I know whereof I am speaking. A former Republican who was forced to become a Home Ruler by the mean treatment given him for a malihini that has no claim upon this country's charity. While in the Registry office, he showed his capacity then to the entire satisfaction of those that came in contact with him and to the displeasure of his superior.

But what is Lem Ables trying to do? He must be a sorehead Republican who failed to be even mentioned. He was a former P G patriot, a member of the original committee of the overthrow, of the Advisory Council and of the Constitutional Convention of 1895, and I believe he was one of those who wanted to have all those imprisoned in 1895 killed like rats without trial. Yet I think him to be a capable man for auditor, the post he is aspiring to, and is a better man than either of the two, both of whom were mere clerks and I believe cannot command the confidence of our moneyed aristocracy.

And your aggrasive Testa is a ninompoop for not throwing his weight in the Home Rule ranks, where he ought to be and should be. That's his place by right of the past, but he knows his own business better than I do myself. Since he has made his own bed, and knowing him from way back, he is hard to change.

Two Democrats Withdraw.

The Democratic meeting of last evening was adjourned over to noo n today in order that double-barreled candidate Harvey might be present. Col C J McCarthy's withdrawal from the race for supervisor of the Fourth again came up and was formally accepted. Frank Harvey's withdrawal as a candidate from the Fifth was also accepted, Harvey having gone behind the back of his party and accepted the Home Rule nomination for supervisor-at-large. The matter of the withdrawal of F J Testa was discussed, leaving the field clear; but the nominee decidad to remain in the field, stating that as a start had been made he believed in carrying it out.

Mauna Loa Arrives.

The Mauna Loa, which arrived this morning from Hawaii and Maui ports, brought the following passengers:

Miss Margaret Forrest, J J Ernesto, I Saito, J H Makino, Judge Waipulani and wife, Mrs Kamanu, John McGuire, J K Elemakule, H L Holstein, Pulaa, S Lazarro, G F Maydwell, J K Kapahu, G P Hamauoha, F L Leslie, Carlo Long, Yamashiro, Mrs Wm Donnelly, Geo Stautner, M F Scott, John Greig, Miss C Newton, H A Johnson, Sam Wong, Misses Ward (2), L S Aungst, wife and child, Mrs Enoka Kauua, Dr J H Raymond, J M Vivas, Mrs Lakuou and 45 deck.

Home Rulers will hold two meetings tonight, one at Kalihi, on Kamehameha IV road, near the end of the electric car line, and the other at Iwilei, Ewa of the prison.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The Advertiser of this morning devotes a few lines to a bare mention of the speeches of the candidates at the Republican meeting in Iwilei last night, and a whole paragraph to the silly vaporings of Birbe, the hoodlum ward heeler of the Rowdy Seventh.

There is a story in the air that the A P A of Honolulu will fight both C J McCarthy and Harry Murray at the polls in November. It is claimed that the serpent head of this organization showed itself in the battle of last year and was the principal cause of the defeat of McCarthy. If these reports are not true, the A P A should, in justice to itself, deny them.

The suggestion that conductors of electric cars call out the names of streets is a good one. It is a matter not only of vital importance to strangers but would prove a great convenience to old timers traveling at night. The start, however, should be made in the arrangement of the staff of conductors. A large number of the conductors are strangers in the country and do not themselves know the streets or their names.

Another "board" is coming to Hawaii from Washington to examine sites for fortifications. This "investigation" business is becoming extremely tiresome. Every few months the government sends down a commission or some official to examine and report on Pearl harbor or this, that or the other. There should by this time be on file in Washington a full discription of every grain of sand on Oahu and every drop of water around it. This constant rushing of "investigating" commissions to the Islands begins to look like a scheme of the administration to make the people, between now and election, believe they are keeping busy while, as a matter of fact, they do not contemplate doing anything at all.

The new county sheriff will have upon his hands the difficult work of transferring the police business from the Territorial to the County system. In the process of the change an experienced guide is demanded by the business and general interests. The office and its duties are vastly too important to warrant the trusting of them in the hands of an inexperienced and doubtful quantity—and his wife! A vote for Wilcox is a vote against the common interest.

The withdrawal this afternoon of Col C J McCarthy from the race for a supervisorship is a matter that will be generally regretted by his friends. He is a strong man and probably had a good show, but the campaign would have been a hard and expensive one for both himself and his party. One thinks of Frank Harvey's action with a gulp, and the least said about it the better. Mr Testa is sufficiently faithful to his party and is bold enough to stand by the original plan and fight it out, and will deserve his spurs should success come to him.

In commuting the sentence of George Ferris ("Kentucky Bill") from death to imprisonment for twenty years, Governor Dole did the correct thing. It was plainly shown that all of the evidence was not before the court at the time of the trial; and the new evidence is of a character to substantiate Ferris' claim that he killed old man Watson in self defense. THE INDEPENDENT has no sympathy for murderers or criminals of any kind; but we do hold that a man is justified in defending himself. One of these years another governor in reviewing this case will pardon the man.

Tomorrow is the day set for the withdrawal of Russia from Manchuria, but on the following day the Czar's troops may be depended upon to have their tents on the same old ground. In a few weeks the Bear will entomb himself within his impenetrable iceberg, and will there be able to defy mankind for more than six months. Russia's most vulnerable point in the meanwhile will be Manchuria and Siberia, but Japan nor any other nation would care to endure the rigors of that climate and would be no match in it for the hardened men of the frozen north.

The Longshoremen's Union has been formally disbanded and its members will now operate with the new Stevedore's Union, which has a charter and a national standing. Now is the time for the latter to brace up and get to work. If the Japanese are to be driven from the waterfront, to make way for the citizen workingmen and voters, it will be the result of the hardest kind of endeavor. There must be a united effort, determination and persistency. Dues should be promptly paid and kept up, and meetings should be attended regularly. Will the boys do that? If so, success is certain; if not, failure is certain.

If a military company is to be sent to St Louis it should be a solid native aggregation, with the possible exception of the captain, and that merely on account of the peculiar fitness of Sam Johnson for that duty. Every man from the first lieutenant down should be a Hawaiian. The Philippines and Porto Rico will send native companies. That is what the people at St Louis want and expect to see. They will not care for born Americans, bow-legged recruits from the north of Europe and Portuguese, for they have plenty of them at home. They will turn out to see something new, a company of native Hawaiians, and unless such is sent there will be disappointment at both ends of the line.

The U S S Iroquois is to convey Governor Dole to Kauai to visit his friend Wilcox. On the waterfront the American flagship in Hawaiian waters is sometimes designated as Dole's private yacht. And it really seems to be just that. Dole orders her to go whithersoever he wills, even using her as a kind of despatch boat to carry his messages or to satisfy his whims. Only a short time ago he sent his "yacht" to Maui to bring over a man whom he desired to appoint to office. But after all Dole is not so much to blame. His example is set by President Roosevelt who has a weakness for making private yachts out of United States war ships.

His cowboy propensities is so imbedded in his make up that he still remains as such to this day. As a patriotic Hawaiian, he's as good as they make 'em anywhere round about this whole country, or else, I am badly mistaken. But as a Democrat, I have somewhat lost my faith in him, because of his acceptance of a Home Rule nomination against the will and choice of his party.

When mentioning Harry Murray the other day, I grievously erred in stating that he was island born. Since then, I have learned otherwise, that he's a California born boy, came here while yet in his mother's arms. He attended the California banquet last month tonight, to celebrate Admission Day, with the avowed purpose, so I am told, of bidding for the support of Californians in his candidacy for the county clerkship. One thing I must say in his favor, he does not depend on his father's record to make a name for himself, but is willing to rely on his own merit for his laurels. When his father was a rank P. G. partisan, he made his sons do what he told them to do and they did it too, but of course they were then in their minority and did not have their own minds. He's Irish, to be sure, Mike, and Irish will always be out for the Latin there is in him. I think he ought to be a Democrat instead of Republican, and therein, I say, he's gone wrong, begorra, by gosh.

The Republicans have not made much choice in the intelligence and the capabilities of some of their nominees. Now, there's Ikey Sherwood, who can't speak one sentence of English correctly; Murray's brogue is agin him, but he has an American polish. Jim Pratt is surly and gruff, who lacks the stuff to be a gentleman, although he tries to, but it ill becomes his nature and temperament. But the peach of them all is Arthur Brown, who is in the pink of perfection as to shape and heighth, when in his tight fitting official togs and bestrides his charger, who likes to show off his haunches and to be admired by all, the gentler sex in particular. And Willie Rawlins only wants to make an experiment as county attorney, not depending on his father's record, which is not anything great.

Young Kalaunokalani, Murray's Home Rule opponent, is a native to the manner born. Finished his education in Punahou, was secretary to Delegate Wilcox, studied law by self application and admitted to practice in our inferior courts. I don't think he is quite up to the mark as a county clerk, but by application he will be and is perfectly capable of holding his own as against his competitor, a white lad. My choice is the kanaka every time, for he knows what love is for his own people instead of a haole.

Nakuina for county clerk is the peer, to my knowledge, of both his opponents, being experienced, capable and honest. I may be mistaken in him, still I know whereof I am speaking. A former Republican who was forced to become a Home Ruler by the mean treatment given him for a malihini that has no claim upon this country's charity. While in the Registry office, he showed his capacity then to the entire satisfaction of those that came in contact with him and to the displeasure of his superior.

But what is Lem Ables trying to do? He must be a sorehead Republican who failed to be even mentioned. He was a former P G patriot, a member of the original committee of the overthrow, of the Advisory Council and of the Constitutional Convention of 1895, and I believe he was one of those who wanted to have all those imprisoned in 1895 killed like rats without trial. Yet I think him to be a capable man for auditor, the post he is aspiring to, and is a better man than either of the two, both of whom were mere clerks and I believe cannot command the confidence of our moneyed aristocracy.

And your aggresive Testa is a ninompoop for not throwing his weight in the Home Rule ranks, where he ought to be and should be. That's his place by right of the past, but he knows his own business better than I do myself. Since he has made his own bed, and knowing him from way back, he is hard to change.

Two Democrats Withdraw.

The Democratic meeting of last evening was adjourned over to noon today in order that double-barreled candidate Harvey might be present. Col C J McCarthy's withdrawal from the race for supervisor of the Fourth again came up and was formally accepted. Frank Harvey's withdrawal as a candidate from the Fifth was also accepted, Harvey having gone behind the back of his party and accepted the Home Rule nomination for supervisor-at-large. The matter of the withdrawal of F J Testa was discussed, leaving the field clear; but the nominee decided to remain in the field, stating that as a start had been made he believed in carrying it out.

ROOSEVELT AN ENEMY TO LABOR.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 23:

I said some time ago, in this correspondence, that the President had "butted in" on union labor by his order reinstating a man named Miller in the Government Printing Office, who had been "fired" at the request of the Bookbinder's Union, and by his further order that the Government Printing Office and all other departments of government labor should have an open door, and that there should be no man discriminated against on account of the fact that he did not belong to some labor union. I also said at that time that it was up to the labor unions to make the next move. Well, they have made the move, and now the President is requested to move. It is up to him in such a shape that he must either fish, cut bait or get out of the boat. Some of the commentators on current events in this city are trying to make the people believe that this is a move on the part of Mark Hanna to get Roosevelt embroiled with the labor unions of the country and "do him" out of the nomination. Well, may be it is, but if so you can wager your life that the Hon Marcus Alonzo Hanna will offer a strenuous denial of the same, for he is now engaged in the struggle of his life to get back to the Senate, and if it came to the ears of Roosevelt in an authoritative way that Hanna was putting the knife into him in any such way he would forthwith announce that the Federal patronage of the state of Ohio would be under the control of one, Senator Foraker, and that would eternally crucify Hanna, and he knows it better than anybody. Whoever put up the job on Roosevelt, it is a "corker." He must either "fire" Miller and take back water on his "knocking" union labor or go under; must either "crawfish" or be crucified. If he refuses the unions that now occupy the high seats in the offices of the government will say nothing, but they will saw wood, and their confreres on the outside will begin whetting their knives for the gentleman in the White House to be put in use at the election next year provided the Democrats have sense enough to nominate a man who is acceptable to the labor interests of the country. It is folly for labor, Hanna or anybody else to talk of defeating Roosevelt for the nomination. He now practically has enough votes pledged to nominate him, and no matter how much the senatorial cabal against him desire to see him defeated for the nomination, he will, nevertheless and notwithstanding, be the Republican standard bearer in the campaign next year. If the Democratic party will nominate some man in whom labor has confidence the game is won, for no matter what action is taken by the President now, in this case in the Government Printing Office, labor is done with him and only waiting an opportunity to swat him good and hard. Verbum sap.

The case of Miss Todd, the young woman postmistress in Delaware who was "fired" by Postmaster General Payne for no other reason on earth than that she was obnoxious to the Addicks faction of the Republican party in that state, is causing much unfavorable comment here and likewise causing some high Republican officials a few bad half-hours. The statement of Postmaster General Payne that President Roosevelt was fully aware of the deal that had been

THE ADVERTISER'S SLUR.

It is hardly probable that any serious notice would have been taken by the jury in the Kamuela case to the attack upon itself by the Advertiser had the attack in question not been preceded by other attacks upon the integrity of Hawaiian jurors. There was little in the Kamuela item, to be sure; but it applied directly to a dozen men the principle of racial prejudice and antagonisms so studiously and persistently put forward by the morning press. The court did not step beyond the bounds of propriety in referring of the former articles bearing in the same general direction, for there has been in the columns of the Advertiser in the past six months a chain of slurs upon the integrity of the native Hawaiian and a bald-faced drawing of the color line by that paper.

The effect of the slur in the Kamuela matter was briefly this: The jurors felt that were their verdict in favor of the defendant, that section of the community influenced by the morning press would feel that it had been prompted by racial sympathy; while if the other way the defendant and his friends would jump to the conclusion that the jury was whipped by the press into such a decision. That the jury would actually have been so influenced, one way or the other, is a very remote possibility, but the accusation would have been as certain as it was real.

It seems to us high time that the respectable people in support of the morning press should discourage that "color line" policy entered upon by the Advertiser shortly after the assembling of the last Legislature. It certainly can do no good, unless, indeed, the strengthening of the Home Rule party can be accounted a good thing; and it can do a lot of harm. If peace and prosperity are to be realized and maintained, good feeling between the races should be the first aim. Certainly neither can be promoted by slurs upon native character and the drawing of the color line by the missionaries.

THE MEAT OF THE CASE.

A Democrat is a home ruler here and everywhere else, but a Home Ruler is not a Democrat nor will he be ever considered one either here or on the mainland or anywhere else. Then what can a Home Ruler hope to be? A nonentity and a monstrosity, without shelter and without a footing nationally, and can figure only locally.

When a Democrat accepts an out and out Home Rule nomination, disregarding the dictum of his own party, whether he takes the oath of fealty or not, he cannot remain as a Democrat, but must be counted as a Home Ruler and a candidate of that party. We fail to see anything else in the case of such a one unless principle be entirely sidetracked and disregarded.

A prominent Home Rule candidate, one of the recruits from the Republican ranks, said to us yesterday that Harvey is now, to all intents and purposes, a Home Ruler, not a Democrat, whether he has taken the oath or not. That expression tallies perfectly with our way of thinking and is the only logical way of looking at such a matter. This party further said that having accepted a nomination, not an endorsement, he is a Home Rule candidate without Democratic endorsement. That is our view, which is the only proper one, all else to the contrary notwithstanding.

To try and make out, as some are trying to, that Harvey accepted an endorsement of the Home Rulers, instead of a nomination pure and simple, is to try to make a lame defense on a weak case. No sensible person can come to any such conclusion unless he is too blind to see further than himself.

Our Mr Testa is being blamed by the Harvey stamp of Democrats for not informing Harvey of the action taken by the Home Rulers with regard to himself, because Testa was present at the meeting. Testa admits that he was present, not as one seeking favors, but as a man on business as a news gatherer, and furthermore, he was not deputized as a messenger. He naturally accepted the statement there made by Wilcox as bona fide, about noon or later of the day in question, that he had seen Harvey and that he had accepted; action was immediately taken and he placed on the ticket as against the nomination of the Democratic party in place of one who had voluntarily withdrawn. What else was there left for Testa to do but to accept it? THE INDEPENDENT used the information that afternoon, but Harvey says his first intimation was on reading THE INDEPENDENT, and claims that he never accepted it till after 5 o'clock that same afternoon.

If the statement of Wilcox is true, then Harvey had ample time to have consulted with his brother Democrat, for it must be taken for granted that he was fully aware of the action to be taken by those who had seen him. But this he did not do. Had he but condescended to do what was right towards his "humble servant," by showing that he had the best chance of any of the Democratic nominees, Testa gives us to understand that he would gladly have withdrawn in his favor. As it is now, he fails to reconcile himself to this claptrap view of such Democrats, all eager for such a nomination with a possible chance of holding office, utterly lacking the ingredient of being a good Democrat with principle and manhood, which are the first principles of being deemed true and trustworthy. Lastly, Testa says he'll have none of it and will remain true to his colors, unless he is otherwise convinced by better minds.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

A most significant thing in the county campaign is that larger crowds are attending the Home Rule meetings despite the fact that the Republicans are offering luaus and free beer as an inducement.

Our correspondent, Ahuimoia, seems to have struck in among the candidates like a cyclone. While we do not agree with every detail of his criticisms, his personal histories of the office seekers form interesting reading.

The attitude of President Roosevelt in the Miller case was, whether intentional or otherwise, a great card for W R Hearst, the Democratic aspirant for the Presidency. Certain it now is that the laboring men of the United States will draw away from Roosevelt, who has declined to accede their reasonable and business-like requests, and will line up solidly for their friend and benefactor, Mr Hearst.

"Within two years this will be a wide-open town, with 5 cent beer and fast houses galore, and the liviest and best city from Vancouver to Valparaiso." Thus spoke a citizen this morning. There should and will be more liberal laws, particularly as to the observance of the Sabbath; but any idea of making a Bremerton out of Honolulu should be frowned down by every man with children and every man expecting to make this his home.

THE INDEPENDENT has been assured by Mr Testa that as the sole remaining nominee of the Democratic party, he is ready to stand up and take his medicine like a good boy and that he is awaiting the slaughter. He leaves himself entirely in the hands of his fellows. If they want him to step down, he'll do so; but if they say "go to the slaughter," which is no doubt certain, he'll remain as their sole candidate and meet certain defeat with good grace and in the best of spirit. If Democrats have any objection to this plan the proper thing for them to do is to speak up. He will not take the say of one, but of the many.

Women in Business

Business men often express the opinion that there is one thing which will prevent women from completely filling man's place in the business world—they can't be depended upon because they are sick too often. It is true that many women are compelled to look forward to times when they are unable to attend to social or business duties. Their appearance plainly indicates their condition and they are reluctant to be seen, even by their friends. Read what a business woman says to such sufferers:

Mrs. C. W. Mansfield, 58 Farrar Street, Detroit, Mich., says: "A complication of female ailments kept me awake nights and wore me out. I could get no relief from medicine and hope was slipping away from me. A young lady in my employ gave me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I took them and was able to rest at night for the first time in months. I bought more and they cured me as they also cured several other people to my knowledge. I think that if you should ask any of the druggists of Detroit, who are the best buyers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills they would say the young women. These pills certainly build up the nervous system and many a young woman owes her life to them.

"As a business woman I am pleased to recommend them as they did more for me than any physician and I can give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People credit for my general good health to-day."

The first car of the Rapid Transit Company on the Waialae road line will leave the car barn at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Tomorrow the line will be opened to the public and continue with a half-hour service.

Want Cheap Rides.

Ladies of a school for "girls" beyond their teens have been working the car conductors for rides at half fare on the score that they were "school children." The age limit for the special privilege, however, seems to be 17, and the rule is now being enforced. School "girls" with silver in their hair and wrinkles upon their angelic brows do not like to be asked if they are under 17 and pay the full fare, like good children, without further questioning. Prof Edgar Woods' Normal school is the institution referred to.

The Latest From The Volcano.

The Hilo Herald of Thursday published the following in regard to the outbreak of Mokuaweoweo crater:

Shortly after noon on Tuesday Manager Bidgood of the Kilauea Volcano House telephoned the Herald office that an immense volume of smoke was issuing from the big crater at the top of Mauna Loa.

The day was perfectly clear at Kilauea and the smoke and steam was plainly visible from the verandas at Kilauea. Attaches of the hotel who have been in that vicinity for years say they never before saw so much smoke coming from the upper crater.

From Punaluu the sight is one of magnificent grandeur. Robert Forrest who is in charge of the Inter-Island landing there, reports the fire as large and says the glow extends for some distance toward Kona and he is under the impression that there is a lava flow, probably a a, from the crater, or from a point near it, going slowly towards Kona. This will be determined when the first prospecting party reaches the summit.

In the same issue the Herald prints the following as later information:

That there is a lively outbreak at the summit of Mauna Loa there can be no doubt. The Herald was in frequent communication yesterday with Manager Bidgood and some residents of Kau and Kona. The reports from these people relative to the extent of the activity all coincide with that of Mr. Forrest.

The Wassmans in Kona went but two miles from their residence and got a fine view of the glow; they could plainly see the reflections from various flows.

Kailua sent two messengers to the top of the mountain for the purpose of investigating the outbreak They reported on their return that the lava is pouring out of the main crater at Mokuaweoweo and that on Tuesday night there were six streams. On Wednesday morning these had run together forming two very wide streams which were flowing to Kahuku Ranch owned by Col Sam Norris.

This is the section of the country that has been visited by damaging lava flows in the past years. In 1887 there was one which started about seventeen miles from the sea at 7:30 in the evening and in three hours it was flowing into the sea. Another serious flow occurred there in 1868 and was attended with some fatalities and several narrow escapes. Deputy Sheriff Swain of Laupahoehoe is one of the survivors of that flow. Old residents claim that the shell of the mountain on that side of the Island is extremely thin in some places in the Kahuku section and that while the present flow may stop at any time it is apt to break out any time afterward lower down the slope. The messengers report the flow as making a quick run for a-a which usually flows slowly.

Guests at the Volcano House watched the glow Tuesday night until the clouds enveloped the summit of Mauna Loa and shut out the view. Manager Bidgood says the scene was the grandest he ever witnessed.

With the Politicians.

Republican spell-binders had a meeting at S M Damon's place in Moanalua last evening. Busses were run between the car line and the scene of oratory and promises, taking out a number of people from the city. The crowd was not a very large one but seemed to include a majority of the voters of the immediate neighborhood. Tonight the Republicans will have a meeting at Ewa mill.

The Home Rulers held meetings last night in Iwilei and at the Kamehameha IV Road in Kalihi. Large and enthusiastic crowds attended both.

Pratt Is Particular.

A Portuguese appeared at the tax office this morning to pay his assessment, which amounted to $351.78. He was waited on by A W Neely, one of the clerks, under the eye and almost in the immediate presence of Assessor Pratt. Not having exact change he paid in $351.75, or three cents short, which was taken but the clerk demanded the residue. The tax-payer had the receipt but he was required to go down town and scare up the coppers before he could take it away.

The Kinau arrived at 11:30 o'clock this morning from Hawaii and Maui ports with the following passengers:

The case against W F Reynolds, who was charged with misspropriating funds drawn from the Postal Savings Bank for a client, was dismissed in the District Court yesterday. The case was brought under a misapprehension of facts. Reynolds collected the money, but turned it over to a Chinaman impersonating the real claimant. Being obliged to satisfy the original man, he is out of pocket the amount of the claim.

made for the division of the spoils of office in Delaware is rather tough on a civil service reformer such as the President professes to be. It no doubt, also, is especially disheartening to those Republicans who were hopeful that their party and their administration would not be disgraced by complicity in the attempt to Addickize the state of Delaware, and assist him in the purchase of the United States Senatorship from that state. It was expected and anticipated that Payne would give Addicks his share of the political spoils, being a machine politician himself, but it was a shock to the lovers of decent government that the President should have acquiesced in the Addicks game. Miss Todd had committed no offense for which her dismissal should have been requested. There was no mark against her personal or official conduct, no petition from the patrons of the office for her removal. She simply was against Addicks and that was crime enough in the eyes of a machine politician like the Postmaster General. Will he reinstate Miss Todd or stand by the action of the Postmaster General? He may do a lot of talking, but, as he says, "words are good only when backed by deeds."

HOW THE TRUSTS HANDLE FINANCES.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 23:

Some of the things that are being discussed here by the men who come to the national capital on business before the departments and for other purposes, are the conditions that exist in the world of stock speculation. Things have gone to cussed smash over in Wall Street in any number of stocks and yet the men who are manipulating the game that catches suckers are still looked upon as the "conservative business element" of the country, as the creme de la creme of respectability and business sagacity. The real truth is that if the people of this country had sense enough to sit down and think consecutively for ten minutes they would know that this so-called "conservative business element" is a thoroughly discredited class of highbinders, free-booters and commercial Bashi Bazouks; that they are robbing the people of the country every day and laughing at them. Take the United States Steel Corporation, for instance, and see what has happened. The officials of that gigantic trust seem actually to be proud of the number of victims they have fleeced in the past year. They continue to give out boasting statements of the rapidly increasing number of its stockholders, though it is apparent to the most casual observer that every man who invested in these stocks since they were placed on the market has lost money.

The total shrinkage is more than 30 points on both common and preferred stocks. It takes $300,000,000 to measure the loss of the victims of this trust, and still the spider continues to sit in his little parlor and lure his victims and still they come and have the lifeblood sucked out of them. A statement was given out the other day that the number of holders of this stock had increased over 6,000 in the past three months. During this increase of over 6,000 in the number of holders of common stock in this corporation it sunk from 30 to 20 a share, and two days more it had gone down to 18. Thus, some who bought three months ago have already lost one-third of their investment.

These highway robbers are playing a game like the niggers' coon trap—it catches 'em a comin' and a goin.' They rob the purchasers of their product in this country where they charge more than they do foreigners because the tariff gives them the privilege, and they rob the buyers of their stock by manipulation on Wall Street.

Yet this is the delectable gang of unconscionable scoundrels who are every day held up to us as the paragons of business integrity and to whom we must bow in all our national elections; that we must select candidates who are acceptable to this gang of thieves. If the democracy does so it deserves defeat.

In these times of trust prosperity let the man with a fixed income, such as clerks and wage-earners, whose incomes do not increase with the increase in the cost of living, ask themselves how much of the prosperity they are getting out of the times. If the answer is satisfactory then let them continue to vote the republican ticket and "stand pat" with the trusts who are shouting that as their battle cry in the campaign that is approaching. Let them "stand pat" and continue to "let well enough alone," and they will continue to pay high prices for their living and their salaries and wages

JUSTICE GET A RAP.

In speaking in court this morning in regard to the Advertiser's slur aimed at the jury in the Kamuela case, Attorney-General Andrews took the position that judgment should not be based upon a surmise of intention but upon the facts as literally presented by the article to which objection had been made. Technically, the head of Dole's legal bureau is right; it comes hard on Justice and establishes a channel for further and even more pronounced abuses of the same character. It was surmised that the court would itself move in the direction of a citation for contempt, but as the attorney for defendant made no further objection to going ahead with the case, the matter was dropped. This was, perhaps, the shortest, easiest and best way of ending a most unpleasant episode.

We do not agree with the Attorney General that "intention" should not have figured heavily in this particular case. The chain of aspersions cast by the Advertiser in the past several months upon the integrity of native Hawaiian jurors shows up the contemptible purpose of the storm-making lines in Friday's paper. The "intention" was made clear by circumstances, it is true; but it was so patent as to leave no question as to its presence and character. It was one of the many utterances of the morning press intended to encourage an agitation in Washington against the present scheme of a wide-open franchise. Of this every man, woman and child in the Islands, familiar with the course of political discussion, is thoroughly positive, and we still believe that the Advertiser was guilty of constructive contempt if not worse.

The question of what is in future to be done to check these defaming slurs of the morning press is now in order. The sense of justice, of honor, the interest of business and the harmony and prosperity of the community have been appealed to in vain. Respectable people in support of the Advertiser have been importuned to discourage the "color line" agitation, it being something entirely unnecessary and all of dangerous. Now that the Advertiser has succeeded in squirming out of the close corner into which its libel of last Friday had forced it, it is to be assumed that it will be more daring and vicious than ever before. But, wait; its day is coming. The morning paper is the goat in the wood-shed in this case, and its "color line" tack is the swinging maul that will come back and hit the harder.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

Governments are organized to perform certain functions not in the power of the individual. It is not the duty of government, however, to engage in business enterprises that the individual may manage as easily and to the advantage of the community. But it is within the province and right of government to own and operate such enterprises and utilities as are a strain upon the people at large to the enrichment of a few men in a corporation. The principle is the same as in most other things—"the greatest good to the largest number." When an institution is supported exclusively from the pocket of the general public, and is designed for the exclusive patronage and use of the people, government should own such institution in order that the strain upon the public be offset by such profits as may be realized from its business.

Applying these observations to the Rapid Transit Company, we would like to ask why it is not proper for the Territorial Government to own that important utility? The system is one in the service of the general public. The nickels of the masses make up the fund for its running expenses and its profits. Indications are that its profits will in a few years be very large. This money will go, in the shape of dividends, into the pockets of a few men. That is not as it should be. The business of the Rapid Transit Company is the people's business, and the people should derive the benefit of the large profits soon to be derived from it. We hope that an agitation of the subject will be started in order that a substantial and uniform opinion may be arrived at by the time the next Legislature meets.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

In his speech Saturday night C. W. Ashford said he was afraid that if elected county attorney W. T. Rawlins would have to have an iron band placed around his head before being able to enter his office door. Bob Willcox's gasoline tank might be a little large for the door but it would probably fit the head all right.

In framing head-lines Saturday's Advertiser announced that "Young Republicans will hold a monster rally," and in the body of the article stated; "It is expected there will be fully 1500 present." In its write-up of the meeting, however, the same paper of Sunday sadly concluded a sentence with the statement that there were some 500 listeners. Where, Oh, where, were the other thousand that the Advertiser expected to see present at the meeting?

If there is really money in small farming in these Islands why is it that no one has thus far succeeded in getting any out of it? Experiments have been made in many lines, at all seasons and probably under all conditions, but with the same result—failure. The exorbitant values placed upon land, absence of labor, uncertain rainfall, adverse climatic conditions, presence of numerous pests and other drawbacks form an insurmountable barrier to small farming. The truth in this matter is better and cheaper than the unfavorable comments of misguided experimentors.

The Independent does not desire to charge the Advertiser with fomenting race feeling in the Islands. There is a kind of meanness in every part of the subject anyhow. But for years, and particularly since the convening of the Legislature in February last, the morning press has lost no opportunity of discrediting the ability and integrity of the native Hawaiian. The facts speak for themselves, and are familiar to everyone,

THE ADVERTISER IS WORKING FOR THE DISFRANCHISEMENT OF THE NATIVE HAWAIIANS IN ORDER THAT THE MISSIONARIES MAY AGAIN BE RETURNED TO ABSOLUTE POWER.

Sheriff Andrews, of Hawaii, has begun the promiscuous use of bloodhounds in the work of trailing criminals and suspects. Last week the hounds were sent out to chase a Japanese whom it was believed had robbed a house. Had the man been overhauled by the blood-thirsty canines, away from their master, the results can be readily imagined. The use of the bloodhounds shows what manner of savage Andrews is. Can one wonder, under the circumstances, that he systematically bilks the police officers out of their hard earned wages, or that he strung a Portugues boy up by the thumbs in the effort to extort a confession of crime from him?

A principal reason why the cordiality of the natives' welcome to travellers has been greatly modified lies in the fact that the privileges extended are almost invariably abused, and everything Hawaiian is misrepresented by the strangers in their home papers. This is particularly true of American and English tourists. A luau is generally colored up by them into something ridiculous and any novelty introduceld for an entertainment, and most times at their request, is toned up into a silly monstrosity that can but reflect upon the character and civilization of the Hawaiian. In view of the absurd yarns constantly appearing in eastern papers concerning native receptions, the singular thing is that such courtesies to tourists have not been stopped long ago.

The Young Men's Republican club had a rally at the corner of Hotel and Bethel streets last Saturday evening which attracted some 500 sight-seekers from the neighboring thoroughfares. Speeches were made by several campaign rooters, including U S Attorney Breckons and Commissioner Douthitt. Lorrin Andrews presided over the meeting. After the meeting had adjourned T McCants Stewart and C W Ashford were in turn urged upon the stand. The latter announced himself as a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat. He did not think, however, that political lines should cut any figure in the county campaign, but rather that the vote should be on the man. No criticism was made of any of the candidates, except that Mr Ashford said if W T Rawlins was elected county attorney his head would have to be banded in order that he might get through his office door.

How the Trusts Handle Finances.

will continue to stay in the same place. A vote for the democratic ticket means that much nearer the time when the tariff wall will be reduced and the cost of living reduced with it. A vote for the republican ticket means that the trusts and cormorants will continue to rule and that prices will be shoved up a notch every time they get the chance. The people may take their choice.

The "Iowa idea" and the blasts against the high tariff wall made from the bugle of the Hon Joseph Weeks Babcock, of Wisconsin, which he swallowed in the last campaign, are not the only notes of discontent we hear nowadays from some of the former faithful of the protection propaganda. Congressman Lovering, of Massachusetts, is out in a statement that "in the case of all articles used in the manufacture of goods, which are exported, he would remove the duty altogether." He said in an interview, not long ago, that "there is a growing demand for relief from the tariff burden and it will make itself felt before long." He also said that he believed that "President Roosevelt meant to do the right thing, but he is surrounded by all sorts of advisers who oppose tariff changes and is influenced by them. It seems to be the policy now to smother all agitation for tariff revision." So the President is struggling, poor man, "to do the right thing," but the bad men of the trusts have control of him and his policy now is "to smother all agitation" for tariff reform. That means that he has joined Hanna and the "standpatters" and for political reasons is content to "let well enough alone." It is well enough for the trusts and the combines but high prices and extortion for the American people.

This picture of the control of the republican party and the coercion of the President by the trust magnates and the monopolists, should open the eyes of the voters everywhere to the hard game they are now up against. It is safe to say there will be tariff reform by the coming Congress unless enough republican members, forced by their constituents, join hands with the democrats in passing some measure of relief.

Last Night's Meetings.

The Republicans had a big rally at the corner of Queen and South streets last evening, there being a much larger attendance than at a previous meeting there. W H Kalilimai presided and Nahora Hipa officiated as interpreter. During the evening stereopticon views of the candidates were projected on a large screen set in the middle of the grounds. Most of the candidates spoke, the talks, however, being along much the same line as preceding ones. Features were addresses by J C Quinn, once a Democrat, then a Home Ruler but now, apparently, a Republican; and by F W Beckley, who still proclaimed himself a Home Ruler but said that he was in favor of supporting such Republicans as were better men than those on his own ticket.

Mr Beckley was greeted with tremendous applause when he ascended the platform. He began by the statement that although speaking in a Republican meeting he was still a Home Ruler. The trouble with the Home Rule party was its lack of leadership and the presence on the ticket of bad material. Good men had been turned down for other men having nothing but a gift of gab to recommend them. It was the duty of Home Rulers to turn these weaklings down at the polls and vote for better men, even though they were on the Republican ticket.

The speaker scored in severe terms R W Wilcox, Home Rule candidate for sheriff, whom he said was inexperienced and incompetent. A M Brown, he said, was, on the other hand, thoroughly competent and had had the advantage of ten years of experience. Mr Beckley then paid his respect to Charles Wilcox, candidate for auditor, and advised Home Rulers present to vote for Isaac Sherwood, Republican nominee. For clerk he urged the election of M K Nakuina, whom he declared to be the most experienced and competent man.

The Home Rulers had a big and enthusiastic gathering at Moanalua, candidates and town people taking busses from the end of the car line to the scene. Speeches were made by Wilcox, Cayless, Kalauokalani and others.

Off for the Volcano.

Both the steamers Kinau and Mauna Loa, which sailed today for Hawaii, took passengers for the scene of the present volcanic outbreak. As these steamers reach opposite sides of the island, sight-seers had the choice as to which route they would take. The Mauna Loa will, of course, approach nearest to the crater, but the Kinau-Hilo-Volcano house route has the advantage in thematter of comforts in traveling on land.

J T Stacker, editor of the Hawaii Herald, sent in a wireless telegram last night, stating the condition of things at that time. The message was as follows:

Hilo, Oct 12—There is increase in the fire on the summit of Mauna Loa. The scene from Hilo Sunday night was one of indescribable grandeur. As yet there is no flow of lava. Activity is confined to the summit crater. Four different parties have gone up from here and the first is expected to return Wednesday. There is no decrease in activity since the outbreak.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The pictures of Colonel J. W. Jones and Detective McDuffie are being used by the Republicans in their stereopticon exhibition. We can understand the object of the former, it being a bid for the vote of the National Guard; but can't figure to save our poor souls how good-natured "McDuff" got in there or for what purpose.

The Advertiser when corrected is ready to admit that Emily Brown is duly married to the King of Korea. We have never consulted Emily on the point and really care very little about it; but it seems that a newspaper should be able to verify a yarn of such importance as to carry with it illustrations and a big lot of type.

What this paper once decried against the Republicans at the last campaign is now being employed by the Home Rulers, but are they to be blamed for doing it, being apt scholars of the strong and mighty? Two women are now stumping for them and are inmates of Kalihi camp, and it is reported that they are gaining converts by the score. Hooray for Home Rule!

If the friends of George R. Carter were pleased with the reception given to the words on the screen at the meeting in Kakaako last night, suggesting that dignitary for the office of Governor, they are easily satisfied. There was no audible expression of approval, and, on the contrary, something that sounded decidedly like hisses emanated from the front ranks of the gathering. The Carter men are welcome to all the encouragement they are getting out of their fight. These last efforts are destined to meet the same fate as the famous resolutions sent by Clarence L. Crabbe to the several county conventions.

It is understood that we have another candidate in the field for the Governorship and that he is none other than our worthy "Admiral." A report has been received from Hilo that he has been reaching out, in the same Cooper-like fashion and style, for support and endorsement from among the Home Rulers, whom he threw down and overboard not so very long ago. Just think of it, the temerity!

We think the Hawaiian bonds could have been floated in New York for a great deal less than 4 1-2 per cent. The United States gets all the money it wants for three and two per cent. Hawaiian bonds are backed by the United States and as such are just as good security as straight American bonds. Had the matter been presented squarely in its real light to the investors of New York it is safe to say that the money could have been obtained for three per cent.

The Supreme Court has adjourned to Monday and we presume it will continue to adjourn from day to day until too late to dispose of the county government case before the election. The Kauai registration case was taken up and decided by two Justices of the higher court and one judge of the Circuit Court. Is there any good reason why the more important case, involving, as it does the very life of the law under which the election is to be held, should not be put through in the same way?

The cablegrams in regard to the trouble in the Far East might be condensed by our contemporaries and left standing. For instance, there might be one reading "Japan and Russia will surely fight", and another "The diplomatic relations between Japan and Russia are most satisfactory and it is safe to say that there will be no war". By running one of these items one day and the other the next for the coming six months the public would receive the same information and the papers would save a great deal of expense. We charge nothing for the suggestion.

The plain voter may with some impunity split his ticket and vote for "better men" not belonging to his party; but we fail to see the consistency—or, rather, the justification—of a leader of a party flying off at a tangent and actually working for nominees of the enemy. F. W. Beckley may have won the plaudits of the gallery in his remarks at Kakaako last evening, but it is doubtful that he carried away with him a very large bundle of respect from any quarter for proclaiming his Home Rulelsms and in the same breath urging support to certain Republican candidates.

There is another argument in favor of Government ownership of the lines of the Rapid Transit Company. Under the franchise of the corporation the Government and public realize nothing from the concern, save in the way of taxes on the rolling stock. There is a proviso that all profits over and above eight per cent. shall be divided equally between the company and the Government, but there will be "snowy slopes" on Punchbowl before anything may be expected from that source. With the Government as the absolute owner of the system the profits would fall naturally back to the people. It may be remembered in the same connection that the Rapid Transit Company pays no income tax on income of less than eight per cent., while the Hawaiian Electric Company and all other corporations pay income taxes on their gross receipts.

Some of our friends have taken us to task for being inconsistent in not supporting Rawlins, he being a kamaaina and more so, because born in the country. There's more truth than poetry in such a statement. We have simply to say that he has not yet made a record other than depending on his father's past record, on which much can be said on the shady side, but rather than rake up old scores, we would rather let such a record smoulder. The candidate is yet young and we would rather see him first make a record for himself. The young man is too ambitious, which is a weakness rather than a fault, however, in his anatomy.

Everybody should have confidence in the political advice of Mr. James C. Quinn. A born Democrat, he started out here as a Democrat and spent his time in early Territorial days in criticizing both the Home Rule and Republican parties. All of a sudden he turned Home Ruler, was put on the ticket for the House of Representatives and gave over a month of his time to abuse of the Republican party and everything Republican. Most Hawaiian voters of the Fourth District will remember how he used to rip the Republicans and missionaries up the back, and how earnestly he advised them to have nothing to do with their oppressors. But a change has come. Last night Quinn made about as good a Republican speech as were his Home Rule speeches of three years ago—and told the Hawaiians of Kakaako to do just what he told them not to do three years ago.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Cooper Employs Japanese at the Government Nursery.

I am not a member of any labor organization, but I feel strongly the importance of aiding in every possible way the fight of our citizen workingmen against the encroachment of Japanese upon their domain. The Republican party, to which I belong, also professes to espouse the cause of the citizen workingman, and I have every reason to believe that the party heads are earnest nd untiring in their efforts to protect and promote the interests of our own workmen.

We have, however, in the Government a man who is the open enemy of citizen labor. I refer to Henry E. Cooper, superintendent of public works. Mr. Cooper is employing in the Government nursery five or six Japanese in positions that could easily be filled by whites or natives. He has been approached by a committee of Republicans but has steadfastly refused to dismiss the Japanese, and seemed to be indignant that such a request should have been made of him. No less a personage than William Henry, the present head of the party, was one of the men to make the petition and he was turned away without satisfaction. In dealing with the matter in this way Cooper has deliberately slapped the citizen laboring men in the face and gone back on one of the principal aims of the Republican party. It seems to me to be getting about time that he should be shown up and properly, too.

Another thing about Cooper is that he is working hand and glove with the Home Rulers in the hope of getting their endorsement for the Governorship. Mrs. Wilcox is a steady caller at his office and through her he calculates to get the support of the native party. The fact that Cooper is keeping Japanese in positions that could easily be filled by natives and others should be sufficient for the relegation of Cooper to a back seat.

Ed. The Independent:

By AHUIMAIA.

Having given me much space in your columns to air my views upon the various candidates of this county, I will now attempt to go outside of my local sphere and give sketches, as I know them, of the different candidates on the other islands. Beginning with Maui, the hog in the recent legislative pot-pie, I hope I will do justice in entertaining your readers, Mr Editor, providing I have done so in the past few days.

The Republicans have put up some good men for supervisors, but they are more or less weak in certain instances. There's Pogue, the son of a missionary, who married a half-white wife; he represented his clique in former legislatures either under the P G or the Republic, was manager of Kihei, and through some weakness in his cranium, he was replaces by another. He knows the smell of good whiskey and okolehao, and don't you forget it. Baldwin, the one-armed chief of the island, places dependence in him, allowing him full sway to general the last campaign as well as the present one. But other than these, he is like the rest of his fellows, i. e., too narrow for the good of the native mass, unmindful of the fact that he is raising a large family of cross kanakas.

Theodor Meyer, a son of the late R W Meyer of Kalae, Molokai, is yet a young man unused to the business of the world, although he is the agent of the Bishop Estate on his island home. His education, like the rest of his family, was very much neglected, but he knows sufficiently the difference between right and wrong. He may likely prove a good man after he has gained an experience, but in the institution of the new order of things, he is nit.

Billy King, a half-brother of Republican Sam Parker, is a carpenter by trade. Was formerly a police officer and has a large family of girls. I consider him the weakest man of the lot and lacks the stamina in the make-up of a good man. He is not over bright, but is dull and slow, and will be a mere tool in the hands of such men as Baldwin, Pogue et al. I think if Kepoikai was there, he'll use him too. Who cares?

Parson Iosepa, who, since he got into politics, has daubed his "cloth" in the mire of iniquity, is an unprincipled being, yet a sturdy P G patriot and Republican, and who lost his place as District Magistrate of Hana as the outcome of a crim. con. case against him for infelicity by tampering with the property of another. He it was who once loudly said that he would fire the first bullet in the Queen's head if she was restored to the throne. I think an Indian is his peer in everything and in every way, his face being as dark as they make'em anywhere else under the sun. It was an ill-omened day when he married his wife, a half white woman too good for the likes of him, from whom he has many children, some of whom are already following in his wake. And "King" Baldwin countenances him and put him forward as an example. But the man has some underlying merit, yet it is latent. His morality is of that low order which, at times dormant, has been the undoing of many weak men. And I think he ought to be undone by his party.

And Alfred Hayselden, a nephew of Democrat Hayselden, is a bouncing boy for his age. Born in old Lahaina, the seat of the establishment of civilized government in these Islands, his arrival was not altogether accidental as some of those of his gang who are crying out for love of the kanaka (?), because, if I am not mistaken, his mother was island born, or else she came into the country from Australia as a child in arms or in short skirts. He has held office, first getting into prominence during P G days, no doubt through the influence of the Sheriff, his maternal uncle by marriage. Was Deputy Sheriff of Lahaina, and later of Wailuku, resigning the last place over a year ago to go into taro planting and private life. He is now a practicing attorney in the old town, but still he is not yet up to the mark. Still I believe there is latent in him the qualities of a coming man when he has gained sufficient experience.

Mannie Baldwin for sheriff, the present incumbent, is a weakling, who is at this time a very sick man and this may somewhat account for the looseness in the conduct of his office. I think his former deputy, Hayselden, would have made a better candidate for the position. With hat cocked slantwise on his head, one eye partially smaller than the other, he evidently thinks he is "the cock of the walk" and owns the whole Island of Maui by carrying it in his pocket through his uncle's influence. Of missionary extraction, he is not as narrow as one would think, but is liberal minded and fair in a measure, for to him is due the credit of permitting Sunday baseball playing in his bailiwick, being himself an enthusiast. He is not like his dad, who loves his bottle and his sport better than the gospel his father preached, yet the son takes his nip when he likes it. And like his old man, they are "small farmers" from way back, and I believe even up to the present day without much catentatious show at making it a success and a dependence for maintenance.

BRIGHAM AT IT AGAIN.

W. T. Brigham, the very eccentric curator of the Bishop Museum, has again traduced the good name of the late Father Damien, this time voluntarily and without any provocation or excuse. His auditors were strangers in the country, but men who had heard of the world-famous sacrifice of Father Damien and who had learned to love him for his remarkable work in the cause of humanity. They could hardly believe their own ears when they heard a man who is also noted, as the head of one of the most important museums in the Pacific, revile the memory and name of one who had won the admiration and affection of all Christendom.

The two visitors to the museum were H. and S. B. Boulton, prominent Englishmen who had been visiting the Islands for the past two weeks. They called on Monday. One of the gentlemen is a Catholic and the other a Protestant. It was while showing them through the museum that the Satanic impulse in Brigham's make-up began to assert itself and his serpent tongue began to discharge its venom. As usual, Father Damien was the object of attack. The visitors were greatly surprised, but that surprise increased to amazement when the curator followed his initiatory remarks with several minutes of bitter and false aspersions upon the character of the great priest. The story was so different from what the visitors had always heard that they were greatly exercised about it and left the place with the new idea that Father Damien was not as he had been pictured to mankind. On the same day two ladies stopping at a leading hotel were warned not to visit the museum on account of the eccentricities of the curator and his notorious mania for lying about Father Damien.

The Catholic Church in Hawaii has repeatedly protested to the trustees of the Bishop Estate against the calumnies heaped upon the name of Father Damien by the curator, but none of these protests were properly heeded. A few months ago the abuse became so persistent that a strenuous protest was filed, together with a request that Brigham be discharged from service at the museum. To this note the trustees responded with a refusal to dismiss the offending curator on the plea that his services were of such great value that they could not be spared. It was intimated, however, that an effort would be made to induce Brigham to cease his wholesale abuse of Father Damien.

The refusal of the trustees to discharge Brigham had the effect of making him feel safer in his position, and a greater volume of calumny was the result. In place of the protest of the church and the rebuke of the trustees having a staying effect, it made the curator all the more malicious and bitter and the situation became much worse instead of better. In view of this fact, the only course for the trustees is to let the trouble-maker go. He is doing more harm to the museum—an institution that has been the pride of Honolulu and the Islands for so many years—than anything against which it has yet had, or may ever have, to contend. The trustees owe it to the community, to themselves, to Bernice Pauahi Bishop and to the museum to relegate this fossilized curio to the scrap-heap of cranks and trouble-making agitators.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The Portuguese have a "rough house" way of doing politics. A principal cause of the friction and trouble between them at the present time, however, is the effort of a certain clique to gain control and run the vote of the colony. It is a Republican conspiracy, set at work by the Central Committee, and sailing under the guise of being a purely Portuguese movement. But there are Portuguese, withal, with sense enough to detect the color of the cat in the jute, and they object to being deceived.

W. R. Castle took occasion in the land court yesterday to throw a few bouquets at his former law partner, Judge Philip L. Weaver. He neglected to recall, however, that Weaver made a lengthy tour and stay at Boston for the purpose of learning facts with which he had been supposed to be familiar, at heavy expense to the people. The land court is probably a good thing; but it would have been more in keeping with the condition of the treasury to have imported a competent judge from Boston in place of sending a second-rate lawyer back there to be educated.

George R. Carter's press agents and henchmen are flaunting his work in connection with the loan bonds in the face of the public as a great card in his favor as a candidate for the office of Governor. Aside from spending a lot of the people's money for a political junketing tour and unintelligible cablegrams, dining with the President and making an arrangement whereby the Territory will have to pay about one and one-half per cent more for money than was necessary, we fail to see what Carter has done. A High School boy could have done as well or better.

In yesterday's issue of this paper Mr. P. F. Ryan took Superintendent H. E. Cooper to task for employing Japanese to do work in the Government nursery, while numerous white and native workingmen are out of and seeking employment. Mr. Ryan is right as far as he goes, but he does not go far enough. Ever since Mr. Cooper has been in his present position he has made a practice of either employing Japanese or tolerating their employment in public positions in his department. Just what his object is it is impossible to say, unless, indeed, he is, as our correspondent suggests, an enemy of citizen labor and is in league with the Advertiser in its fight against our own people.

People of Hawaii and the Pacific Coast have no good reason for sympathizing with Japan in her plikkia with Russia. Japan is a country to be feared in an industrial and commercial way in the future more than any other on earth. It is a kind of fad to abuse and hate the Bear, but it is only a fad, unsupported by any business or sociological reason or any legitimate sentiment. America (including Hawaii) has nothing to fear from the prosperity and progress of Russia, and all to lose in the further enlargement of the head of pompous but silly little Japan. If Russia would get in and wipe Japan off the face of the earth it would be the best thing that could possibly happen to this mid-Pacific Territory of the United States. It would mean that the present-day children of Honolulu will be rid of a competition already set out in a yellow cloud on the western horizon, and that modern civilization would speedily recover from the set-back it has received in the past few years in these Islands. No absurd sentiment should be allowed to override reason and fact in the contemplation of this subject.

Details About Bonds.

Washington, Oct 8—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw today informed George R Carter, Secretary of the Territory of Hawaii, that he would accept $1,229,000 of Hawaiian bonds as security for deposits for circulation up to 90 per cent of their face value. The Territory proposes to issue $1,000,000 of bonds under the organic act. They are to be 5 per cent bonds and can be called in in five years. They are limited to fifteen years.

The bonds are to be exempt from taxation in Hawaii and will be a charge on the consolidated revenues of the Territory. Secretary Carter stated today that after the issuance of these bonds the total debt of the Territory will be less than 2 per cent of its taxable property and less than the income of last year.

Home Rule Meetings.

Home Rulers will have a rally at Kalihi camp this evening, to be addressed by nearly all the candidates.

Last night a meeting was held at Joe Aea's place in Waikiki. Kamoiili i voters were to have gone there in the cars, but on account of an axle breaking on a Kaimuki vehicle they were prevented from reaching the scene. A Home Rule meeting was also held at Frank Harvey's place in Palama.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

Dave Morton, a native of Maui, is for county clerk, in my opinion would have made a better auditor, as that would be right in his line, as he has had somewhat of a business experience. But Judge McKay, an interloper, has got the preference for the auditorship and a more unpopular choice could not have been made. As county clerk, Dave is a superior man to his brother Edgar, now deputy sheriff of Makawao, as far as education is concerned, both being of the old Cockett family. I hope that Dave has retrieved his past record, known to the business house he formerly worked for here. And of McKay, whose "better 'arf" and himself are government beneficiaries, I do hope that he will be elected to stay at home, where he can easily make his fortune without further sponging on the long suffering public.

Willie Robinson, formerly a jockey on the turf here and a connection of our own local Marcus P, for assessor, has already made his mark as the assessor-in-chief of Maui. He needs no further recommendation, for besides being so, he is as well a somewhat enterprising and successful business man by marrying the daughter of a former Portuguese grazier who recently died reputedly wealthy. Although his education is not of the best, he is over bright, self made, honest and reliable. I understand he has the confidence of such men as Kepoikai and others, but has he the confidence of his people?

Wittrock, a Dane, the present deputy sheriff of Hana, for treasurer, is little known outside of his own district. As far as I can learn about him, he is not popular, and is in the same boat with McKay. His greatest recommendation is that he formerly had regard for the people and did not seek to down them during the trying days since 1893, but beyond that—who cares? In his case, the least said is too much, and home he must and should remain.

But that intrepid young man, Noa Aluli, nephew of Treasurer Kepoikai, although yet young for county attorney, is in line for his chosen profession. He would be what Clarence Ashford said of Rawlins, his head will be too big for his office and would need a strong iron band around it to hold him back. His foreign education at Ann Arbor has done him no good, but instead, it has made him feel himself bigger than his uncle, and his mother and brethren are beneath him. After attempting to get into his uncle's boots, he was made assistant clerk of the last Senate after losing the clerkship nomination, being latterly a member of the Law Department, and he wrote an ungramatical legal opinion before going home to put on his spurs for this coming fray. It is said of the young man that he is so carried away by his own importance that he is under the impression that all the young girls are crazy for him and his goggles eyes. His ambition is to become a Jay Gould or a Vanderbilt and he is in for suppressing his mother and others of his kin in order to satisfy his greed, in which he has shown an aptitude to begin early before his own good time. Still there is something in him that will be either his making or undoing. It all depends on himself.

As to one Hugh Howell, for surveyor, I don't know anything at all about, for he's entirely a malihini to me, unless he arrived in the country before me, but I doubt it. Glory be to him if he should win favor, but being unknown, he cannot expect to come out head foremost in the race. And as for that matter—who cares

BEIRUT DODGE OF ADMINISTRATION.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 1:

There seems to be a gradually intensifying desire on the part of many people in the country, and especially the men of prominence who visit this city, to know exactly what it was that happened to Mr Megalssen, our vice consul to Beirut. Thus far not a morsel of information has been vouchsafed from any quarter. Our fleet was ordered to the Syrian port on the strength of a report by Minister Leishman, at Constantinople, to the effect that Mr Megalssen had been assassinated. Admiral Cotton reached Beirut some days later, only to find that Megalssen was alive and well. It has transpired, moreover, that, up to the time the assassination roorback was sent by Minister Leishman, there had been no hostile demonstrations by the Mohammedan population of the city or its immediate neighborhood. There have been some since, we are told, but that is intelligible enough. We all know what would occur in any of our seaport towns were a foreign gavernment to send a blustering fleet there on a false report, and without stopping to ask for explanations. What bothers folk, however, is the fact that after all this time not a single ray of light has been shed upon the mystery. Here we are jumping on the collar of a nation with which we are supposed to be on amicable terms, yet no one seems to know why the demonstration was made, still less why it is persisted in. There seems to be a "hen on" some place, but no man can locate it.

You can cut the silence of the administration with a knife at this time, but there was no hesitation, no statecraft, no deep, dark, wily reticence when it came to giving out the "news" of the assassination, or making public the prompt and vigorous action of the government in ordering the fleet to the scene of this tragedy in buckram. Can it be possible that our administration of the government is garrulous for effect upon the public mind, and that it becomes majestically reserved only when there are blunders to conceal? Think it over.

The recent action of the prominent republicans of the country make it clear that all the talk indulged in by some of their leaders anent tariff reform and revision is the merest "guff." The "Iowa idea" was rampant some time ago, and Governor Cummins of that state was standing upon his hind legs and wildly waving his ears and howling for some measure of relief from the exactions of the tariff wall, and demanding it at once. He now is cooing like a sucking dove, as mild as a May morn, and he says that the revision should not be made in the face of a national campaign, but that we should wait until 1905 before attempting anything like a tariff revision. This should make it as gross to the sense as the sun at noonday that unless the people of the country unhorse the republican party they will wait until the trumpet of the angel Gabriel blows before they will obtain relief from the clutch of the corporations. It is up to the people to do a little thinking.

The idea has just begun to percolate through the hair of the republicans that there is going to be an investigation by Congress of the nastiness in the Postoffice Department, or at least it will be up to

TRULY A FOOL'S ERRAND.

The tender of Edward Pollitz & Company, of San Francisco, for the full issue of the Territorial bonds shows with what ease the bonds could have been placed and the money obtained almost anywhere in the United States. In San Francisco money is always higher than in the large eastern centers, and, yet, that city, at the very first rattle out of the box, offers to take the whole issue at par, the bonds to bear 5 per cent as prescribed by law. Had it been known in San Francisco that the interest would be only 4½, the entire issue would, perhaps, have been as readily snapped up. Pollitz's first letter is as follows:

"We herewith make a bid for any part of the issue of Hawaiian Territorial Bonds under Act 42 at the upset price of par less 2 per cent commission. We have notified the Honorable Secretary under date of September 2, 1903, that we are prepared to take the whole issue and we have been in communication with him since he has been on his way to Washington and New York."

In another part of the correspondence Pollitz intimates that Carter kept out of his way at San Francisco. Of course the broker was not in position to decipher the reason, but more is known here. Before Carter's eyes was the goal of the grand-stand play he afterward made at Washington. Under date of October 6 Mr. Pollitz wrote as follows:

"After writing to you under date of the 28th ult. per China we have given the matter of the issue of the five per cent Territorial bonds still further attention and come to the conclusion that the right to dispose of the bonds is firmly vested in you, subject to the approval of the Governor, the laudable efforts of the Honorable Secretary notwithstanding."

This correspondence shows conclusively that the loan bonds could have been easily disposed of by a simple advertisement of them at 4½ per cent in San Francisco, and that the big expenditure of Territorial money for Carter's junketing tour was entirely unnecessary.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

If Brigham is really to stay at the Bishop Museum a cage should be made for him. The cage might also be enclosed in an air-tight vault out of the way of good people.

The morning paper describes Sheriff L. A. Andrews, of Hawaii, as a "self-made man." That accounts for it. Next time he had better get somebody else to make him.

The country-school debating societies have long ago decided in the negative the question of whether or not environments make the man. But they probably have another guess coming. When a man environed by curios, as is Prof. W. T. Brigham at the Bishop Museum, turns into the queerest curio of the lot himself, it would seem to be about time to reopen the question that once cut holes into the stilly evening air of the New Hampshire hills.

Baseball is a good thing, but any good thing can be overdone. With games at Kapiolani park on Sunday, and numerous other contests sandwiched in during the week, a series of League games is now planned for the gap between the Summer and Winter seasons. We think this is too much. The public wants a little rest. A respite of several weeks will heighten interest in the Winter games and will prove decidedly better for all concerned.

If the Republican party is responsible for the present prosperity of the United States, as S. C. Dwight makes it out in his speeches, why is prosperity world-wide in place of being confined to the United States? Germany and all the other great States of Europe are having a season of unprecedented prosperity. Suffering is not heard of anywhere, save in the war zone and in localities occasionally devastated by floods or other calamities. Surely Mr. Dwight will not attribute the prosperity of Europe to the Republican party?

In his letter today Ahuimaia draws attention to the number of men running for county office who are tied up to corporations and are under the influence of corporations. We had remarked the same thing before, but not to the extent mapped out by our correspondent. Men tied up to single industries, with ideals and ideas limited, to and wrapped in those industries, will not make desirable county officers. What is wanted is a list of men hand free and with no strings on them. By no other arrangement can the safety of the people's interests be insured.

In antagonizing the laboring element of the Hawaiian Islands, by keeping Japanese in the employ of the Public Works Department, Superintendent Cooper is doing something that will thoroughly and forever kill him as a Gubernatorial possibility. Already the fight of the local workingmen against Japanese has been taken up by the Federation of Labor, and it would only take a word from the organizations here to bring such pressure to bear at Washington as would despoil the campaign efforts of any candidate. Cooper is hanging himself.

In brief Republican success means that employment for manual laborers will be steady and its pay secure, while Home Rule success would mean just the reverse.—Advertiser.

If that be true why is it that native workingmen have been obliged to skirmish for employment since the last election, and many of them went for months without a stroke of work to do? The Republicans have been in complete power for a year, and, despite their ante-election promises, they did nothing for the Hawaiians in the way of work. This balderdash is the same brand as was employed for election purposes in 1902. Will the natives be such suckers as to swim up and bite again?

A Republican candidate told the voters of Punchbowl town last evening that if the g. o. p. was elected to power in Oahu county O Luso and Kinau streets would be macadamized and would be supplied with electric lights. There were shouts of "Why has it not been done before?" from various parts of the audience. The question remained unanswered, probably because there was no answer for it. The Republican candidates have made this self-same promise to the Portuguese voters in every campaign since the establishment of Territorial Government, but, although that party has been in power all the while, nothing has been done. Are the people to be blamed, then, for questioning the present proposition?

The Advertiser excepts to the statement of Labor Leader Rosenburg to the effect that the planters of the Islands are not in favor of American labor in the cane fields. The question is one upon which opinions will differ. We would like to ask, however, what the planters have done and what they are doing to encourage a better class of laborers to take up work in the cane fields? They are flooding the Islands with coolies from Japan and Korea, which they can employ at very low wages. We do not know of one instance of a plantation offering such wages as would be an inducement to either a native or a white man to take up work in the fields. The invitation to laborers to come has been repeatedly given, yes; but they are expected to work for nothing when they get here.

The Home Rulers had a rousing meeting at Kalihi camp, despite the inclemency of the weather. All of the speakers were enthusiastically received and cheered to the echo.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

I know full well that your Fat Tests, Mr Editor, is receiving all the blame for the sketches I have written on the various candidates, but I care not as long as you permit me. He has broader shoulders than I have and can stand all the rebuffs better, because I am somewhat thin-skinned and he thick-skinned after all these years of hard knockings he has had. I also know that he knows perfectly how to take his medicine, if he has to take any, and that's one reason of my imposition on your good nature, dear Mr Editor. Pardleau!

To those haole Republicans who love the Hawaiian, permit me to quote one stanza of a native song which runs, after alluding to "Mauna Loa kikala nui," as follows:

I mai oe ia'u he aloha kou,
He aloha wale no i ko lehelehe—
Hoopunipuni!

I deem the foregoing very applicable to them, the present day stamp of Republican politicians, who are now lauding their love for the "dear Hawaiian people" overmuch. Since when have they shown their love for them? Only ten years ago about, the Hawaiians were enemies, and now (the rest is known). Translated, the stanza is like this:

You told me you have a love,
It is only love on your lips—
A lie!

I fail to make connections how voters can easily gulp those candidates who are in the employ of others. Having as one of my reasons of opposition to Georgie Renton is his being in the employ of a sugar corporation, but how about Fernandez and Harvey, the Home Rule candidates, who are in the employ of other corporations? Can it be possible to reconcile these candidates that they will do the people's will as against the interest of their corporate employers? Republicans are largely interested in both and I believe that if these men are elected, they will be certainly used by their employers, and there's no getting out of it.

They are not the only ones. There's Mark Robinson, a railroad corporation magnate as well as a lumber corporation owner and interested in one of our richest Estates. He, in his personal and corporate capacities, including that of the Estate, would no doubt have a certain amount of control over Sammy Dwight. One thing is quite evident, Sammy knows which side his bread is buttered on and dare not antagonize any of those large corporate interests of his superior and master. Will he dare defy those interests? I doubt it very much. Nor will Mark offend his own pockets and those of his family and friends. It's the inside linnings that all are looking after and "the public be damned," no doubt, feeling the same way as William H Vanderbilt when he uttered those memorable words, now become historic.

Who else is there?—may I ask. There's Joe Gilman, who is under the thumbscrews of a corporation in which he figures as one of its most valued of employees. Will he dare oppose it? No, no; that is where his bread and butter comes from, and he dares not say that his soul is his own or that he is conscienceless. As an apt pupil, he'll no doubt do anything for the soulless corporations as well as to boost his brother-in-law's stock in-trade to the highest pitch, the people being ignored when that is accomplished. He's a mere benchman only in the hands of sugar factors, although Theresa worked to get him an endorsement, How much, I wonder, did that effort cost him? Oh! nothing, of course; hardly nothing, to be sure.

But Pat says to Mike that that is not all, for ther's Hocking, not stocking, who owns much of the Brewery and it, in return, owns most of him, if not, the whole. I feel that he dare not say that his soul is his own but that it wholly belongs to that soulless corporation. Now that money is coming lively, he's feeling his malt and has promised to give kanakas all the work to replace Orientals if they vote him in. He's not the only one that has the say, but there's the corporation directorate to be as well considered.

My wood is somewhat drifting with this contribution to your columns, Mr Editor, and I'm off on a tangent with my corporation controlled friends. For the rest, I leave to your readers to judge.

them to refuse to have one. The democrats are determined to press the matter and the responsible party for the refusal will be the republicans. If they refuse all will know the reason why. If they do not, then there will be an attempt to whitewash somebody and something, but the democratic members of the committee will come out with some powerful good campaign material. GORMAN WANTED BY REPUBLICANS.

(Special Corresponcence of THE INDEPENDENT, by Charles A. Edwards.)

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 1:

There is considerable adverse comment going on here anent the attempt of prominent republican politicians to select the democratic nominee for the presidency next year. Not long ago the Hon Shelby M Cullom, of Illinois, United States Senator, came out in an interview and proclaimed that Senator Gorman was the ideal democrat to nominate for the presidency by the democrats. There is no shrewder or more adroit politician in the Congress of the United States than Mr Cullom. He said in that interview that "I am convinced that Gorman has the real welfare of the nation deeply at heart. I learned that at the time the Wilson tariff measure was up for passage. It was he who saved our amendments to that bill." The democrats who have been in this city in the past few days are commenting on this statement by the leading republican from the state of Illinois, and saying that it is pretty good democratic policy to do the things those kind of republicans repudiate and not do the things they advocate. When the democrats of the country have to take their nominees from among the men republicans want to see nominated, then the democracy is in a pretty bad row of stumps, and would do well to either repudiate republican suggestion or else go into the hands of a receiver. The nomination of a democrat with the above endorsement from one of the leading republicans of the country would place the democracy on the explaining bench from start to finish of the campaign. If the trusts and the tariff questions are to be uppermost in the coming campaign, then the above suggestion may give the democrats of the country some food for thought. Will they nominate a man whose whole life and action in the past have been a protest against trusts and corporation greed, or nominate a man who stands for all the trusts want and who must be nominated in order to get the influence of the trusts as well as their money? The democrats of the country may answer the question.

There is considerable discussion here over the fact that the plutocratic press of the country is especially enamored of the remark made by Gov Durbin, of Indiana, the other day, that, "the man who violently assails, by word or deed, the laws of the country such as ours commits a crime not only of infamy but of insanity."

The opinion exists here that the above comes with rather poor grace from Governor Durbin, who has refused to honor the requisition of the state of Kentucky for one of the men accused of the murder of Governor Goebel, when the law and constitution requires the perpetrators of such crimes to be delivered up to justice. Is he hardly a fit man to read lectures on what is right and wrong? It is admitted that to violently assail a law that is robbing the people of the United States, such as the Dingley tariff law, is a crime to the trust magnates who profit by it. To denounce the laws in several states that tax the small home and the little personal property of the poor man on its full value, and let the corporations and the millionaires off with only paying 20 or 30 per cent, is insanity according to Hanna and the republican leaders in Ohio. To all such the law of their own making is too sacred to be

WHO SHALL RULE US?

Shall the Government or the people rule?" to quote Andrew Jackson's priceless phrase which he used in a letter addressed to the Kentucky committee during the American campaign of 1828, since which time it has become famous, is most applicable at this time in the history of this "wee" country to the political conditions that we are undergoing. In looking at things as we see them, none can be too blind to notice the strenuousness displayed by certain branches of the Government, now subject to politics, wherein employees, paid by the people, are made to do active partisan politics for their chiefs during office hours, and in doing so, they show themselves to be in direct opposition to the people, who pay them for the services they render, and not to the personal interest of those over them.

This is a condition that should not be tolerated and the responsibility for such a condition rests with the Government. We believe that the people should rule always and at all times and that the Government should not employ its servants to oppose their masters, the people. No form of government can survive without the consent of the people who are to be governed, and we deem it most improper and unfair that a certain few placed in position over the people (not by their choice) are using an effort to undermine the people themselves, with some of themselves who are in their pay, and too weak to oppose the dictates of those who placed them on the pay-rolls, which these self-same officials are not paying for with their money, but with the people.

These officials are taking an undue advantage over their opponents, in that they are fighting them with the people's own weapons intended for a purpose altogether apart from that in which they are now being employed. It is bound to recoil some day and who will be the sufferers? These active partisans will have to suffer for their own folly and they have no one else to blame other than themselves, as they are now digging their own political graves. Policemen in citizens clothes, tax office clerks and employees under the Public Works Department are all showing strenuous activity in the behalf of the Republican candidates day and night, including the time which they should devote to their duties. It must be taken for granted that the Government is striving with all its might and strength to maintain its hold upon the people and to rule them in the future as in the past, whether they like it or not. But now, there is one satisfaction, and that is—it is up to the voters to say whether "the government or the people shall rule."

High Sheriff Brown and Assessor Pratt have a perfect right to do politics. We concede that much to them, in behalf of their own, candidacy, as their offices are to be political offices; but we still hold that they must do it outside of office hours. They have no right whatever to make those under them show partisanship in their favor as the positions of these myrmidons are not to be classed in the same category. Nor have they a right to demand it of them even after office hours, as they are not paid for such purpose. When their day's work is over, being for the time they are paid for by the people, they are at liberty to do anything else that pleases them, even to taking strenuous steps in partizan politics, in which event, they hold their tenure to enjoy service in their own hands.

We are not saying this for the sake of talking, but it is as we feel, because we think it is nothing more than right and proper. And, further, it is the kind of politics we expect to have here. It is about time that the people should and must rule, these time-serving henchmen to the contrary notwithstanding—who fear to lose the power they have been enjoying during the past ten years and more. The time has come for the people to assert themselves, to rule themselves and their country among themselves, with the assistance of their friends, not their despoilers and oppressors.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Hack Inspector Macy took to the Republican stump the evening before last as a spieler for his chief, because he was asked to, so he says. His place is not in politics, for he's only an understrapper. We think he ought to have enough sense to keep his face closed; if he hasn't it ought to be pumped into him with a bicycle pump. How would that suit him?

In reading out Speaker F. W. Beckley and Moses K. Nakuina the Home Rule party has, in a measure, cut off its nose to spite its face. At the same time the appearance of Nakuina in the field against the regular nominee of his party was not proper. The rules of politics demanded positively that he accept the action of the convention. Beckley's chief break was in appearing on the firing line in the enemy's camp. He did not, it is true, uphold the Republican candidates, but he urged the endorsement of one of them and knifed several nominees of his own party.

Paddy Ryan, manager of Soldier De Lile, states that he is willing to pit his man in the pugilistic ring against Bill Huihui upon the single term that the winner takes all the stakes. It would seem to be Jimmy Fox's next move.

Should Candidates Bob Wilcox and Curtis Iaukea be elected instead of Arthur Brown and Kimo Palaka, wouldn't they be justified in ousting those myrmidons who showed active partizanship against them? Of course they would, by all means. That's the kind of American politics we are coming to, because "to the victors belong the spoils"—and the Republicans have set the example.

District Attorney Breckons and Commissioner Douthitt, both Federal officials, are taking and showing active partizan spirit in county politics within this Territory. We think that they have no earthly right to meddle in our local affairs, yet we concede to them their right as American citizens to do as they choose. Why can't they follow in the footsteps of Judge Estee and remain impartial, of course not unmindful of their duties as citizens.

Those vouchers again! For heaven's sake let the matter be investigated to the limit. But we wish to have it understood that the Republicans clamoring for an investigation will pleasantly take whatever medicine is coming to them when the thing is over. Should the matter be taken up by the Federal Grand Jury there will be some surprises of great moment to the Advertiser and its hui, or we miss a bet on a certainty.

Treasurer Kepoikai is quoted by the Advertiser as saying, in respect to the Hawaiian bonds:

"This offer of Messrs. Edward Pollitz & Co. is better than the sale of the bonds at four and a half per cent in New York," Mr. Kepoikai said to an Advertiser reporter.

"There is a difference of one-half of one per cent in favor of San Francisco against New York in the rate of exchange. Besides there is a charge of one-quarter of one per cent for handling the payments in New York These two items make three-fourths of one per cent difference, which wipes out the advantage of one-half per cent in the rate of interest.

"It would be a good thing to have all of the bonds taken outside of the Territory, because it would be so much fresh capital brought into the islands.

"That is perfectly right, too, what the Pollitzes say about their friendliness to Hawaii. If the bonds were held in San Francisco it would tend to increase the interest of the Pacific coast in Hawaiian affairs and secure favorable influence from that quarter for us in Washington.

"It is true also that the Eastern capitalists are not our friends. They would rather help Cuba and Porto Rico than Hawaii. The New York steamers come here and take away our sugar but do not leave a dollar behind. This is not felt so much in Honolulu as at Kahului. They bring all their supplies along and do not buy even tobacco or so much as a pair of socks at the store. No, they come and go on schedule time and, from the captain to the oiler do not spend a bean ashore.

"Kahului had better times when the sugar was shipped in schooners."

BY AUTHORITY.

Read Out of Party.

Fred W Beckley, ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Moses K Nakuina, independent candidate for county clerk, were yesterday formally read out of the Home Rule party.

Nakuina was dropped because he has come out as a candidate in opposition to the Home Rule nominee, D Kalauokalani, Jr. Beckley was read out of the party because he supports the candidacy of Nakuina, his step-father, and also because he made a speech in a Republican meeting denouncing Wilcox and other leaders of the Home Rule party. But he still insists that he is a Home Ruler, and those here have no control over him, for he is from Maui, don't you know.

New Home Rule Candidate.

Sam K Kamakaia has been dropped from the list of candidates for supervisor of the Fourth District, and C W Ashford has been put on the ticket in his place.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

Many of the haole candidates of the Republican party in the other counties are hardly known to me, and therefore, when I say nothing of them, it is not because I want to ignore them altogether, but because I do not know them sufficiently, most of whom are malihinis and are as mere birds of passage. But suffice it for me to caustically remark, that if they are not known to your correspondent, then they are bananas not worth the picking out of my bunch of bananas (ahui maia). What is not worth knowing is not worth the trouble nor the writing. And therefore—who cares!

In East Hawaii County, Lorrin A Andrews is the candidate for sheriff. He is well-known as the "Red Czar," while on Maui and now on Hawaii, the monarch of all that he surveys, the bloodhound man. Enough is known of the man during his official career that I am at a loss to need say further for or against him, but I think he ought to be relegated to the dust heap of politicl iniquity, where moth and rust doth corrupt. He's a dunghill.

But for Norman Lyman, the offspring of a missionary dad, whose anatomical make-up is of many component parts, I need to say better of him for the county clerkship than I can say for his present chief for sheriff. He's a young man of fair education, although a Republican, he's a Hawaiian to the core. He has although managed to get the Home Rule endorsement for the place, probably through the influence of his father-in-law, Senator John T Brown. One advantage with the young man, he has his father to look to for advice, and that alone will stand him in good stead.

Another Republican candidate who has received a Home Rule endorsement is Nathan Willfong, an island grown man, for the auditorship. His own personality, coupled with that of his half-white wife, has gained for him the popularity of the Hawaiian people, his present position as assessor-in-chief of that big Island cutting no figure. He formerly worked in the postoffice in this city and should be well known. Speak native fairly well, is conservative and fair, always neatly attired and somewhat womanish.

For the assessorship, George H Williams is the candidate. At present he is the deputy assessor for South Hilo. Was formerly deputy sheriff in the bailiwick. He has raised a large family of cross breeds by coalition with a member of the Hawaiian tribe, and that alone may have something to do with the show of sympathy he tries to make manifest to his wife's people, but yet I doubt whether it is sincere some thing after the fashion of his own kind who greatly loves them; oh yes, particularly when there is something in sight to be gotten. A former P G henchman, and therefore, a well-known quality for gaining unpopularity. Yet his experience in the tax office is greatly in his favor and I have no doubt that he will make a good man.

And the one for county attorney, another of the numerous Billy Smith's family of smiths, I don't know the man to speak to, but his kind is numerous round about Hilo to be sure, by the way the Home Rulers have taken up with another Smith, designated by them as the Long Smith (Kamika Loihi), otherwise John U. The question is, which of the two Smiths will win out. Only election day will tell.

The candidate for surveyor of both parties is a well-known young Hawaiian, Thomas Edgar Cook, who is, to a certain extent, self-made by close application to his chosen profession. But his weakness is his forgetfulness of certain obligations due his friends and I doubt that he has reformed any at all since he went to Hilo to live. As a surveyor, I think he is as good as they make 'em here, but being a Hawaiian, he has not the same show as the haole kids. But I expect much from him when he is elected, and that is certain.

But those for supervisors are E N Holmes a man of business in High low; Stephen Desha, the defeated parson for senator at the last election, who became a man of the "cloth" after making a record for himself in the Reformatory school; Joseph Vierra, an unknown quantity as far as I am concerned; W G Walker, a plantation manager of sturdy Scot descent, if I am not mistaken, and W H Lambert, a railroad man and a henchman of Dillingham and Thurston et al. All were more or less former P G patriots. But my man of the whole kit is the parson, twice widowed and is the reputed friend of widows. Who knows and who cares, for that is no one's business but that of the songster and the psalmist.

The most of the laws passed recently have been passed by republicans, and the shoe is beginning to pinch when the people are crying out against them, and hence the howl by the governor of Indiana, who stands for everything the trusts demand. If the people of Indiana like that sort of thing and that sort of governor, they may continue to worship their own fetish and the thinking people of this country will draw their own conclusions concerning the mental condition of Indiana's population.

How Woman Suffrage Might Elect Some Candidates With a Female Pull Safely In the Swim.

By AHUINAIA.

It is a pity that we are not enjoying the benefits of Woman Suffrage. An admirer of that privilege told me the other day that by admitting women to the sufferage, they purify politics somewhat and all the surroundings thereabouts. I think we should have it, by all means, if it is such a boon to be enjoyed.

But I fear that if we had such a privilege, Candidate Arthur Brown would go in whooping, for surely, he'll sweep everything that would come in his way. Only the other day, I overheard one of the many girls say that she still has a place in her memory, mind you, not in her heart, for dear Arthur; although she is now married, she cannot help but think of him once in a while and of the lively days that are gone. This same girl only wished she had a vote to give dear Brown, but of course, she was going to try and induce her husband to vote for him. I think Brown to be awfully lucky to have such an agent as this gal is. Whoop'er up Brown; it's your making and the defeat of Wilcox. Sure kela, Moike, says Theresa. And shure he'll be It, if he'll but show his shape around again to the girls. Is it a go?

And I think that Frankie Harvey, the erswhile cowboy and expert dancer, can do as much, if not better, than Arthur Brown, for he can show something for his pranks. He also bears the same reputation among a large section of the feminine gender that will surely ensure his election, providing we had the good fortune to enjoy Woman Suffrage, but as luck would have it, that is now out of the question. Faith, for shure, he'll also win everything else in sight around this island, as it has been his stamping ground in the past as well as in the present case, and will be so in the future as has been his wont. It is his good fortune to be in the favor of the gentler sex, many of whom, if I mistake not, are good workers for his success at the polls. I think, for his own success with the mass, he should now and then launch forth with some hula stanzas, then he'll be assured of winning a place for Japanese A Kennedy, and probably assist Asiatic Hocking and that other Joe Asiatic Gilman in the interest of the sugar planters. Who knows what they'll be?

But there's poor Jimmie Boyd, who once squandered a fortune, so the yarn goes, on these many sided good times, but he has reformed since then and has become a good hubby and a fine daddy. He who was once a staunch Republican, and you could not make him anything else, is now as a Home Ruler staunch to the core, and would you believe it of him? No, no, I would not; but sure it is. He had his days of sowing his wild oats and he has had his innings as well, being an office-holder for about a quarter of a century. But I pity him, for he no doubt feels his loss of office keenly and would like to be in again, for he cannot remain long out in the rain. If he can't beat Joker Lucas, then he ought to

PUTS LIE ON LIE.

Prof. W. T. Brigham, curator of the Bishop Musuem, has done precisely what we thought he would do when, on the 14th instant, we published an account of his tirade upon the late Father Damien in the presence of the Messrs. Boulton, of London. He has gone whining to the Trustees of the Bishop Estate and has there denied the truth of the account. In grasping this means of defense Prof. Brigham feels safe behind the fact that the gentlemen to whom he made his extraordinary statements regarding Father Damien have left the country. It is well for the public to know, however, that Brigham knew before they sailed that his statements to them would be published, and he was requested to make any denial or statement at that time he might see fit, the desire being to settle the matter between the gentlemen before they separated. To this reasonable proposition Brigham replied that he had nothing to say, or words to that effect.

Now that the gentlemen have gone the curator comes out with a denial that he villified Father Damien before them at the Museum last Monday. He figures that as the witnesses are no longer here he can deny and there can be no reply to his denial. In this, however, he will find himself greatly mistaken. Before leaving Honolulu the Boultons made their statements to a number of people, but more particularly to Father Valentin at the Catholic Mission. The statements show beyond any question of doubt that the curator of the Museum indulged, in the presence of the two gentlemen, in the most extraordinary and unreasonable abuse of the late Priest.

The Independent's editorial of the 14th was re-published in the Advertiser of October 15. A copy of the latter paper, containing the article, was sent by the Trustees of the Bishop Estate to Prof. Brigham together with the following letter:

"Prof. W. T. Brigham, Director B. P. Bishop Museum, Honolulu. Dear Sir: Enclosed we send you a copy of this morning's Pacific Commercial Advertiser which contains an article charging that recently while two gentlemen, named Boulton, were visiting the museum you made to them statements and remarks derogatory to the memory of Father Damien.

"We would ask that you inform us as to the truth of this published statement."

In reply to this communication the committee received a reply from the Director in which he made the following statement: "The article to which you refer had no truth in it. These two gentlemen, named Boulton (father and son) came here with a special request of Governor Dole that I would show them the Hawaiian portion of the collection. While fulfilling this request one of them asked me about certain persons and I replied that I must decline to discuss such matters."

After reading the letter of Prof. Brigham one is led to wonder at once why he did not deny the statements of the Boultons while they were still here, knowing as he did that the facts would come out. There is but one answer: He at first felt secure, but reckoned that if the charges were actually made against him his word would counterbalance any hearsay evidence. The following letter from Father Valentin will, however, doubtless arouse him from this untenable night-mare:

Editor The Independent.

Sir:—In answer to the article of the Advertiser, appearing in today's issue, with regard to the Damien-Brigham matter, I will state here that your editorial was correct and that I was informed about the fact by the two gentlemen at the Young hotel. Later on the Messrs. Boulton, father and son, made the same statement in presence of Bishop Libert and myself at the Mission.

Yours truly,
FATHER H. VALENTIN.

Honolulu, Oct. 17, 1903.

People who know Bishop Libert and Father Valentin know that they will under no circumstances and for no purpose distort a fact or facts. When they say that the Boultons made these statements to them the public knows that they speak the truth. The Boultons are prominent men of London, both noted for their integrity and superior standing. They are men who would not speak falsely of another, and in this instance they had not and could not have any reason to misstate the words of Prof. Brigham. The question resolves itself into one of who is to be believed. Should it be the word of two gentlemen of known veracity and unexcentric individual who has earned the reputation of being an unmitigated calumniator and prevaricator?

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Special native police officers are now being numerously employed in order, no doubt, to boost the candidacy of High Sheriff Brown for county sheriff. They are to be paid out of no specific salary appropriation, and this may account for the large police incidentals appropriated by the last Legislature without any forethought of how the same was to be expended. And here is one plain solution of the problem.

It is small wonder that Candidate Brown for county sheriff is not doing any better than what he is at present doing with all the liquor and beer saloon men in his favor and with the $10 assessment per head on each policeman, as well as all the other assistance rendered him by the Government. Yet he thinks he is IT with all these assistance he is having. He'll have to wake up early in the morning if he wants to win, as they will not avail him any effort to be effective.

If the trustees of the Bishop Estate again white-wash Curator Brigham they will do so at the expense of the Bishop Museum. A large section of this community, irrespective and independent of religion, condemns in a most pronounced manner the course of the curator in respect to the late Father Damien. The simple presence of the crank in the institution will have the effect hereafter of dulling interest in it and would cause many of its friends to draw completely away from it.

For some time local musicians have contended that music will kill mosquitoes. They say that mosquitoes will hover upon the walls of a room in which there is music as if charmed by its influence; but that there is a high note, which, when reached, paralyzes the nerves of the little brute and kills her instantly. Prof. Joe Rosen, the Honolulu violinist, has for a long time contended this to be a fact, and still maintains that he has demonstrated and can at any time demonstrate it. In view of the circumstances it might be cheaper and more effective for the Board of Health to employ the musicians of the city to make a house-to-house canvass of Honolulu and play the mosquitoes to death.

A Mother's Responsibility

A great responsibility rests upon mothers at the time their daughters are budding into womanhood. If your daughter is pale, complains of weakness, is "tired out" upon slight exertion; if she is troubled with headache or backache, pain in the side; if her temper is fitful and her appetite poor, she is in a condition of extreme peril, a fit subject for that most dreaded of all diseases—consumption. If you notice any of these symptoms lose no time in procuring

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

They will assist your daughter to develop properly and regularly; they will enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves, and all danger of consumption and premature death will be averted.

Mrs. John Tansey, of 130 Baker Street, Detroit, Mich., says: "We had a serious time with my daughter. She did not have any serious illness but seemed to gradually waste away. Our doctor called the disease by an old name which as I afterward learned, meant lack of blood.

"We finally found a medicine that helped her. After three months' treatment her health was so greatly improved you would not have recognized her. She gained in flesh rapidly and soon was in perfect health. The medicine used was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I have always kept these pills in the house since and have told many mothers about them. They have effected some wonderful cures."

—From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich.

All the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves are contained, in a condensed form, in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They are a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

play ostrich ever after this. As a Hawaiian, I can vouch for his sincerity to a certain degree, and none can say aught as to that. But as to the other, it is buried in oblivion and only awaits the sound of Gabriel's trumpet.

And where does Markie Robinson come off? His deeds are better left unsaid than sung by those of the dead past and of the occult fanatics of the present. All his Christian teaching has been blown to the four corners for Theosophy, in which he sees through a glass darkly. I understand he spoke to Hawaiians in his mother's language the other night when he gave that luau of "uncooked" pig, and that night he made his mark, sure kela. But to Hawaiians, the sight of uncooked flesh means unstable, undigestible and unpalatable. This uncooked pig is a sign of insecurity and uncertainty of success. In ancient days, when preparing for a journey of several days duration, if the food and pig turned out uncooked, the journey was immediately given up, because uncooked food will not sustain life. I think he is like a dead horse, since giving that luau which portends ill-luck to him and his cause. Never mind; better luck next time But I am more than amazed that he should open his house to natives and what for? Because he was only fishing for votes. After election, it will be closed as formerly was the case. His good looks is a go with the gentler sex, and it's too bad that they can't vote, for they will no doubt vote for him to get some of his money. Hooray for Woman Suffrage, boys!

THE COURT TERM AT WAILUKU.

(Special Correspondence of THE INDEPENDENT.)

Wailuku, October 17—The October Term of the Second Circuit Court convened at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning October 14, Judge Kalua presiding. Immediately after the opening of the term the roll call of the Grand Jury was called, and thereafter the Court charged the jury.

On Friday, October 16th, the Grand Jury made a partial report of their doings and after which they were excused until next Thursday morning owing to the illness of R C Searle their foreman who has been advised to go to Pais hospital to undergo an operation.

The case now on trial is Territory of Hawaii vs. Imai (Jap) charge with embezzlement.

T K Pa, a resident of Huelo has been admitted to practice law in the lower Court of this Circuit.

Lawyer Coke is still confined to his bed and all the cases in which he is interested have been postponed until Monday next, at which time he expects to be out.

In the case of the Territory vs. Iokia Kuloa, assault and battery, defendant pleaded guilty and was sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for one year. Joe Ambrose also pleaded guilty to the charge of assault with dangerous weapon and was given eighteen months imprisonment.

News Notes.

At an election for officers of Company "I," 1st Regiment, N G H, held this Friday evening, Capt W E Bal, was reelected Captain; Samuel Keliinoi, elected 1st Lieutenant and M C Ross, elected 2nd Lieutenant.

The Wailuku band under the able leadership of J Schulmeister will go over to Lahaina tomorrow (Sunday) and will give a concert at that place.

On Wednesday evening last there was a heavy, steady rainstorm here and lasted from 5 p m until about 4 a m Thursday.

The Republican and Home Rule candidates have been unable to go on their stumping tours owing to the prevalent weather.

J M Vivas, who is up here on Court work will go up to Kula today and stay until Monday.

W J Coelho, who is the official Hawaiian interpreter at this term of Court is also assisting L R Crook, as clerk of the Court.

It is expected that the term will close a week from today.

With the Candidates.

The Young Men's Republican club held a fairly good meeting at the corner of Bethel and Hotel streets Saturday evening, W S Fleming presiding. During the evening John Wise and Edgar Caypless, of the Home Rule party, captured the meeting for a time and made speeches. During Caypless' speech the notorious Birbe interfered and was slapped in the face by the Home Rule candidate. There was a momentary mix-up but it was promptly checked by the police.

Republicans had a fairly good meeting at Waialua Saturday night. At the same time the Home Rulers held a meeting at Laie which was well attended and was entirely satisfactory in every way.

Tonight the Republicans will speak in Kakaako while the Home Rule will address the voters of Waialua.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

It is reported that all Japan wants is "peace with honor." Perhaps the despatches should have said a "piece (of Korea) with honor."

The grand jury at Wailuku failed on last Friday to return a true bill against young John Holt, charged with manslaughter. This is as it should be. While defending himself from the assaults of a Chinaman, the latter was thrown, and in falling sustained such injuries that he died. It was charged that Holt struck his victim with a rock, but such was not shown in the evidence presented before the grand jury.

It seems a trifle strange that experienced navigators, armed with the best of charts, should run a war tug on a sand spit in Pearl Harbor. The accident to the Iroquois happened in broad daylight, too, when more than fifteen feet of water could be plainly seen. In all the circumstances one is led to wonder what part the forty-eight dozen bottles of beer, champagne, whiskey, etc., played in the case. It may be that the Iroquois ran on a bank of beer bottles in place of a submerged sand dune, eh?

In his charge to the grand jury, Judge Kalua, of Maui, took occasion to roundly score the Wailuku police. And right he was. Ever since the days of Czar Andrews the police system of Maui has been rotten, going from bad to worse under Sheriff Baldwin. Gambling and petty violations of law have been winked at, and a number of Baldwin's myrmidons are notoriously immoral. The rottenness in the police system of Maui is second only to that of Hawaii, and that stinks to heaven.

The Republicans made a desperate attempt to break up the Home Rule meeting at Lale Saturday evening, but made a signal failure. A special train was chartered to take the people of the village, free of charge, to the Republican meeting at Waialua. A spread and free beer were offered as inducement. Some of the riff-raff of the place accepted the bait, but the substantial people of the neighborhood declined to be led away in such a manner. The Home Rule meeting was a great success, satisfactory in every way.

We are forced again to disagree with our correspondent, Ahuimaia, when he reckons L. A. Andrews as a better man for Sheriff of East Hawaii than Captain Keolanui. It is quite true that the Home Rule candidate is not strong in one way, but he has common sense, has had experience and is humane. If Andrews has common sense he has failed to display it; his experience has done him no good, and he is as inhumane as a Turkish thug. He might well be left at home but, really, the best place for him is in jail.

A movement is on foot to publish broadcast throughout the United States a warning to Catholics not to visit the Bishop Museum in Honolulu. We think this is carrying matters a little far, but are the Catholics to be blamed for it? Most certainly not. The trustees of the Bishop Estate insist upon keeping a man there as curator whose chief business it is to revile the memory of the late Father Damien, a man who gave his life upon an altar in such a way as to win for him the plaudits, the admiration and the love of the Christian world.

John Wise and Edgar Caypless had no business on the platform at Bethel and Hotel streets Saturday evening. The meeting had been announced as one under the auspices of the Young Men's Republican Club and the action of Wise in capturing it was neither dignified nor fair. Hoodlum Birbe was out with a chip on his shoulder, however, and his insult to Mr. Caypless was one of the ugly features of the evening. The Home Rule candidate did the only thing left to a self-respecting man when he slapped his face. He should have punched a hole through it.

In bold defiance of the commands of the Legislature, Superintendent H. E. Cooper is employing Asiatics in almost every branch of work in his department. His department is absolutely rotten with this kind of business. Some of his bureau heads have the patriotism and bravery to defy the Superintendent, but the latter puts coolies in Government billets at every opportunity. We know of a half dozen cases but will content ourselves at this time with mention of but one. The assistant at the Government wash houses is a Chinaman, drawing $45 a month. Scores of whites and natives could be found to do the little plumbing and cleaning required of this man. The superintendent is personally responsible for the presence of the Chinaman there, the luna himself saying that he objects to him and wants a citizen.

The departure of the Gilbert Islanders for home removes an unseemly page from the history of plantation labor schemes in these islands. These poor people were brought here under contract, with the distinct agreement that they would be returned safely to their island country. They were not returned but were left stranded on the beach, to make hats, fish and yearn for their homes as did the Hebrews for the flesh-pots of Egypt. Many of them died of exposure and broken hearts in this strange land, but the return of some to the land of their childhood and loved ones removes to some extent the stain of this base iniquity.

J. W. Pratt, Republican candidate for Assessor, is becoming quite "strenuous" in his campaign. For some time it has been known that his clerks were being used as spies to look up weak points in Pratt's breastworks and to report the places requiring special or particularly hard work. By the community this has been taken with a smile as the work of an overgrown kid. But Pratt is now carrying the thing among the shoals. He has fallen into the habit of running to his superior, Treasurer Kepoikai, with explanations when criticized or jollied. Worse yet, he is getting after employes of men who see fit to express themselves as not in favor of him. High Sheriff Brown was raked over a few days ago because one of his employes expressed himself as being opposed to Pratt. The owner of a leading restaurant received a note from Pratt protesting against the opposition of one of his employes. These are but two of many instances that go to make Pratt's campaign one of the "funny kind".

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

The Leaving of Some of Our Prominent Countrymen.

By AHUIMAIA.

From reports received from Hawaii and Maui, it is claimed that the Home Rulers, comprising the Hawaiian party, will carry everything before them, and in such a way certain Republicans who have received Hawaiian endorsements will also be elected. In this paper, I'll endeavor to give sketches of some of these possible Home Rule candidates, i. e., as far as I know them.

The ticket in East Hawaii is headed by one Wm Manaole Keolanui for Sheriff, the opponent of his former chief. He was at one time a member of the Hilo police force, became Captain when Ben Brown resigned, but he was given is walking tickets because Czar Andrews learned that he was working for a nomination as candidate for county Sheriff. Since his retirement to private life, he has become popular among his own people, being always a Home Ruler with a Republican covering outside, and they gave him the nomination. Without a doubt, Andrews has a hard fight on his hands among the people, because they have no use for him nor for those of his kind.

But as to the capabilities of the two men, I think the Red Czar is he better of the two. Andrews is unpopular while Keolanui is the opposite and that's where the rub comes in. To show you, Mr. Editor, a instance of Andrews' unpopularity, I am informed that he recently went on a campaign tour through Puna and he couldn't muster a corporal's guard of natives to come out to hear him. They kept away from him purposely, because they did not care to meet, see or hear him, this imported makeshift from Maui. But not so with the other; he is received everywhere with open arms and much enthusiasm is displayed on his behalf. I do think that Andrews should be shelved for good and disposed of as junk

I need not again mention those candidates I've already mentioned in a former paper who are supported by both parties, for instance, Norman Lyman for clerk, Nathan Williong for auditor and Tommy Cook for surveyor, and incidentally mentioned John U Smith in a former paper as the Home Rule candidate for attorney. But of the latter, known among the natives as Long Smith (Kamika Loihi), because of his length, is a well-known and prominent attorney of that rainy crescent shaped bay town. He has made himself popular with the people of the place by not meddling in the affairs of others and strictly attending to his own business, so I am told by some of his native admirers, some of whom he has benefitted by his foresight in leasing and opening some of their lands for residence sites, particularly in the Puueo part of the town.

Since my former paper on the East Hawaii Republican candidates, I have learned who W H Smith is. He is none other than the former editor of the Hilo Tribune, who lost his first wife shortly after their marriage and has since then become identified with the Hitchcock family of missionary antecedents. Of course I don't know him personally nor do I care, but as an attorney, I feel that he can't make much of a showing, as his quality and quantity is unknown. But Hilo Republicans no doubt know what they want in what they see in him, and Long Smith may outdo him in the end.

For assessor, the Home Rulers have as candidate Willie Edmonds of Maui and of Hawaii by marriage. I think he twice represented Wailuku in former legislatures under the Monarchy. He is yet a young man and is now a "parson" of the Kekipi faith Has a fair education, was formerly in the business employ of Spreckels at Kahului and is in business for himself. Where he first saw daylight, if I am not mistaken, was at Waihee, Maui, and is a first cousin of Policeman Jim Shaw of this city, the well-known songster, who was Republican nominee for representative in the Fifth District at the last campaign. His ability and integrity is undoubted, as far as known, and will, in my opinion, make a fairly good man for the position, his business experience standing him in good stead.

But of the candidate for treasurer, Rufus A Lyman, the pere of Eugene, candidate for supervisor and of Norman, for clerk, need no word of praise or otherwise from my pen. He is island born of missionary stock, a Republican as of right with a Home Rule nomination, and is married to a part-Hawaiian lady who is a half-sister to the Brickwoods, whose mother is still a resident of this city. A staunch friend of the Hawaiians at all times and to all wayfarers who may by chance meet him or call upon him and his family. The doors of his home is open to all and his table is free, which I for one can vouch for, and whose welcome is always frank and sincere. For his many good and kind offices, he is popular with the masses, and not only that, they respect, honor and repose trust in him. He is of the country, although ignored by his party for a malihini, one Stobie, whom I don't know, but I learn he belongs to a bank. But Lupe (the Hawaiian cognomen for Rufus) should be the choice, as he is a man of the people and not of the narrow clique he belongs to.

Kaala a Big Success.

The Hawaii Ponoi Dramatic club had a big crowd and scored an immense success at the Hawaiian Opera House Saturday evening. "Kaala," the play staged, is a pretty interesting one and instructive historical production. The various parts were faithfully interpreted, eliciting frequent and hearty applause.

The office of THE INDEPENDENT is in the brick building next to the Hawaiian hotel grounds on Beretania street, Waikiki of Alakea. First floor.

Iroquois Runs Aground.

The U. S. S. Iroquois went on a sand spit between Ford's Island and McGrew's landing Saturday evening, but floated off at high tide about 2 a. m. and returned to port at 7 o'clock Sunday morning. She was not injured by her experience. At the time of the accident all the local Navy officers, about forty guests and the entire ship's complement were aboard. The vessel grounded in only eight feet of water. There was no damage.

As to Brigham.

Honolulu, T. H., Oct. 17, 1903

Editor Advertiser: On page six of your today's issue I notice a denial by Mr Brigham of certain remarks made by him to Messrs Boulton and inasmuch as these gentlemen are not in the city to refute this slander on their integrity, I feel it the duty of a loyal Catholic to champion their cause on their behalf.

On Monday, Oct. 12th, Messrs Boulton visited the Bishop Museum and while there Mr Brigham did make the statements accredited to him in the Independent's issue of the 14th inst, as reproduced by you.

Messrs Boulton recited the conversation precisely as it there appeared, to Father Valentin last Monday at the Young Building, immediately upon their return from the museum and again in the presence of the Bishop at the mission and I regard the integrity of these two gentlemen as far superior to that of Mr Brigham.

As to Brigham.

Honolulu, T. H., Oct. 17, 1903

Editor Advertiser: On page six of your today's issue I notice a denial by Mr Brigham of certain remarks made by him to Messrs Boulton and inasmuch as these gentlemen are not in the city to refute this slander on their integrity, I feel it the duty of a loyal Catholic to champion their cause on their behalf.

On Monday, Oct. 12th, Messrs Boulton visited the Bishop Museum and while there Mr Brigham did make the statements accredited to him in the Independent's issue of the 14th inst, as reproduced by you.

Messrs Boulton recited the conversation precisely as it there appeared, to Father Valentin last Monday at the Young Building, immediately upon their return from the museum and again in the presence of the Bishop at the mission and I regard the integrity of these two gentlemen as far superior to that of Mr Brigham.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

An employee of the Attorney General's Department is doing as strenuous party politics as is his chief. Whether they are young Republicans or not, they should be muzzled, made to mind their own business and keep their ugly mugs closed.

Federal officials resident here have no business mingling in our local political affairs, yet we are willing to concede to the uncertain privileges in our Territorial affairs, where it concerns National affairs. That and nothing more, gentlemen, while exercising your citizenship privileges.

Officials of the Territory are moving heaven and earth for the election of Brown for sheriff, such as District Magistrate Lindsay, Attorney General Andrews, and others who went to the other side of this island the other day. If they don't know their places, the people ought to make them know it.

Young Birbe speaks rather glibly of his "pocket artillery" and intimates that he might have used it under certain conditions in his hoodlum racket of Saturday night. Some weeks ago a district court judge developed symptoms of the same kind now manifested by Birbe. It seems to us that there should be a law prescribing weekly examinations by the physician of the insane asylum in cases of this sort.

One of the first duties of Prince Kuhio in Congress is to get back from the Government the money Hawaii has spent for mantaining light houses, buoys, etc., since annexation. And while he is about it he should recover the sums spent for harbor dredging, and arrange for the repayment of the large amount Superintendent Cooper is planning to pour out in deepening the entrance to Honolulu harbor. This is all Federal responsibility and business, and Washington should pay for it.

If the California gentlemen who have taken up land on Hawaii go into the business of cattle raising they should make money. Fortunes have been made out of the industry in the Islands, and practical ranchers should do even better things provided their lands do not come too high. Should they accept foolish advice, however, and go off into the pake business of raising vegetables and small crops, their terms with the public auctioneer had best be made ahead of time.

Superintendent H. E. Cooper has put in a bid for the 4½ per cent loan bonds. This gentleman seems to be doing well in Hawaii. He came here a few years ago without anything and has worked for the Government since 1893 on a moderate salary. Now, however, he has so much surplus cash on hand that he is willing to invest in extremely low rate security. Not many men working for a few thousand a year, and keeping up a big family, could enjoy the luxury of a trunk full of government bonds.

The cut in the price of beef shows what independent markets will do. Monopolies mean exorbitant prices, no matter what men head the monopolies or what the business is. For a very long time figures out of all reason have been charged for meats. It is hardly possible to fix the blame upon any one man or any set of men; the condition followed monopoly as a natural sequence. Independent markets, and plenty of them, are wanted. They mean better meat and lower prices.

It is a fact that Japan has made tremendous strides in many ways in the past few years. But these advances have brought her into the civilized world as the most dangerous competitor with which enlightened powers have yet had to contend. The density of her population and the fact that her people live on a mere bagatelle as compared with the Hawaiian and American makes Japanese immigration a thing to be greatly feared. In coquetting with Japan, Uncle Sam is toying with a wolf in the robe of an innocent—a wolf with which his children will one day have to contend in a drastic way.

Vacations have been granted to certain governmental employees in the Police and Tax departments, the positions of whose heads are to hereafter become political, and while ostensibly enjoying their alleged rest, they are out doing strenuous partizan politics for their chiefs. And what is strange in the cases of some of these furloughed employees, they are not of long engagement, i. e., many of them, to deserve such furloughs, yet there are others who were employed before these pliable tools and no vacation granted them, for the simple reason, it is supposed, that these are not as easy to be so employed while resting.

Now that Winter is approaching and tourists are looking about for an equable and pleasant climate in which to pass the cold months, the Promotion Committee cannot have up its sleeve a better card than Waikiki and that card should be promptly and forcefully played. Full descriptions of the Moana hotel and other resorts, properly illustrated, should be the starter. Then there should be views of the beach, the surroundings and the sea. Next, there should be details as to the climate, temperature of the water and a statement of the fact that surf bathing goes on all Winter. This information is sent out, of course, is most hand-books, but now is the time to make a specialty of it and play it for its full worth.

Should the straight Republican ticket for Supervisors be elected, this island will pass into the clutches of the corporation octopus. Four out of the seven candidates are part of or are owned body and soul by corporations. They are Renton, Mark Robinson, Gilman and Dwight (the latter the property of Robinson). From the start, therefore, there would be a majority vote against any measure favorable to the people that might chance to be inimical to the interests of the great corporations. Hocking is also a corporation man, but he is not like the first four, part and parcel of the Castle & Cooke-Ewa-Oahu Railway business combinations. Lucas and Pahia would either be mere dead timber or tools of the first five. Fine board that, eh? Where would the people get off in seeking their rights under it?

The Advertiser agrees with us that the grounds occupied by the Government buildings should not be marred by the erection upon them of the new armory. It was at first proposed to put the armory on the Hotel-Likelike streets corner of the Palace grounds, which would have been a great mistake. The site occupied by the government as a stock and wagon yard next to the Judiciary building was next decided upon by way of a sort of compromise. But it is not desirable to despoil that place with an armory or any other building. Let the government shacks, mules and wagons be removed from there and the site beautified. No suggestion should be for a moment entertained of taking an inch of the land occupied by the Palace and Judiciary buildings for purposes other than those to which they are now put.

J. L. Coke, who has been ill, for the past two weeks, is able to be out.

The petition of Kaaikaula Long, widow of J. C. Long, to have herself appointed administratrix of the estate of her husband, has been refused, and J. L. Coke was appointed administrator.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

Since giving you, Mr Editor, some excerpts on Woman Suffrage, coupling the idea with some of our likely popular candidates with the women, God bless them!—I have been brooding over the subject ever since. But never mind now, I must leave the women alone for the present, because their ideas are too narrow, being only able to see within their own select and narrow circle, yet they are a splendid class to be on friendly terms with, for "hell knows no fury worse than a woman scorned." Yet I must refer to some of the other candidates which I left out of my paper of last Saturday.

There's Elder Abe, who has been admitted to the Holy of Holies at Salt Lake City, wherein he has found much to comfort him and his, is of a serene and morose temperament, and a good lady's man. As an educator in his younger days, it seems that he himself has been much neglected as regards his own education. But as a disciple of Joseph Smith, he has gained much experience in fawning and sycophancy. As a Hawaiian, he is as true as they make him, being once an ardent royalist and is still so, I think, to this day, and he somewhat feels his own importance over all others. Still he is a friend to those of his boyhood days, although gaining some affluence through his father, he somewhat shuns them for new ones; yet he remembers those of old when he meets them on the streets—not at his home or his table. He's not the only one that way; however, there are others.

Sammy Dwight and Pahia are a team hard to beat anywhere, but I fear Home Rulers will vote for a "faller dorg" in place of them, because they are out of their element. Dwight is weak like others, being human, and he dare not oppose those over him openly, their interest being his benefit in a way, and he will not go out of his way to help another, selfishness and poverty (?) being supreme with him. But his running mate, who called his opponent Kealoha a "rag" forgets that he has been pap fed these many years, not because of his qualities, but rather for being a sycophant and knows how to put it on, too. His professions of surveyor and "a half-lawyer," as the late S M Kaaukai would call it, could not sustain him, and he had to do the next best. I understand Kealoha has retorted by calling him a thief, being jailed for a few hours for contempt of court, in a case wherein he was directly involved in purchasing a piece of land from a young native girl still under guardianship for much less than it was worth. But I think all is fair in politics as well as in love or war, and he should take his medicine manfully from his boyish opponent.

But Joker Lucas beats all before him, for he is still threatening Hawaiians with all dire calamities if they fail to vote him and his crowd into office. He has told natives that they would have to wear holokus (Mother Hubbard gowns) if they voted Wilcox in as sheriff and that they would have to live on prickly pears. The gall of this Irishman is coming out. I think the native will not go hungry in his own country, which is something he should not be made to do. Prickly pears have their season, and when they are out, what next? He forgets that he has only a tuft, and cactus will not grow in it so as to bear the red meat of the prickly pear. Elisha may have been bald-headed in his time, but this joker is not near as bad and no bears will come forth out of the woods to eat up little boys, although he was once hot on w——n. Kikania oe i ko'u manao. Sura kela!

I see that Testa still remains in the field as the only Democratic candidate and I admire his grit and pluck to stay and fight it out, knowing that sure defeat is staring him in the face. Didn't I tell you he was obstinate!—but he stays by principle, so he says, rather than give way to another who received an out and out Home Rule nomination, but stupidly believes it to be an endorsement. I wish for his success, but it is like hoping against hope, for the women will not stay by him,—he's too heavy.

I notice that you gave me a rip yesterday because of my expressing an opinion that Czar Andrews was a better man than Keolanui as regards capabilities and I still think so. But I do not regard Andrews as a good man for sheriff nor did I say so, and there's where you are off. In regard to a display of common sense, that is where I am entirely in accord with your expressions. Andrews' brutality and heartlessness is too well-known to need any further repetition from me and he ought to be shelved for good as suggested by me, or else jailed as you suggest. He ought to retire with perfect good grace and be out of politics altogether to his small farm on the outskirts of Waiakea, where it is claimed he has had set apart a retreat at public expense with police funds, so the story runs.

Ned Doyle returned this morning from a trip taking him to all the ports of West Hawaii. While on his tour he had the opportunity of observing the eruption on Mauna Loa from numerous positions. He states that the smoke by day and fire by night are plainly visible from the Hawaii channel and from every point on the west side of the island. Mr Doyle met R W Shingle and others at Kailua who told him that the lava was confined to the crater and that there was no flow down the mountain side.

Try To Whitewash Prof. Brigham.

It begins to look like the trustees of the Bishop Estate are going to try to smooth over the latest outrage of Prof W T Brigham, curator of the Bishop Museum, upon the good name of the late Father Damien. Despite the fact that proper affidavits were filed upon the occasion of a former outrage, and that direct and convincing proof was left here in the Boulton case, the trustees have chosen the tedious and time-wasting plan of opening correspondence in regard to the matter with the Boultons at London. It is understood that this course was urged by two of the trustees, the others been opposed to any delay. The object of the Brigham men on the board is plainly to gain time, in the hope the thing will blow over. The following letter, giving a brief history of some of the principal antics of the eccentric curator at the Museum, appeared in the Advertiser this morning:

Editor Advertiser: The series of events that have occurred here lately in which Professor Brigham is the central figure, must appeal to all men who love justice and impress them with the feeling that such an intolerable state of affairs should not be allowed to continue.

Mr Brigham's attacks on men and things connected with these islands have been going on for years, but it is only lately that the public has heard of them and it is hard to estimate at this late day how much poison the man has spread or how much injury he has done to the character of the living as well as of the dead.

We first hear of Brigham, when, at a time some Hawaiian ladies were visiting the Museum, he insult them. The insult was of such a nature that press and public took it up. However, Mr Brigham squirmed out of it by denials and apologies. When next we hear from him he is condemning the country and climate to visiting tourists. Again the press and public score him but again Mr Brigham has the same old apology, the same old denial.

A very short period elapses when Brigham again appears on the stage, but this time more venomous, more vitriolic and Satanic than ever. For while before he insulted and calumniated the living and their homes, now like a ghoul, he visits the tomb to desecrate the dead.

Brigham's latest victim is the late Father Damien. He loses no opportunity to pour the vials of his morbid wrath and hatred on the dead priest and a picture of Father Damien, that hangs on the walls of the Bishop Museum, is used by Brigham to feed his vile passion and is pointed out by him to visitors as the picture of a bad man.

Brigham, a product of the twentieth century, holding a semi-public office and using that office to traduce the dead! Brigham, holding the Devil's brief and acting as the Devil's advocate, nay worse than the Devil's advocate, for the latter makes his charge in the open, whilst Brigham spreads his poison in the dark,

Brigham, a knocker of the dead! The dead whom, if the world cannot praise, it covers with the mantle of charitable oblivion; but this freak of his species fires envenomed shafts against the character of the dead Damien, the man whom all honorable men delight to honor.

Brigham, who now that Stevenson has joined the great majority, raises his feeble voice in fancied security and with a little cloud tries to darken Damien's sun, not knowing that

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

A correspondent in the Advertiser suggests that Father Damien's portrait be removed from the Bishop Museum as it seems to be a red rag before the eyes of Curator Brigham. That is one way out of the difficulty, but not the proper one. In a case of this sort, the mad bovine should be relegated to some other and more obscure pawing ground.

The Advertiser is still after the scalp of organized labor. Incidentally, it is also after promoting the interests of Japanese coolies in this Territory, for the two propositions end at the same point. The attitude of the morning press should be a convincing object lesson to the citizen voters, whom it urges in one column to vote its ticket and in the other it knifes in the back.

Did you ever notice the last syllables of the names the Republicans ask the voters to support for Supervisors in the Fourth District? For instance, there is Hock-ing, presumably the "beer king". Robin-son, the only son of the soil on the list. Rent-on, "on" the shelf and liable to stay there. Gilman, really a "man" but a very small one in more ways than one. Luc-as; well, yes; he's the "ass".

If followed up in all its details the Adachi case would yield some interesting details. That there is a hui of Japanese in this city, the business of which is the importation of women for immoral purposes, cannot be doubted and it can probably be proved without much trouble. The question that interests the public most, though, is that of the men behind the scheme—the brains of the project—the men who are engineering it and are concealed by dint of their wits from open exposure.

Captain Bray, of the Sailor's Home, who has passed the French Frigate Shoals many times, confirms the report that a rock within the reef resembles strongly a full-rigged ship and that at night the resemblance is perfect. More than one vessel has gone on the reef in an effort to overhaul the bogus sailer. It would seem to be in order for Uncle Sam to blow up the rock as a matter of safety to mariners.

It is getting pretty close to election and we think something should be heard from the candidates in regard to the Asiatics in their employ. We have been listening intently for some word from A. Hocking in explanation of the employment of Asiatics in his bottling works, but as yet we have no account in any of his speeches to the voters in regard to the matter. And we are still at sea as to Japanese being given the preference over native and white men on the Oahu Railway, largely owned by Candidate Mark Robinson.

The two Chinamen, employed under Superintendent H. E. Cooper on board the Government tug Eleu, were discharged two days ago but were hired over again this morning. For some time pressure had been brought to bear to have these coolies replaced by citizens. Affecting to respond to popular demand, the Chinamen were let out and a white man notoriously unfit for the place was put in. Cooper's henchman now returns the Mongols to their former places on the plea that an experiment with a citizen workman had proved a failure! We leave the public to draw its own conclusion.

Other than the Palace and the Judiciary building there should be nothing on the grounds occupied by those two structures to mar the respective parks occupied by them. Not only should the new armory not be erected upon either but the buildings now there should be forthwith removed. First of all the old kitchen on the Palace grounds at the corner of Hotel and Likelike streets should go. It is an unsightly and useless structure. The bungalow, on the same grounds should also be removed. The mule yard on a part of the Judicary building grounds has long been an eye-sore. The place should be cleaned out and beautiful, tropical trees set out there.

Republicans who were sure a week ago that their entire ticket on Oahu would be elected are now speculating as to what will be done when candidate so and so on the other side is in office. There is every reason for this lack of confidence, and the Republicans might as well realize and admit it now as after election. No one who attended the Home Rule meetings at the Palama junction, in Waikiki and at the corner of Liliha and School streets last evening can for a moment question the immense strength of the Home Rule candidates. It is well enough to whistle to keep up courage, but the "interested spectator" in this campaign sees clearly that the Republicans have tackled a bigger contract than most of them think.

It is not our desire to butt in on a matter that may become an affair for the courts to settle, but we really fail to see why Peacock has not just as good right to run the Royal saloon and the Royal Annex under one license as has Cunha to run his saloon and the Union Grill saloon under one license. As a matter of fact, Peacock has the best end of the case, both of his counters being in the same building and only separated by a wall which can be easily opened, if necessary, while Cunha's double-barreled license covers two distinct buildings, opening principally on two different streets. While not admitting the propriety of extending the Cnuha license to take in the Union Grill, we do contend that if that were right, then the claim of Mr. Peacock for a single license to cover his two counters is also right.

Candidate Abr. Fernandez delivered two forcible and telling speeches last night, which were well received and admired by his hearers. He delivered them both strong, pointedly and effectively. He plainly came out with the fact that those who are Republicans here are only such in name, they composing that element which has no use for the people of the country and which despoiled them for their own personal aggrandizement. The same lot caused the overthrow of the monarchy for the two-cent bounty on sugar, ultimately gaining the control over the government, and disposing of it without right and justice. They are the same truncated crew who are now preaching love and charity to those they despoiled and bartered for filthy lucre—the root of comfort and affluence as well as of all evil. Those who are piloting the party here are not the same as those on the Mainland, who are fair and just and would want the people to rule themselves, but those here would rather have them disfranchised.

Persons touring Japan witness the best side of Japanese life and character. The impressions gleaned from the fascinating tea gardens, the geisha specialties and the numerous other things to please the eye and fancies of the tourist serve to blunt the imagination to the hard-pan facts concerning Japanese and the business and social influence they are striving to exert upon the western world. The United States (including Hawaii) had much to fear from Chinese invasion, on account of the numbers of little brown men in the Celestial Empire; but she has much more to fear from the Japanese, not only because of numbers, but because the Japanese lives as cheaply as his half-brother of the continent and is a shrewder and more dangerous business competitor.

The trustees of the Bishop Estate are only hurting the Bishop Museum by delaying action on the Brigham matter. Sufficient proof of the guilt of Brigham is already in the hands of the trustees. All this red tape about writing to the Boultons in London for confirmatory evidence is merely a ruse of the curator's friends to gain time, the hope being that in the meanwhile the trouble will have blown over. There are some things, however, that will not down, and this is one of them. Brigham has carried on his campaign of calumny so long that the noble institution in which he is employed has become nauseous to a large section of the community and to all travelers.

French Bark Wreck.

Captain Rauld and seven men of the French bark Connetable de Richmon, which was wrecked on the reef at the French Frigate Shoals, nearly two weeks ago, were brought to Honolulu from Kauai by the Mikahala this morning. They landed at Kauai yesterday after eleven days of hard work under the most trying conditions. Two other boats, in charge of the first mate and boatswain, and containing sixteen men are still at sea and unaccounted for. The rescued men were met by Mr. Raas, acting French Consul, this morning and taken to the Sailors' Home, where they are quartered.

The vessel was sailing in ballast from Hongkong to the Sound and had had a very bad voyage. Once she obtained provisions at sea from the Peking. At another time, when her supplies were low, she hoisted the distress flag to the Nippon Maru, but that vessel steamed away without granting the desired assistance.

The main rock on the French Frigate shoals was sighted at night and bore the appearance of being a full-rigged ship. The captain steered his vessel in that direction and landed on the reef five miles away. Boats had to be taken at once as the vessel was being rapidly pounded to pieces. The twenty-four men took to three boats, eight in each, and put off. All had supplies of fresh water and were fairly well provisioned. After the first day the captain's boat lost sight of the other two and never saw them afterward.

There was some effort this morinng to get the Iroquois to go out in search of the missing boats, but no conclusion of the matter was reached.

By AHUIMAIA.

By the bye, Mr Editor, I am given to understand that the Home Rulers of Maui are sure to win out, if not the whole ticket, nine or ten of them out of the bunch of twelwe. It would be a pity if they can't win the whole business, but the biggest part of a loaf is better than the small part, and the small part better than none at all.

It is a well-known fact that the ticket is headed by none other than the old war horse Billy White, better known as Oily Bill. His political record is so well-known that I need not dilate much upon it. For devilitry, he is a peer, and will not take back water for anybody unles he is caught and bested. As to fitness, he has had police experience heretofore on Hawaii, both in Kohala and Hilo, and made the reputation of being a good officer. He received his education in the English Mission school, terminating with the late Venerable Archdeacon George Mason, and among his school mates was Col C P Iaukea and many others. I am of the opinion that he is perfectly qualified for the position and is bound to make a good officer, providing he leaves some of his freaks at home.

But the candidate for clerk is none other than the recently flop-over Republican David H Kahaulelio, a man of many parts and of no ability, but Charlie Achi used to put faith in him and compares his competency to Mr Testa, and I am at a loss to make out that he is a patch alongside of him. Was formerly a school teacher on Hawaii and lost his place through weakness, since which time he had never been able to retrieve his lost ground, for the simple reason they can't trust him with the education of mixed pupils, his animal instincts getting the best of him every time. I am sure he will not make as good a man as his opponent, David Marton, a much superior man in every way, and moreover, a Hawaiian. This same Kahaulelio represented Maui during the days of our oligarchical rule, and since then he has never been able to gain preference. In my opinion, his name should be stamped as "mud." He was one of the main Republican grafters during the last Legislature, aided and abetted by Achi and Kumalae, and was one of those who thought that his services were worth more than what was being paid and accepted by more competent men. But such is the way of the world, where shady ones gain the advantage over better men, and such is politics, anyway.

Col John Richardson, a Democrat, is the candidate for attorney. The Home Rulers could not have made a better choice, for he has the theoretical as well as the practical experience. Some twenty odd years ago, he was clerk to the sheriff of Maui, his uncle. Went as one of the special commissioners of the Hawaiian people to Washington to oppose annexation, and was, without a doubt, the most intelligent of the quartette, because he speaks perfect English. I believe he can write English better than he can Hawaiian, which is to his credit; and further, he is a man fairly well advanced in years and has a large family. He is a saloon keeper, as was Billy White once. But wherein he is great, his brains are always fertile in getting up schemes, and good plausible ones, too, but when personally applied to him and tested, he comes out at the big end of the horn while his dupes suffer in the bargain. Maui knows him well, and it is up to the people to judge between him and his young opponent with an Ann Arbor education, the coming Noah Webster of Maui, doncher know. His morality is not of the best, but that is better left unsaid than aired, otherwise it will strike others of my many friends.

The full native half-brother of Dave Kahaulelio, [illegible]

lio, the son of the Lahaina judge and son-in-law of Oily Bill, who was sergeant-at-arms of the Senate of 1901, is up for assessor and I think he is as incompetent as they make him out to be competent for such a very important position. There's nothing bright in the young "fellar" and I fail to see what they have found in him unless it be the influence of his father in-law, who, I am given to understand, ran the business of Billy White's saloon to the ground by promiscuous giving credit to every Tom, Dick and Harry without regard. Otherwise the fellow is an overgrown kid and gaffaw, too lazy to move around and earn his salt in a manner becoming to him as the son of the judge as well as of the ex senator and ex saloon keeper.

Patrick Cockett, better known as Pia, is slated for treasurer. He is a trustworthy cowboy and manager of Waiakapu ranch, a man of few words and is like the still waters which run deep. A native of that island and a sturdy son of the soil and is uncle to Republican Dave Morton. As to his capabilities, he is not overbright, but I am confident he will make a good and safe man if elected. I believe that Col Billy Cornwell will stake his all on him, otherwise I am badly mistaken.

Professor Brigham.

his words are despicable and an insult to all men who are not lost to chivalry.

They are an insult to the Catholic priesthood of this great land. They are more than an insult to the self-sacrificing and unobstrusive priests of these Islands, for those priests are of Damien's own household, and are more than a brother to him.

But what of the trustees of the Bishop Museum. All of them, men of honor and of justice, their position in this controversy is not to be envied. They are burdened with an "Old Man of The Sea," that heart and head must wish to be rid of, but the man must need hold on. If the trustees cannot retire the professor on a pension, if they cannot put him in a cage in the Museum, and number him as Exhibit I, A Fossil of Prehistoric Time, or a decadent of the Darwinian type, they at least can remove Damien's picture from the wall and let him rest in peace, for Damien needs no pictures nor monuments to perpetuate his unselfish life or heroic death in the coming cycles of time when Brigham's name is buried in obscurity. Damien's name with the years will shine with with a greater brilliance and it will be repeated by coming generations. Greater love hath no man shown than he, for he laid down his life for his friends.

Campaign Speeches.

Home Rulers held several big meetings last evening, the principal one, however, being on Liliha street. A native chorus supplied music there.

Republicans had small and unenthusiastic meetings at Kalihi camp and in Waverley hall. Candidates addressed the former and "rooters" the latter.

Jack Lucas' "prickly pear" talk at Kalihi Tuesday night did not take well with the natives. The funny man saved himself from punishment only by escaping into a neighboring house.

Orpheum Co. Wins.

The jury trying the assumpsit case of the Hogan minstrels against the Orpheum Company returned a verdict yesterday afternoon in favor of defendant, settling an old controversy.

In the action for annulment of marriage brought by Eliza R P Holt, a minor, by Annie Holt Kentwell, her relative and guardian, against Albert Christian, Judge Gear overruled defendant's demurrer. By consent of plaintiff's counsel, defendant was allowed ten days in which to answer.

Case of Murder.

The coroner's jury in the case of Taka Tanake, a Japanese woman whose body was found floating in the sea off Diamond Head, yesterday returned a verdict of murder. Three Japanese men have been arrested on suspicion and bound over to the grand jury. Following was the coroner's verdict:

That the said Taka Tanaka (w) came to her death at Waikiki, Honolulu, on September 30, from hemorrhage of the brain caused by blow on the head inflicted by a person to this jury unknown.

As to Philippines.

Wausau (Wis.) Herald: The Madison State Journal, stalwart republican, has tired of imperialism and is now advising the national republican administration to "about face" and get out. The Journal says the only thing this nation can do with honor is to get out of the Philippines. A republic with an honorable record behind it cannot afford to do anything else. Colonialism is out of its line.

The Adachi Case.

The six Japanese arrested in connection with the Adachi case had their hearing postponed in Commissioner Douthitt's court yesterday afternoon until after the report of the grand jury comes in. It is believed that other indictments will be returned, some involving persons more prominent that a Japanese policeman.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The situation in the Philippines is so quiet and peaceful that the recruiting stations throughout the United States have been instructed to enlist men as rapidly as possible for service in the Orient.

Republican Isaac Sherwood, the candidate for Auditor, went stumping in his behalf last Saturday on the other side of this island. Is he being paid for such work by the people, Mr. Auditor Fisher? If he is, well and good; and if not, give him the boot; of course, only unless furlough was granted.

Boycott and coercion are being again resorted to by those in Government employ in order to whip those employed under them, principally natives, into line. These Republican tools are apt to do anything at any time, but it is only a question of time when their fiendish influence will vanish into thin air.

It is a pity that the controversy between Soldier Delile and Bill Huihui cannot be settled in the prize ring. There seems to be too much quibbling over details—or does one of the men want too much of a cinch on the big end of the money bag? The proposal of Delile to fight to win or lose all seemed to us to be fair enough.

The boom Senator Cullom and the Republican press is giving Senator Gorman for the Presidency affords the most conclusive of reasons why the Democrats should leave the Maryland man severely alone. It is now pointed out by the pilots of the g. o. p. that the influence of Roosevelt with the money power. Taking it all in all, it would please us better to see some man not quite so popular with Republican politicians and newspapers on the Democratic ticket.

One of the Advertiser's enterprising small farmers might make a hit by establishing himself on the "ship" rock at the French Frigate Shoals. The property could be had for nothing, which would be a good starter. Fertilizer abounds, and the enterprising citizen might make a fortune selling vegetables, etc., to wrecked crews.

We see now that our advice is not heeded and is utterly futile with such persons as Hack Inspector Macy as well as several furloughed police officers. With Sam, he does not know enough to keep his face closed. His tongue is still wagging loosely at Republican political meetings and at street corners. He ought to know what is good for him, as he is old enough.

Most Home Rule meetings are well attended, and that without beer and feasting, and even without the blasting of trumpets with all the attendant din and noise. But not so with Republican meetings, it is purely a campaign of beer, of feasting and of noise. In the last is included the usual hot-air cauldrons, which are the regular known quantities of strenuous political efforts by both parties.

The Republicans just now are losing a good deal of sleep on account of adverse reports received from Maui and Hawaii as to their campaign chances. Those two islands have for some time been regarded, outside of the Republican Central Committee, as in the pockets of the Home Rulers. But the thing does not stop there. In time the Republicans will discover Oahu to be in much the same boat.

Prof. W. T. Brigham is credited with saying that the painting of Father Damien in the Bishop Museum was placed there by Father Valentin, but the latter promptly and emphatically denies the statement. He says that the picture belongs to Brigham and seems to be kept there for the purpose to which it is being used by the curator. It seems that Prof. Brigham cannot tell the truth even when he tries real hard.

Jack Lucas has found out at last that his silly jokelet in regard to prickly pears is not a vote-maker but may be a head-breaker. Only his rapidity in disappearing in a foreign direction at the Kalihi meeting Tuesday evening saved him from the wrath of the Hawaiians assembled there. It is safe to say that if any native went there with any Republicanism in his makeup it was thoroughly squeezed out before he left. Lucas is the "snowy slope" of the Republican party.

We announced yesterday that a camp fire would be given on the evening of October 31 for the benefit of the National Guard, and notice that the Republican papers have kept singularly quiet on the subject. Why? We'll tell you why. This camp fire is to be purely a political affair, a duplicate of the one of last year when Prince Cupid was forced down the throats of the military. After the lunch and amid the popping of corks and sizzling of beer the Republican candidates and Republican politics are to be sprung.

Knowing that they cannot muster a crowd to hear their speakers, the Republicans resort to the game of taking in order to swell the crowd. For instance, at Kalihi the other night, a wagonload of people, members of the scavenging department, were taken up and when passing the Palama junction they sent up a cheer and were hooted in return. And, later on, the marshal and field officers of the Fourth marched sheepishly into the precincts of the fifth, accompanied by no noise whatever.

A correspondent of the Advertiser, claiming to be a friend of Prof. Brigham, this morning published what purports to be a defense of the eccentric curator. We did not think that there was a man in the Hawaiian Islands with sufficient nerve and gall to attempt a defense of this moral monstrosity, but it seems that there is one. So positive and unanimous is the public condemnation of Brigham, however, that no defense can modify its force. The case is too plain; the offense is too flagrant and grave for excuse or sympathy.

In his speech before the Young Men's Republican Club last evening Commissioner Douthitt referred somewhat sadly to the ill regard felt for malihinis in this country. We do not see wherein lawyers have been left in the cold. The Attorney General and both of his assistants are new-comers; all three judges of the local circuit court have been here just long enough to vote easy, and the District Attorney and United States Commissioner are new arrivals. It seems to us that the malihini lawyers have rather been in clover in these parts of late.

One of the Republican lantern slides now being exhibited publicly at meetings of the Young Men's Club is a scene of the recent and uncalled-for royal funereal pageantry of the late "Prince" Kunuiakea, being the main part of it depicting the catafalque and the kahilis with their supporters in the late royal regalia. Home Rulers have taken this up to apply to the funeral awaiting the Republicans on November 3rd next, the only difference being that theirs will not be as royal nor as gorgeous and imposing, but rather flat and cold, uninviting and unimposing; and that further, it would be like the dead march of the dead.

When some obscure and worthless individual leaves the Home Rule party and joins the Republicans (for the beer there is in it), the morning press gets out its little drum and cymbals and for a day makes more fuss than a caravan advertising a tom-tom show in the Japanese theater. It is to be noted in contrast that when a Republican leaves his party and goes to the Home Rulers from a sense of principle, and without hope of reward, old grandma is either painfully silent or works herself into a pitiful rage. Of the hundreds of native and white voters that have left the Republican party in disgust in the last few weeks, we have had mention of but a few, and then it was a case of "sour grapes."

Frazier's latest handbook of Hawaii is a great improvement on the first one. In fact, little fault can be found of it. A most serious defect in the first number was the Adamic simplicity of some of the subjects illustrated. These things go very well here but in the east they are regarded as highly vulgar. Only a few days ago the papers told of an immense sensation created in a New York park by the appearance there of a barefooted child! What, then, is to be expected of a handbook freighted with pictures of [illegible] and almost nude hula girls?

A mere hint of such thing would be a ticket to the waste basket or the fire, and would arouse anger in place of interest. In the words of the gamins all such things should be religiously "cut out."

Young Damon is frequently making capital of the fact that the bankers of Honolulu are ready with their money to help out the Territorial government. He states that the monied men have confidence in the government because it is in the hands of the Republicans and urges that as a reason for keeping the Republicans in power. When eastern bankers stand ready to loan Hawaii all the money she needs at 4½ per cent, is it any large wonder that local banks should be willing to dig up a little at 6 per cent? Well, hardly. Bankers are not these days, nor any other days, letting gilt edge loans at big interest slip through their fingers.

Congress will meet in extraordinary session November 9. The St. Louis Republic gives it on a Washington authority that the rule of the Republican party to attempt very little important legislation in the Congress preceding a Presidential election will be adhered to. The prospective speaker, Mr. Cannon, has conferred with the treasury officials and it is announced on good authority that there will be no financial legislation. No tariff legislation is possible, and the prospect is that very little will be done beyond passing the current appropriation bills and incorporating many speeches in the Congressional Record, so that they may be circulated among the faithful at the expense of the people. There seems to be little chance of Hawaii getting anything of importance out of this program.

We do not think that the spirit of the public is in favor of shutting out persons eligible to become American citizens from public contracts. Two of the gentlemen tendering for the new jail contract, Fred Harrison and F. H. Redward, are eligible to American citizenship but have very good reasons for not becoming such at this time. They have now pending between the British and Washington governments claims for damages growing out of the revolution of 1895. The moment they forswear allegiance to King Edward the British government would discontinue all efforts in their behalf. The people the policy is intended to reach are such persons as are not and cannot become citizens.

Consul Raas will arrange to have them brought to Honolulu from Hawaii by the next steamer touching the west side of the island.

A rumor spread like wild fire in the city about 11:30 this morning that war had broken out between Japan and Russia. The singular part of the matter is that the report originated at the Japanese consulate one of the clerks there imparting the information to an officer of the Nippon Maru, to a Japanese clerk at S I Shaw & Co's and to others. "Don't know anything about it" was the characteristically diplomatic answer given later at the Consulate. Japanese of the city believe that the Consulate has received a cipher despatch announcing a collision this morning.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

In the County of West Hawaii the Republicans have put forward one G P Kamauoha as candidate for sheriff, the Home Rulers having nominated him for county attorney previously, but he accepted the Republican nomination instead, he being one himself. In consequence of this attitude on his part, the Home Rulers have dropped him from their ticket. His opponent for the place is one Robert Makahalupa, a much better man than Kamauoha in every way and a popular one too, who is known as a staunch Royalist patriot. Kamauoha has had legislative experience both under the Monarchy and P G and the record made by him is rather shady. A connection and a henchman of Charlie Achi, the energetic and alleged boss of the Fifth. A lawyer by profession, but I think he is not as capable a man as his opponent, who had former police experience under Kaulukou as sheriff and marshal, on the Koolau side of this island, and this alone should speak volumes in his favor, and I learn that he is sure of his election with both hands down as against that of Kamauoha, who is a blatant ass and an unprincip'ed being, easily swayed by the tide. Panila is his middle name, meaning "the closing out of the sun" or "the blotting out" of the same, and is perfectly applicable to his character, a blotter out of anything good and sensible, and who besides is adaptable "for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain" wherein his personality may be the gainer, "the public be damned." But not so with Robert, a peer among his own people, staunch and true, reliable and trustworthy, and the coming man for that county, and besides an able native attorney.

Both parties have Sam K Pua for the county clerkship and I deem him a good man for the position. He is a young man, was once a strong Home Ruler and was defeated at the last election as such for senator. But since then, he has become a Republican, as that was the only road, so I am credibly informed, of having his license to practice law renewed by Democrat Edings, the circuit judge of West Hawaii. He either had to or go without a license and not keep on with his law practice, and what was he to do but submit? Yet I believe him to be still a good Home Ruler as of yore and a strenuous fighter from way back. During the first Territorial Legislature he was the assistant clerk of the House. Was mentioned for sheriff of Kohala, although he made application to the High Sheriff, he was ignored after becoming a Republican for another Home Ruler who had become a Republican, now a Home Rule candidate for supervisor in East Hawaii county. If I mistake not, it is my impression that he was born in Kapalama, or may be on Kauai, but becme a resident of Hawaii by marriage. Was educated in the Royal School and I think him quite competent to fill the position.

I think the only nominee who has the easiest chance of a sure election is the Republican candidate for attorney, one Maydwell, who I am given to understand is a good beer soak in the Kailua saloon, because he has no opponent on the Home Rule side. He is a malihini I don't know anything at all about nor do I care, but if he is a good attorney, he is entitled to his laurels. Go it (hic), old soak.

Another candidate on whom both parties have joined in nominating is J Kaelemakule for treasurer. A Republican by choice yet a Hawaiian at heart and in sentiment and the confidence reposed in him shows how well he is thought of by the people, and furthermore, he is doing business for himself as a merchant at Kailua, the coming county seat. He is a safe and trustworthy man, but as regards his competency, I am somewhat in doubt, yet he can in time learn his routine. And further, he is a half-white with a native name, and does not know English sufficiently to read, write or speak it. But without it, he is as straight as a die and can be depended upon as to his honesty.

Lincoln Holstein is the Republican candidate for assessor and is a good man, besides being a good attorney as well, the proper position that he ought to have been nominated for. A staunch Republican by choice but a semi-Hawaiian in sentiment, which may be accountable to his education at the Royal School. His boyhood capers are not yet entirely forgotten by some of his friends and was saved from going to the reef through the influence of some of them. But he has been leading a double life now for some years, which I think is somewhat not to his credit. He is chairman of the Republican Territorial Convention and represented Hawaii during the P G regime as senator once only and no more, probably because of his double life. At times he soars to the highest pitch, then it is that he has that chicken disease known as "big-head," and then drops down again to his own proper level. But as to his competency, I deem him a good man in spite of his faults and weaknesses to which the flesh is heir.

His opponent is one Willie McDougall, an island born boy of Scotch descent, if I am not mistaken. Has a Hawaiian family by a native wife and speaks the native language fairly well. He is indeed a better choice than the first one nominated, one S W Nawahie of Kawaihae, a man of no known ability other than that he is a close fisted and saving man. With McDougall, an out and out Home Ruler, the Hawaiian party has as strong a man as the Republicans, one who has had some business experience. He is a haole after my own heart, because he is not ashamed to own and recognize his Hawaiian friends and would entertain and treat them as he would those of his own kind. With me, there is hardly any choice between the two men and either of them may win out so far as I am concerned. But I do despise a part-Hawaiian when he tries to make out that he is molded of better clay than his fellows and admire a white man when he is content to be as the native is and to mix and enjoy communion with them nor shuns them. That difference is the turning and deciding point between the two candidates.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The situation in the Philippines is so quiet and peaceful that the recruiting stations throughout the United States have been instructed to enlist men as rapidly as possible for service in the Orient.

Republican Isaac Sherwood, the candidate for Auditor, went stumping in his behalf last Saturday on the other side of this island. Is he being paid for such work by the people, Mr. Auditor Fisher? If he is, well and good; and if not, give him the boot; of course, only unless furlough was granted.

Boycott and coercion are being again resorted to by those in Government employ in order to whip those employed under them, principally natives, into line. These Republican tools are apt to do anything at any time, but it is only a question of time when their fiendish influence will vanish into thin air.

It is a pity that the controversy between Soldier Delile and Bill Huihui cannot be settled in the prize ring. There seems to be too much quibbling over details—or does one of the men want too much of a cinch on the big end of the money bag? The proposal of Delile to fight to win or lose all seemed to us to be fair enough.

The boom Senator Cullom and the Republican press is giving Senator Gorman for the Presidency affords the most conclusive of reasons why the Democrats should leave the Maryland man severely alone. It is now pointed out by the pilots of the g. o. p. that the influence of Roosevelt with the money power. Taking it all in all, it would please us better to see some man not quite so popular with Republican politicians and newspapers on the Democratic ticket.

One of the Advertiser's enterprising small farmers might make a hit by establishing himself on the "ship" rock at the French Frigate Shoals. The property could be had for nothing, which would be a good starter. Fertilizer abounds, and the enterprising citizen might make a fortune selling vegetables, etc., to wrecked crews.

We see now that our advice is not heeded and is utterly futile with such persons as Hack Inspector Macy as well as several furloughed police officers. With Sam, he does not know enough to keep his face closed. His tongue is still wagging loosely at Republican political meetings and at street corners. He ought to know what is good for him, as he is old enough.

Most Home Rule meetings are well attended, and that without beer and feasting, and even without the blasting of trumpets with all the attendant din and noise. But not so with Republican meetings, it is purely a campaign of beer, of feasting and of noise. In the last is included the usual hot-air cauldrons, which are the regular known quantities of strenuous political efforts by both parties.

The Republicans just now are losing a good deal of sleep on account of adverse reports received from Maui and Hawaii as to their campaign chances. Those two islands have for some time been regarded, outside of the Republican Central Committee, as in the pockets of the Home Rulers. But the thing does not stop there. In time the Republicans will discover Oahu to be in much the same boat.

Prof. W. T. Brigham is credited with saying that the painting of Father Damien in the Bishop Museum was placed there by Father Valentin, but the latter promptly and emphatically denies the statement. He says that the picture belongs to Brigham and seems to be kept there for the purpose to which it is being used by the curator. It seems that Prof. Brigham cannot tell the truth even when he tries real hard.

Jack Lucas has found out at last that his silly jokelet in regard to prickly pears is not a vote-maker but may be a head-breaker. Only his rapidity in disappearing in a foreign direction at the Kalihi meeting Tuesday evening saved him from the wrath of the Hawaiians assembled there. It is safe to say that if any native went there with any Republicanism in his makeup it was thoroughly squeezed out before he left. Lucas is the "snowy slope" of the Republican party.

We announced yesterday that a camp fire would be given on the evening of October 31 for the benefit of the National Guard, and notice that the Republican papers have kept singularly quiet on the subject. Why? We'll tell you why. This camp fire is to be purely a political affair, a duplicate of the one of last year when Prince Cupid was forced down the throats of the military. After the lunch and amid the popping of corks and sizzling of beer the Republican candidates and Republican politics are to be sprung.

Knowing that they cannot muster a crowd to hear their speakers, the Republicans resort to the game of taking in order to swell the crowd. For instance, at Kalihi the other night, a wagonload of people, members of the scavenging department, were taken up and when passing the Palama junction they sent up a cheer and were hooted in return. And, later on, the marshal and field officers of the Fourth marched sheepishly into the precincts of the fifth, accompanied by no noise whatever.

A correspondent of the Advertiser, claiming to be a friend of Prof. Brigham, this morning published what purports to be a defense of the eccentric curator. We did not think that there was a man in the Hawaiian Islands with sufficient nerve and gall to attempt a defense of this moral monstrosity, but it seems that there is one. So positive and unanimous is the public condemnation of Brigham, however, that no defense can modify its force. The case is too plain; the offense is too flagrant and grave for excuse or sympathy.

In his speech before the Young Men's Republican Club last evening Commissioner Douthitt referred somewhat sadly to the ill regard felt for malihinis in this country. We do not see wherein lawyers have been left in the cold. The Attorney General and both of his assistants are new-comers; all three judges of the local circuit court have been here just long enough to vote easy, and the District Attorney and United States Commissioner are new arrivals. It seems to us that the malihini lawyers have rather been in clover in these parts of late.

One of the Republican lantern slides now being exhibited publicly at meetings of the Young Men's Club is a scene of the recent and uncalled-for royal funereal pageantry of the late "Prince" Kunuiakea, being the main part of it depicting the catafalque and the kahilis with their supporters in the late royal regalia. Home Rulers have taken this up to apply to the funeral awaiting the Republicans on November 3rd next, the only difference being that theirs will not be as royal nor as gorgeous and imposing, but rather flat and cold, uninviting and unimposing; and that further, it would be like the dead march of the dead.

When some obscure and worthless individual leaves the Home Rule party and joins the Republicans (for the beer there is in it), the morning press gets out its little drum and cymbals and for a day makes more fuss than a caravan advertising a tom-tom show in the Japanese theater. It is to be noted in contrast that when a Republican leaves his party and goes to the Home Rulers from a sense of principle, and without hope of reward, old grandma is either painfully silent or works herself into a pitiful rage. Of the hundreds of native and white voters that have left the Republican party in disgust in the last few weeks, we have had mention of but a few, and then it was a case of "sour grapes."

Frazier's latest handbook of Hawaii is a great improvement on the first one. In fact, little fault can be found of it. A most serious defect in the first number was the Adamic simplicity of some of the subjects illustrated. These things go very well here but in the east they are regarded as highly vulgar. Only a few days ago the papers told of an immense sensation created in a New York park by the appearance there of a barefooted child! What, then, is to be expected of a handbook freighted with pictures of [illegible]

A mere hint of such thing would be a ticket to the waste basket or the fire, and would arouse anger in place of interest. In the words of the gamins all such things should be religiously "cut out."

Young Damon is frequently making capital of the fact that the bankers of Honolulu are ready with their money to help out the Territorial government. He states that the monied men have confidence in the government because it is in the hands of the Republicans and urges that as a reason for keeping the Republicans in power. When eastern bankers stand ready to loan Hawaii all the money she needs at 4½ per cent, is it any large wonder that local banks should be willing to dig up a little at 6 per cent? Well, hardly. Bankers are not these days, nor any other days, letting gilt edge loans at big interest slip through their fingers.

Congress will meet in extraordinary session November 9. The St. Louis Republic gives it on a Washington authority that the rule of the Republican party to attempt very little important legislation in the Congress preceding a Presidential election will be adhered to. The prospective speaker, Mr. Cannon, has conferred with the treasury officials and it is announced on good authority that there will be no financial legislation. No tariff legislation is possible, and the prospect is that very little will be done beyond passing the current appropriation bills and incorporating many speeches in the Congressional Record, so that they may be circulated among the faithful at the expense of the people. There seems to be little chance of Hawaii getting anything of importance out of this program.

We do not think that the spirit of the public is in favor of shutting out persons eligible to become American citizens from public contracts. Two of the gentlemen tendering for the new jail contract, Fred Harrison and F. H. Redward, are eligible to American citizenship but have very good reasons for not becoming such at this time. They have now pending between the British and Washington governments claims for damages growing out of the revolution of 1895. The moment they forswear allegiance to King Edward the British government would discontinue all effort in their behalf. The people the policy is intended to reach are such persons as are not and cannot become citizens.

A rumor spread like wild fire in the city about 11:30 this morning that war had broken out between Japan and Russia. The singular part of the matter is that the report originated at the Japanese consulate one of the clerks there imparting the information to an officer of the Nippon Maru, to a Japanese clerk at S I Shaw & Co's and to others. "Don't know anything about it" was the characteristically diplomatic answer given later at the Consulate. Japanese of the city believe that the Consulate has received a cipher despatch announcing a collision this morning.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

In the County of West Hawaii, the Republicans have put forward one G P Kamauoha as candidate for sheriff, the Home Rulers having nominated him for county attorney previously, but he accepted the Republican nomination instead, he being one himself. In consequence of this attitude on his part, the Home Rulers have dropped him from their ticket. His opponent for the place is one Robert Mazahalupa, a much better man than Kamauoha in every way and a popular one too, who is known as a staunch Royalist patriot. Kamauoha has had legislative experience both under the Monarchy and P G and the record made by him is rather shady. A connection and a henchman of Charlie Achi, the energetic and alleged boss of the Fifth. A lawyer by profession, but I think he is not as capable a man as his opponent, who had former police experience under Kaulukou as sheriff and marshal, on the Koolau side of this island, and this alone should speak volumes in his favor, and I learn that he is sure of his election with both hands down as against that of Kamauoha, who is a blatant ass and an unprincipled being, easily swayed by the tide. Panila is his middle name, meaning "the closing out of the sun" or "the blotting out" of the same, and is perfectly applicable to his character, a blotter out of anything good and sensible, and who besides is adaptable "for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain" wherein his personality may be the gainer, "the public be damned." But not so with Robert, a peer among his own people, staunch and true, reliable and trustworthy, and the coming man for that county, and besides an able native attorney.

Both parties have Sam K Pua for the county clerkship and I deem him a good man for the position. He is a young man, was once a strong Home Ruler and was defeated at the last election as such for senator. But since then, he has become a Republican, as that was the only road, so I am credibly informed, of having his license to practice law renewed by Democrat Edings, the circuit judge of West Hawaii. He either had to or go without a license and not keep on with his law practice, and what was he to do but submit? Yet I believe him to be still a good Home Ruler as of yore and a strenuous fighter from way back. During the first Territorial Legislature he was the assistant clerk of the House. Was mentioned for sheriff of Kohala, although he made application to the High Sheriff, he was ignored after becoming a Republican for another Home Ruler who had become a Republican, now a Home Rule candidate for supervisor in East Hawaii county. If I mistake not, it is my impression that he was born in Kapalama, or may be on Kauai, but became a resident of Hawaii by marriage. Was educated in the Royal School and I think him quite competent to fill the position.

I think the only nominee who has the easiest chance of a sure election is the Republican candidate for attorney, one Maydwell, who I am given to understand is a good beer soak in the Kailua saloon, because he has no opponent on the Home Rule side. He is a malihini I don't know anything at all about nor do I care, but if he is a good attorney, he is entitled to his laurels. Go it (hic), old soak.

Another candidate on whom both parties have joined in nominating is J Kaelemakule for treasurer. A Republican by choice yet a Hawaiian at heart and in sentiment and the confidence reposed in him shows how well he is thought of by the people, and furthermore, he is doing business for himself as a merchant at Kailua, the coming county seat. He is a safe and trustworthy man, but as regards his competency, I am somewhat in doubt, yet he can in time learn his routine. And further, he is a half-white with a native name, and does not know English sufficiently to read, write or speak it. But without it, he is as straight as a die and can be depended upon as to his honesty.

Lincoln Holstein is the Republican candidate for assessor and is a good man, besides being a good attorney as well, the proper position that he ought to have been nominated for. SENATORS PUT ON WATTERSON'S GRILL

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 7:

There is considerable comment here over the charges recently made by Col Henry Watterson, in the Louisville "Courier-Journal," that the reason the Panama Canal bill was allowed to take the place of the House bill, which declared for the Nicaragua Canal was that the Senate was corrupted, bought like sheep in the shambles. There is no doubt in the minds of people here who have been watching the game from start to finish that the charges of Col Watterson are correct. He has the right sow by the ear, but he does not explain the details of how she was caught. The Senators who were prominent in their advocacy of the Panama route were not bought outright. The Panama people had no money to buy anything. If steamboats had been selling for five cents apiece they could not have bought a canoe paddle. They worked their game, however, and they worked it well. I have been informed by a man who is the highest authority and who is way on the inside that the game was to give some of these Senators an option on the bonds of the Panama Canal Company at a very low figure, the bonds having become practically worthless, and then when the deal to sell the Panama Canal to this govenment went through they would realize a splendid profit. It could have been worked in no other way. They could not have agreed to give so much money in cash to the men who engineered the deal, because the money would all have been in the hands of the court after this government paid it over. The court was supposed to pay off certain debts that took precedence over any others, the remainder to go to the holders of the bonds. That's why the bonds were worth so little before the game was worked and worth prospectively so much after the deal was consummated. That's the why and the wherefore of the sudden switch on the canal game in the Senate of the United States. Some men in that body were playing for a stake, and that stake was a bunch of the people's money. Mr Watterson is right, and if he will only dig a little deeper he will find more pay dirt. How do the people like the way the republican Senate plays battledoor and shuttlecock with their money and their rights as to a canal?

It comes to this political nerve center in a pretty straight line from the Ohio hustings, that the republican claims that they will have over one hundred thousand majority in the election to be held in that state in November, is a game of rank bluff. There are unmistakable signs of alarm over there since Hanna was trapped into defending his ship subsidy scheme that would cost the people of this country $10,000,000 a year and benefit solely a shipping trust in the East. In order to make his little gift enterprise apply to the state of Ohio, Hanna used what would, at first blush, appear a cogent argument, to wit, that shipping on the lake and all trade had increased wonderfully in the past few years. With childlike innocence in all matters that do not appertain to his own pocketbook, Hanna forgot that no provision of his ship subsidy scheme related in the slightest degree to the lake vessels. All the conceded development of traffic on these vast inland waterways cost the United States Treasury not one cent. None of the interests engaged in it

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

At the political corner yesterday, Candidate Jack Lucas, in the flurry of speech making, declared himself a Home Ruler. This was immediately taken up with a loud cheer. Later on, Jack withdrew the self-accusation, saying that it was a slip of the tongue, but it was nevertheless a good laugh producer for the time being.

The report of actual war between Japan and Russia seems to have arisen from a warning from the Japanese Consulate to the Nippon Maru to be cautious in proceeding from here to Yokohama. It is a long reach between the ports and as war is likely to occur any day the warning was but natural. The Nippon Maru being an auxiliary cruiser places her in the class of prizes that would be valued greatly by the Russian Bear.

There is great encouragement for the white truck farmer in Hawaii when vegetables raised by Chinese pass through three commission hands before reaching the consumer and are then sold for less than a white man's expense account would figure up on the same deal. As a rule Chinese gardeners sell their truck to large merchants, who, in turn, sell it to smaller merchants or else send it out by runners, all of whom make a profit.

If Frank Pahia ever had any chances of being elected Supervisor on the Republican ticket he queered those chances in his speech at Kalihi camp Wednesday night. Although a Hawaiian he offered at that meeting one of the most vulgar and insane insults to Hawaiians that the mind of an overanxious politician could possibly invent. The fact has spread throughout the native population with the result that Frank Pahia's name is very muchly Mud and he will be elected to stay at home.

We have always held, and still hold, that the memoranda of a Legislature are not a part of its archives under the meaning of the Organic Act. In no State or Territory of the Union is such trash preserved, the place of this worthless and space-taking paper being occupied by proper and business-like warrants. But admitting that these memoranda, or whatever they are, are archives, and that they are burned—who burned them? For an answer one must look to the Republican Legislature of 1903.

The morning press is displaying its usual inconsistency in its tirade against the Legislature regarding the vouchers of the House of Representatives Republican candidates are nightly using the argument in their speeches that a Republican Legislature gave to the people county government. This argument is repeated constantly by the Advertiser. Then, who burnt the vouchers? Could it be a Home Rule Legislature, which did not exist, or a Republican Legislature, which, at the same session, passed the County Act?

One of the greatest surprises to the Republicans in the coming election will be the vote of the Kakaako district, which is divided between the Fifth and Eighth precincts of the Fourth district. All of the natives there are drinking Republican beer and shouting for the Republican ticket; but, at the same time, the Republican following in that quarter amounts to a couple of police officers and a part of the force working under Sam Johnson in the garbage department of the Government. With the exception of two foremen and Billy Roe, the Honolulu Iron Works will vote almost solidly Home Rule. We charge our Republican friends nothing for this information.

It is claimed that one Kimo Palaka (Hawaiian for Jim Pratt) has been found out by the Chinese taxpayers who have votes to cast, and now that he wants all the votes he can get, he having found them out that they intend to throw their weight in favor of the Home Rule candidate, Col. Curtis Piehu Iaukea, he is "straining at a gnat to swallow a camel" in his behalf. From personal observation the outlook seems to be that he is a goner, and if he is willing to take a fool's advice, he may as well, at this time, even, give up the fight. His opponent is too good and popular a man, and, moreover, a courteous gentleman, to be easily defeated by him.

The schooner Julia E. Whalen is another victim of the reef at the Midway Islands. Blame for her grounding, however, must rest with the captain, for not even a steamer would attempt to enter the narrow channel to the harbor at night. The channel is narrow and is bordered by dangerous rocks, and immediately inside, to the left, is a large rock rising almost to the surface of the water at high tide. Inside navigation is difficult on account of submerged obstructions on the south and north sides. In the daytime a sailing vessel, with favorable winds, could make it in safety and secure a good anchorage, but at night the proposition is preposterous. In the present position of the Whalen she will never get off except it be by the mercies of the winds and a generous sea.

The suggestion of the Commercial Record that the new armory be erected on the site of the present one is the best we have yet heard. The property including the present armory and the old barracks was taken by the United States Government at a time when the requirements of the army here were unknown. It has since become clear that a great deal more land than the Government has any use for was at that time acquired. Save for a small matter of convenience, being near mercantile centers, the army has no more use for the drill shed premises than has a cow for two tails—and it never will have. The thing to do is to lay the matter in its true light before President Roosevelt, and it is a ten-to-one shot that the property will be returned to the Territory. As a site for the new armory the one suggested by the Record cannot be improved on. We heartily kokua the proposition.

Another military commission is on its way from Washington to "investigate" a site for army barracks. How long, Oh Lord, how long, will this thing keep up? One commission follows the other to Hawaii, the one to investigate Pearl Harbor and the other to investigate sites for army posts. Report after report has been sent forward until it would take an army wagon to remove them from the Capitol building at Washington. And, yet, there must be some more "investigating." This whole business is a scheme to make the people believe that the administration is doing something and to keep them in good humor until after the Presidential election. If there was any intention of creating an army post here or of improving Pearl Harbor a start would have been made long ago. It is a safe bet for anybody that if Roosevelt should happen to be reelected next year nothing further will be heard of these things until election time draws around again. It is an old Republican trick, but, strange to say, it seems to work. In the meanwhile Hawaii is being made the victim of a wicked campaign expedient.

It is perfectly natural for Englishmen to sympathize with Japan in her pilikia with their old foe, Russia; but Americans have every reason to feel the other way. It is not England's love for Japan but her hatred of Russia that dictates her present attitude. England is not in such position as to come in competition with Japan except in the shipping industry, and that is offset by a large balance of trade. The United States (particularly Hawaii) is brought into competition with the Japanese at every turn. They appear in every branch of labor, at starvation wages, cutting out our own people; their merchants under-sell our merchants because they can live cheaper and are satisfied with less. In everything tackled by the Japanese, the native and the white man is no longer able to make a living. The degrading social influence of Japan is being felt in Honolulu, from the kindergarten to the pulpit. Japanese women are the principals in lewdness, and their men are little better. Already they have pitted their semi-savage religion against Christianity and it is gaining considerable headway. It is well enough for an Englishman to take off his hat and shout for Japan; he is merely a spectator. The Hawaiian and American is an interested party, and would a little prefer that Russia licked the stuffing out of Japan.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

In this paper, I intend to finish up Maui and West Hawaii candidates, leaving the sketches of supervisors for a future paper. As I have not yet touched Kauai, that also must remain for another paper.

Guessing still continues on the identity of your correspondent, Mr Editor. Your Mr Testa is getting the bulk of the credit, if credit it is; but as he is the "whole cheese" with regard to shouldering all the responsibility, I'll let it go at that. But I think his identity will cut no figure with regard to the papers that you have been kind enough to publish by placing your columns at my disposal, it matters not who I am, since all the sketches I've given you are pure untarnished facts.

I am pleased to personally learn from you that my efforts at exposition have been appreciated by readers of THE INDEPENDENT. Still I must caution you to let my identity remain unbeknown, because if known, I will be boycotted and coerced by my Republican friends, yet I'm not one of them nor belong to their camp, but am a member of the opposition and strongly against their rule and ruin policy, they caring not what may happen to this country, my home, other than for party grafts; and further, I am a rank anti-missionarp. These ought to be sufficient to be taken as explanations by your readers, Mr Editor.

Following hereunder are what remains of the Maui Home Rule candidates:

But for auditor, the Home Rulers have pitted L R Crook, a Democrat, clerk of the Circuit Court, against Judge McKay for other side. Crook is a young man and has a record to make before him and I sincerely hope that he'll make it to his own credit and that of his adopted country. As a well-known athlete, he is an all round jolly good fellow and one of the boys. Is of Irish descent, but his name belies his nature. He is a Crook by name only, and that cannot be taken as a criterion against him, for he has not yet been found to be one in that class. From reports made, he'll give the judge a rub for dear life and may likely defeat him in the coming race, as he is fleet of foot.

For surveyor J K Kahookele, a resident of the plantation town of Wailuku, is the coming man for that place. A former republican and a recent flop-over in order to gain a nomination, which he did receive after being bowled over for one Howell, whom I have since learned got the Hana road board into trouble in connection with some road matter. Is a surveyor by profession and has carried it on satisfactorily for many years in that burgh. Being a native of the soil, he ought to win with both hands down over his haole opponent.

Here follows the balance of my sketches on the West Hawaii county candidates of both parties:

On behalf of the Republicans, J K Nahale, the present deputy sheriff of North Kona, is their man for auditor. The choice is a better one than the Home Rulers, a man of some experience, mainly in official life. Represented the Konas in former Legislatures under the Monarchy and during the P G regime. Is a man of some standing among his people. Apart from being a staunch Republican, he is a friend indeed to all wayfarers of his kind appearing at his threshold. It is said of him that when the Home Rulers nominated Makahslupa for sheriff, he declined to make a stab for the same position in his party convention, because he knew that he could not very well oppose the other, blood being thicker than water. He is one of those alleged henchmen of Senator W C Achi and generally puts up with him when in the city. But aside from it, he is a man to be depended upon, tried and true, and is as slippery a politician as the eels growing in our coral strands.

Nahale's Home Rule opponent is one D Alawa, who is a peach as far as I know him A man who has no knowledge of English and don't know the first thing about accounts. I first knew him a long while ago as a native school teacher on Lanai, a psalm singer and so forth. How they came to pick him out for such a responsible position is something I am at a loss to make out. He is no more fit for the place than a jackass, and that is not much of a disparity. His opponent is a much better man than him in every way.

The one for surveyor-to be is D K Namauu. I know him personally, but I do not professionally, and therefore, I cannot speak with any knowledge as to his capacity. Where I knew him, it was in this city, then he was a dependent of our Charlie Achi, if I mistake not, and is an exceptionally bright young man. But those who saw fit to nominate him know his qualities and the responsibility rest upon them for the choice. He must be all right, for the Republicans have endorsed him too.

ask any share in Mr Hanna's generosity with the money of the people that he intends to give to the eastern shipbuilding trust. The farmers of Ohio have been asking questions about this matter and have begun to do some thinking for themselves. In consequence thereof the republican leaders have requested Mr Hanna to either revise his subsidy argument or else shut it off the boards during the remainder of the campaign. The outlook for defeating Hanna for the Senatorship is growing better every day, and altogether things are not as lovely for the republicans in Ohio as they could wish.

Stevenson at Poker.

When the late William Ernest Henley was editing London, he had no one on his staff of writers whom he valued so highly as Robert Louis Stevenson, who prepared for him the briliant series of stories that are now called "The New Arabian Nights." It is related that one night they sat down to play a game of poker. The luck from the start was with Henley. He won pot after pot. Stevenson was lucky if in any deal he got a pair of treys. Disgusted, at last, with the turn the cards had taken, he threw up his arms and apostrophized fortune in this quaint way: "Fortune, you fickle wench, it is true that you can make me lose, but you can never make me pay!" —Argonaut.

BOODLERS HAVE COURT PROTECTION.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 7:

Up to date there have been twenty-eight persons indicted by various grand juries for complicity in the frauds and peculations in the Post Office Department, but not one has, so far, been brought to trial, and the chances are not one of the indicted will be so vigorously prosecuted as he deserves or be convicted in the end. The distinguished politician who presides over the Post Office Department seems to think that his mill has ground exceeding fine, and that he has a fine mass of rotten mill stuff to present to the people of the country as the result of the labors of his inspectors. He is now congratulating himself and the country that the end has been reached and that the official reports will soon be forthcoming; at least they will soon be in the hands of the President, who will give them to the public if he sees fit to do so, and if he does not the people can go to ——, and there you are. As I said above, not one man has been brought to trial, and if the United States Courts keep up the record they are making none of them will ever be brought to trial or convicted after they are brought to the bar of justice. Beavers is fighting like a Turk over in New York to keep from being tried, and the court is helping him. It not only has postponed his trial several times at the instigation of his counsel, but it has summoned the United States District Attorney to come in and show cause why he should not besentenced for contempt of court for refusing some plea set up by Beavers. The courts seem to be fighting for the accused grafters, and if things keep on as they now are going not one of the gang of thieves will be convicted. The republicans here are congratulating themselves and one another that the end of the investigation is in sight and that the attention of the country will soon be taken off their misdeeds by the assembling of Congress. The end of the investigation is in sight because they want it to and not because there is not plenty more things to investigate if they wanted to. They have only scraped the surface in the Post Office Department. They have not touched the bureau where mail contracts are made with railroads for carrying the mails.

There is a perfect mine of rottenness to be unearthed in those contracts if they would go after them, but they will not do so. They are sick and tired of the whole business and are anxious to hush it up as soon as possible. If there is a Congressional investigation next winter look out for snags in the bureau. For notwithstanding the fact that a republican investigation is very much like a man looking for something nasty in the dark—looking for it but hoping he will not find it—the democrats are going to dig for keeps.

One spellbinder, whom Chairman Dick hoped to have on the stump over in Ohio has flatly refused to take part in the campaign for the re-election of Hanna. Delegate Rodey, of New Mexico, says he was shocked by the action of Hanna on the floor of the Senate last January when he repudiated the republican platform promise to the territories, and that he cannot conscientiously take part in his re-election. If that were the only platform promise the republican party has ever repudiat-

SATURDAY, OCT. 24, 1908.

HON R. W. WILCOX.

In the death of Hon. Robert W. Wilcox the Hawaiian people have lost one of their greatest leaders and best friends. Indeed, he gave his life for his people and was a martyr to their cause. Like all human beings, he made mistakes; but his acts of patriotism, of heroism and of those things that exemplify the good citizen outweigh any errors that may have marked his career. The Home Rule party has lost the sinew of its inspiration—the one man whose commands to follow were invariably obeyed. The city and country have lost a citizen who, though still comparatively young, exerted, perhaps, a greater influence over more people than any man in the Islands.

Early in his career, Mr. Wilcox started out in his labors for the people of his race. He began by teaching the young in the schools. Next, he sought a wider and better education in order that he might be of more value to his country. The decision of the Hawaiian Government to send a number of young people abroad to be educated gave Mr. Wilcox the opportunity he so much desired, and he went to Italy. After several years of study there he graduated with honors as a civil engineer and had won a commission in the Italian army. Returning to Hawaii he entered actively into the services of his countrymen, doing those things that he conceived to be for their best interests. These things, however, are of recent occurrence and are well remembered.

Even the most bitter political opponent of Mr. Wilcox must admit his firm adherence to his principles. His aggressiveness in following out his ideas was well known, and it frequently led him into close places. He was not, however, a man to avoid difficulties at the expense of principle, even though his course led to the clash of arms and the spilling of blood. He had the courage of a Napoleon, with much of the dash and soldierly qualifications of that great leader, but without the opportunity for putting his qualifications to an extensive test. In the political arena he was without a peer. He possessed a kind of personal magnetism that drew the Hawaiian to his standard and held him there. He never stopped a moment in the ranks; he was a leader from the first and always.

Mr. Wilcox's home life was pathetic, particularly in his later years. His devotion to his family is a matter of public notoriety. Perhaps no man in the world ever loved his children more than he. Just before he died the children were remonstrated with for talking near the bedside. "Let them talk," he said; "I like to hear the voices of my children." In his rides about the city and trips abroad he almost invariably took them with him. He was their companion, and they all in all to him. With the last drop of the curtain on his life, as the mantle of sorrow falls upon his family and friends, the public cannot do otherwise than feel the profoundest sympathy for the bereaved wife and the children whom he loved so well.

MAY NOMINATE AGAIN.

The Advertiser of this morning contains the following statement:

With the death of Mr. Wilcox there is but one candidate left in the field for County Sheriff. The Home Rule party is barred from making another nomination, according to an advertisement, published by Registrar Buckland, etc.

Such is by no means the case. Should the Home Rulers care to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Wilcox they will have up to 5 o'clock on Monday, November 2, in which to do so. The law on the point is very plain, it not only providing for the filling of vacancies at any time but prescribing that in case the ballot has already been printed the voter may write in the name of the new nominee. Section 28, of the election rules and regulations, contains this provision, which fully covers the case:

"* * * Provided, however, That in case of the withdrawal or death of a candidate, a new nomination or nominations to replace the name of the person who has died or withdrawn may be made, irrespective of such limit of time, with the inspectors of election of the district in which such death or withdrawal has taken place, and the fee herein required deposited with them.

"In such case a voter while voting, may write the name of any such new candidate upon the ballot and vote for it as herein provided."

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

One of the funniest things of the week is the statement of James A. Kennedy, president of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, that he does not know whether the steamer Kauai, which slipped out of port night before last, went to the French Frigate Shoals to wreck the bark Connetable de Richmont or not. If he does not know, who does? He sent her out, and every mile of her journey will be made under his orders. Kennedy is up to his old tricks.

John H. Wise, the new Home Rule candidate, selected to succeed the late Hon. R. W. Wilcox on the ticket for the office of County Sheriff, will undoubtedly make a hard fight for the place. His popularity has never been conclusively tested and the political weather-cocks will have to be tested before any conclusion can be reached as to his strength. If he can hold the Wilcox men together he will doubtless be able, together with a peculiar following of his own, to land on both feet.

The Independent has not and never will admit that the House vouchers were burned until it sees the ashes, duly authenticated. The question we wish to put is: If the vouchers were burned, who burned them—a Republican Legislature which did exist or a Home Rule Legislature which did not exist? There is little use for the Advertiser to try to squirm out of the straight proposition. If the Republicans gave to the people the County Act they also burned the vouchers, if any vouchers were burned.

As the law plainly prescribes for the filling of a vacancy on the ticket in case of the death or withdrawal of any candidate up to the very day of election, it seems to us that the name of the new candidate should be admitted to the regular ballot at any time before it is printed. The clause of Section 28 of the election rules, which are made a part of the County Act by Section 78 of that law, providing for writing in the name of the new candidate plainly refers to cases in which the nomination has been made after the ballots have been printed. There is no law shutting out the final and actual nominee of a party from the official ballot, and in the absence of any such law common sense should govern.

John H. Wise appeared before the electoral registrar this morning and wanted his name to go on the official ballot as a candidate for sheriff in place of the late R. W. Wilcox. While the legality of Wise's nomination was not questioned, the registrar thought the name of Mr. Wise could not be put on the ballot inasmuch as Mr. Wilcox's name appeared on the list at the closing of the time for filing nomination papers. Attorney General Andrews, off-hand, held the same view, but Governor Dole believed that there was still time, and recited in support of his opinion the case of Hocking vs. Gulick, Eight Hawaiian, 602, which was signed by Judd, Bickerton and Dole. After the discussion Attorney General Andrews took the matter under consideration and will report on Monday. Should Wise's name not be admitted to the official ballot it will be necessary for each voter, desiring to vote for him, to write his name in the ballot.

John Wise for Sheriff.

The Home Rule central committee held a meeting this morning and nominated John H. Wise to take the place of the late Robert W. Wilcox on the ticket for County Sheriff. There were three nominees—Wise, J. P. Makainai and Charles Notley. Notley withdrew and in the balloting Wise won the nomination by a vote of 29 to 17, one ballot being thrown out. Before the election Wise and Makainai both made speeches, outlining their policies in event of success at the polls in November. Mr. Wise's nomination will be forthwith filed with the inspectors of election.

The remainder of the meeting was taken up with eulogies on the life, character and work of Mr. Wilcox.

Paralysis

is sometimes caused by overwork, either mental or physical. There are many other exciting causes, such as exposure to cold, excesses, emotional influences, etc. The approach of the disease is generally gradual. Frequently the first warning is a vague feeling of headache, vertigo and muscular weakness.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

restore the nutrition of the nerves and have cured many cases of paralysis when all other remedies and methods of treatment have failed. The record of this remedy entitles it to a thorough trial.

Perhaps there is no man better known in the city of Lawrence, Kansas, than Mr. G. H. Snyder. To a reporter Mr. Snyder related a wonderful story. He said:

"I am now seventy years of age. About three years ago I experienced a coldness or numbness in the feet, then creeping up my legs until it reached my body. I grew very thin in flesh, my appetite was very poor and I did not relish my food. At last I became so bad I was unable to move about. I consulted several distinguished physicians, one telling me that I had locomotor ataxia, another that I had creeping paralysis. I took their medicines but they did me no good and I continued to grow worse.

"One day a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I immediately commenced their use, throwing all other medicines away. Before I had finished my first box I found that they were benefiting me. I used twelve boxes in all and was perfectly cured."
—From the Journal, Lawrence, Kan.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

DEATH OF THE HOME RULE LEADER

Hon. Robert W. Wilcox died at his home on the slopes of Punchbowl about 10:30 last evening. During the day and evening he had had six hemorrhages, the last one resulting fatally. At his bedside at the time were his wife and two small children. Dr. Walters had attended the patient during the evening but had left before the last and fatal hemorrhage came on.

The fact that Mr. Wilcox was very ill during the day had been communicated to special friends of the family, but none thought that his condition was so serious as it turned out. After death friends were again communicated with and began to flock to the place.

This morning arrangements were partially made for the funeral. It will take place a week from tomorrow (Sunday) in the afternoon, the hour to be set later. In the meanwhile arrangements will be made to have the body in state somewhere. This may be at the Palace in view of the fact that deceased was a Congressional delegate.

Mr. Wilcox was born on Maui, February 15, 1855, and was, therefore a little more than 48 years of age. Wm. S. Wilcox, his father, who is still alive at the age of 87, was a native of Rhode Island and his mother was Kalua Makoleokalani, a descendant of one of the Maui chiefs. He taught in the public schools until 1880, when he was elected to the Legislature. Subsequently he went to Italy and studied there until 1887, when he was recalled by the Government. He led the revolutions of 1889 and 1895. At the first election under the Organic Act he was elected Delegate to Congress for the unexpired term and for the succeeding session, defeating Colonel Sam Parker and Prince David. Last year he was defeated for the same office by Prince Cupid and this year accepted the nomination for sheriff to run against A. M. Brown.

Deceased contracted a severe cold while in Washington, which settled on his lungs and he has been a very sick man ever since. This combined with other physical ills gradually drew him down. Some months ago Mr. Wilcox communicated to his friends the belief that he would not live long.

ed, that party would still be entitled to the distinguished consideration of the people, but the platform promise concerning the territories is only one little venial sin compared to the mountain of iniquity justly chargeable to the republican party. The republican national platform not only promised statehood to the territories and then went back on the promise, but it also promised reciprocity not only with Cuba, but with other countries. The reciprocity treaties negotiated by McKinley have never been ratified. And yet the protective duties of the Dingley bill were purposely placed so high that the concession made to foreign countries under the treaties negotiated would still leave ample protection for the trusts. But the trusts demanded all the swag that the tariff bill gave them, and their influence with the republican Congress was sufficient to prevent the ratification of the reciprocity treaties. The promise in the republican platform to favor legislation that would prevent monopolies "to limit production or to control prices," has not been redeemed and never will be until the republican party and its present leaders are retired from business, for the trusts and monopolies furnish their bread of life—campaign funds. The promises of the republican platform to labor have not been redeemed. The republican platform declared, "we are in favor of a more effective restriction of the immigration of cheap labor from foreign countries." That this promise has been bept is plain to every man on earth from the fact that the present immigration exceeds that of any other year in the history of the country. It is quite unnecessary to go on piling up instances of republican platform promises repudiated. The above are amply sufficient to show that the republican platform are like those of the passenger coach, made to go in on and not to stand on. Redeemed republican platform promises are the exception and not the rule. Republican promises are made only to fool the people. How much longer will the people be fooled?

PUERTO RICO IS GROWING COTTON.

San Juan, P R, Sept 30—At last the cotton industry of Puerto Rico, after a lapse of forty years, seems to have again been firmly established, and the attention of the world has been drawn to this year's crop as something of a criterion for the near future. The first bale has been shipped, and several thousand more will go North in October and November.

A gin has recently been put in operation at Aguadilla, and this week eight gins, with a capacity of twenty-four bales a day, will be in operation on the Marina, the business water front of San Juan.

Two companies are now regularly interested in ginning cotton here, the one which works in San Juan being incorporated under the laws of Puerto Rico and having furnished the seeds after two years' experiments on a large scale, for this year's crop. This concerned is composed of men who have had a long experience with sea island cotton, most of them having come from the sea island belt, where the finest grade of sea island cotton is grown. It has in its employ a practical "ginner" of more than forty years' experience in that particular branch of the industry, and a "classer" whose duty it will be to grade the cotton on which the prices will be based, while another expert connected with the industry is a cotton merchant of many years' experience in handling the fleecy staple.

It is the purpose of the company to buy all the sea island cotton grown on the island that may be offered, paying for the same according to its grade. The company in its gin nery will separate the cotton fibre from the seed and bale the same ready for shipment to market, each bale containing about four hundred pounds.

The San Juan ginnery is perceiving cotton from Humacao, Bayamon, Arecibo, Guayama, Aguadilla and other parts of the island. Of ten thousand acres planted, about one-half has given good results as to size of crops and quality of fibre. Of course, the ignorance of many planters had its result, but they will profit by their experience and soon correct many mistakes.

The San Juan ginnery consists of eight gins, with floor space for the addition of others as may be needed an automatic press for bailing the cotton and a complete electric power system for operating the machinery. There are also six large bins for storing the grades of cotton.

Acting Governor Harizell has written to the Secretary of Agriculture requesting government co-operation by the free distribution of the best available sea island seed and the Secretary's reply is awaitied with interest.

The Acting Governor has also received from a firm of Liverpool and Manchester cotton brokers reports as to the growth of sea island cotton this year in the British West Indies and the announcement that 20,000 acres will be planted in the West Indian colonies next year. The firm concludes by saying:—"There is a great future before this fine stapled West Indian cotton if properly looked after."

If the legislative Assembly, which meets in January next, legally arranges for long, low priced rentals of public lands suitable for cotton growing it is safe to predict that there will be from 25,000 to 50,000 acres of cotton under cultivation within two years.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

When the news of the death of Mr. Wilcox reached Lahaina by wireless on Saturday morning no one would believe it. Even H. P. Baldwin admitted that the story was a Republican hoax. The incident shows the lack of confidence people of the other islands have in reports sent out by the Republicans at the capital.

With all respect to W. T. Rawlins, The Independent denies that it ever remarked that he was too young in years for the office of county attorney. Mr. Rawlins is old enough. The trouble is that he is notoriously a sapling, and will remain one. What is wanted in the important office of county attorney is a man of experience and force, and Mr. Rawlins is not that man.

We note with regret that the Hilo Tribune has come out in support of L. A. Andrews for sheriff. Just what it expects from the proposition would puzzle a second edition of Tom Fitch. The Tribune has heretofore borne the reputation of being a paper working for the interests of Hilo and East Hawaii, but in hob-nobbing with one of the greatest enemies of that section it will speedily lose that reputation.

General Gillespie, with a flourish of trumpets, announces that he will recommend to Congress an appropriation of $500,000 for fortifications at Honolulu. General Gillespie recommended the same thing last year, and what became of the recommendation? Honolulu, as a rule, is long suffering; but she is getting deucedly tired of this monkey business on the part of the administration at Washington.

Before voting for James W. Pratt for county assessor we would like to know a little more about those swords and other Government souvenirs that disappeared a few years ago while in his charge and were subsequently located in the custody of his family on the mainland. A man running for a responsible public position should be able to account for stolen property passing through his hands, should he not?

Curator W. T. Brigham of the Bishop Museum may be a very able and learned curator—doubtless he is—but it was a maxim of the late Lloyd Tevis of California that there is no man whose place cannot be filled, and the time is now rottenly ripe when Curator Brigham should either be incontinently fired out of the Bishop Museum, or preserved in formalin and packed away with the other curios of the institution.—Maui News.

A petition is being circulated on Maui for the reappointment of Judge J. W. Kalua to his present position. The terms of all the judges will run out next June. As for Kalua, we have nothing special to say. He has managed to keep out of the Iao saloon lately and has won the favor of Brother Robertson, of the Maui News, which compose two strong points in his favor. But, really, a man not quite so completely a henchman of Dole would please us a little better as judge of the Maui circuit.

The grand jury returned an adverse report on the morals of Maui policemen. The gentlemen of the jury evidently touched the matter with kid gloves. Rottenness in the police systems of the Islands is most apparent on Hawaii, and Maui is a close second. If a grand jury would inquire a little further into the doings of some of the officers at Wailuku and Lahaina they would be fit subjects for the coroner or their olfactories would prove equal to almost any emergency.

The preposterous and absurd sympathy of the United States for Japan in her trouble with Russia is already—as was to be expected—being officially recognized at St. Petersburg, and may lead to a senseless straining of relations between the two countries, even should war over Manchuria not come about. From indications one is naturally led to suspect that Roosevelt is again trying to get the horses in the middle of the stream, in order that popular sentiment may be against a policy of swapping there next year. Ain't it?

The retention of Prof. W. T. Brigham in office as curator of the Bishop Musuem illustrates the danger of giving public institutions into the hands of trusts, or trustees. It is safe to say that were Mrs. Bishop, the noble founder of the institution, alive, she would have fired Brigham bodily at the time he offered insult to Mrs. Nakuina and other Hawaiian ladies some years ago. In the hands of a board of trustees, however, the interests and wishes of the community are not respected for the reason that the curator is able to stand in with a sufficient number of men on the board to feather his cushion.

The signs of the times indicate that if Japan and Russia go to war the United States cannot keep out of the rumpus. In the event of such a conclusion, where will we, in Hawaii, get off? It is a clear proposition that in any contest between the United States and a first-class foreign power these islands, being a most important strategical center and one of the most exposed points of the American nation, will be the first object of attack. What has the Government done in the way of defenses for the Islands? How does it purpose to protect them? We suppose that when the idea is again suggested at Washington another commission will be sent down to "investigate".

Leading Home Rulers claim that their party is solid for John Wise for the office of county sheriff. If that be so, the new nominee is as good as elected. Wise will certainly draw 300 haole votes. That is a rough estimate, but in our opinion it is conservative and not above the correct mark. These added to the vote of the Home Rule party will land Wise over the line with ballots to spare. There has been an immense reaction in the Brown campaign in the past week, and the influence of that reaction has been felt most among the haoles. It is being more prominently felt of late that Brown has been next to the Government tit quite long enough and some other citizen should about this year of our lord be given a show.

Sam Johnson, the industrious Republican of the Fourth District, is not devoting all of his time to the garbage department of the Government. A part of his business is taking care of the booze accounts of the men working under him. Edward Devauschelle, one of his employes, owns a beer saloon near the junction of South and Queen streets. Johnson's men trade there on account, payable at the end of the month. On pay days Johnson deducts from the wages of each man the amount of the money due to Devauschelle—at so much per deduction. During the month of September Devauschelle took in something like $400 in this way. There is a law against holding out the wages of Government employes in this way, and it might be brought properly to bear in this case Corner Stone Laid.

The corner stone of the new Odd Fellows' building on Fort street near King was formally laid with imposing ceremonies yesterday afternoon. Nearly all of the fraternal lodges of Honolulu took part. The various orders met at Elk's hall, corner of Beretania and Miller streets, from which the start was made. J. Lando officiated as grand marshal. The procession moved down Miller to Hotel, to Richards, to King, to Fort and thence to the site of the building.

The stone was laid by the Noble Grand, L. Petrie, who also delivered the opening address. W. O. Smith delivered the principal address. Judge M. M. Files of the daily papers, records of Excelsior Lodge and other matter pertaining to the same were enclosed in the copper box that went into the stone.

Ashford appeared and argued the case for Mr. Wise. When he was through Mr. Andrews admitted the correctness of the claim and forthwith instructed Registrar Buckland that the name of Mr. Wise should go on the official ballot.

America May Take Hand.

Washington, Oct 16—The most important plans of campaign prepared by the general board of the navy since its organization are being perfected with reference to the prospect of war between Russia and Japan over Manchuria and Korea.

Not only do they provide for the conduct of the American fleet on the Asiatic station in the event of such conflict, but they go to the extreme of contemplating the contingency that the United States, on account of its material interests in Manchuria, may be drawn into hostilities in the Far East.

In preparation of these plans the President and the State Department have been consulted and the conclusions of the general board have the approval of the administration. It is evident from what has been determined that the President and his advisers are willing to go to extremes in maintaining the right to trade freely with Manchuria, secured under the new commercial treaty between the United States and China.

TUESDAY, OCT. 27, 1903.

THE LATE JUDGE ESTEE.

In the death of Judge Morris M. Estee, Hawaii loses one of its most honorable officials and the United States one of its best citizens. When the sad news came from the Johnson sanitarium this morning and spread through the city there was universal expression of the deepest regret. Officials and citizens, high and low, felt the same keen sense of loss, and the expressions were of the same reverent kind.

Although only three years in Hawaii Judge Estee had won the confidence and esteem of everyone. He had no enemies. His course on the bench was ever such as to draw out the admiration of even those with whom he felt called upon to deal harshly. "He could not do a wrong if he tried" is an expression that has been used of him thousands of times in Honolulu, and it invariably met with ready and general assent. His lofty sence of honor and justice did not manifest itself alone on the bench. In his private life, in his association and dealing with his fellow-men, he was the soul of integrity and a man no one could help loving.

Judge Estee's place in the hearts of the people of this community can never be filled, and it will be hard to duplicate him and his work on the bench.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

As a token of respect to the memory of the late Judge M. M. Estee all the courts were closed today and flags over the city were set at half mast. Even vessels in the harbor lowered their flags out of respect to the dead jurist.

A State funeral for the late Hon. R. W. Wilcox would be perfectly in keeping with past custom. Deceased held the highest and most honorable position in the gift of the Hawaiian people. In the past men holding positions of less responsibility and importance have been given State funerals and we see no reason for setting a new precedent now.

The remaining days of this week will show some of the hardest kind of campaign work. All of the candidates will be on the move and all the outside timber of value will be brought into play. While it is true that the positions available are not of great importance, the issues involved in the campaign are extraordinary and warrant the fight that will be made. The Home Rulers, if they would check boss rule and ensure the protection of the people's rights, will go in to win.

If war should come and Japan be forced to meet her foe in Siberia, or even in Manchuria, in the Winter, the Russian Bear will not be able to get a good breakfast out of the affair. In any event Russia's game would almost certainly be to entice the Mikado's armies into Siberia. If beaten there Japan's cause would be a hopeless one, for before the army could be reorganized and some sort of financial program devised, Russia's heel would be upon the neck of the little empire.

We are getting more "snowy slopes" in our tourist advertisements, and one begins to wonder the why and wherefore. Is it possible that these important announcements are being sent to press without reading and correcting by the writer? If so a big and unnecessary risk has been taken. With two magazines making an egregrious blunder of this sort, other mistakes, are to be expected. Although a little more time will be consumed in the process, all tourist literature should be properly corrected here before being sent out.

Five hundred letters sent out from Chattanooga by the Hon. Frank M. Thompson, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, asking for views of prominent Democrats as to the presidential probability and the platform, have been replied to, and the preferences expressed for a candidate are divided as follows: Three hundred and twenty favor Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York; 155 are for Bryan, 12 for Gorman, 9 for Cleveland, 2 for Hill, and the rest scattering. A decided division on the platform is indicated in the replies.—Nashville Daily News.

In stating that Captain Sam Johnson deducted from the wages of the men employed under him to pay their beer bills at Edward Devauchelle's saloon in Magoonville, The Independent was being stated. It is a matter of common notoriety that a compact between Johnson and Devauhcelle exists, so that the latter's monthly accounts with the employes of the garbage department of the Government are thoroughly protected. It is a small matter, however, and we have no desire to exploit it further; and will dismiss it with the denial of Captain Johnson, elsewhere published.

Certain Republicans are forever harping on the generosity of the administration at Washington in consenting to accept Hawaiian bonds as security up to ninety per cent. As a matter of fact the Secretary of the Treasury is doing no more for Hawaii than he is doing for the other States and Territories. State bonds and even municipal and railroad bonds are being accepted right and left in the same way; and there is nothing in the law, that we know of, to prevent the Secretary accepting sugar plantation bonds in a similar manner. The Republican administration has extended no special favor to Hawaii. It merely carried out a small matter of routine in the law.

The fight between Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, and Senator Mark Hanna will be one of the hottest ever waged in the hot political State of Ohio. If Johnson is elected Governor he will probably carry with him to victory enough Democratic legislators to control the next Legislature of that State. If he does this, Hanna will be succeeded in the Senate by a Democrat. So Hanna is fighting for his political life. He will find, however, in his contest with Johnson that his opponent is a strong, virile, courageous and resourceful man and not an aged, broken, feeble statesman like the lamented Sherman, whose seat in the Senate he usurped.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Denies Advertiser Canard.

ED. THE INDEPENDENT:

This morning's "Advertiser" again attacks me by saying that I drew the color-line in my speech last night at Kakaako, which statement, like all its other attacks upon me, I denounce as false.

Mr Henry Vida, who was present and who must have been the one to make this false accusation against me to the Advertiser, should learn Hawaiian before he attempts to interpret into English and should furthermore learn not to lose his temper and use language unbecoming a gentleman.

I leave it to the public to judge between Mr Henry Vida and myself.

Respectfully yours,
J. H. BOYD.

Honolulu, October 27, 1903.

Captain Johnson Denies.

ED. THE INDEPENDENT:

The statement made in your Monday's issue, that I was deducting from the wages of each man under me the amount of money due to Edward Devauschelle for his saloon bills, is absolutely without foundation, as I have never deducted from the pay of any of the men under me one cent on account of their private debts, and I am surprised that you should publish a canard like this, even if differing from me in politics.

Yours truly,
CAPT SAMUEL JOHNSON.

The Leaving of Some of Our Prominent Countrymen.

By AHUIMAIA.

Your correspondent took a short trip to Maui last Friday by the Mauna Loa and returned Sunday morning by the Maui with Treasurer Kepoikai. When leaving by the Mauna Loa, it reminded me of this native song:

Ke laweia la ka'u aloha,
E ka hope kaiue o Mauna Loa,— Kikala nui;
I mai oe ia'u he aloha kou,
He aloha wale no i ko lehelehe,—
Hopuipuni;
I ike mua au o kau hana ia,
Haaleleia oe i ke alanui,—
Mea hilahila;

* * * *

E kuhi ana au he oiaio,
Ko leo nahenahe ke pane mai,— Hoomalimali;

* * * *

A hala ia la kupilikii,
A na'u no ia e hauluni aku,—
Wela e ka hao.

Many of the above stanzas are fitted to the present day love of our haole friends who have no use for Hawaiians even to this day. I remember overhearing E M Boyd, then on the P C A staff and now the clerk of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, saying loudly, on the night of the last election, when the returns were coming in and the election of a Republican majority assured, on the sidewalk near the Union Grill.—"And now the damn kanakas, we've got 'em and we'll show 'em where we want 'em." Such is one example of how their love appear false, only a surface love for graft and not skin deep. No doubt these alleged friends in sheeps'clothing are ravening wolves when out in the open and shown in their own light and true colors.

During the dozen or more hours I was on Maui, I learned enough to my own satisfaction that the Home Rulers were sure of carrying a majority of the county officers. But it is doubtful whether Dave Kahauelio will be elected over Dave Morton, for Home Rulers gave me to understand that they would rather vote for Dave Morton than for the make-face henchman of Achi, an out and out Republican rather than a turncoat one for office, who, moreover, is utterly unfit to be county clerk For myself, I'd rather see the two "Horsfalls" defeated. Both are n. g.

On Kauai, the Republicans have somewhat of an easy go. For instance, Jack Coney for sheriff is supported by both parties, showing conclusively that the people there are satisfied with him, being himself the present sheriff of the island. Is part-Hawaiian, married to a white woman, and during his official existence there, he has endeared himself to the people.

The only other office that there is any opposition on is the county attorney J D Willard, an unknown quantity as far as I am concerned, is the Republican candidate. May the best man win, is all I can say for either of them, although I know Kaeo well enough from boyhood, having hailed from Kamoiiili way, only becoming a resident of Kauai for the sake of his profession. He comes of the same school as Col Isukea, Oily Bill, your Testa, Jimmy Boyd and others

Of the others, there are no opponents, and therefore, they have an easy time of it. They are C A Rice for assessor, J K Farley for auditor, J A Palmer for treasurer and one Edward Palmer, a malihini to me, for clerk. As they have a clean walk-over (shoes) without any opposition whatever, there's no need of my giving any of them away, yet I know a few of them anyway. They are entitled to their easily gained glory.

Where the Home Rulers are making a show of fighting is in the board of supervisors. The Republicans have four haoles to one kanaka as candidates, and they are George H Fairchild, manage of Kealia plantation, Francis Gay, of the ranching firm of Gay & Robinson, W H Rice of Lihue, a missionary progeny, M A Rego, a business man of Koloa, and G W Mahikoa of Kilauea. All are good men as far as I know them, and will no doubt do right when elected.

But the Home Rulers have pitted against these all Hawaiians with only one exception, and that is in the case of Gay, whom they have endorsed out of the Republican bunch including Mahikoa. The others are R Pauki, a legislator of 1901, J B K Leleiwi, a parson, and J K Apolo. If the Home Rulers should control the board, the rest of the officers will be mere tools in their hands, for none can do anything worth anything without the consent and approval of the board. Therefore, such a control means a big thing. And I say—go it, boys!

Judge Estee Passes Away.

Judge Estee passed away at 8:55 o'clock this morning at Miss Johnson's sanitarium, after a night of hopeless battling with death. With him at the time were Mrs Estee, Miss Ryan, Marshal Hendry, District Attorney Breckons and others.

The body was embalmed and will be taken to San Francisco in the Alameda, sailing tomorrow. Funeral services will be held in the Masonic Temple at 9:30, immediately after which the body will be escorted to the steamer by the Masons.

The deceased jurist was 68 years of age.

Captain Jacobsen Dead.

Captain Jacabsen, for many years master of the bark C D Bryant, died suddenly yesterday afternoon of heart failure. Since he left the Bryant he has maintained a boat house near the marine railway. Late yesterday he went into a neighboring store to buy some sigars. While there he complained of feeling ill and asked the privilege of lying down. A moment later he expired. Captain Jacobsen was a native of Denmark but had spent most of his time in the United States and on American ships.

DEAD, BUT YET ALIVE.

It is reported of the only Brown on the Republican ticket that he referred to his late opponent Wilcox, at various places where meetings were held and speeches made, in manner as follows: "What is the use of your voting for a man who is very sick with one foot in the grave, and the other foot trailing after it?" That "one foot in the grave" came true, prior to which "she" was daily seen in his office. What was she doing there?—may we ask. It may be answered that it was none of our business; but it looked suspicious anyway.

Brown may now be happy that Wilcox is at last dead and that he would have plain sailing and an easy walkover, but we are of the opinion that he has just as sturdy an opponent in Jno. H. Wise, and, if not, more so since Wilcox's death. Home Rulers claim that the spirit of the dead leader is hovering over his party and his substitute, one he had thought that if elected he would make his deputy. Wise's chances are even better, in our view as to the outlook, than were Wilcox's, in that one of the chief objections to the latter's candidacy was the frequency of visits to and intimacy displayed between his better half and his opponent, has been removed by his death in the midst of strife, and therefore, those who thought that way are now free to vote for Wise in opposition to Brown. And may election day show such to be the case.

Another man who may be happy in the resurrection of his prediction is "Boss" Achi of the Fifth, who is reported to have made an open declaration in front of the Home Rule headquarters that he would pay $500 to any kahuna who would pray Wilcox to death. We know, of course, that these were only the words of a peevish braggart, probably too insignificant to be noticed, but death having since ensued to his heart's content, it is likely that he may follow as a fitting sequel to his realized wish. Anger and lack of influence may have been the cause for these cruel remarks, but the "wrath to come" may yet deal harshly with those who would want to deal harshly with others.

Home Rulers, including Wilcox himself, answered these remarks by saying that he was not yet destined to die. But "death came as a thief in the night" and took his life in flight unexpectedly. Knowing himself to be weak in health, he made his fight bravely and manfully to the end, boastfully claiming that his death was not near and that his end was yet afar off. But the Maker of all mankind thought otherwise. It was not his will nor ours, but "Thy will be done." Wilcox's opponents are evidently happy that he has been forever removed out of his sphere of influence, but there will yet arise another to take up the cudgels where he laid them and renew the fight where he left off.

Now we come to the show of sympathy made by the Republicans. It was not sincere and only a vote-catching expedient. All of it was only surface show and not skin deep, and the voters know (trust them for that) how to treat with them at the ballot box. The tide is turning against them and the results will surely show on election day.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

So John Gandall has converted a native named Friday to the politics of the Republican party. There always did hover about the name of "Friday" a superstition, foreboding all kinds of ill-luck. May it not be possible that this man Friday will prove the Jonah in the Republican ship?

The two noted political barometers, Titus Sheard and Lou Payn, have been figuring on the chances of Mr. Roosevelt in New York next year and they are about 92,000 votes apart. Splitting the difference, Mr. Roosevelt would lose the electorate vote of his home State by some 46,000.

At the Peninsula last night, Candidate Harry Murray alluded to the dead leader as if his dead body was yet in the political hubbub. We don't want "dead" issues, but rather the "live" ones that are pertinent to the welfare of this county. In our opinion, it is better to "let the dead bury the dead" and look to the interest of the many instead.

We understand that Chinese put up the poi, fish and other edibles for the Republican luau at the Peninsula last night, and that the provender was served by the Ewa police. How's that? With the Chinamen and police working hand in hand in Ewa is it any small wonder that gambling is open, opium-selling is unconcealed and crime is frequent there?

Paddy Ryan's "gold brick" fighter, Joe Millett, seems not to have been such a gold brick, after all. His career here somewhat startled the know-it-alls, and the fierce battle and great victory in Oakland last night has probably put the local knockers of Millett on the anxious seat. Millett is the coming light-heavyweight champion of the world, and the next two years will show it.

The Iroquois should be in no danger at Midway Islands if her commanding officer understands his business. Safe anchorage can be had inside the reef in ordinary weather. In face of a gale, however, the scheme of any sea captain would be to put to sea, and the speed of the Iroquois would ensure her safe exit in time. Storm stories centered about the Midway Islands are greatly exaggerated anyway. They come on like storms in any other part of the world, giving ample warning of their approach.

The demonstration in honor of the memory of the late Judge Estee this morning was the response of the entire community and betokened the sympathy and sorrow of the community as a whole. Politics did not figure in it; race prejudice (if any exists) was laid aside and the populace as a unit did honor to one of the greatest Americans that ever lived in Hawaii. Native and white marched together in the solemn procession to the steamer, paying the same tribute of affection expressed by acts, feeling the same grief and realizing the same loss sustained. It was a grand benediction to the life of a man—a benediction in which every race, sect, creed, political faith, men, women and children were united as one person.

Henchman John Lane said last night down at the Peninsula meeting, assisted by a luau feed and a beer-drinking bout, that Home Rulers showed a lack of sympathy for Wilcox by holding a monster meeting at the same place last Saturday, whereas the Republicans called all their meetings off for that night. Good reason why they called them off, they can't draw the crowd and the enthusiasm without beer and feed. Last night's crowd was about one-half of the previous night's crowd, and that without beer or feed, nothing but plain enthusiasm. The tide of popular feeling is turning and nothing can stem it, not even the words of Hardicanute of old can stop it, when he ordered the sea to "thus far shalt thou go and no farther," and it washed his feet and touched the hem of his garment without in the least heeding him. Mr. Lane should by this time learn an example.

The Advertiser and Star have come out in opposition to a State funeral for the late Hon. R. W. Wilcox on the plea that he was not, at the time of his death, a Government official. In other words, the two papers mentioned, which are the spokesmen of the missionary party are, politically, fighting a corpse and insulting the memory and good name of a dead man. Suppose Wilcox had devoted his life to the interests of the missionary party, holding, however, only the important position of Delegate to Congress—what would have been the attitude of the Advertiser and Star in respect to his funeral? They would have raised heaven and earth to have had it on a most elaborate scale from the Palace, accompanied by all the ceremony and honors within their power to muster up. The difference in the case is that Mr. Wilcox opposed the missionary party and worked instead for the best interests of the people at large.

Judge Estee's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Judge Morris M Estee took place from Central Union church at 9:30 o'clock this morning. During the hour and a half of the ceremonies all business in the city was suspended. The big church was filled to overflowing with grief-stricken friends of the deceased jurist and perhaps a thousand stood in the street, unable to obtain pews in the church.

The funeral was under the auspices of Hawaiian Lodge No 21, Masons. Promptly at 9:30 the procession moved from the Masonic Temple, up Alakea street to Beretania and thence to the church. At its head was the Hawaiian band, followed by a platoon of police in full dress. Next came the different Masonic organizations and lodges of Odd Fellows, orders to which Judge Estee belonged in California. The hearse was followed by members of the Bar Association and these in turn by judges of the different Territorial courts.

At the corner of Alakea and Beretania streets two companies of United States artillery and the First Regiment, N G H, were drawn up, under command of Colonel Jones, the troops standing at present arms as the procession passed. Rev Wm M Kincaid conducted the services at the church, after which the procession reformed and proceeded to the steamship Alameda upon which the remains were sent to San Francisco.

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA:

Over a week ago Sammy Kamakaia, the former Band tooter and republican rooter for pelf and now the Home Rule prophet of the Kekipi pursuasion, had the good horse-radish sense of withdrawing from the fight as a candidate in the Fourth in favor of Clarence Ashford, a Democrat who lately returned to the country after being exiled from it for connection with the 1895 uproar. I now think that the Prophet is a wise man of a wise school and religion, and all honor to him for being so unselfish as to give way to wiser counsels and sober thought. Hip, hip, hooray for Sam!

There was Dave Notley to have been called off for much better and stronger man, but that is now out of the question, in order that those corporation controlled Republican candidates of the Fourth may be defeated, providing they can be easily snowed under and forever downed. It was thought that another Democrat might likely have been found to accommodate and help Home Rulers out of a dilemma. But I feel perfectly sorry that my friend McCarthy withdrew out of the fight. Still I believed that there were others, for he's not the only pebble on the beach. But that is now all out, as Notley, the Mormon convert and one who knows too much for his own good, will have to stand and be voted down by those he is opposing, or else, win.

I notice that Charley Booth, of Pauoa water springe fame and taro planter, has a very comical allusion to the love of the Republicans for Hawaiians. It is this:

He aloha Kauwiki, ukeuke,
Ka puka o ko hale, aukeuke, etc.

This is an old indecent song, somewhat senseless to others than our native people, but the first line is sufficient to convey the idea to the Hawaiian mind. When literally translated, it runs something like this:

Love to Kauwiki, slam-bang,
The door of your house, slam-bang.

As soon as he repeats it, it is soon taken up with much laughter and a cheer generally follows.

In East Hawaii, the Home Rule candidates for supervisors, are: C R Blacow is not known to me personally only by reputation, a resident of some twenty odd years of Hamakua and popular with the people. I understand he is a republican, but has received a Home Rule nomination and they put faith in his fairness coupled with his fitness.

T Kanamu Lslakea is a foremost real estate manipulator and a good man.

Eugene H Lyman, a son of R A Lyman, is a staunch Home Ruler, being president of the main party club there and is in busidess for himself. He is a sturdy son of the soil and one to be depended on.

R H Makekau, a Home Rule representative in the first Territorial Legislature, who became a Republican at the last campaign and was defeated as an independent candidate for senator. His somersaults are too recent for me to dilate much upon. A former Sunday school expounder of Lahaina, his home, and has engrafted himself on the good nature of Hawaii by marriage, and is at present deputy sheriff for Kohala.

J Palau of Hakalau is a native of the old school, straightforward, reliable and dependable. He is comfortably situated and has the confidence of his people. I think him to be a good man for the place and they could not have picked out a better.

On Maui, the Home Rulers have as candidates for supervisors some good men. The most popular of the quintette is one Benny Lyons, a Democrat and a saloon keeper of the plantation town of Wailuku, whom President McKinley appointed as postmaster for that burgh over other applicants. I believe he is a relative of Treasurer Kepoikai and he is responsible, so I understood, for his being so appointed under a Republican administration, because he is a Hawaiian and made a good record for himself, resigning the office later to go into the saloon business. It is reported that his election is assured.

Another young Democrat is Billy Cornwell Jr, a son of the well known Colonel and Duke of Waikapu. He is a vacquerro and a baseball enthusiast, and therefore, is deemed one of the boys, being born on the island.

C Louis Kookoo is the head and front of the Home Rule party in that district, a staunch royalist in the royalist stronghold of Wailuku, and a sturdy man for his party, who is not afraid to air his convictions over his political opponents.

The others are G P Kauimakaole, of Hana, and J K Hihio, of Kaanapali, one of the many political parsons. Both were members of the first Territorial Legislature, who made somewhat cloudy records. They may as well have been left out to stay at home, but the people did not see fit to do so. They are men who have been tired and both found wanting, both of whom were defeated at the last election to remain at home, the former to his law practice, being one of those made country lawyers by Judge Humphreys, and the latter to his parsonage and taro patches. Both are easy and pliable tools, and they need to be watched.

Millett Defeats Wenig.

Joe Millett last night defeated Al Wenig at Oakland in two rounds. The news was conveyed to Joe Cohen here by cable early in the evening. Considerable Honolulu money was up on the event. Wenig is a man with a big record in the East and Millett's victory means other important battles for the young Californian.

Bad Ballots Bad.

Attorney-Genral Andrews has rendered the following opinion in regard to imperfectly marked ballots:

"In response to your oral request for an opinion on the rejection of ballots at the County Election, where said ballots shall be marked for more than the requisite number of candidates, running for any one office, I would state that Section 77 of the Rules and Regulations for holding elections requires that.

'If more nominees are voted for on a ballot than there are offices to be filled or if a ballot in any other way be contrary to the provisions thereof, then such ballot and all it contains must be rejected.'

"This regulation, which is in force, by special act, in the County Election, is clear and distinct. It does not provide that the vote for the particular office shall be rejected, but that the entire ballot shall be thrown out, including, of course, all nominees on said ballot, no matter for what office they are being voted. Therefore, any ballot imperfectly marked, for any office, is void and must be rejected as a whole."

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

A report is current relative to Candidate Iaukea, that he has advised his Waialua friends to vote for him alone and then to do the same for the rest on the Republican ticket. This is hard to believe, yet where there is smoke, there must be fire smouldering. Should it be found to be true, what do the Home Rulers intend doing with him?

The Board of Health is to be congratulated on securing the services of Dr. H. C. Sloggett as superintendent of the Insane Asylum. Dr. Sloggett is a man of splendid education and attainments, and has always taken a special interest in hospital work. His return from Shanghai to assume his new duties will be welcomed by his numerous friends in Honolulu.

It should not be forgotten that Curtis Iaukea publicly confessed that his record was so bad that mortal hands could not make it clean. No man of that class is wanted in the Tax Collectorship. Hawaii has had too many of the sort already.—Advertiser.

It should also not be forgotten that certain very valuable swords and other property of the Royal family disappeared while in charge of the Republican candidate for assessor, J. W. Pratt.

George F. Renton, candidate on the Republican ticket for Supervisor-at-Large, represents but two elements in the business, political and social affairs of these Islands. They are the planting and the coolie interests. He is in no sense in touch with the masses and, if elected, would plainly be, on the Board of Supervisors, a mere tool of the plantation agencies. Are the voters of Oahu in favor of such a man to represent them in an important office.

Tax Assessor Pratt is said to be still using his clerks as spies in the county campaign. They are sent out to political meetings, public and private, and required to report the happenings at headquarters. Besides that, it is stated on good authority, these spies are made to shadow persons believed to be in opposition to Pratt and to report their meanderings and doings. That is politics up to the handle, eh? And it is accomplished by over-working the employes of the bureau.

Representative John Gandall, of Kauai, is doing excellent work for the Home Rule party. His nightly speeches range all the way from forty-five minutes to an hour and more in length. Audiences are getting on to the alleged "silver tongued" and when he gets up to speak those in the front row yawn and sink into slumber, while those fortunate enough to be in "skipable" positions take a sneak and a car at the next corner for home. Gandall's all right.

Republican newspapers are taking desperate chances in fighting labor unions merely because Roosevelt is the enemy of the unions and W. R. Hearst their friend. "The worm may turn" is an expression as true as it is old, and God help the party upon which the laboring men of the United States turn! In this matter the Republican press is duplicating the example of the beast that turns and madly bites its own flesh. Hearst, the great friend of the common people, will, in all probability, receive Hawaii's support in the next Democratic convention despite the boosts Senator Gorman is receiving from the local Republican newspapers.

We have to admit that our correspondent, Ahuimaia, knew what he was talking about when he treated our readers on the subject of "Woman Suffrage" over a week ago. Arthur Brown is really popular with the gentler sex, and, in support of this, we personally noticed an incident in this wise: Just prior to going down the road Tuesday evening, about half a dozen or more flower women pounced upon him and decorated him heavily with leis. What more is there to be said regarding such a popularity and, of surety, he had to dig. Further evidences were noticed down at the Peninsula, and of that we need never say further and give him away.

Former Judge Mahaulu, a deputy assessor for Waialua, is a strenuous Republican worker. Was formerly a Republican, but was kicked out when he became a Home Ruler, losing his judgeship in the bargain, and went back again into his former fold because his princely friend had become one. When it came to giving him a position, in his present situation, his Republican friends did not want him, but had it not been for the aid given him by certain influential parties, he would not be where he is today. We fail to find out wherein he finds much comfort in his place now, which is likely to be short lived, yet he banks his faith upon his chief to come out successful, although it seems doubtful in the end.

The reaction in the past ten days has produced a great change in the political situation. Many men who have closely followed politics in the past years admit that Sheriff Brown will probably be beaten by John Wise. Renton and Lucas, on the ticket for Supervisors-at-Large, are almost certain to be snowed under, while Robinson has merely a fighting chance. It is believed that both Gilman and Hocking will be beaten in the Fourth District by C. W. Ashford, leaving David Notley with a good chance of winning. The Home Rulers will almost certainly land both men in the Fifth. The best opinions agree that Pratt will be beaten for Assessor, and it will be by white votes. Next Tuesday will tell the whole story.

John Gandall dilated much upon the name his native mother gave him, that of Kamanu (the bird). But, pray, what bird was meant? He said that from the feathers of birds many beautiful things have been made, but it is also said that it's "a foul bird that spoils its own nest." But we think his mother must have mistaken his fraternal surname to be that of a gander, a male bird of the goose species, and named him "the bird" after such a fowl. Who knows? He didn't tell his native auditors how the name was derived. And who cares! But, poor old man, John is being used by those here to further their own ends, and, although old, he is yet sturdy, lusty and strong. There's heaps of good yet in that old and gaunt body.

The morning press is already out with a slate for the Federal judgeship, and mentions Governor Dole, Henry E. Highton and General A. S. Hartwell (together with the three dead horses, we suppose) as desirable names. We believe that, as far as possible, local men should be called upon to fill local offices; but in the important office of Federal judge there should be a man absolutely a stranger to Hawaiian politics, and independent of and apart from its family compacts. It was that very thing that brought Judge Estee so close to the people at large. Governor Dole and Judge Hartwell in no way fill the bill. No more objectionable men on the face of the earth could possibly be suggested. Highton is a renegade politician and has but recently bowed the suppliant knee to the golden calf of Central Union church. Deliver us from all of these and give us a stranger!

To substantiate our remarks relative to the boycott and coercion now being used by Republicans, we have another for Sam Johnson, the "boss" of the Fourth. Quite a few of the scavengers have rooms in a house belonging to Rep. Jonah Kumalae, and the report is that they have been told to remove from there or else get out of work. And the same method is employed with the beer saloon in the same building; they must not patronize that, but must go to a leased saloon of two employees under him—E. Devauschelle and Chas. Costa. These Russianized methods cannot work here long, for we do not believe in being exiled to another Siberia for differences in political opinion. But Mr. Johnson informed us the other day that these same people come and tell him these things without being thereto urged. Pela paha?

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By Ahuimaia.

After breaking down their narrow bulwarks at this campaign of making those who want to become candidates under their monstrous banner take an oath, the Home Rulers took to taking available material from the Democrats. Charley Notley, the evil genius, was the first one to break away by resigning and Democrat Harvey put in his place as a candidate nominated by them, not endorsed, and since then they have taken another Democrat. I deem the Democrats better material than turncoats, who are in the fight only for office, and not because of admiration for those they have allied themselves with at this time.

In this class is Clarence W Ashford, a pronounced Democrat, who came to this country about twenty odd years ago. In order to get out a license to practice law here, if I mistake not, he was the first one granted letters of denization by King Kalakaua through the kindly offices of the late W M Gibson, the then Minister of Foreign Affairs. Not being here long enough and a British subject, he could not be naturalized, but denizenship overcame that obstacle.

This same Clarence is a Canadian by birth, and therefore, a British subject for safety and convenience, when it suits his purpose to be so; an American since by choice and assimilation and a Hawaiian for business, chaff and pleasure. Not being satisfied and was eager to hold office, he opposed those that befriended him. As a member of the Honolulu Rifles, under the leadership of his brother Volney Vaillancourt, they were made much of by the missionaries, and after using them, threw them overboard. It was the Ashford brothers that made the revolution of June 30, 1887, possible, and C W got into power as Attorney General with Thurston as Minister of the Interior, Jona. Austin as Foreign Affairs and Damon as Finance under the wave of the Reform movement. In the Legislature of 1900, controlled by the National Reform party, the brothers in iniquity (Thurston and Ashford) had a falling out and their cabinet was bowled over. "When rogues fall out honest men get their dues."

I remember seeing Clarence on that memorable day in the Rifles armory, on Beretania street, near Punchbowl, now used as a stble, mount the platform in his uniform as a private, with a rifle in one hand and standing on the American flag, make an inflammatory and incendiary speech. That was then, but now, it is an almost forgotten history. Your Mr Testa was then editor of the "Elele," a native newspaper, and I recollect his being taken up by W A Kinney, to the table set apart for the press, amidst the jeers, hisses and cheers of the assembled crowd of revolutionists.

Since then this same Clarence has changed base and front and got jailed in 1895 for complicity in the unsuccessful revolution that made Charlie Carter the first victim. In order to save himself, he accepted deportation and only returned here last year about. Now he claims to be an enemy of the missionaries to the death and a friend to his former native foes and I half heartedly believe him to be so, for now he has no earthly love for Thurston, his former bosom friend, and that ilk. Still, with all his faults, I deem him a much better man than either of his Republican antagonists, and I hope to see him win out next Tuesday.

If I mistake not, some one infatuated with Akepoka had this song composed:

Mai poina oe ia'u,
E ka'u mea e li'a nei, &c.

When translated, these two lines of the chorus run as follows:

Don't you forget me,
The one I'm aching for.

I am somewhat familiar with the composer, but I think she is of different mind now, for she was forgotten for many years, the remembrance being illegetimate. May be it has been renewed, but I doubt it, for "sonny" is now on tab.

Another sweet one and a beautiful specimen of the missionary progeny is W H Rice of Kauai, a Republican candidate for supervisor. In that successful bloodless revolution of 1887, the fruit of which was the "bayonet" Constitution of July 7th following, he was one of those who wanted to hang old man Gibson without trial in the A Frank Cooke building, corner of Nuuanu and Queen streets, now used as a feed store. He rode about on his broncho as a vaequerro with lariat and frightened the late Mrs Hayselden with his appearance, a pistol belt girded about his hips, a knife in one boot with pistols also on his saddle pommel while searching for the old man, her father. Later he was made governor of his home island by Queen Liliuokalani, if I mistake not, for fawning upon her on her first royal progress there after ascending the throne.

And these are some of the kind of men who are craving for preferment from the natives. Akepoka has been soured by the missionaries and will no doubt make a good fighter against them and in favor of the people of the land. But of Wili Lsiki, he is sour on the people, even of those on Kauai, who have no use for him, because he is unfriendly to them.

A Frosty Meeting.

There was a surprisingly small attendance upon the Republican mass meeting held in the Orpheum theater last evening and even those there seemed to lack lack interest or enthusiasm. A G M Robertson and John C Lane made fairly good campaign speeches. John Gandall so tired the audience that only the chief "rooters" remained to hear him out.

Home Rulers will have a rally at the Orpheum Saturday evening.

John Gandall, styled by Chairman Andrews last night as the silver tongued orator of Kauai and the grand old man of Hawaii, was so confoundedly long-winded last night that many of the whites, including women, left the hall, because they could not understand his speech, being in native. His silvery oration was emphatically clear, but was like himself, long and gaunt. In comparing the candidates on both sides, he forgot the surveyors. But what surprised us greatly was the way the whites clapped when natives clapped, for these same whites did not understand him one bit and yet they knew all about the humor, the pathos, and so forth, in what he said.

But Jakie Lucas, the joker and the funny man, spoke last and almost to empty seats. He nearly used his high flown Irish brogue when abusing C W Ashford, a much better man than him any day as far as knowledge is concerned. We are afraid that if Ashford was to let loose on him, Jack will also find his tongue loosened so that he wont know where and when to stop.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

What object could the Chinese of Ewa have had in putting up the money for the Republican luau at the Peninsula this week? Seriously, there is something rotten in this business. Chinese are not the people to throw away several hundreds of dollars unless they see something for it. Are the Chinese of Ewa and the police in league, with High Sheriff Brown sanctioning the transaction?

The special high celebration of the Holy Eucharist at St. Andrew's Cathedral at 9:30 Sunday morning will give all a chance to contribute to the important mission work being done by Bishop Willis in Tonga. The work there is worthy of the heartiest support, and it is to be hoped that all communicants and friends interested in it will attend and will liberally subscribe to the object in view.

The statement of George R. Carter to the New York Commercial that the English of Hawaii are yielding more readily to the American ideals than are the Germans should prove interesting to our Teutonic friends. We do not care to debate the question—but what in the dickens has it to do with the million dollar loan, which Carter was sent east to arrange? It does seem that Carter's work since he left has composed a series of silly blunders. He and Prof. Brigham are becoming a fine pair to draw to.

George R. Carter denies positively that he has received a cablegram from Washington summoning him back again to the national capital. There is, however, reason to believe that Governor Dole will be appointed by President Roosevelt to succeed the late Judge M. M. Estee on the bench of the Federal Court and that Mr. Carter will be appointed to succeed him as Governor. Whether this will necessitate a trip of the Territorial Secretary to Washington will remain for the cable to answer within the next few days.

The appointment of Governor Dole to be judge of the United States Court here will be variously received. Certain it is, however, that the change will be a kind of irony on the history made by Judge Estee. Mr. Dole, while personally a pure and good man, is the king-pin of a nefarious political faction, and he has in the past shown himself to be wholly unable to dismember his prejudices from his acts in the discharge of public duties. President Roosevelt is making another mistake, for which Hawaii must suffer. Another blessing (?) of annexation.

The corporation candidates for Supervisors of Oahu County are M. P. Robinson, George F. Renton, J. A. Gilman, A. Hocking and S. C. Dwight—five in number. All are tied up to monopolistic interests in such way that they cannot exercise the commonest prerogatives of an independent official. Are such men to be elected to office and given the power to vote everything to their greedy combinations and to crush down the reasonable and just demands of the people? We think not, and believe the people will vote a big NO to them on Tuesday next.

It appears that High Sheriff Brown is not the only official that is taxing his hard-worked and ill-paid employes for funds for Republican campaign expenses. Tax Collector Pratt, although having fewer clerks under him, is running him a close second. Last month Pratt assessed each man in his employ as much as he thought the clerk could stand and meet his outside bills. The sums varied according to the salaries paid. Tomorrow the clerks will be on the anxious seat as to how much the strenuous candidate for Assessor will dock them for campaign expenses.

The Maui grand jury strained at a gnat and swallowed two policemen. As a matter of fact, it went half way into the rottenness of the police system of Maui, and went out of its way to prefer serious charges against a political opponent of most of its members on almost the eve of election. The jury affected to be zealous, scored several grand-stand plays, and then retired under a record notable only for the liberal use of the whitewash brush in certain localities. Judge Kalua outdid Dickens when he remarked, at the close of the proceedings, that the members of the jury might be called at some other term and would be able to profit by the experience gained at this one.

The run on the banks at St. Louis shows that the financial panic has broken away from Wall Street and has struck into the country. Next we will hear of failures and disaster in all of the big cities. This condition is but the natural outcome of Republican policy, a policy that breeds trusts and enriches a few at the expense of the many. During the Harrison administration it shaped the crash that came in 1893, and although the country has had the saving qualities of a successful war and one of the most remarkably successful agricultural seasons in its history, its strength since 1896 has been sapped by the mighty trusts and it now stands upon the brink of ruin. Only a change of administration and policy at Washington can save it.

A Democrat that will be a Democrat for thirty-nine years and then turn against his party is a very poor Democrat. We can understand how a voter of any party may be swerved aside in local politics by personal knowledge of certain candidates, but when a man deliberately deserts his party in national affairs and goes over to the enemy he is a renegade, and it is impossible for any political party to trust him. Such a man might be a Democrat or a Republican at any change of the moon. There is too much of that sort of thing already here, and it is certainly not wanted in the office vacated by the late Judge Estee. Judge Estee was a Republican, pure, simple and above board. He carried no white feathers in his wardrobe. His successor, be he Republican or Democrat, should be equally true to national party principles.

The uneasiness created in Washington and in European capitals by the sensational story of war between Russia and Japan, which was cabled from here on October 23, shows what harm a little carelessness on the part of local correspondents to outside press agencies may accomplish. The absurd rumor originated from a perfectly proper warning on the part of a secretary of the Japanese Consulate to an officer of the steamship Nippon Maru. The canard was wired to San Francisco and from there flashed to the four corners of the earth. It was only when a flat-footed denial was sent out from the Japanese legation at London that the public mind resumed its equilibrium on the war question. Care, and the greatest sort of care, should be exercised by foreign correspondents in wiring out rumors, particularly when they relate to important matters away from here. If the thing is persisted in Honolulu's veracity in news matters will soon recede to the scale of China and Bulgaria.

MAUI GRAND JURY ENDS ITS SESSION.

Clerk of Court Seriously Charged and Suspended---Two Police Officers Suspended.

The Maui Grand Jury ended a very stormy session yesterday, during which there were tilts with the court, the police department was severely criticized and numerous irregularities in the road and other systems were pointed out. George H Cummins, Captain of police, and Clement Crowell, member of the Wailuku police force, were found guilty of gross immorality and were suspended for thirty days. L R Crook, clerk of Judge Kalua's court was charged with gross irregularities and was suspended, pending an investigation by the Auditor into his accounts.

On Wednesday morning the Jury demanded more time of the court, saying it had not finished its investigations, particularly in the office of the court itself. Next day the jury made a return of the cases entrusted to it together with a report of its special committee on nuisances and improvements required on the island. The report concluded as follows:

"The Grand Jury has spent considerable time in investigating the books and accounts of the Clerk of this Court. We have found everything in a most unsatisfactory state, and as your Honor charged us yesterday, we would request that the Court direct and order the Auditor of the Government to examine all the records and accounts of the office under suspicion according to law. We also recommend that the Clerk of the Court be suspended from all official duties, until such time as the books and accounts are found to be in order.

"This Grand Jury would respectfully call the Court's attention to the fact that in past terms the Grand Juries have met, made reports, recommendations, etc, etc, which have been entirely ignored. If this is going to be continued, it is useless for the Government to go to the expense of having a Grand Jury to investigate public matters.

"The thing, as it is at present, is nothing more or less than a complete farce!

"Just who is to blame for these things, we do not know, but we would ask this Honorable Court to have it brought to the attention of the proper officials, and as far as possible have the recommendations of the Grand Juries carried out.

"The Grand Jury would call your Honor's attention to the fact that the jurors and other creditors of the Court for the December, 1902 and June 1903 terms, have not been paid until the present time. We questioned the Treasurer of the Territory in regard to this matter, and he informed us that the money had been available since last July, but from neglect or otherwise on the part of the Clerk of the Court, the vouchers have not been sent to Honolulu in the proper shape

"During the last week some of the jurors of these terms, that is December and June, have been paid, others have not, and just why the clerk of the court has seen fit to make this distinction, we do not know,

"We are informed that there are bills owing at Lahaina to people in business there. Those things are not as they ought to be, and brings discredit upon the Government and Court.

"We have received a letter from Mrs Anna Gertz, of Honolulu, making complaint and charges against Deputy Attorney General Magoon, but as we do not think that the matters are within our jurisdiction we have let the thing pass.

"There has been a complaint made to us about the collection of garbage around the streets of Wailuku. We would recommend that the Road Department have two prisoners detailed daily to attend to this work."

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD.

By AHUIMAIA.

I had about almost forgotten to give short sketches of the supervisor candidates for the West Hawaii county brought about by the present political turmoil. Politics are surely warming up, because time is near at hand to decide which side shall win the contest for supremacy. All I hope is—may the best win, and then "to the victors belong the spoils."

On the part of the Republicans, they have some very good men in their crew, as for instance, Frank Woods, a Democrat and owner of the Kahua Ranch in Kohala. The party of his people should have nominated him, but they ignored him for poorer material. Being a popular young man and a son-in-law of his maternal uncle, I wish him all success in his first political venture, hoping him to make a better mark than his brother has done in the Senate.

Robert Hind, a son of the late Robert R Hind, is also a Kohala rancher of some prominence, who recently had to buy out his brother-in-law in order to control the whole pot pie. It was his money that made the ranch, but Eben Low's were the brains that brought to it success. His father was a staunch royalist during his day and when he saw his cause lost, he deserted those who had stood with him breaking away from obligations that he had at one time helped to create. His son may follow in his path, or he wouldn't be a son of his father and after his heart.

John Maguire is another successful rancher, formerly of Kohala, but now of North Kona. He's a good man and him alone of the bunch have the Home Rulers endorsed. A former legislator, not over-brilliant, but a careful and saving man, energetic and just.

George C Hewitt, manager of Naalehu plantation, is another good man as far as sugar is concerned and is one of those corporation controlled men. He is married to a native woman of good bearing and address and of fairly good education. I don't know him personally, but I believe him to be like all other plantation managers, arrogant, selfish and autocratic.

The last and not the least of them all is one S Lazaro, a former deputy sheriff of South Kona. He's another, no doubt, of the many friends and relatives of Charlie Achi, and who knows but that he is another henchman subject to his will and purpose.

But on the side of the Home Rulers are all Hawaiians, one of whom, J K Kekaula, has since withdrawn from the contest. In such a case, the only independent candidate in any of the counties for the place may likely be voted instead. This one is none other than Z Paakiki, a former magistrate and a resident of Waimea. Because he failed in getting a nomination, he put himself forward as an independent. Has a limited cavity for capability, yet he is like his name—hard.

Then there's J W Kelikoa, a former legislator of 1901, an Achi henchman, a turn over and so forth. Was a Home Ruler first and at the last election a Republican and was defeated. A man of no force of character and a lawyer that cannot be depended upon.

And there's J H K Keawehaku, the one sent by the Government to study Chinese in China, but when he came back, he was of no use as an interpreter to his country, his knowledge of English being nil. And the other is D W Pae (Nahea) hardly known to me, but I think his stock is no better than the others.

On the whole, they are no patch alongside of their opponents, men of superior intelligence. Their candles will snicker out in no time against their more luminous foes. Yet they are the best the people can put forward as men of intelligence.

DOLE AND CARTER.

The appointment of Governor Dole to be Federal judge, succeeding the late M. M. Estee, and the appointment of George R. Carter to be Governor in his stead was not a surprise to any persons who have carefully followed the trend of events in the past several months. Mr. Carter had made a hard fight for his office and has at the same time kept before the President the importance of taking care of his political father. Governor Dole, in the event of anything else of value being turned out of the political grist mill. As we have pointed out before, Mr. Carter's visit to the east in September and October was ostensibly to arrange for the sale of the Hawaiian bonds, but was, in reality, to cinch the Governorship for himself and to feather the nest of Governor Dole. Developments have proved that.

But that is past and gone. How will the appointments be received by the people at large? Neither Dole nor Carter were appointed by the will of the people. Their appointments were the result, purely and solely, of a pull with one man, the President. Had the offices been elective it is safe to say that neither of the gentlemen would for a moment have been considered by either political party in the Islands. The Republican party would not have dared place Mr. Dole in nomination for the district judgeship, and Mr. Carter would surely have been dropped like a hot potato at the outset. Mr. Roosevelt has, however, set aside the popular will and has taken the burden [illegible] for the appointment of unfit and undesirable officers. He has, in other words, defied the voters of this Territory; hurled into their faces a couple of men in whom the electorate has not confidence. The fact cannot but affect politics and should be a striking object lesson to persons now having in mind the support of the Republican ticket next Tuesday. When one man, who happens to have attended the same school with the head of the Republican party, can subvert the popular will by mere dint of that school-day friendship, it is about time for the voter to look around for something more substantial to stand on.

Mr. Dole will doubtless be an able judge. But he is the tool of a political clique and always has been. He is guided by missionary influence as completely as is a fish by its tail and fins. He has never displayed a mind of his own. He has ever been a machine, operated by back-stairs mentors. In the court he would doubtless deal fairly in cases not striking one way or the other on the pockets of his friends. Dole, however, will make a better Federal judge than Governor.

Carter is an over-charged blunderbuss. No one knows when he may go off or in which direction. Had he been a nominee for the office of Governor he would not have received enough votes to fill a small boy's eye. His "pull," though, has overridden the popular will, for which the voters of Hawaii have to thank President Roosevelt and the Republican party—the party that asks for votes for men of the same breed next Tuesday. We hope that Mr. Carter means what he says when he invites the good will and cooperation of the people. It is all up to him, however, as to whether he will get it or not. Had we the chance to whisper in his ear a moment we would tell him that the native Hawaiians and the whites of this Territory want government for all the people, a chance for all and special privileges for none. A platform of that sort will win for him in time confidence and esteem; but if he accepts the Dole policy as his guide he will keep alive the present feeling that he is not the man for the place.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

This country is no Siberia to be Russianized through boycotting and coercing its people to do things against their will.

If Captain Sam Johnson is not standing good for the liquor bills of his men at the saloon of Edward Devauschelle, why is it that the money with which they are paid off passed through Devauschelle's hands this morning, from which he deducted their bills for the month of October? Take your time, Captain, in explaining.

Thomas Rawlins, father of the Republican candidate for county attorney, has for years boasted that he was not an American citizen and would not become one. He has damned the Americans in and out of season. How does that meet the fancies of those spread-eagle Republicans who are backing the "chip off the old block?"

Superintendent H. E. Cooper, rival candidate of George R. Carter for the office of Governor, has resigned. While it was to be expected that Mr. Carter would be left at liberty to choose his own lieutenants upon taking office, Mr. Cooper's resignation was a surprise to those familiar with his habit of clinging to good things. All we have to say is "Pooh, pooh—bah"!

We understand that the Home Rulers will tonight adopt a resolution making recommendations to President Roosevelt in regard to the Governorship. The fact that George R. Carter has already been appointed will be ignored. It cannot be expected that the recommendation will have any effect other than to show the administration at Washington that the people are not in favor of Carter. But that will be something.

The appointment of Carter to be Governor, against the wishes of the people, should draw out a general and hearty rebuke at the polls next Tuesday. Not a man on the Republican ticket should be elected. The overthrow of the Republican ticket on Oahu will show to Roosevelt and the Republican party on the mainland that the people want a little to say in the selection of their officials.

Oh, come off now, Col. Iaukea knows all the "rudiments of collection and assessment" just as well, if not, better than Mr. Pratt. There's nothing complicated in that line of business anyway and with such a man as Iaukea at the helm there could be no trouble. And further, there's no need of teaching Iaukea what to do; his experience is of the best. But any other opponent, one "would have to learn the very rudiments" pertaining to the office, and didn't Pratt have to do the same thing?

Besides those swords and other Royal trinkets left in the custody of Tax Assessor Pratt, "not to return again", there is a story about a fine clock belonging to the Hawaiian government that would fill another chapter. But we will let that go. Pratt, however, seems to have a weakness for pretty things that do not belong to him. From all accounts he is something like the fellow charged with cattle stealing. He explained that he found and gathered up a rope, and a darned fool cow at the other end of it followed him home.

The appointment of George R. Carter to be Governor over the head of Delegate Kuhio was a discourtesy, or worse, on the part of President Roosevelt. It was established this morning that the President did not so much as ask the opinion of Hawaii's representative in regard to the matter, but made the appointment purely on the score of Carter's personal coquetry and his ability to play football. After such an insult Prince Kuhio should resign and return home. He should then run again on an anti-Carter platform. His election would be sure, and it would afford a rebuke to Roosevelt of the proper kind.

What is demanded in the office of county attorney is a man of ability and experience—no matter what his politics are. It is brains, not political faith, that will count. Edgar Caypless was practicing law before young Rawlins was born. He is licensed to practice in several States and Territories and has already had the advantage of having been an attorney for the county of Arapahoe, which includes the great city of Denver, in Colorado. Edgar Caypless is a competent and experienced man. Rawlins is a kid, a sapling, no more fitted for the responsibilities of the office to which he aspires than any other high school boy.

Representative Kumalae has been accused and blamed for giving information to The Independent against Capt. Johnson's Russianized methods of boycott and coercion. The Independent does not know Mr. Kumalae in the matter, nor does it care. To accuse one who was once Mr. Johnson's friend, through whose kindly offices and efforts he had his salary raised to $200 a month for being boss of the Garbage department, quite an unjust salary as against others who receive the same and file bonds of $10,000, is to show ungratefulness of the lowest, the meanest and the worst kind. Better trump up another one upon whom accusation may fall.

We expected another denial from Capt. Johnson, since he stamped a recent statement by The Independent as false. If the first one was wrong, how about the last one? We are waiting for him to repeat the accusation, for we still have some more up our sleeves. If he is courting an investigation, as implied by him in his denial, we are perfectly willing to undertake it after election. Should the Republicans win, we will not force the issue, for there can be no justice from such a crew; but if the Home Rulers are victorious, then it's a go with us, and we will venture to prove every assertion made by us against him and his strenuous politics. How will that do? Is it accepted?

An opportunity will be afforded tomorrow morning at St. Andrew's Cathedral to show appreciation towards Bishop Willis' work in Tonga, particularly the Hawaiian people. Together with them should be included the old boys of Iolani College as well as all the old pupils of the English Mission schools. The idea is to forward him some token as a Christmas offering, which is about the time that he will receive it, and is being done by friends here, unknown and unsolicited for by him, yet he will no doubt appreciate the sentiment that it will convey—that he is not forgotten, but is being still remembered by those to whom he had ministered for over a generation, be it whatever it may. Let all those of us who may and are willing to throw in their mite towards furthering the mission of the Anglican church in that far off land, whose people are of a kindred race and are living in the "same pond" with us here in Hawaii nei.

Rheumatism

is a disease of the blood. Local applications may furnish temporary relief, but to CURE the disease it is necessary to treat it through the blood.

Locomotor Ataxia is a disease of the nerves. The one successful method of treatment is by a remedy that will restore nutrition to the nerves. Such a remedy is

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

These pills are a specific in cases of Rheumatism, Locomotor Ataxia, Paralysis, and other diseases of the blood and nerves, because they supply the necessary elements to build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. It is in this way that the pills effect so many cures in diseases of apparently widely different character.

Frank Long, who lives near Lennon, Mich., says: "I was first taken with a pain in my back. The physician pronounced my case muscular rheumatism, accompanied by lumbago. My disease gradually became worse until I thought death would be welcome release.

"I was finally induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Before the first box was used I could get about the house, and after using five boxes was entirely cured. Since that time I have felt no return of the rheumatic pains. Am confident that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life.

Edwin R. Tripp, Postmaster of Middlefield Centre, N.Y., said: "I was attacked by what I learned was locomotor ataxia. Two skillful doctors did everything they could for me. I became worse, could not move even about the room. I did not expect to live very long.

"The turning point was a newspaper article. It told how a man, who had suffered as I had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I took two boxes of the pills; then four more boxes. My gain was steady; my return to health was a source of daily gratification. In all I took eighteen boxes of the pills before I was entirely well. I owe my cure entirely to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

POLITICAL DRIFT WOOD

Some Taste Of What Woman Suffrage Will Be.

Those Most Favored as Candidates.---Other Matters of Political Interest.

By AHUIMAIA.

Politics are very hot nowadays, as we are on the eve of the day of battle, not with bullets, but with ballots. Yesterday at the political corner, because Republican spellbinders will not give Home Rulers a chance to spiel, the latter drew the crowd away from the former to the saloon and more favorite corner. If that is any "Criterion" to go by in order to find out "Columbia's" more "Favorite" side, then where will the other be when the strife is on? Time will tell.

If enthusiasm and attendance at meetings counts as a guide to the popular feeling, I am certain the Hawaiian party has it. If they are united and steadfast, they surely ought to win out, otherwise I am a chump and a lobster, but not a olam.

But what of the Home Rule candidate for sheriff, Johnnie Wise? It's a wise child that knows its father, and he's one who knew where and what party he could get a nomination for office, and he has got it in the Hawaiian party. In the ranks of such a party, he ought to win, and if not, then why not. Where the former candidate was weak, the new one is stronger no doubt, for I believe those who were loth not to vote for Wilcox, for fear of petticoat rule, will now vote for Wise, and not for Brown.

He was born at Kohala of Anglo-Hawaiian parentage, his mother being still in the land of the living and again married to one of her own race, a member on Brown's police force. After receiving a common school education, he entered Iolani College, and later Kamehameha school, from which latter place he was sent to Oberlin College, Ohio, to finish his education, supposedly for the ministry, through the generosity of Chas R Bishop and P C Jones, if I remember rightly.

On returning home, finding his country upset, being a Hawaiian, he naturally cast his lot with his people against his alleged benefactors who had become connected with the band of oppressors of his own people and country. Being young and of an impulsive temperament, he was identified with the unsuccessful revolution of 1895, together with Prince Cupid, now Delegate to Washington, was imprisoned, court-martialed and sentenced to jail for the fault of loving his country. Sent to Hilo to work out his term at hard labor on the roads, and, if I am not off, served his full term of one year before being pardoned by Governor Dole and his civil rights restored.

In 1900, he was a Democrat and was sent as one of the delegates to the National Convention, where he saved Bryan's 16 to 1 plank in the platform. Was nominated by the Democratic party as one of its candidates for representative in the Fourth District, and was defeated together with the others on the same ticket. When Prince Cupid fluked from the Home Rule party, he was a partizan with him, but when he flopped over to Republicanism, Wise still remain a Democrat and it was only a little while ago when he allied himself with the Home Rulers, but at heart I still believe him to be as good a Democrat as any they make 'em.

I believe his being substituted in Wilcox's vacancy caused by death has gained the Home Rulers many votes from the whites, votes they could never have counted had Wilcox being alive. The impediment of a "petticoat rule" being so obviated, I am of the opinion that he will be able to knock Arthur Brown stiff into a cocked hat next Tuesday. And we'll see whether he'll be able to do it fice and brown. If he is Wise, he ought to do it. That's all. Sure mai hoi kau, wela ka hao.

Again referring to the subject of "Woman Suffrage," there's no need doubting the popularity of Frank Harvey among the women of all stations, from wives, widows, spinsters, maids and damsels. Go to any Home Rule meetings and there you'll see them in numbers, and the "specials" to certain meetings only. At his house the other night, some of these latter were noticed.

And Arthur Brown is not much far behind. I noticed that you, Mr Editor, personally witnessed his popularity with the lei girls. But that is not all. I witnessed something down at the Peninsula the same night and there was "she" as lively as ever and as energetic in his behalf to make the luau a success. Good for the old gal, but I wonder whether she'll induce hubby to vote for dear Brownie.

Nothing much has been seen and heard of Mark Robinson since the the night of the luau at his residence. I wonder whether he got poisoned by eating the uncooked (kolekole) pig of that luau he gave. Outside of an appeal through one of the evening papers, he has not been seen nor heard. He may yet be elected to stay home and I don't believe that his wealth will save him. Many women are on to him too, he being a good looking fellow and no doubt a nice chap upon whom leg pulling may come into play.

And I see that Henry Vida is doing some strenuous work for his friend Brown. Has he been permitted to do as he please? But the choice between Henry and Jimmie Boyd is with the latter every time, who is a better man than Henry any day in the week. I would be perfectly willing to leave it to the women to decide as to their respective merits. And furthermore, I think Jimmie more of the gentleman than the other is the opposite, who is likely to stoop to any level in order to gain a point.

If women had votes, I also believe that Curtis Iaukea with his spotted skirt would beat Walter G of the Advertiser, including Henry Vida and his friend Birbe, the latter being in himself quite sufficient to become a small farmer. Curtis is more of a gentleman than any of these and has seen better company from the days he was a palace dish washer flunky, etc, up to the present. Being also a good looking man, the "cocoanut oil wahines" of Bystander's abuse are with him. His sun as a lady's man has not yet set, his fame with them is not on the wane, nor his brightness dimmed by any abuse he may get on their behalf. The woman will stay by him every time through thick and thin.

Yet those same "cocoanut oil wahines" are Republicans, for I've seen them at their meetings, and it was a Republican in a Republican newspaper that abused them Funny kind wahines and kanakas these, which probably is something like those others of their kind who've become funny kind haoles. But never mind, every one may come out of the wash all right in the end, if allowed to use Birbe's prescription of hardly ever taking to water. Birbe is nobody, yet he's the kind of man the Republicans want, one willing to stoop to do a dirty job.

From making brief speeches at the beginning of the present campaign to making now over ten minutes is the record of Charley Booth, the Home Rule candidate for treasurer. I've heard Republicans back on John Gandall, but I am willing to pit Booth against him any time. The long gaunt Kanaian is flowery, loud voiced and a syllabic repeater, a usual forte with many Hawaiian orators of partial education like he is; but not so with the Panoa beauty, his voice is like himself, small, yet sufficiently clear enough to be heard by all, and his remarks are pointed and pithy, something after the fashion of your "topics of the day," short and sweet, and that is not saying much.

And so I see your Testa has dropped out of the fight. Well, I don't blame him. What use is there when his minority party don't sustain him. Had he stayed, he would be only making an uneven fight. Yet I still admire his grit, but his alleged friends failed him at the last. A certain party told a friend of mine, who in turn informed me that the Republicans in headquarters dropped their chins when they found out that Testa had failed to file his nomination paper. I also understand that he had it ready, but the "rocks" did not materialize on time, and therefore, he allowed it to lapse by default and thereby saved $25, a goodly sum these days that need not be thrown away foolishly. He says that he need them badly.

CARTER CONDEMNED BY HOME RULERS.

People Are In Arms Against The Outrage Perpetrated By President Roosevelt.

The greatest meeting of the county campaign was held by the Home Rulers at the Orpheum theater last evening. The play-house itself was jammed by voters and the passage-way leading to it was crowded. So many people gathered outside in the streets that it became necessary to organize and hold an auxiliary meeting. During the evening the following set of resolutions were introduced and unanimously passed:

Whereas, it is reported in the Press dispatches from Washington that the President has appointed Governor S. B. Dole to the position on the Federal Bench in this Territory rendered vacant by the very recent and deeply lamented death of Hon. Morris M. Estee, and that the President has appointed as successor to Hon. S. B. Dole, in the office of Governor of this Territory, Mr. George R. Carter, a resident of this city, and a man who is exceedingly distasteful to the Hawaiian people, as well as to a numerous element of the population of this Territory of American birth or ancestry; and,

Whereas, said appointments have been made by the President without consultation with or advice from any person or persons competent to advise him with reference to the sentiments of the Hawaiian people in the premises; and,

Whereas, our Delegate in Congress, Jonah Kalanianaole, is now in the United States, and in or near Washington, for the purpose of attending to his duties as such Delegate, at the approaching session of Congress; and,

Whereas, it accords with the American political system that the Delegate to Congress from a Territory, being of the same political faith with the National Administration, shall be consulted, and have his views considered and respected, in regard to presidential appointments within such Territory; and,

Whereas, the appointments herein mentioned were made precipitately by the President, and are of a character which, we feel assured, would not have been advised by our said Delegate;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, by the Hawaiian people and electors of the city of Honolulu, in mass meeting assembled, and the majority of whom are of Hawaiian birth and blood, seriously and emphatically disapprove of the action of the President in so making such appointments, or either of them without having first paid to our Delegate in Congress the usual courtesy of seeking his advice in the premises; and,

Be It Further Resolved, That we, in particular, and most emphatically, object to and deplore the appointment of said George R. Carter to be our Governor; and we declare that he, said George R. Carter, has incurred, and now holds the profound disapproval of the Hawaiian people, because of his arrogance and inflexible political hostility to the Hawaiian people in the past, VOTE THIS TICKET.

Tomorrow the voters of Oahu will be called upon to say whether the sugar planters of the Islands will rule this county or whether the people will be permitted to have a voice in their affairs. Two tickets have been prepared and presented. One contains such names as Robinson, Renton, Hocking, Gilman and Dwight, men tied up body and soul to the corporation interests and to the missionaries. A vote for either of them or any man on their ticket is a vote for the missionaries, for Dole, for the despicable Governor Carter, and for all these loathesome people represent. Are the voters of Oahu willing to stand for it? We give them credit for more common sense and decency. Herewith we hand you the official ballot, marked as you should mark it tomorrow. See that you do it!

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The succession of Sanford B. Dole to the position so ably filled by the late Judge Morris M. Estee reminds one of a hole burned in a faithful picture of heaven.

Will the agents of the sugar plantations or the people rule the Island of Oahu? By voting for Renton, Gilman, Robinson, Dwight and Hocking tomorrow you sell out cold to the plantations. The men of the people and for the people are to be found on the other ticket.

James W. Pratt is still promising the voters that, if elected, he will see to it that there is an equal distribution of tax responsibilities and that there will be plenty of money in the treasury. That may be all right, but before voting we would like to know about those missing swords and the clock that went from the tax office after Pratt took charge.

Voters will tomorrow have the chance of giving the most severe rebuke to the Republican party for its high-handed methods in appointing such men as Dole and George R. Carter to the highest official positions in the land. Let every Republican on the county ticket be wiped off the slate. Roosevelt and the party of misrule, represented here by the missionaries, will by that act be taught a good lesson.

Republican speakers are giving as an argument in favor of the Republican candidates for the offices of Supervisor, as against the Home Rulers, that the former have credit at the banks and can borrow money while the latter cannot. The argument is not only the veriest rot but it means nothing as a political card. Why on earth should the County of Oahu wish to borrow money within the next year? The Republican legislature saddled upon the children of this county a big debt of more than a million dollars (Oahu's proportion in the Loan Act), which should be quite enough without giving more pap to Republican bankers.

Are the Portuguese and other Catholics of Honolulu cognizant of the report that George F. Renton, Republican candidate for Supervisor-at-Large, was a member of the original A. P. A. here, and is still hand and glove with that organization?

Republicans had another beer meeting at Kalihi camp yesterday. Hocking's brew flowed freely and in plenty. The boozers present were enjoined to vote for the Republican ticket and cheap beer. How's that?

Joe Gilman is a member of the directorate of the stevedoring firm located on the waterfront, employing mostly Japanese instead of natives. This is up to the wharfingers to remember tomorrow when casting their votes for their alleged employers and friends of Orientals.

Saloons will be closed tomorrow, so we are informed, between the opening and the closing of the polls, as is usual under the law, even if the Republican party desired otherwise; or else these same kind of people will see to it that water was not in abundance.

D.....6.1234567890123456789

The following dispatch is alleged to have been sent last night to Chairman Dick, at Columbus, Ohio: "The Republicans are up a tree and cannot get down. Pilikia nui! Can't you look up Prince Kuhio and make him say that he didn't say it? Wikiwiki." To this Dick is reported to have replied: "Am sorry for the tree, but hope it is a tall one."

A. Hocking, Republican candidate for the office of Supervisor of the Fourth District, discharged the Asiatics working in his brewery upon the matter being forced by The Independent and his Republican bosses. After tomorrow he will again be at liberty to employ coolies, and it is a ten-to-one shot that they will all go back. Hocking is too much of a cheap-labor man to meet present-day demands in office.

Are the admirers of Superintendent Cooper going to the polls tomorrow and vote for a party that compelled him to get out of office at one of the most critical periods in its history? The Republican party not only forced George R. Carter down the throats of the voters, but, by elevating Carter to power, forced Cooper to resign. Friends of Mr. Cooper and the men who work under his department should tomorrow file their votes against the party that did him and them up.

Moses K. Nakuina is in the race for County Clerk for the express purpose of defeating Kalauokalani. His appearance in the field can have but one effect, and that is to split the vote that would naturally go to Kalauokalani and throw the election to Murray. Home Rulers that consider Nakuina their friend had best change their minds between now and tomorrow morning. Nakuina is a traitor in the camp, and F. W. Beckley is his lieutenant. They are both tools of the Republican party—wolves in sheep's clothing.

High Sheriff Brown and W. C. Achi had a meeting with the police at the station house yesterday during which they urged upon the officers the importance of getting out and working for Brown for Sheriff. Achi told them that nine Home Rule votes would be required from each of them, and that unless they rustled them up they would lose their jobs. How is that for politics? Is this an American country, in which a man is allowed to vote as he pleases, or is it a little Russia, as Captain Sam Johnson is trying to make it?

The appointment of George R. Carter to be Governor has forced H. E. Cooper, Superintendent of Public Works, out of office at one of the most critical periods in the history of his department. Plans had been made for extensive improvements and others were under way. Mr. Cooper was familiar with the details of all these vast projects. It will now be necessary, however, for a new man to take up the work—and make a fizzle of it. We do not blame Cooper for resigning; he could not remain in office under a tub of lard like Carter and retain his self-respect. But the voters and taxpayers are seriously injured by the maneuver. Roosevelt and the Republican party have struck Hawaii a blow below the belt. In tomorrow's election the people should make known their protest by sweeping everything Republican from the county board. Let the admirers of Superintendent Cooper join in with the people and show to President Roosevelt and the Republican party that they will not be dealt with in this high-handed and outrageous manner.

BY AUTHORITY.

All saloon will be closed tomorrow, election day. The best scheme, then, is to lay in a supply from "Pete" Sullivan, at the Shamrock, Nuuanu street, tonight.

The offertory received yesterday at the Hawaiian service in St Andrew's Cathedral for Tonga mission of Bishop Willis was more than anticipated. On the whole, $31 was received. A fair congregation attended the service, Queen Liliuokalani being present.

A hundred people, made up of a score of policemen, a dozen voters and a lot of women and children attended the Republican meeting at the corner of Hotel and Bethel streets Saturday evening. Among the features of the evening was a display of assininity on the part of Roosevelt's pet, Governor George R Carter.

The postponed meeting of the Women's Guild and Auxiliry of St Andrew's Cathedral will take place Monday afternoon, Nov 2nd, at 2:30 o'clock, at the house of Mrs C Montague Cooke, College Hills, near the terminus of the Manoa Branch line of the Rapid Transit Co. A full attendance of members is requested as Mrs Emery will give some account of her recent visit to the mainland.

The Cupid Incident.

Republicans are making a great hullabaloo over a perfectly natural and innocent cablegram received by the business agent of Prince Cupid from Hawaii's delegate on Saturday. The Prince announced that he had arrived at Columbus, Ohio, and added that he was at the service of the people. This cablegram, when read out at a Home Rule meeting seemed to have gone among Republicans like a dynamite bomb with a short fuse. The facts were distorted, and an absolutely false report of occurrences was cabled to Prince Cupid, bringing out a denial. The case is one of Republican exertion to make campaign capital—that sadly failed.

Odds and Ends---What the Result Will Be.

By AHUIMAIA.

Politics are warming; yes, and not only warm, but hot. From my own personal observations, I believe the outlook to be a Home Rule victory, i. e, in the majority of the officers to be elected. On the other hand, their Republican opponents look very glum and are down in the mouth, for the simple reason, the natives don't flock with them. Why should they? "Birds of a feather flock together."

As the Home Rule party is the Hawaiian party, there is no just reason for them to flock under the banner of those who downed them. In my opinion, it is not the party, but the men who are running it. The very men who stole the country, and then bartered it away for $4,000,000 and that without right, disposing the birthright of a nation for a mess of pottage, are the very same class of people who are prominent in that party.

But one thing I am sorry for, and that is, why keep up this monstrosity, as you call it, Mr Editor, of a mongrel party. This party ought to become the Democratic party, and they can easily become such by declaring themselves as such, and having the numbers, they can readily control it. I believe the present Democratic party is a poor makeshift, as it is only being run in the interest of a certain select few, who should now be wiped out of existance. Much can be gained by having only the two National parties.
