1840: Apr 13,16,17

F.O. & Ex.

London. April. 13. 1840.

My dear King.

I hope you will excuse the liberty I take (if it is one) in writing to you but having passed many happy hours in your society I could not refrain from writing to you. probably you may some future day visit my country. if so I may have the pleasure of returning you my thanks for your hospitality to me. in my own land.

I trust that your national affairs are prosperous. and that you enjoy good health

Our own country as you most likely have read in our public papers has been much disturbed lately by riots but they are ale suppressed. We have banished the leaders from our kingdom and all is now quiet
If you will take the trouble to write however short an answer to this and send it in any way you think proper. I shall esteem myself very happy and will pre-serve it carefully as a proof of friendship
from you. my direction is enclosed.
I trust my dear King you will not think me impertinent. but having re-ceived much kindness from you in your country having through shipwreck

and other dangers at last reached my own

. . . . . .

I could not keep from writing to you and anxiously hope an answer that I can shew

my friends who stand highly in England that a King has a heart as well as a commoner.

Wishing yourself and family every blessing and happiness I have the honor to remain Your Majestys Oblig.d Servant.

Charles Broughton.

Apr. 16---1840.

Interview between the Consul and Kekauluohi and Kekuanaoa, in relation to the lands held by the British Consul.

When the conversation started, this is the first thing the Consul said.

"Have you two seen the Document?

Kekauluohi } "Yes, we have seen it."
Kekuanaoa }

Consul. "I own that place. Liholiho wrote from England to Kalaimoku about a piece of land for me. I was to take any land I wanted, whether at Nuuanu or any other place.

Kekuanaoa. "That is not what I heard while in England. The order given by Liholiho to Kamamalu was to tell Kalaimoku to return the land of Puako and the taxes collected being Olona, and to make everything ready on the land that they might come and live at Puuloa."

Consul. "I own the place by a deed given to me by Kalaimoku."

Kekauluohi. "State clearly how you came to own the place."

Consul. "When I came with the two vessels I gave a large sum." of money to the men of the vessels."

Kekuanaoa. "We cannot understand how this place was disposed of."

Kekauluohi. "If Kalimoku sold this place they would have told me or Kinau of the fact, or even shown us the documents."

Consul. "You heard Kalaimoku at the wooden house when he was leaving for Hawaii."

Kekauluohi. "I did not hear about yours. It was Jim's that I heard."

Consul. "I did not want that place, but I had to accept it so as to end all entanglement."

Kekauluohi. "Just so: because we do not understand the thing clearly therefore we cannot give our consent."

Rooke. "It is perfectly clear, the witnesses are shown on that document to be Boki and Manuia. You both say that you do not understand this: this is just like a rejection ony your part of Williams claim to his land."

Kekuanaoa. "William's claim has not been rejected, it is because we have not received any letter from Kamehameha in regards to that land."

Rooke. "It is not because of the absence of a letter, but because of the hostile atitude entertained toward all British-ers. The Americans are treated fairly which is not fair to the other side."

Kekuanaoa. "One side is not treated any better than the other. We have equally safe guarded the interests of the Britishers and Americans, and have convicted both American and British when tried in our Courts."

Consul. "It would be best to let England settle the matter."

Kekauluohi. "That would be alright. Let us leave the matter until the arrival of the Man-of-War then adjust matters again."

Consul. "Here is another thing, about my land Wailele. I may have erred in this matter. Boki gave me the land off hand and I gave him five hundred dollars. I have bought that land. Before this I have been treated decently, but now I am being badly treated. If I have made a mistake, I will burn down my house on that land tomorrow, because the Britishers are being treated harshly and the Americans respectfully. If this settle ment is not satisfactory then I will haul down my flag and you people will be obliged to pay me $50,000. The Clementine troubles would be small to this."

Kekauluohi
Kekuanaoa } "Wait we will question the King."

Consul. "That is well."

Consul. "Here is another thing. The place where I am now living given me by Kalimoku, which is from the horse gate to Kekauonohi's place, then from there to Andrew's place, then from there to Mana Pauma's place then in a straight line to the Horse gate. If either of you desire to see the document you can send some one it is at my house."

This is the interview held between the Consul and Kekauluhoi and Kekuanaoa on the 16th day of April 1840. Those who saw or heard the interview were, natives.
